ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Universal Camera Corporation of 28 West 23rd Street, New York, New York, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all still camera and photographic accessories and all 8 mm motion picture projectors, which it manufactures as follows:

(1) For an article which has a properly established ceiling price in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by 22 per cent.

(2) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(3) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Change in reseller's margins. Reseller's maximum prices adjusted in accordance with this order are subject to further adjustments which may result from any change in reseller's margins which may be effected by the Office of Price Administration to obtain absorption by resellers of any industry-wide increase in manufacturers' maximum prices.

(e) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on the 16th day of March 1946.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

[Rev. SO 119, Order 117]

THE CLEVELAND WELDING CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. The Cleveland Welding Company of West 117th and Berea Road, Cleveland 7, Ohio, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for sales of the bicycles which it manufactures as follows:

(1) For bicycles in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 9.85 percent.

(2) For bicycles not in its line during October 1941, except war bicycles covered by Order No. 3145 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, which have properly established ceiling prices in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceil price for the particular sale (exclusive c all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119 .

(3) For war bicycles, the ceiling prices are those fixed by Order No. 3145 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 increased by 5 percent.

(4) For a bicycle which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(5) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling prices fixed in accordance with this order may be increased by an additional $.55 when the bicycle is sold with synthetic rubber tires and tubes.

(6) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Resellers' ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

(1) A reseller of a bicycle, other than a war bicycle, who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage mark-up which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage mark-up is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(2) Resellers' ceiling prices for war bicycles are those established by the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 158, increased by 5 percent. For war bicycles equipped with synthetic tires and tubes, resellers may add, in addition to the 5 percent increase, the amount specified for synthetic tires and tubes for the particular class of reseller in Amendment 5 to Maximum Price Regulation No. 158.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Change in reseller's margins. Resellers' maximum prices adjusted in accordance with this order are subject to further adjustments which may result from any change in resellers' margins which may be effected by the Office of Price Administration to obtain absorption by resellers of any industry-wide increase in manufacturers' maximum prices.

(e) Notification. At the time of, or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on March 15, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

[MPR 188, Rev. Order 4332]

NEW SMALL-VOLUME MANUFACTURERS

SIMPLIFIED PRICING

Order No. 4332 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is redesignated Revised Order 4332 and is amended and revised to read as follows:

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. The purpose of this order. The principal purpose of this order is to help "new small-volume manufacturers" of certain commodities covered by Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 to get into production as rapidly as possible by providing simple rules by which they can calculate their ceiling prices. This order is also designed to help a new small-volume business which began production on or after September 1, 1944 when the War Production Board's "spot authorization" program was instituted, if it has been unable to operate profitably under ceiling prices previously established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 in line with March 1942 prices. Instead of having to apply for an adjustment of those ceiling prices, any such new business may simply obtain new ceiling prices under this order.

This order is also intended to provide a speedy pricing method for small-volume businesses which heretofore have always been engaged exclusively in war production. However, this order is not intended to provide rules for the pricing of new products which other established businesses may now wish to produce. Restrictions have been provided to prevent evasion of this limitation. Otherwise, in the hope of obtaining higher ceiling prices, some established businesses might stop producing their existing civilian lines to take advantage of this order's procedure which has been specially designed to meet the needs of new small businesses. Established businesses which are reconverting will in most instances obtain any needed price relief through OPA's reconversion pricing program.

SEC. 2. Scope of this order. This order provides simplified rules which eligible new small-volume manufacturers may use to obtain ceiling prices instead of using the Third or Fourth Pricing Methods of Maximum Price Regulation 188. The provisions of this order may also be used by any eligible manufacturer to obtain new ceiling prices to take the place of ceiling prices which had been established under Maximum Price Regulation 188, whether by order or otherwise, on or after September 1, 1944. All the other provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 188 continue to apply to manufacturers obtaining ceiling prices under this order.

Not all new small-volume manufacturers of products covered by Maximum Price Regulation 188 may use this order. Manufacturers of the following products may not use the provisions of this order:

(1) Dry cell batteries.
(2) Fountain pens and mechanical pencils.
(3) Household aluminum cooking utensils.
(4) Ice boxes.
(5) Inner-constructions for upholstered dual purpose sleeping equipment.
(6) Innerspring mattresses.
(7) Lawn mowers.
(8) Metal double deck beds.
(9) Metal cots (folding and rollaway).
(10) Small electrical appliances.
(11) Upholstered dual purpose sleeping equipment.

However, manufacturers of any of these products (except small electric appliances) who previously established ceiling prices for a particular article under this order before March 20, 1946 may continue to use such ceiling prices. New small-volume manufacturers of small electric appliances are subject to the provisions of Order No. 6 under § 1499.159e of Maximum Price Regulation 188.

SEC. 3. Tests of eligibility to obtain new ceiling prices under this order. To show that you are a new small-volume manufacturer, you must satisfy the tests of eligibility in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. (The word "you" as used in this order refers to both parent and subsidiary or affiliated companies taken as a unit.)

(a) Tests to tell whether you are a "new" manufacturer. You are a "new" manufacturer under this order if you are able to meet either Test 1 or Test 2 below.

Test 1. You began a new manufacturing business on or after September 1, 1944.

To meet this test you must have started a genuinely new manufacturing enterprise on or after September 1, 1944. The date on which you started a new manufacturing enterprise is the date on which you took the first action in regard to it, or made the first agreement or entered into a transaction, resulting in an expense or obligation for the enterprise. The following are illustrations of actions which constitute starting a new manufacturing enterprise: application to OPA for a ceiling price on a product to be manufactured, the signing of a lease for or the renting of office or factory space, the first ordering of materials or equipment, the employment of the first employee, the first sale of a product of your manufacture, etc. You are not considered as having started a new enterprise on or after September 1, 1944 simply because you added new products to your line on or after that date; and a new manufacturing business organized on or after that date is not a new enterprise if there was a transfer, as defined in section 5 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, to it of the assets and ceiling prices of another manufacturing business which was not eligible to price under this order.

A business organized after August 25, 1945, is not a "new" business if (1) any person having a substantial interest in it has at the same time a substantial interest in another business which has manufactured or distributed civilian products on or since that date and would not itself be eligible to price under this order; or (2) if a person having a substantial interest in it has had since August 25, 1945, a substantial interest in such another business. (A person shall be considered to have a "substantial interest" in a business if he has a 20 percent or greater ownership interest in the business or, in the case of a new business, if he is one of the three persons who are expected to receive the highest compensation for services rendered to that new business.)

You may not continue to sell at ceiling prices which you lawfully obtained under this order by satisfying this Test 1, if in evasion of this test, you later permit a person to obtain a substantial interest in your business who, if he had had such an interest when you obtained your ceilings, would have prevented you from satisfying this test.

Test 2. Before September 1, 1944 your only activity was the manufacture of products on contract or subcontract for sales to one or more United States war procurement agencies or Allied Governments.

NOTE: If you cannot satisfy this test because at any time before September 1, 1944 you had manufactured civilian products, you should check Supplementary Order No. 118 ("Reconversion Pricing for Small-Volume Manufacturers") since you may be able to calculate new ceiling prices for those products under that order.

(b) Tests to tell whether you are a "small-volume" manufacturer. You are a "small-volume" manufacturer if you can meet both the following tests.

Test 1. Your total net sales of products manufactured or distributed by you in the six calendar months preceding the filing of your price report (not counting sales on contracts or sub-contracts of any United States war procurement agency or of any Allied Government for war purposes,) were not more than $100,000.

Test 2. Your total net sales of products manufactured or distributed by you in the twelve calendar months after the filing of your price report, on the basis of all relevant factors such as past sales, facilities, capitalization, manpower and materials to be used in your business, can reasonably be expected to amount to less than $200,000.

SEC. 4. How to figure your ceiling prices. There are two ways in which you can figure your ceiling prices under this order. These are called, for convenience the "comparability" method and the "cost" method. You may choose either of them if you do not already have a ceiling price for the article. If you do have a ceiling price, you may use only the "cost" method.

(a) The "comparability" method. The "comparability" method involves selecting from articles which already have ceiling prices, an article which is either exactly the same as the article you produce, or comparable to it, and proposing as your ceiling price the ceiling price of the manufacturer of that article. You may not, however, use any article whose ceiling price was established under this order, for this purpose. If the only comparable articles you can find differ substantially from yours, select the one most closely comparable and propose a price which takes the difference into account.

For example, if your article has a feature which the comparable article does not have, or if it lacks a feature which the comparable article does have, you should calculate the cost of the additional feature of your product or the amount to be saved by omitting the feature of the comparable article. You should then propose as your ceiling price the ceiling price of the comparable article plus or minus the cost of the feature added or omitted as the case may be.

The ceiling price of the comparable article is its ceiling price including any increases which were made in that price by an adjustment which was applicable to all sellers of the product, but not including any individual adjustment in the ceiling price. If ,after you obtain your ceiling price. If, after you obtain your turers of the product generally to increase their ceiling prices, any ceiling calculated under the comparability method may be increased in the manner provided by OPA.

If you choose the "comparability" method, you must submit a report in duplicate on Parts I and II of OPA Form 601–2628 (a–46) to the District OPA Office for the district in which your place of business is located, giving the information required by the form. Part II of that form calls for a description of your article and the comparable article, and the ceiling price of the comparable article. If your proposed ceiling price is higher or lower than the ceiling price of the comparable article the form calls for an explanation of the differences in specifications between the two articles on which you rely to justify the proposed difference in ceiling price.

(b) The "cost" method. The "cost" method of fixing your ceiling prices involves figuring your total cost for the article and adding to it your industry's average profit margin in a representative peacetime period. Under this method all ceiling prices not figured on the basis of at least three months of production experience must be refigured at the end of the first three months of such experience. This is explained in Section 7 below.

If you use this method of figuring your ceiling prices, you must submit a report in duplicate on Parts I and III of OPA Form 601–2628 (2–46). On Part III you should give a breakdown of your total costs on a reasonable basis, to make and sell the article (taking into account your expected volume of production) and proposing a ceiling price based on those costs (subject to the limitations stated below) plus the average peacetime profit margin for your industry. If you have been in production of the article being priced for three or more months you must base your total cost figures on your production experience in the latest calendar month. The costs of materials which OPA will recognize will not exceed the legal ceiling prices of the manufacturer or other normal supplier, for sales to a purchaser of your class in the quantities in which manufacturers of your type generally purchase.

The labor costs which OPA will recognize may not exceed the prevailing locally established rates for labor of similar types. The profit margin may be found by multiplying by two, either the profit factor which OPA has specified for your industry or, if none is specified, the profit factor for the industry group which includes your industry. These factors are listed in Appendix D of Supplementary Order No. 118. (That supplementary order applies to small-volume reconverting manufacturers and the pricing of reconversion commodities.) If you do not have a copy of this order, your OPA District Office will supply you with the profit factor for your industry upon request.

Since the prices determined under the "cost" method reflect your current total costs, you may not add to these prices any adjustment charges permitted to your industry as a whole unless OPA specifically provides for such an increase. For example, you may not add to prices determined under the "cost" method the increases permitted by the following orders:

Order No. 216 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188—Broom corn brooms.

Revised Order No. 226 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188—Articles containing silver.

Order No. 777 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188—Broom corn brooms.

Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188—Wood and upholstered household furniture.

(c) Form and samples. Copies of OPA Form 601–2628 (2–46) and help in preparing it, can be obtained from your District OPA Office. In addition to submitting the forms you should submit a sample of your article, and, if you use the "comparability" method, a sample of the comparable article. If it is not practicable for you to submit samples, photographs or other accurate illustrations must be submitted.

SEC. 5. Ceiling prices for different classes of purchasers. Since the ceiling prices which you propose under the "comparability" method are those of another manufacturer to a particular class or classes of purchasers, your ceiling prices to each class of your purchasers must be computed by applying the same discounts, differentials and terms which he used. If those ceiling prices which you are able to obtain do not cover a class of purchaser to whom you wish to sell, you must, on OPA Form 601–2628 (2–46), propose a ceiling price to that class based on the discounts, differentials, or terms commonly prevailing in the industry for sales to that class of purchaser.

If you use the "cost" method, the ceiling price so computed applies to that class of your purchasers to whom you expect to sell the largest number of units of the article. Your ceiling prices to other classes of purchasers are to be based on the discounts, differentials, or terms for sales to those classes commonly prevailing in the trade. These must likewise be proposed on OPA Form 601–2628 (2–46).

SEC. 6. When you may sell at the proposed price. Unless OPA notifies you not to do so, you may begin to sell and deliver articles at your new ceiling price 20 days after you mailed your report to OPA. However, if within the 20-day period OPA asks you to furnish additional information you may not begin to sell and deliver at your new ceiling prices until 20 days after the day you mail the information which OPA has requested. OPA may at any time order any of your ceiling prices to be decreased if it finds that you did not calculate them correctly, or if it finds that they are based on material prices which are higher than suppliers' ceiling prices (as provided by section 4 (b)) or on labor rates which are higher than the prevailing locally established rates for labor of similar types or if for any other reason it finds that your ceiling prices are unduly out of line with the ceiling prices of other new small-volume manufacturers. OPA will notify you if it finds any errors which you have made in computing your ceiling prices which have resulted in the computation of a lower ceiling than that to which you are entitled. OPA may revoke your ceiling prices entirely if it finds that you were not eligible to fix your ceiling prices under this order.

SEC. 7. Expiration of ceiling prices—(a) Certain ceiling prices based on the "cost" method. Every ceiling price based on the "cost" method which was not figured on the basis of at least three months actual experience in producing the article must be refigured on the basis of such experience during the third month of the article's production. In order to provide adequate time for figuring the revised ceilings, a ceiling as first reported will not expire until five months from the date on which production of the article began. (The date on which you began production of the article is the date on which you first placed materials into process for the production of the article.)

If you sell or expect to sell the article after the expiration of the five-month period, you must file a new application with the same OPA District Office on Parts I and III of OPA Form 601–2628 (2–46), stating (1) what your actual experience showed your total costs to be during the third month of the article's production and (2) a new proposed ceiling price computed under section 4 (b), using costs actually experienced instead of the costs you first reported. This report must be filed at least thirty days before the expiration date of your ceiling price as first reported.

The rules in section 6 govern when you may begin to sell at the new proposed ceiling price if it is higher than the ceiling price you first reported. If OPA disapproves your ceiling price as figured for any reason, you may continue to make sales at the price you first reported under section 4 until OPA, by order, revokes your authorization to do so or fixes a different ceiling price. If the new proposed ceiling price is lower than the ceiling you first reported, the lower price becomes your ceiling price for all sales and deliveries made after the expiration of the ceiling price you first reported.

At the time of the first invoice to a purchaser for resale which shows a price at or below the new ceiling price as refigured under this section the manufacturer must, if that price is different from his previous selling price, notify the purchaser that the price previously charged was a temporary price.

(b) When the manufacturer delivers articles having net sales prices of more than certain stated amounts. If a manufacturer, during a single calendar month, delivers articles which he manufactures or distributes having a total net sales price of more than $25,000, or more than $60,000 during any three consecutive months, then his ceiling prices previously determined under Order No. 4332 or this revision of that order, for articles of his manufacture shall expire on the thirtieth day after the end of the calendar month in which his net sales totaled more than the stated amount unless within such thirty-day period, he applies under the Fourth pricing method (§ 1499.158) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, for ceiling prices for his sales of the article. Such application shall be filed with the District Office of OPA which approved his prices under this order and should specifically state that he previously had established maximum prices under this order. If the manufacturer does apply for a ceiling price under the Fourth pricing method of Maximum

Price Regulation No. 188, within the thirty-day period, then he may continue to sell at the ceiling prices determined under this order until an order of the OPA under § 1499.158 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 has been issued fixing new ceiling prices for his sales in line with the level of ceiling prices fixed by the regulation which will apply to all of the manufacturer's sales and deliveries on and after the effective date of that order.

SEC. 8. Ceiling prices fixed by order. (a) A manufacturer's ceiling prices computed in accordance with this order may be fixed by orders issued under this section. OPA may by order also fix ceiling prices of articles priced under this order for sales by persons other than the manufacturer which take the place of ceiling prices fixed by other orders or regulations for sales by such persons.

(b) If a purchaser for resale determines his maximum prices under section 3 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation by using as his cost his invoice cost, or under any other regulation which establishes ceiling prices based upon cost, he must, upon the receipt of notification from the manufacturer that the price previously charged him was a temporary price, recompute his maximum resale price under the applicable regulation using as his cost the new ceiling price of the manufacturer. This recomputed price shall apply to all sales and deliveries of those articles which he received on and after the date on which the notification is sent to him.

SEC. 9. Delegation of authority. Any Regional Administrator, and any District Director so authorized, may issue, revise, amend, or revoke orders under this order.

This revised order shall become effective on the 20th day of March 1946.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

[Region IV Order G–1 Under Gen. Order 68]

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD IN TENNESSEE AND MISSISSIPPI

Order No. G–1 issued pursuant to General Order No. 68, Maximum prices for retail sales of softwood plywood in the area hereinafter described; Docket No. IV–GO 68–1.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales by the type sellers of softwood plywood specified in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B delivered to a purchaser in the area hereinafter more specifically described: That portion of Region IV to which the carload freight rate from Seattle, Washington, 75½¢ per cwt., i. e.: Obion, Dyer, Lauderdale, Tipton and Shelby counties in Tennessee, and DeSoto, Tunica, Coahoma, Bolivar, Washington, Sharkey, Issaquena, Warren, Claiborne, Jefferson, Adams, Franklin, Wilkinson and Amite counties in Mississippi.

SEC. 2. Definition of retail sales. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means any sale to an ultimate user, including, among others, commercial users, industrial users, and contractors, except where the sale is made by a plywood manufacturer, or a distribution plant which in 1941 received more than 20% of its dollar income from the sales of plywood or veneer of any kind. These latter types of sales remain subject to the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13.

SEC. 3. Description of types of sellers covered by this order. This order covers two types of sellers at retail, viz:

(a) Class I retailers. Class I retailers are those who, since June 20, 1945, purchased or purchase at least one carload of softwood plywood on direct-mill shipment. (Any shipment which comes directly from the mill without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution plant or retail yard is a direct-mill shipment, no matter who the seller is.)

(b) Class II retailers. Class II retailers are all other retail sellers, principally those who buy their plywood from distribution plants.

SEC. 4. Description of plywood covered by this order. For the purpose of this order all items of plywood priced under the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are covered by this order. (Sales of hardwood plywood, also all species of softwood plywoods not priced under 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are not covered by this order. Such species continue to be subject to pricing under the applicable regulations for the species.)

SEC. 5. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, all other provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices. The maximum prices for softwood plywood covered by this order are set forth in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which are annexed to and made a part of this order.

SEC. 7. Additions for delivery. If the buyer requests delivery in a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. No deduction need be made, however, if the purchaser elects to make his own delivery within the free delivery zone. If, on the other hand, delivery is made outside this free delivery zone, the seller may add for delivery as prescribed in sections 4 and 5 of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, viz: the amount computed by multiplying the estimated weights set forth in section 22 by the applicable freight rate.

SEC. 8. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of Tables I–A, I–B, II–A, and II–B which list maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the above designated area in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order who has customarily given his customers a sales slip or other evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each item sold and the price received for it. If he customarily prepared his sales slips in more than one copy, he must keep for at least six months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by him pursuant to this section.

For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of the buyer.
(2) Date of transaction.
(3) Place of delivery.
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 10. Amendment. This order may be amended or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This order No. G–1 shall become effective February 28, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of February 1946.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

[Region V Order G–27 Under RMPR 251]

INSTALLED MINERAL WOOL INSULATION IN RAPIDES PARISH, LA.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region V of the Office of Price Administration by section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, it is hereby ordered:

(a) Transactions covered by this order. This order covers sales of mineral wool insulation on an installed basis in existing structures. All items of incidental construction work as defined below remain covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251.

"Mineral wool" means rock wool, slag wool and glass wool blown from molten materials and used to retain or exclude heat.

"Existing structures" means completed structures whether occupied or unoccupied, and includes ordinary changes, improvements, remodeling and additions.

"On an installed basis" means a transaction in which the seller furnishes mineral wool insulation, together with the labor, services and material required to incorporate such insulation into an existing structure. Installation may be performed by the pneumatic or blowing method, by the hand-packing method, or by the use of batts and blankets.

"Incidental construction work" means work performed or services rendered with respect to a building or structure apart from the installation of mineral wool insulation. It also includes those materials and operations the cost of which are expressly described as not included in the prices of certain items listed in Table I of section (d) of this order.

(b) Relationship of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. The provisions of this order supersedes sections 6, 7, and 8 of Revised MPR 251, except as otherwise provided in this order, with respect to sales of mineral wool insulation on an installed basis and incidental construction work. Except as otherwise provided herein, all transactions subject to this order shall remain subject to all provisions of Revised MPR 251, together with all amendments that have been or hereafter may be issued.

On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver mineral wool insulation on an installed basis or incidental construction work as herein defined, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this order.

(c) Geographical applicability. This order shall apply to all sales of installed mineral wool-in structures located in the area comprising Rapides Parish, Louisiana.

(d) Maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales of mineral wool insulation on an installed basis shall be those shown in Table I of this section. Prices apply to all types and thicknesses of blown mineral wool and to all types and thicknesses of hand packed loose mineral wool and to batts and blankets. The prices listed in Table I are based upon an insulation thickness of 4 inches. For each inch or fraction of inch of insulation over 4 inches, when ordered by the buyer, the seller may make an additional charge of 2¢ per inch per square foot. For each inch of thickness under 4 inches the seller shall deduct 1¢ per inch per square foot. A 3/8-inch tolerance may be allowed without change in maximum price.

The drawings referred to in Table I are on file with the Division of the Federal Register, and are hereby made a part of this order. For the convenience of sellers and buyers, and in the interest of simplification and clarity of description, copies of these drawings are attached to this order and distributed by the Office of Price Administration.

Where a machine or a crew of two or more workers is used on mineral wool insulation jobs and the total charge as determined in accordance with the maximum prices listed in Table I is $40 or less, the seller may add $10 to such charge.

Where sales of installed home insulation are outside the corporate limits of Alexandria, Louisiana, but within Rapides Parish, the seller shall be authorized to add 1¢ per square foot to the maximum prices listed in Table I. All sales within the corporate limits of Alexandria, Louisiana must be at prices set out in Table I.

Openings and closings. A separate additional charge may be made for openings and closings only in those cases where opening and closing are not specifically included in the price applicable to the category. The charge includes payment for all labor and material including that used for replacement of material where necessary. This charge applies only to work performed by the installer in connection with installation of mineral wool insulation.

The above prices shall be cash prices. If the seller customarily made an extra charge for credit during his base period, he may now make this charge so long as his charge is no higher than the base period charge.

(e) Measurements. It shall be the seller's responsibility to ascertain that all measurements are accurate. Measurements for exterior walls are to be taken overall, with no deduction for openings, except for sun porch walls, store fronts or similar areas where windows and door areas must be deducted. In the case of elevator wells, ventilators, skylights, monitors and pent houses on flat roofs the entire such area must be deducted where they are more than 16 square feet in area and extend through the flat ceiling area to be insulated. For attic floors outside gross dimensions may be taken. In measuring the height of knee walls, to the height between floors, joists and rafters add one foot for floor seal piling of granulated insulation. For slopes add six inches to length of clean span for capping intersecting surfaces. For flat ceilings which intersect slopes add one foot to length of span taken at right angles to intersecting slopes. For stairwell walls measurement may be taken as a rectangle from floor to ceiling and not as triangles.

In determining the total of the square foot area for each category of insulation installed a tolerance of 5 percent will be recognized.

(f) Maximum prices for special insulation and related work and incidental construction. The maximum prices that may be charged by sellers for special insulation and related work and incidental construction work for which no separate dollars-and-cents price has been set out in Table I of this order shall be the maximum prices established in accordance with Revised MPR 251.

(g) Quoting a "guaranteed price." The seller may offer to sell an insulation job covered by this order on the basis of a "guaranteed price" wherein the seller agrees to charge a fixed amount: Provided, however, That the so-called "guaranteed price" must not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order. The seller shall stamp or otherwise mark conspicuously on each invoice or statement a statement in substantially the following form: "Prices are at or below ceiling prices set by OPA Regional Order G-27 under RMPR 251."

(h) Records and invoices. Every seller of mineral wool insulation on an installed basis, whether the sale is made as a part of a general contract calling for installation of other commodities or not, shall: (1) Preserve records showing the information given in compliance with subparagraphs (i) to (vi) of this section. (2) Upon completion of the work or within a reasonable time thereafter, if requested by the purchaser, give to the purchaser an invoice or similar document showing:

(i) The date on which the installation was completed.

(ii) The name and address of the seller and buyer.

(iii) The number of square feet and type of insulation installed, the thickness of insulation material, and the areas in which such insulation material was installed.

(iv) The price charged for each separate category exactly as stated in Table I including category number and drawing number.

(v) The terms of sale.

(vi) A statement shown separately on the invoice of any special insulation and related work and incidental construction work.

Every person making sales subject to this order shall notify the purchaser of the existence of this order, and, if requested, show the purchaser a copy of this order and Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

(i) Revocation. This order may be revised, amended, or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This Order No. G-27 shall become effective March 15, 1946.

INSTALLED SIDING IN OUACHITA PARISH, LA.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the authority vested in the Regional Administration of Region V of the Office of Price Administration by section 9 of Revised Price Regulation No. 251, it is ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for the sale of specified siding, when sold on an installed basis in the area comprising Ouachita Parish, Louisiana.

(b) Relationship of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Sellers subject to this order may not use the pricing provisions set forth in sections 6, 7 and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Except where the provisions of this order are inconsistent therewith, the other provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 shall remain in full force and effect with respect to the sales of installed siding covered by this order.

(c) Maximum price. The maximum price which any seller subject to this order may charge for the following material when sold on an installed basis according to manufacturer's specifications is established as follows:

Item:	Maximum Price Per Square of 100 Square Fect Material Used
Asbestos cement siding, standard surface hardness, white or buff, 12" x 24" or 12" x 27"	$19.25

The above price includes:

(1) The cost of siding materials delivered to the site where the installation is to be performed.

(2) The cost of accessories used in the installation of the siding, which includes, but is not limited to, leveling material, backer board, felt and/or felt strips, corner beads, calking, mouldings, nails, or other necessary material.

(3) Labor costs, including Federal old-age benefits, unemployment compensation, taxes, workmen's compensation, and public liability insurance.

(4) Other job costs, including trucking, removal of rubbish, rental of scaffold or other equipment.

(5) Margin, including commissions or brokerage.

(d) Quoting a guaranteed price. A seller may offer to sell siding on an installed basis as covered by this order on the basis of a guaranteed price, the seller agreeing to charge a fixed amount: Provided, however, That such guaranteed price must not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order. Upon completion of the contract, and before final payment, if requested by the purchaser, the seller must furnish the purchaser with an itemized statement showing the number of square feet and the type and unit price of each category of siding and an explanation of the amount for incidental work.

(e) Notification to purchaser. Every person making sales subject to this order shall certify on his invoice or sales tags that the price charged does not exceed the price permitted by this Order No. G-32 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

(f) Application by sellers for unit prices on certain combination sales. For any combination or types of installed siding which cannot be priced according to the above schedule of specific price and permitted increase, a price may be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 6 (a) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, if possible, or an application for determination of a price may be made in writing to the Office of Price Administration at the District Office of the district wherein the seller is located. The Regional Administrator will authorize a pricing method either by letter or by amendment to this order.

(g) Every person making sales subject to this order shall keep and maintain records concerning each such sale as to the name and address of the purchaser, the location of the job, a description of the installed siding, the number of squares and the price per square.

(h) Evasion. Any practice or device which results in a higher price to the purchaser than is permitted by this Order No. G-32 is as much a violation as an outright over-selling charge and subjects the seller to the penalties provided by section 16 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

This order may be revised, amended, or revoked, either by the Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator at any time.

This Order No. G-32 shall become effective the 13th day of March 1946.

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD IN MISSISSIPPI AND TENNESSEE

Order No. G-2 issued pursuant to General Order No. 68, maximum prices for retail sales of softwood plywood in the area hereinafter described; Docket No. IV-GO 68-2.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales by the type sellers of softwood plywood specified in Tables I-A, I-B, II-A and II-B delivered to a purchaser in the area hereinafter more specifically described: That portion of Region IV to which the carload freight rate from Seattle, Washington is 79¢ per CWT., i. e.: Tippah, Marshall, Benton, Tate, Union, Pontotoc, Lafayette, Panola, Quitman, Chickasaw, Calhoun, Yalobusha, Tallahatchie, Sunflower, Leflore, Grenada, Webster, Choctaw, Montgomery, Carroll, Humphreys, Holmes, Attalla, Leake, Scott, Madison, Yazoo, Hinds, Rankin, Smith, Copiah, Simpson, Covington, Jefferson Davis, Lincoln, Lawrence, Pike, Walthall, Marion, Lamar, Pearl River and Hancock in Mississippi, and Fayette, Hardeman, McNairy, Hardin, Wayne, Haywood, Madison, Chester, Henderson, Decatur, Perry, Lewis, Hickman, Crockett, Gibson, Carroll, Benton, Dickson, Humphreys, Weakley, Henry, Houston, Stewart and Montgomery counties in Tennessee.

SEC. 2. Definition of retail sales. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means any sale to an ultimate user, including, among others, commercial users, industrial users, and contractors, except where the sale is made by a plywood manufacturer, or a distribution plant which in 1941 received more than 20% of its dollar income from the sales of plywood or veneer of any kind. These latter types of sales remain subject to the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13.

SEC. 3. Description of types of sellers covered by this order. This order covers two types of sellers at retail, viz:

(a) Class I retailers. Class I retailers are those who, since June 20, 1945, purchased or purchase at least one carload of softwood plywood on direct-mill shipment. (Any shipment which comes directly from the mill without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution plant or retail yard is a direct-mill shipment, no matter who the seller is.)

(b) Class II retailers. Class II retailers are all other retail sellers, principally those who buy their plywood from distribution plants.

SEC. 4. Description of plywood covered by this order. For the purpose of this order all items of plywood priced under the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are covered by this order. (Sales of hardwood plywood, also all species of softwood plywoods not priced under 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, are not covered by this order. Such species continue to be subject to pricing under the applicable regulations for the species.)

SEC. 5. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, all other provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices. The maximum prices for softwood plywood covered by this order are set forth in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which are annexed to and made a part of this order.

SEC. 7. Additions for delivery. If the buyer requests delivery in a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. No deduction need be made, however, if the purchaser elects to make his own delivery within the free delivery zone. If, on the other hand, delivery is made outside this free delivery zone, the seller may add for delivery as prescribed in sections 4 and 5 of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, viz: the amount computed by multiplying the estimated weights set forth in section 22 by the applicable freight rate.

SEC. 8. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which list maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the above designated area in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order who has customarily given his customers a sales slip or other evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each item sold and the price received for it. If he customarily prepared his sales slips in more than one copy, he must keep for at least six months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by him pursuant to this section.

For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of the buyer.
(2) Date of transaction.
(3) Place of delivery.
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 10. Amendment. This order may be amended or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This Order No. G–2 shall become effective February 28, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of February 1946.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

SECTION 1. What this order does. (a) This order fixes maximum prices for painting, decorating and paperhanging services performed by any person, hereinafter called the seller, for any person, hereinafter called the purchaser, in connection with a residential building, structure or construction project at a fixed site in the Salt Lake City District.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons; its legal successors or representatives; the United States or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions; or any agency of any of the foregoing; and includes sub-contractors as well as prime contractors.

(3) "Residential building, structure or construction project" means any building, structure or construction project, or part thereof, used entirely or principally for living or dwelling purposes (including houses, apartments, hotels, and all other properties used for living or dwelling purposes), and all other buildings or structures in connection therewith or adjacent thereto, at the same site, such as garages, barns, milk houses, sheds, granaries, and other out-buildings,

(4) "Maximum labor charge" means the amount charged for labor of a specified type or class for painting, decorating and paperhanging services, made whether at a flat rate per hour so as to include a margin for administrative and over-head costs and profit, or as a percentage of the seller's labor cost, which resulting maximum labor charge is also deemed to include a margin for administrative and over-head costs and profit, together with overtime applicable in either case.

The maximum price of the materials used and of other permitted charges are given in sub-section II of this section.

(a) Measurement of hours. The number of hours which may be charged against any job covered by this order shall be counted from the time the workman leaves the seller's shop or the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job or proceeds to another job or until he returns to the seller's shop if he proceeds there directly. The time in transit to or from the job may be charged only once per day. The hours for which charges are made shall not exceed those shown in the records which the seller is required to keep under section 8 of this order.

(b) Overtime. When work is performed at the purchaser's request between the hours of 4:30 p. m. or 5:00 p. m., whichever is the customary quitting time, and 8:00 a. m. on Monday to Friday, both inclusive, or on Saturdays, Sundays, New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day, or Christmas Day, or any other legal holiday, the maximum labor charge per hour for work during such hours shall be 150% of the maximum straight time hourly rate authorized in this order.

(c) Minimum charges. If a job covered by this order requires less than one man hour the maximum labor charge shall be for one man hour.

(d) Self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger. A self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger who himself performs services covered by this order, either alone or with his employees, shall charge for his services not more than the hourly rate charged by him as of the effective date of this order, but not in excess of the maximum labor charge which would be permissible to be charged for the services of a journeyman in the local area where the services are being performed.

II. Maximum prices of materials and other permitted charges.—(1) Maximum prices of materials. The maximum prices which may be charged by a seller of materials used shall not be more than the maximum prices provided by the appropriate maximum price regulation for sales of such materials at retail, by established paint, decorating and paperhanging supply firms nearest his place of business, based on the manufacturers' published retail price lists. If the materials being sold are marked by a manufacturers' label containing the approved OPA retail ceiling price for sales of the commodity by a seller, a seller of such materials under this order shall not exceed the price marked on the label.

(2) Sub-contracted work. Where services covered by this order are subcontracted by a seller under this order, the maximum charge to the purchaser shall not exceed the maximum price which the seller might lawfully have charged under this order if he had performed the services.

(3) Special equipment. If, during March, 1942, the seller made an extra charge for the use of special equipment, such as spraying machines, steaming machines for removing wallpaper, special types of scaffolding or floor sanding machines, but not including standard equipment such as brushes, ladders and other ordinary equipment, his maximum price per hour for such use after the effective date of this order shall not be in excess of the highest price per hour he charged therefor during March, 1942. If the seller acquired such special equipment after March, 1942, but prior to the effective date of this order, and thereafter established maximum prices per hour for such uses under the applicable maximum price regulation, he may continue to charge such established price. In either case, the seller must have records available to substantiate the charging of such price and such price must be filed with the District Office of the Office of Price Administration pursuant to section 9 of this order. If a seller commences the use of special equipment after the effective date of this order, he shall establish his maximum hourly price therefor under the applicable maximum price regulation and file such price with the District Office within ten days.

(4) Extra charge for use of paint brushes. If a job, covered by this order, requires the use of paint brushes, the seller may make an extra charge therefor of not to exceed 5¢ per man-hour of time consumed on the particular job.

(5) Out of town travel expenses. The seller who furnishes men on an out-of-town job covered by this order shall be reimbursed to the extent of the amount he shall have to pay for travel expenses at not to exceed 5¢ per mile for travel beyond five miles from the city limits, and subsistence where the job necessitates the men being away from their homes. This item shall be explained to the purchaser prior to commencing the job and shall be invoiced separately. Travel expenses and subsistence may not be collected unless the seller actually pays the employee therefor.

(6) Transportation. If a seller uses his truck to transport materials, equipment and men to and from a job a distance of more than five miles beyond the city limits, he may charge not more than 5¢ per mile to and from the job for travel beyond that distance and similarly if other means of transportation are used.

SEC. 5. Guaranteed price. A seller may sell a job covered by this order on the basis of a guaranteed price but such guaranteed price shall not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order.

SEC. 6. Related and incidental construction work and materials. If, on any job covered by this order, any installed building materials are furnished or any construction services are performed by the seller for which maximum prices are not fixed by this order, such materials and services shall be separately priced and billed on all invoices and sales slips. The maximum prices for such related and incidental work and materials shall be determined under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, or as fixed by any applicable area pricing order issued by the Regional Administrator of Region VII.

SEC. 7. Notification—(a) Furnishing of statements. Each seller making a sale covered by this order shall, upon completion of the work, furnish to the purchaser, a statement and keep a copy thereof at his principal place of business, showing the following:

(1) The names and addresses of the seller and purchaser.
(2) The location of the job.
(3) The date the job was completed.
(4) The description of the work performed and the total charged for the job, including both services and materials used, and a separate statement of the related and incidental construction work performed, as provided in section 6 of this order.

(b) Furnishing of further statements upon request. If requested by the purchaser, the seller shall furnish the purchaser an itemized statement showing the information contained in sub-paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of pargaraph (a) of this section, together with an itemized statement showing the maximum labor charges for services covered by this order for each type or class of labor performed and the hourly rates charged therefor, together with an itemized statement of the materials used and the quantities and prices of each, and a separate itemized statement of any related and incidental construction work performed, as provided in section 7 of this order. A copy of any such statements so furnished shall be kept by the seller at his principal place of business.

(c) Order available for inspection. Each seller making a sale covered by this order shall, if requested by the purchaser, make available to the purchaser a copy of this order and a copy of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Copies for this purpose may be obtained from the Office of the Regional Administrator or from the District Office of the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Records. Each seller must keep and retain, at his principal place of business, records concerning each sale covered by this order, showing the following:

(1) The name and address of the purchaser.
(2) The location of the job.
(3) A copy of any and all contracts pertaining to each sale.
(4) The time the job was commenced and completed.
(5) A description of the services performed and materials used, and the quantities and prices of each.
(6) The hours worked and labor charges by types and classes of labor.
(7) A separate itemized statement of any related and incidental construction work and the prices charged for such work.

SEC. 9. Filing and reporting of maximum prices. (a) Each seller subject to this order shall, within thirty days after the effective date of this order, or within ten days after any increase in labor costs is put into effect, or in the case of new sellers within ten days after first entering business, file with the Salt Lake City District Office of the Office of Price Administration the following information:

(1) The "maximum labor charge" as that term is defined in section 1 (b) (4) of this order, in terms of the straight time hourly rate to be charged the purchaser for services covered by this order for each class of workmen employed by him.

(2) The "labor cost" as that term is defined in section 1 (b) (5) of this order, in terms of the authorized straight time hourly rate paid each class of workmen by the seller.

(3) A statement that the prices charged by the seller for the materials used will not exceed the maximum prices provided by the appropriate maximum price regulation for retail sales of such materials by established paint, decorating and paperhanging supply firms nearest his place of business, based on the manufacturer's published retail price lists; and a statement that the maximum charge to the purchaser for services subcontracted by the seller will not exceed the maximum price which the seller may lawfully charge under this order if he had rendered the services directly.

(4) A description and list of all special equipment, and the maximum hourly charges therefor, which were in effect in March, 1942, or which were thereafter established pursuant to the applicable maximum price regulation.

(5) The hourly rate charged by self-employed painters, decorators, or paperhangers as of the effective date of this order, pursuant to section 4 I (1) (d) of this order, or in the case of a new self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger, the proposed hourly rate to be charged but not in excess of the maximum labor charge which would be permissible to be charged for the services of a journeyman in the local area where the services are being performed or are to be performed.

(b) Whenever a new seller files the information required by this section, the District Director may by order approve, disapprove, or revise any maximum price proposed so as to make it in line with the level of maximum prices under this order. If the District Director fails to act within twenty days from the time of the filing, the proposed prices shall be deemed to be in effect.

SEC. 10. Prohibitions against sales at higher than maximum prices. On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or offer to sell services or materials used, or both, covered by this order at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this order.

SEC. 11. Evasions. Any practice, scheme or device which results in a higher price to the purchaser of services covered by this order or materials used, than is permitted by this order, shall be deemed a violation of this order and subjects the seller to all the civil liabilities and the criminal penalties provided in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended and extended.

(b) No seller shall, as a part of the consideration or as a condition of a sale of any services covered by this order or materials used, secretly or otherwise receive, either directly or indirectly any side payment, commission, fee, consideration or other thing of value whatsoever nor shall the seller, either directly or indirectly, acquire or receive the benefit of any services, transportation agreements, or other valuable thing, material or property.

(c) No seller shall eliminate or reduce in any form or manner any maintenance or repair service customarily offered or performed as a part of the services covered by this order, nor shall the seller lower the quality of the materials used below that called for by the specifications or agreement.

(d) No seller shall, by any of the foregoing plans, schemes, or devices, or by any other plan, scheme or device, receive or acquire or attempt to receive or acquire anything of value, service, valuable right, property or property right, money or other consideration whatsoever in addition to the maximum prices established in this order for the sale of services covered by this order or materials used.

SEC. 12. Less than maximum prices. Prices lower than the maximum prices for sales covered by this order may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 13. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this order. A seller's license may be suspended for violation of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 14. Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked, modified or amended at any time by the Price Administrator or the Regional Administrator.

This Order No. G–27 shall become effective February 25, 1946.

[Region IV Order G–3 Under Gen. Order 68]

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD IN MISSISSIPPI

Order No. G–3 issued pursuant to General Order No. 68, maximum prices for retail sales of softwood plywood in the area hereinafter described; Docket No. IV–GO 68–3.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales by the type sellers of softwood plywood specified in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B delivered to a purchaser in the area hereinafter more specifically described: That portion of Region IV to which the carload freight rate from Seattle, Washington is 82¢ per CWT, i. e.: that portion of the State of Mississippi lying east of, but not including, Tippah, Union, Pontotoc, Chickasaw, Webster, Choctaw, Attalla, Leake, Scott, Smith, Covington, Lamar, Pearl River, and Hancock counties.

SEC. 2. Definition of retail sales. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means any sale to an ultimate user, including, among others, commercial users, industrial users, and contractors, except where the sale is made by a plywood manufacturer, or a distribution plant which in 1941 received more than 20% of its dollar income from the sales of plywood or veneer of any kind. These latter types of sales remain subject to the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13.

SEC. 3. Description of types of sellers covered by this order. This order covers two types of sellers at retail, viz:

(a) Class I retailers. Class I retailers are those who, since June 20, 1945, purchased or purchase at least one carload of softwood plywood on direct-mill shipment. (Any shipment which comes directly from the mill without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution plant or retail yard is a direct-mill shipment, no matter who the seller is.)

(b) Class II retailers. Class II retailers are all other retail sellers, principally those who buy their plywood from distribution plants.

SEC. 4. Description of plywood covered by this order. For the purpose of this order all items of plywood priced under the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are covered by this order. (Sales of hardwood plywood, also all species of softwood plywoods not priced under 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, are not covered by this order. Such species continue to be subject to pricing under the applicable regulations for the species.)

SEC. 5. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, all other provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices. The maximum prices for softwood plywood covered by this order are set forth in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which are annexed to and made a part of this order.

SEC. 7. Additions for delivery. If the buyer requests delivery in a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. No deduction need be made, however, if the purchaser elects to make his own delivery within the free delivery zone. If, on the other hand, delivery is made outside this free delivery zone, the seller may add for delivery as prescribed in sections 4 and 5 of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, viz: the amount computed by multiplying the estimated weights set forth in section 22 by the applicable freight rate.

SEC. 8. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which list maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the above designated area in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order who has customarily given his customers a sales slip or other evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each item sold and the price received for it. If he customarily prepared his sales slips in more than one copy, he must keep for at least six months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by him pursuant to this section.

For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of the buyer.
(2) Date of transaction.
(3) Place of delivery.
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 10. Amendment. This order may be amended or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This Order No. G–3 shall become effective February 28, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of February 1946.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

[Region VIII Order G–17 Under RMPR 251]

PLUMBING AND HEATING SERVICES IN EASTERN WASHINGTON AND NORTHERN IDAHO

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for all "plumbing and heating services" in the following areas:

In the State of Idaho. The Counties of Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Clearwater, Idaho, Kootenai, Latah, Lewis, Nez Perce, and Shoshone.

In the State of Washington. The Counties of Adams, Asotin, Benton, Columbia, Douglas, Ferry, Franklin, Garfield, Grant, Lincoln, Pend Oreille, Spokane, Stevens, Walla Walla, and Whitman, and that portion of Okanogan County lying south of a line extending north 45 degrees east from the most northerly point of Douglas County.

(b) Maximum price for jobs selling for not more than $200.00: The maximum price of "plumbing and heating services" in the areas described above is the sum of a charge for labor, a charge for the materials used, and such other charges as may be permitted by this order. The maximum charge for labor shall be the sum of the separate charges determined by multiplying the number of hours of labor performed in each such category by the maximum hourly rate applicable to that category, as provided by paragraph (b) (1). The maximum price of the materials used shall be determined as is provided by paragraph (b) (2).

(1) Maximum labor charge. (i) The maximum hourly rate shall be either the rate in Column A or the "labor cost" per hour multiplied by the percentage in Column B, rounded to the nearest 5 cents, whichever is lower:

	Column A	Column B
		Percent
Journeyman plumber	$2.50	155
Apprentice plumber, semiskilled and common labor	1.50	150

(ii) Measurement of hours. The number of hours to be charged against any job is to be counted from the time the workman leaves the shop or the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job if he proceeds to another job, or until he returns to the shop if he proceeds there directly. For any job extending into more than one day, time in transit to or from the job may be charged only once each day. The hours for which charges are made shall not exceed those shown on the seller's payroll records nor those shown on any records or invoices which this order may require the seller to prepare or keep.

(iii) Overtime work may be charged for at 1½ times the stated rate, except that overtime may be charged at two times the stated rate whenever sellers are required by union contract to pay labor at such doubled rate, but an overtime rate may be charged only if overtime work is performed at the customer's request and only if the employee (if any) is paid on an overtime basis, and only if the work is performed on Saturday, Sunday, a legal holiday, or after the performance of a standard day's work on a given day and before 8:00 a. m. of the following day. A standard day's work shall consist of eight hours unless otherwise stipulated in a contract between labor union and seller.

(iv) Minimum charge. If a job requires less than one man-hour, there may be collected a minimum charge equal to the rate of one hour.

(v) Outside sewer stoppage removal. A minimum charge not exceeding $5.00 may be made for outside sewer stoppage removal. If, because of employment of power driven equipment, maximum hourly rates were in effect during March 1942 which are higher than the rates otherwise provided herein, and records are available to substantiate such rates, then the same rates may be continued for this type of work.

(vi) A journeyman plumber doing his own work shall take as his labor cost the labor cost applicable to journeyman plumbers in the area.

(2) Materials. (i) The maximum price of any new material shall be the lower of the following:

(a) The highest price charged for such material by the seller during March 1942.

(b) The price published as of the date of issuance of this order, in Moore's Price Service, published by Moore's Price Service, Inc., Lloyd Building, Seattle 1, Washington.

(ii) The maximum price of any used materials or any new materials which cannot be priced as provided above, shall be the seller's maximum price determined under the appropriate maximum price regulation, but not exceeding the seller's cost plus 33⅓%.

(3) Other charges—(i) Cartage. Necessary cartage of tools and materials may be charged for at not more than 40 cents per round trip. Not more than three trips per day may be charged against any one job.

(ii) Mileage. For necessary travel to and from a job when the work is performed at a place more than 15 miles from the seller's nearest place of business, as measured along the most direct customary route, mileage may be charged at the rate of 5 cents per mile per day per job (both ways), but only for the excess over such distance.

(iii) Out of town expenses. A seller may be reimbursed for expenses incurred by him for employees required to remain out of town for the purposes of the job, but not in excess of $5.00 per day per employee.

(iv) Authorization by customer. The above items must be explained to and authorized by the customer prior to starting the work and invoiced properly as a separate item.

(v) If the equipment or materials to be transported are of such size or volume as to require the use of a transfer company, only the charge actually paid may be passed on to the consumer. Such charge shall be no higher than the charge resulting from use of lowest available common carrier rates.

(c) Jobs selling for more than $200.00. (1) For jobs selling for more than $200.00 the maximum price shall be the maximum price determined under section 7 (a) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, except as hereinafter provided. When determining a price under section 7 (a) for the purposes of this order, the seller shall use the sum of his labor costs, material costs, and other direct costs, and a margin not exceeding the following:

Total labor, material, and other direct costs	Margin (percent)
For the first $500.00 in costs	25
For the next $500.00 in costs	20
For costs over $1,000.00	15

Provided, That for sellers in business in March 1942, the margin shall not exceed the margin used in the most comparable job in the period January 1, 1939, to March 31, 1942.

(2) "Other direct costs" include only the following: (i) The cost of workmen's compensation insurance, social security tax, unemployment compensation tax, building permits and fees, and rentals of special equipment, the rentals to be charged at the base rental rate but not exceeding their maximum prices under any regulation or order.

(ii) The cost of subcontracts entered into by the seller involving services and/or materials incidental or supplemental to the main contract, if the subcontract has been figured in accordance with the provisions of the applicable regulation or order: Provided, however, That the margin applicable to the cost of such subcontract shall be not more than 10%.

(3) Administrative and overhead costs and selling expense are not to be included in direct costs.

(d) Estimates. Where work is performed on a cost-plus job on the basis of an estimate submitted by the seller, the total charge for such work shall not exceed the estimated price by more than 15%, except to the extent permitted by paragraph (e), relating to extra work.

(e) Extra work. Any changes in plans or specifications made at the request of the customer involving an increase in the cost of the work covered by the original estimate shall be charged for under the terms of paragraph (c): Provided, however, That the margin used shall not exceed 15%.

(f) Lump-sum contracts. Where a seller offers to supply services of the kind covered by this order on the basis of a lump-sum contract, the seller agreeing to charge a fixed price, such price may exceed the maximum price computed in accordance with the terms of paragraph (c) of this order but not by more than 10%. With respect to such job the seller shall keep records as required by other paragraphs of this order, these records to be available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

(g) Definitions. (1) "Plumbing and heating services" means plumbing installation, repair and maintenance services, the sale of installed plumbing materials, and the installation of oil burners, feed lines, and automatic sprinklers. "Plumbing" means gas, water, and steam distribution or waste removal systems.

(2) "Labor cost" means the wage rates per hour in effect on October 3, 1942, or wage rates which have been established by proper agencies, but not in excess of the wage rate actually paid.

(h) Scope of this order. (1) The maximum prices established by this order include all expenses, and no additional charge shall be made for any other cost or incidental service.

(2) Lower prices than the maximum prices established by this order may be charged, demanded, offered, or paid.

(i) Records and invoices. Every person making sales subject to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this order shall furnish each customer an invoice or sales slip on which he has certified that the price charged does not exceed the price permitted by this Order No. G–17 and showing the time spent by each classification of employee on the job, the rate charged for each such classification, the materials for which charges are made and their quantities and charges therefor, the names and addresses of the buyer and seller, the location of the job and the date of its completion, and an itemization of any other charges (such as for mileage or "other direct costs" authorized by this order. Such seller shall also keep records showing the same information and, in addition, the itemized cost of the labor and materials involved. These records and duplicates of such invoices or sales slips shall be kept by the seller at his place of business and shall be available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration. No charge may be made for any item for which a seller fails to issue the invoices or keep the records required by this order.

(j) Relation of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Except as otherwise provided in this order, this order supersedes sections 6, 7, and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to sales covered by this order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, however, all other sections of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, together with all amendments thereto that have been or may be issued, shall apply to sales covered by this order. As to such sales it also supersedes any other order issued under section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251.

(k) This order may be amended, corrected, or revoked at any time.

This order shall become effective February 15, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of February, 1946.

Regional Administrator.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales by the type sellers of softwood plywood specified in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B delivered to a purchaser in the area hereinafter more specifically described: That portion of Region IV to which the carload freight rate from Seattle, Washington is 89½¢ per CWT., i. e.: That portion of the State of Florida lying in Okaloosa, Santa Rosa and Escambia counties; that portion of the State of Alabama lying west of but not including, Jackson, Dekalb, Cherokee, Calhoun, Cleburne, Clay, Tallapoosa, Macon, Bullock, Pike, Coffee and Geneva counties; that portion of the State of Tennessee lying in Robertson, Sumner, Macon, Cheatham, Davidson, Trousdale, Smith, Wilson, Rutherford, Williamson, Maury, Bedford, Lincoln, Giles, Marshall and Lawrence counties.

SEC. 2. Definition of retail sales. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means any sale to an ultimate user, including, among others, commercial users, industrial users, and contractors, except where the sale is made by a plywood manufacturer, or a distribution plant which in 1941 received more than 20% of its dollar income from the sales of plywood or veneer of any kind. These latter types of sales remain subject to the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13.

SEC. 3. Description of types of sellers covered by this order. This order covers two types of sellers at retail, viz:

(a) Class I retailers. Class I retailers are those who, since June 20, 1945, purchased or purchase at least one carload of softwood plywood on direct-mill shipment. (Any shipment which comes directly from the mill without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution plant or retail yard is a direct-mill shipment, no matter who the seller is.)

(b) Class II retailers. Class II retailers are all other retail sellers, principally those who buy their plywood from distribution plants.

SEC. 4. Description of plywood covered by this order. For the purpose of this order all items of plywood priced under the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are covered by this order. (Sales of hardwood plywood, also all species of softwood plywoods not priced under 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, are not covered by this order. Such species continue to be subject to pricing under the applicable regulations for the species.)

SEC. 5. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, all other provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices. The maximum prices for softwood plywood covered by this order are set forth in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which are annexed to and made a part of this order.

SEC. 7. Additions for delivery. If the buyer requests delivery in a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. No deduction need be made, however, if the purchaser elects to make his own delivery within the free delivery zone. If, on the other hand, delivery is made outside this free delivery zone, the seller may add for delivery as prescribed in sections 4 and 5 of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, viz: the amount computed by multiplying the estimated weights set forth in section 22 by the applicable freight rate.

SEC. 8. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which list maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the above designated area in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order who has customarily given his customers a sales slip or other evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each item sold and the price received for it. The time in transit to or from the job may be charged only once per day. The hours for which charges are made shall not exceed those shown in the records which the seller is required to keep under section 8 of this order.

(c) Minimum charges. If a job covered by this order requires less than one man hour the maximum labor charge shall be for one man hour.

(d) Self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger. A self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger who himself performs services covered by this order, either alone or with his employees shall charge for his services not more than the hourly rate charged by him as of the date of this order but not in excess of the maximum labor charge which would be permissible to be charged for the services of a journeyman in the local area where the services are being performed.

II. Maximum prices of materials and other permitted charges—(1) Maximum prices of materials. The maximum prices which may be charged by a seller of materials used shall not be more than the maximum prices provided by the appropriate maximum price regulation for sales of such materials at retail, by established paint, decorating and paperhanging supply firms nearest his place of business, based on the manufacturers' published retail price lists. If the materials being sold are marked by a manufacturer's label containing the approved OPA retail ceiling price for sales of the commodity by a seller, a seller of such materials under this order shall not exceed the price marked on the label.

(2) Sub-contracted work. Where services covered by this order are subcontracted by a seller under this order, the maximum charge to the purchaser shall not exceed the maximum price which the seller might lawfully have charged under this order if he had performed the services.

(3) Special equipment. If, during March, 1942, the seller made an extra charge for the use of special equipment, such as spraying machines, steaming machines for removing wallpaper, special types of scaffolding or floor sanding machines, but not including standard equipment such as brushes, ladders and other ordinary equipment, his maximum price per hour for such use after the effective date of this order shall not be in excess of the highest price per hour he charged therefor during March, 1942. If the seller acquired such special equipment after March, 1942, but prior to the effective date of this order, and thereafter established maximum prices per hour for such uses under the applicable maximum price regulation, he may continue to charge such established price. In either case, the seller must have records available to substantiate the charging of such price and such price must be filed with the District Office of the Office of Price Administration pursuant to section 9 of this order. If a seller commences the use of special equipment after the effective date of this order he shall establish his maximum hourly price therefor under the applicable maximum price regulation and file such price with the District Office within ten days.

(4) Extra charge for use of paint brushes. If a job, covered by this order, requires the use of paint brushes, the seller may make an extra charge therefor of not to exceed 5¢ per man-hour of time consumed on the particular job.

(5) Out of town travel expenses. The seller who furnishes men on an out-of-town job covered by this order shall be reimbursed to the extent of the amount he shall have to pay for travel expenses at not to exceed 5¢ per mile for travel beyond five miles from the city limits, and subsistence where the job necessitates the men being away from their homes. This item shall be explained to the purchaser prior to commencing the job and shall be invoiced separately. Travel expenses and subsistence may not be collected unless the seller actually pays the employee therefor.

(6) Transportation. If a seller uses his truck to transport materials, equipment and men to and from a job a distance of more than five miles beyond the city limits, he may charge not more than 5¢ per mile to and from the job for travel beyond that distance and similarly if other means of transporation are used.

SEC. 5. Guaranteed price. A seller may sell a job covered by this order on the basis of a guaranteed price but such guaranteed price shall not be higher than the maximum price figured in accordance with the pricing methods and requirements of this order.

SEC. 6. Related and incidental construction work and materials. If on any job covered by this order any installed building materials are furnished or any construction services are performed by the seller for which maximum prices are not fixed by this order, such materials and services shall be separately priced and billed on all invoices and sales slips. The maximum prices for such related and incidental work and materials shall be determined under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, or as fixed by any applicable area pricing order issued by the Regional Administrator of Region VII.

(3) The date the job was completed.
(4) The description of the work performed and the total charged for the job, including both services and materials used, and a separate statement of the related and incidental construction work performed, as provided in section 6 of this order.

(b) Furnishing of further statements upon request. If requested by the purchaser, the seller shall furnish the purchaser an itemized statement showing the information contained in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of paragraph (a) of this section, together with an itemized statement showing the maximum labor charges for services covered by this order for each type or class of labor performed and the hourly rates charged therefor, together with an itemized statement of the materials used and the quantities and prices of each, and a separate itemized statement of any related and incidental construction work performed, as provided in section 7 of this order. A copy of any such statements so furnished shall be kept by the seller at his principal place of business.

(c) Order available for inspection. Each seller making a sale covered by this order shall, if requested by the purchaser, make available to the purchaser a copy of this order and a copy of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. Copies for this purpose may be obtained from the Office of the Regional Administrator or from the District Office of the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Records. Each seller must keep and retain, at his principal place of business, records concerning each sale covered by this order, showing the following:

(1) The "maximum labor charge" as that term is defined in section 1 (b) (4) of this order, in terms of the straight time hourly rate to be charged the purchaser for services covered by this order for each class of workmen employed by him.

(2) The "labor cost" as that term is defined in section 1 (b) (5) of this order, in terms of the authorized straight time hourly rate paid each class of workmen by the seller.

(3) A statement that the prices charged by the seller for the materials used will not exceed the maximum prices provided by the appropriate maximum price regulations for retail sales of such materials by established paint, decorating, and paperhanging supply firms nearest his place of business, based on the manufacturer's published retail price lists; and a statement that the maximum charge to the purchaser for services subcontracted by the seller will not exceed the maximum price which the seller may lawfully charge under this order if he had rendered the services directly.

[Region IV Order G–5 under Gen. Order 68]

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD IN FLORIDA, GEORGIA, AND TENNESSEE

Order No. G–5 issued pursuant to General Order No. 68, maximum prices for retail sales of softwood plywood in the area hereinafter described; Docket No. IV–GO 68–5.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the provisions of General Order 68, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. What this order covers. This order covers all retail sales by the type sellers of softwood plywood specified in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B delivered to a purchaser in the area hereinafter more specifically described: That portion of Region IV to which the carload freight rate from Seattle, Washington is 92¢ per CWT., i. e.: that portion of the State of Florida lying in Jackson, Calhoun, Gulf, Holmes, Washington, Bay and Walton counties; that portion of the State of Georgia lying west of, but not including, Fannin, Lumpkin, Hall, Barrow, Walton, Newton, Jasper, Butts, Lamar, Pike, Upson, Taylor, Schley, Sumter, Lee, Dougherty, Mitchell, and Grady counties; that portion of the State of Alabama lying east of, but not including, Madison, Marshall, Etowah, Saint Clair, Talladega, Coosa, Elmore, Montgomery, Crenshaw and Covington counties; that portion of the State of Tennessee lying east of, but not including, Macon, Smith, Wilson, Rutherford, Bedford, Moore and Lincoln counties, and west of, but not including, Claiborne, Grainger, Jefferson, Sevier, Blount, Monroe and Polk counties.

SEC. 2. Definition of retail sales. For the purposes of this order, a retail sale means any sale to an ultimate user, including, among others, commercial users, industrial users, and contractors, except where the sale is made by a plywood manufacturer, or a distribution plant which in 1941 received more than 20% of its dollar income from the sales of plywood or veneer of any kind. These latter types of sales remain subject to the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13.

SEC. 3. Description of types of sellers covered by this order. This order covers two types of sellers at retail, viz:

(a) Class I retailers. Class I retailers are those who, since June 20, 1945, purchased or purchase at least one carload of softwood plywood on direct-mill shipment. (Any shipment which comes directly from the mill without becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution plant or retail yard is a direct-mill shipment, no matter who the seller is.)

(b) Class II retailers. Class II retailers are all other retail sellers, principally those who buy their plywood from distribution plants.

SEC. 4. Description of plywood covered by this order. For the purpose of this order all items of plywood priced under the provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 are covered by this order. (Sales of hardwood plywood, also all species of softwood plywoods not priced under 3d Revised Maximum Regulation 13, are not covered by this order. Such species continue to be subject to pricing under the applicable regulations for the species.)

SEC. 5. Relation to other regulations. The maximum prices fixed by this order supersede any maximum price or pricing method previously fixed by any other regulation or order. Except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, all other provisions of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13 shall apply to sales covered by this order.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices. The maximum prices for softwood plywood covered by this order are set forth in Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which are annexed to and made a part of this order.

SEC. 7. Additions for delivery. If the buyer requests delivery in a free delivery zone which the seller recognized during March 1942, the seller may not charge for making the delivery. No deduction need be made, however, if the purchaser elects to make his own delivery within the free delivery zone. If, on the other hand, delivery is made outside this free delivery zone, the seller may add for delivery as prescribed in sections 4 and 5 of 3d Revised Maximum Price Regulation 13, viz: the amount computed by multiplying the estimated weights set forth in section 22 by the applicable freight rate.

SEC. 8. Posting of maximum prices. Every seller making sales covered by this order shall post a copy of Tables I–A, I–B, II–A and II–B which list maximum prices fixed by this order in each of his places of business in the above designated area in a manner plainly visible to all purchasers.

SEC. 9. Sales slips and records. Every seller covered by this order who has customarily given his customers a sales slip or other evidence of purchase must continue to do so. Upon request from a customer such seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the seller, the description of each item sold and the price received for it. If he customarily prepared his sales slips in more than one copy, he must keep for at least six months after delivery a duplicate copy of each sales slip delivered by him pursuant to this section.

For any sale of $50.00 or more each seller, regardless of previous custom, must keep records showing at least the following:

(1) Name and address of the buyer.
(2) Date of transaction.
(3) Place of delivery.
(4) Complete description of each item sold and price charged.

SEC. 10. Amendment. This order may be amended or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

This Order No. G–5 shall become effective February 28, 1946.

Issued this 15th day of February 1946.

ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Regional Administrator.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders)

PART 970—MILK IN THE CLINTON, IOWA, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER REGULATING HANDLING [1]

§ 970.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Cum. Supp. 900.1 et seq., 10 F.R. 11791), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said tentatively approved marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held; and

(3) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (c) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds available, supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest.

The foregoing findings are supplementary and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by this amended order) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by said order, as hereby amended, which is marketed within the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area; and it is further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said Clinton, Iowa, marketing area.

1. Delete § 970.1 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture or any other officer or employee of the United States who is authorized to exercise the powers and to perform the duties of the Secretary of Agriculture.

2. Delete the term, "War Food Administrator," wherever appearing and substitute therefor the term, "Secretary."

3. Delete § 970.3 (b) (1) and (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk shall be all milk, skim milk, or cream disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, and milk drinks, cream for consumption as cream (including any cream product in fluid form containing 6 percent or more butterfat) and all unaccounted for milk in excess of 3 percent of the total receipts of milk from producers.

(2) Class II milk shall be all milk, skim milk, and cream used to produce evaporated milk, condensed milk, ice cream, ice cream mix, cottage cheese, or any milk product other than those specified in Class I milk or Class III milk.

(3) Class III milk shall be (i) all milk, skim milk, and cream used to produce butter, American type Cheddar cheese, and casein; (ii) skim milk which is used as animal feed; and (iii) all milk accounted for as plant shrinkage: Provided, That plant shrinkage shall not exceed 3 percent of the total receipts of milk from producers.

4. Delete § 970.3 (d) and substitute therefor the following:

(d) Transfers of milk and cream. (1) Milk, skim milk, and cream shall be classified as Class I milk when moved from the plant of a handler (i) to the plant of another handler who receives milk from producers: Provided, That if such milk, skim milk, or cream is utilized in a lower classification, such milk, skim milk, or cream shall be classified accordingly, subject to verification by the market administrator; or (ii) to the plant of a handler who receives no milk from producers other than milk of his own production;

(2) Milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of by a handler to the plant of a person, other than a handler, who distributes milk, skim milk, or cream in fluid form for consumption as such shall be classified as Class I: Provided, That if the handler certifies that such milk, skim milk, or cream was utilized in a lower classification it shall be so classified, subject to verification by the market administrator;

(3) Milk, skim milk, and cream received at the plant of a handler from sources other than producers or other handlers shall be Class III milk: Provided, That if the quantity of such milk, skim milk, and cream is greater than the total Class III utilization of the receiving handler an amount equal to the difference shall be classified as Class II milk: And provided further, That if the quantity of such milk, skim milk, and cream is greater than the total Class III and Class II utilization of the receiving handler an amount equal to the difference shall be classified as Class I milk.

(4) Milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of by a handler to the plant of a person, other than a handler, who manufactures dairy products and who does not distribute milk, skim milk, or cream for consumption in fluid form shall be classified as Class II milk, subject to reclassification if the market administrator determines that such milk, skim milk, or cream was utilized other than in a Class II product.

5. Delete § 970.3(e)(3), (4), (5), (6), and (7) and substitute therefor the following:

, (3) Determine the total pounds of milk in Class I as follows: (i) Convert to pounds the total quantity of milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of in each of the several products of Class I; (ii) add together the resulting amounts; and (iii) if the quantity of milk so computed when added to the pounds of Class II milk and Class III milk computed pursuant to (5) (ii) and (7) (iv) of this paragraph is less than the total pounds of milk received in accordance with (1) of this paragraph, an amount equal to the difference shall be added to the sum obtained in (ii) of this subparagraph.

(4) Determine the total pounds of butterfat in Class I as follows: (i) Multiply the actual weight of each of the several products of Class I by its average butterfat test; (ii) add together the resulting amounts; and (iii) if the quantity of butterfat so computed, when added to the pounds of butterfat in Class II and Class III computed pursuant to (6) (ii) and (8) (iv) of this paragraph is less than the total pounds of butterfat received in accordance with (2) of this paragraph, an amount equal to the difference shall be added to the sum obtained in (ii) of this subparagraph.

(5) Determine the total pounds of milk in Class II as follows: (i) Compute the total pounds of milk, skim milk, and cream which were used to produce each of the several products of Class II; and (ii) add together the resulting amounts.

(6) Determine the total pounds of butterfat in Class II as follows: (i) Multiply the actual weight of each of the several products of Class II by its average butterfat test; and (ii) add together the resulting amounts.

(7) Determine the total pounds of milk in Class III as follows: (i) Compute the total pounds of milk, skim milk, and cream which were used to produce each of the several products of Class III; (ii) add together the resulting amounts; (iii) subtract the total pounds of milk computed pursuant to (3) (ii) and (5) (ii) of this paragraph and the pounds of milk computed pursuant to (ii) of this subparagraph from the total pounds of milk computed pursuant to (1) of this paragraph, which resulting quantity, up to 3 percent of the total receipts of milk from producers, shall be allowed as plant shrinkage for the purposes of this paragraph; and (iv) add together the result obtained in (ii) of this subparagraph and the amount of plant shrinkage allowed pursuant to (iii) of this subparagraph.

(8) Determine the total pounds of butterfat in Class III as follows: (i) Multiply the actual weight of each of the several products of Class III by its average butterfat test; (ii) add together the resulting amounts; (iii) subtract the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to (4) (ii) and (6) (ii) of this paragraph and the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to (ii) of this subparagraph from the total pounds of butterfat computed pursuant to (2) of this paragraph, which resulting quantity, up to 3 percent of the total receipts of butterfat from producers, shall be allowed as plant shrinkage for the purpose of this paragraph; and (iv) add together the result obtained in (ii) of this subparagraph and the amount of plant shrinkage allowed pursuant to (iii) of this subparagraph.

(9) Determine the classification of milk of producers as follows: (i) Subtract from the pounds of milk in each class the pounds of milk, skim milk, and cream received from other handlers and allocated to each class in accordance with (d) of this section; (ii) subtract from the remaining pounds of milk in Class III the total pounds of milk, skim milk, and cream, except emergency milk, received from sources other than producers, own farm production, and other handlers: Provided, That if the quantity of milk, skim milk, and cream, so received, is greater than the remaining quantity of Class III milk of such handler, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the remaining pounds of Class II milk: And provided further, That if the quantity of milk, skim milk, and cream, so received, is greater than the remaining quantity of Class II milk of such handler, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the remaining pounds of Class I milk; (iii) subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of milk in each class the total pounds of milk which were received from the handler's own farm production and emergency milk; (iv) if the remaining quantity of milk is greater than or contains a greater quantity of butterfat than the handler reported having received from producers an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted pro rata from the remaining pounds of milk or butterfat in each class; and (v) the result shall be known as the "net pooled milk" in each class.

6. Delete § 970.4 (a) (1) and (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) For Class I milk—the price shall be the price for Class II milk for such delivery period, plus 50 cents per hundredweight.

(2) For Class II milk—the price shall be that resulting from the following computation by the market administrator: determine the average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight ascertained to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received during the period beginning with the 16th day of the previous month and ending with the 15th day of the then current month at the plants listed in this subparagraph: Provided, That if the price so determined is less than the price computed by the market administrator in accordance with the following formula, such formula price shall be used in lieu of the above stated price: (i) Multiply by 6 the average wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago for the delivery period as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture (or such other Federal agency as may be authorized to perform this price reporting function); (ii) add 2.4 times the average weekly prevailing price of the cheese known as "Twins" during said delivery period on the Wisconsin Cheese

Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin (in the absence of such prices the prevailing price of "Twins" at Chicago as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, or such other Federal agency as may be authorized to perform this price reporting function shall be used); (iii) divide the resulting sum by 7; (iv) add 30 percent thereof; and (v) multiply the result by 3.5.

7. Delete § 970.4 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(3) If the average butterfat content of the milk disposed of as net pooled Class III milk by any handler computed pursuant to § 970.3 (e) is more or less than 3.5 percent, such handler shall add to the Class III price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) (3) of this section for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such Class III milk is above 3.5 percent, or shall subtract from such Class III price for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such Class III milk is below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by the market administrator as follows: from the average wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture (or such other Federal agency as may be authorized to perform this price reporting function) for the delivery period during which such milk was received, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent thereof and divide the result obtained by 10.

(3) On or before the 5th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall submit to the market administrator a producer list which shall show the total receipts of milk from each producer and the average butterfat test thereof together with the amount of payments on account made to the producer and the amount of any charges against the producer, and any deductions which have been authorized by the producer.

9. Delete § 970.5 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) On or before the 20th day of each delivery period each handler shall submit to the market administrator a producer list which shall show the total pounds of milk received from each producer by such handler during the first 15 days of the delivery period.

10. In § 970.6 (d) delete the phrase, "at the Class II price," and substitute therefor the phrase, "at the Class III price."

11. Delete § 970.7 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Computation of the uniform price. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk as follows:

(1) Combine into one total the net pool obligations, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, of all handlers who made the reports prescribed by § 970.5, and who made the payments prescribed by § 970.8 for the previous delivery period;

(2) Add an amount equal to not less than one-half the cash balance in the producer-settlement fund, exclusive of the amount retained in such fund pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph;

(3) For each of the delivery periods of May and June subtract an amount equal to 20 cents per hundredweight of net pooled milk of all handlers whose reports are included in this computation;

(4) For each of the delivery periods of September, October, and November, add one-third of the total amount subtracted pursuant to (3) of this paragraph;

(5) Subtract, if the average butterfat content of the net pooled milk of all handlers whose reports are included in this computation is greater than 3.5 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed as follows: multiply the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 970.8 (d) and multiply the result by the total hundredweight of net pooled milk of all handlers whose reports are included in this computation;

(6) Divide the resulting sum by the total quantity of net pooled milk of all handlers whose reports are included in this computation; and

(7) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight of milk for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the "uniform price" per hundredweight for milk of producers containing 3.5 percent butterfat.

12. Amend § 970.7 (c) by deleting the words, "Class I and Class II prices," and substituting therefor the words, "Class I, Class II, and Class III prices."

13. Further amend § 970.7 (c) by deleting the term, "§ 970.8 (c)" and substituting therefor the term, "§ 970.8 (d)."

14. Delete § 970.7 (d) and substitute therefor the following:

(d) On or before the 7th day after the end of each delivery period the market administrator shall notify each handler of the amount of his net pool obligation computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section. On or before the 9th day after the end of each delivery period the market administrator shall notify each handler of the amount by which his net pool obligation is greater or less than the sum required to be paid producers by such handler at the uniform price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 970.8 (d).

15. Delete § 970.8 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 970.8 Payment for milk—(a) Payments to producers. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler shall make payment for milk purchased or received by him during the delivery period from producers or associations of producers as follows:

(1) On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk which was purchased or received from him during the delivery period at not less than the uniform price computed pursuant to § 970.7 (b), subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section, less the amount of the payments made to such producer pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph and less the amount of the payments, charges, and deductions reported by such handler pursuant to § 970.5 (a) (3): Provided, That with respect to producers whose milk was caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk, the handler shall pay such cooperative association an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers in accordance with this subparagraph.

(2) On or before the last day of each delivery period each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk which was purchased or received from him during the delivery period at a rate equal to 2 dollars per hundredweight: Provided, That with respect to producers whose milk was caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk, the handler shall pay such cooperative association an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers in accordance with this subparagraph.

(3) If a handler's net pool obligation is greater than the sum required to be paid producers by such handler in accordance with subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, such handler shall, not later than the 10th day after the end of the delivery period, make payment to the market administrator of an amount equal to the difference between such handler's net pool obligation and the amount required to be paid producers by such handler.

(b) Payments through the market administrator. Any handler, who so notifies the market administrator, may, in lieu of the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section make payment to producers through the market administrator as follows:

(1) On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period, such handler shall pay to the market administrator an amount equal to his net pool obligation, less the amount of the payments, charges, and deductions reported by such handler pursuant to § 970.5 (a) (3) and less the amount of the payment made pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) On or before the 25th day of each delivery period, such handler shall pay to the market administrator an amount equal to $2.00 per hundredweight on all the milk purchased or received by such handler from producers during the first 15 days of the delivery period.

(c) Payments by the market administrator. (1) The market administrator shall make payment to each producer or association of producers, from whom milk was purchased or received by a handler, who made payment to the market administrator pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, at the time, and in an amount equal to that otherwise payable to such producer or association of producers pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) and (2) of this section.

(2) If the payments required to be made to producers by any handler who makes payment to producers pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section are greater than such handler's net pool obligation, the market administrator shall, not later than the 12th day after the end of the delivery period, make payment to such handler of an amount equal to the difference between such handler's net pool obligation and the amount required to be paid producers by such handler.

(d) Butterfat differential to producers. If during the delivery period any handler has purchased or received from any producer milk having an average butterfat test other than 3.5 percent, the handler in making payment to such producer in accordance with paragraph (a) (1) of this section, shall add to the uniform price per hundredweight paid to such producer for each one-tenth of 1 percent of average butterfat in milk above 3.5 percent, or shall deduct from the uniform price per hundredweight paid to such producer for each one-tenth of 1 percent of average butterfat content in milk below 3.5 percent, an amount computed as follows: to the average wholesale price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture (or such other Federal agency as may be authorized to perform this price reporting function) add 20 percent, and divide the resulting sum by 10.

(e) Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to paragraphs (a) (3), (b), and (f) of this section together with the amounts subtracted from the uniform price computation pursuant to § 970.7 (b) (3) and (7), and out of which he shall make all payments to producers and handlers pursuant to paragraphs (c) and (f) of this section as well as the amounts added in the computation of the uniform price pursuant to § 970.7 (b) (2) and (4).

(f) Adjustments of errors in payments. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments by any handler discloses errors in payments to the market administrator by such handler pursuant to paragraphs (a) (3) or (b) of this section, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 5 days of such billing, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification by the market administrator discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler the market administrator shall, within 5 days, make such payment to such handler. Whenever verification of a handler's reports discloses that an error was made in payments to any producer by the market administrator pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, the market administrator shall correct such payment not later than the time of making final payment to producers next following such disclosure. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer discloses payment to such producer of an amount which is less than is required pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) and (2) of this section, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer not later than the time of making final payment to producers next following such disclosure.

16. Add as § 970.9 (c) the following:

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter IX—Civilian Production Administration

AUTHORITY: Regulations in this chapter unless otherwise noted at the end of documents affected, issued under sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236, 56 Stat. 177, 58 Stat. 827 and Pub. Law 270, 79th Cong.; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9040, 7 F.R. 527; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; E.O. 9599, 10 F.R. 10155; E.O. 9638, 10 F.R. 12591; CPA Reg. 1, Nov. 5, 1945, 10 F.R. 13714.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

CRITICAL PRODUCTS

(a) Introduction. The table in this Schedule lists certain of the critical products which the Civilian Production Administration has determined to be in such tight supply that they are serious threats to the national economy. (This Schedule supersedes former Directions 1 through 5 and 7 through 12 to PR-28 covering critical products.) When effective assistance of other kinds is not practicable, the OPA may assign CC preference ratings under paragraph (e) of Priorities Regulation 28 for material which is needed to sustain or increase the production of these products. In addition to the rules explained in paragraph (b) below, the general rules in paragraphs (c) and (d) of Priorities Regulation 28 governing the application for and assignment of CC ratings are also applicable. Especially important is paragraph (d) (1) of Priorities Regulation 28, requiring a determination that the use of substitute and less scarce materials is not practicable, that reasonable efforts have been made to get the required item without a rating, and that a rating is required to obtain the item by the latest date and in the minimum quantity practicable after taking into consideration material in inventory and available without a rating.

(b) Explanation of table.

Column I—Critical products. Column I lists the critical products for which CC ratings may be granted to sustain or increase production.

Column II—Persons eligible. Column II states the persons who may apply for CC ratings. Where Column VI indicates that CC ratings may be assigned for construction, the builder or contractor may apply instead of the person listed.

Column III—Production materials. (1) If the word "yes" appears in Column III, the CPA may assign CC ratings to the person named in Column II to get production materials needed to make the item listed in Column I regardless of the applicant's minimum economic rate of operation. Where the applicant regularly sells materials as maintenance, repair or operating supplies for the item he makes, CC ratings may also be assigned to him for such supplies or for materials needed to make them. Applications for CC ratings for textile fabrics or yarns should be made under Priorities Regulation 28A, and CC ratings may be assigned under paragraph (d) of that Regulation in accordance with subpargaraph (d) (5) (i).

(2) If the word "no" appears in Column III, CC ratings will be assigned for production materials only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28. The same rule applies to any production materials expressly excluded from Column III.

Column IV—Capital equipment. (1) If the word "yes" appears in Column IV, the CPA may assign CC ratings to the person named in Column II to get capital equipment which either (i) will result in a substantial increase in production of the item listed in Column I, or (ii) is needed to replace present operating equipment which is in danger of imminent breakdown.

(2) Where the word "no" appears in Column IV, CC ratings will be assigned for capital equipment only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28. The same rule applies to any capital equipment expressly excluded from Column IV.

Column V—MRO. (1) If the word "yes" appears in Column V, the CPA may assign CC ratings to the person named in Column II to get maintenance, repair and operating supplies (MRO) which he needs to use in making the item listed in Column I.

(2) If the word "no" appears in Column V, CC ratings will be assigned for MRO only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

Column VI—Construction. (1) If the word "yes" appears in Column VI, the CPA may assign CC ratings to the person named in Column II, or to his builder, for material needed for incorporation in new plants or in expanded or modernized old ones where increased production of the item listed in Column I will result, or where the construction is necessary to prevent a loss of production.

(2) If the word "no" appears in Column VI, CC ratings will be assigned for construction materials only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 28, as Amended Mar. 18, 1946]

RESTRICTED PRIORITIES ASSISTANCE FOR NON-MILITARY PURPOSES

Section 944.49 (Priorities Regulation 28) is amended to read as follows:

§ 944.49 Priorities Regulation 28—(a) Background and purpose of this regulation. With the exception of certain areas of critical shortages, such as the housing and apparel fields, the increased supply of many materials resulting from reduction in military procurement is generally adequate to meet demands. It is the declared policy of the Civilian Production Administration to remove priority controls as quickly as possible. In view of this situation and policy, the issuance of preference ratings by the CPA will be restricted to a minimum. Outside the areas of critical shortages mentioned above, limited priorities assistance may be given for non-military purposes only in specific instances where the need is clearly demonstrated as necessary to assist reconversion or insure the continued fulfillment of essential civilian or export needs. This regulation describes the conditions under which CC ratings will be assigned in such cases, except for textile fabrics or yarns for use in the United States which are covered by Priorities Regulation 28A.

Paragraph (b) below lists other regulations and orders which explain the assignment and use of preference ratings for purposes not covered by this regulation. Paragraph (c) states how applications should be filed under this regulation for use in this country. Paragraph (d) gives the general rules governing the assignment of such ratings, and paragraphs (e) through (h) cover the special situations where these ratings may be granted. Paragraph (i) explains how CC ratings are granted for export.

(b) Other procedures for assigning ratings. Priorities Regulation 1 explains in general the rating system, including the sequence of ratings and the purposes for which AAA and MM ratings are assigned. In addition, Priorities Regulation 28A, and certain orders in the M-317 and M-328 series, explain the assignment of CC ratings for certain textiles and related items, and Priorities Regulation 33 explains the assignment of HH ratings for housing.

(c) How to apply for a CC rating. Applications for a CC rating under this regulation for uses in the United States, its territories and possessions, should be made on Form CPA-541A addressed to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: PR-28. Applications for textile yarns and fabrics covered by Priorities Regulation 28A should be made in accordance with that regulation, and applications for other textiles and related items for certain end uses should be made as explained in orders in the M-317 and M-328 series.

(d) When the Civilian Production Administration will assign a CC rating under this regulation. (1) When effective assistance of other kinds is not practicable (CPA may locate sources able to ship without ratings), CC ratings may be granted for specific items and quantities of materials in the limited classes of cases described in paragraphs (e) through (h) below, upon determination in each instance that all the following conditions are met:

(i) The use of substitute and less scarce materials is not practicable;

(ii) Reasonable efforts have been made to get the required item without a rating; and

(iii) A rating is required to obtain the item by the latest date and in the minimum quantity practicable after taking into consideration material in inventory and material available without a rating.

(2) In the case of production materials and operating supplies, the CPA will not generally assign ratings for more than a 60-day supply of the item in question. This 60-day limitation does not preclude later applications.

(3) Preference ratings will not be assigned for the procurement of items which will be resold without change in form.

(4) The CPA will not grant a CC rating under this regulation where it would preempt an undue proportion of the limited amounts of material available. If the material is in such short supply that it is generally hard to obtain the CPA may provide other procedures rather than a rating under this regulation.

(5) CC ratings will be denied where it appears that the item for which the rating is requested is available under different terms of sale or from a supplier other than the applicant's customary one.

(e) Critical products. The CPA may assign a CC rating as explained in Schedule I to this regulation to get material which is needed to sustain or increase production of an item or service listed on that Schedule which the CPA has determined to be in such tight supply that it is a serious threat to the economy. Schedule I replaces former Directions through 5 and 7 through 12 to this regulation covering critical products.

(f) Production materials, capital equipment and MRO. Under the conditions stated in paragraph (d), the CPA may grant a CC rating to get production materials, capital equipment or maintenance, repair and operating supplies (MRO) in the following cases:

(1) The CPA may assign a CC rating to get a "bottleneck" item where a great majority of the materials or of the equipment needed is on hand or is obtainable without priorities assistance and it is demonstrated that failure to receive it in the quantity and on the date requested will prevent an entire plant from beginning, resuming or maintaining operations at the minimum economic rate. The "minimum economic rate" of operation means the rate of operation at which the plant as a whole must operate to avoid incurring a financial loss, without regard to any particular product if the plant makes more than one. If a plant is currently operating at less than capacity without incurring a financial loss, the minimum economic rate of operation will not be considered a higher rate than the current one, even though some of the plant's regular products are not currently being produced.

(2) Special consideration, not limited to bottleneck items, will be given to the needs of small business and to the business needs of World War II Veterans up to the minimum economic rate of operation. For this purpose "small business" generally means a business in which not more than 250 persons are actively employed. A veteran who wants to get farm machinery or equipment listed in War Food Order 135 of the Department of Agriculture for use on a farm should apply under that order for a veterans' preference certificate, and should not apply under this regulation unless he qualifies under paragraph (h) (4).

(3) Special consideration will also be given to emergency requirements for veterans' educational facilities.

(g) Construction. Under the conditions stated in paragraph (d), the CPA may assign a CC rating for: (1) An item of construction materials or equipment needed for physical incorporation in certain construction required for essential needs, such as an item needed for incorporation in a dwelling granted priorities assistance under Priorities Regulation 33; or

(2) Materials required for the construction, alteration or repair of a dwelling house to be occupied by a veteran of World War II when the application is made by the veteran.

(h) Miscellaneous. Under the conditions stated in paragraph (d), the CPA may grant a CC rating under this regulation to get material in the following cases:

(1) The item is needed to prevent a delay in the completion on time of military procurement, production or construction; or

(2) The item is needed for incorporation into a product to be delivered on a CC or HH rating, and the item is not on hand or available on order; or

(3) The item is needed for use by the applicant to eliminate serious hazard to the life, health or safety of a large number of people, or to maintain or establish essential public or other community service; or

(4) The item is essential to replace one which has been destroyed by flood, fire, tornado or other act of God, and the item (i) is to be used on a farm, or (ii) is essential to the continued operation of a plant, facility or service at the minimum economic rate; or

(5) The item is essential to the continued operation of a plant, facility or service at the minimum economic rate and is shown to fall in one of the following cases:

(i) It is needed in an emergency to replace equipment which has actually broken down and cannot be repaired; or

(ii) It is needed to replace equipment which is subject to recurring mechanical breakdowns and is out of service so frequently as to impede operations; or

(iii) It is needed to replace equipment which has been condemned as unsafe or illegal by public authority or insurance underwriters and which cannot be repaired and must be replaced lumber of any species, size or grade includ-

(13) "Rubber" means a natural under requirements of law or insurance contracts; or

(6) The item is needed as a repair part to prevent imminent breakdown of machinery or equipment; or

(7) Failure to obtain delivery of the item would result in exceptional community hardship or in unreasonable and exceptional hardship not suffered generally by others in the same industry or activity.

(i) CC Ratings for export—(1) General. In the case of materials for export (other than certain textiles and related items referred to in paragraph (i) (2) below), applications from Canada should be filed with the Priorities Officer of Canada, and will be handled on the same basis as United States applications. In the case of other exports, upon demonstration that a rating is required, a CC rating may be assigned for procurement in this country of materials for export to prevent serious injury to the minimum essential civilian economies of friendly foreign nations; or to aid in the restoration, development and maintenance of foreign sources of supplies vitally needed in this country; or for other reasons of public policy. Applications for such ratings should be made to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce on the forms prescribed by that agency.

(2) Certain textiles and related items. For exports, including shipments to Canada, of cotton broad woven fabrics for which set-asides are provided in the distribution schedules of Order M-317A, seine twine, fish netting, and cotton yarn, CC ratings may be granted, on specific applications only, to the extent of the export programs fixed by the CPA. Applications for such ratings should be made to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, on the forms prescribed by that Agency; except that for shipments to Canada, applications should be filed with the Cotton Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and will be acted on by the CPA.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR THE ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUCKS

Direction 6 to Priorities Regulation 28 is hereby amended by deleting the reference in paragraph (c) to "a published direction to Priorities Regulation 28" so that paragraph (c) reads as follows:

(c) When CC ratings will be assigned for new trucks. CC ratings may be assigned to orders calling for the delivery of new trucks only when the applicant clearly shows that a rating is necessary to obtain delivery; that he is engaged or intends to engage in the production of an item which is listed in the Table in Schedule I to Priorities Regulation 28 and that the new truck is essential to maintaining or increasing the production of the item.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1 as Amended Dec. 20, 1945, Amdt. 1]

Priorities Regulation 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. Amend § 944.5 to read as follows:

§ 944.5 Sequence and description of preference ratings. (a) Preference ratings in order of precedence are: (1) AAA, (2) MM, (3), CC and HH, which are both of equal value. The conditions under which each of these ratings are generally assigned is given in paragraph (b) below.

(b) The above preference ratings are generally assigned as follows:

(1) The AAA rating is assigned in emergencies under existing procedures.

(2) The MM rating is assigned by the Army and Navy and other military and governmental agencies in accordance with the provisions of Directive 41 and other CPA Directives which may be issued from time to time. The CPA will not generally assign the MM rating, but may do so in a few instances for specific items and quantities of materials or equipment where it is clearly necessary for requirements of high urgency. Applications should not be filed with the CPA for a MM rating unless a published order or regulation of the CPA announces that the CPA will assign it.

(3) The CC rating is assigned as described in Priorities Regulations 28 and 28A. These Regulations describe the limited conditions under which the CPA will generally assign the CC rating.

(4) The HH rating is assigned for housing under the rules explained in Priorities Regulation 33.

(c) The rules for the extension of the above ratings are explained in Priorities Regulation 3.

2. Change the date in the list of Directions to PR-1 printed at the end from "December 11, 1945" to "March 18, 1946," and add at the end of that list the following:

13. Emergency Suspension of Outstanding Ratings for Iron and Steel.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 33, Direction 1, as Amended Mar. 15, 1946]

LUMBER AND MILLWORK

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 33:

The fulfilment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of lumber and millwork for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

(a) What this direction does. Priorities Regulation 33 and Direction 8 to Priorities Regulation 33 provide for the assignment to builders and prefabricators of HH priority ratings to secure materials listed on Schedule A of that regulation which are required for use in the Reconversion Housing Program. Among these items are lumber and millwork. This direction provides that sawmills shall produce a percentage of their total production for certified orders from distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors. It applies to sawmills that produce over two million board feet of softwood lumber a year or one million board feet of hardwood lumber a year, and to lumber distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors, who sell or use housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber. It explains how lumber distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, and housing contractors may obtain lumber for housing construction and that such lumber, or products in which it is incorporated, must be delivered on orders rated HH.

Definitions

(b) Definitions for the purpose of this direction. (1) "Lumber" means any sawed lumber of any species, size or grade, including rough, surfaced on one or more sides or edges, dressed and matched, shiplapped, worked to pattern, or grooved for splines, except (i) shingles, slabs and round edge lumber; (ii) mine and railway cross ties nine feet or less in length; (iii) any segment of a log which has been produced so that it can be converted into veneer and which is sold and used for that purpose.

(2) "Distributor" means any person who buys and stocks lumber for resale as lumber either at wholesale or retail. A distributor who has two or more distinct and separate yards must for the purpose of this direction, consider each yard a "distributor".

(3) "Housing construction lumber" means softwood flooring, ceiling, siding, partition, casing, base, moulding, stirps and boards, two-inch dimension, finish, shop and lath.

(4) "Millwork" means windows, sash, doors, window and door frames, window and door screens, cut stock for foregoing items, trim, mouldings, built-in kitchen cabinets and other built-in millwork items suitable for authorized housing construction under Priorities Regulation 33.

(5) "Hardwood flooring lumber" means Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in all thicknesses of Oak, Pecan and Beech, in 4/4 and 8/4 thicknesses of Hard Maple and 4/4 and thinner thicknesses in Birch.

(6) "Sawmill" means: (i) any mill or plant, stationary or portable, which currently produces 8,000 or more board feet of softwood lumber or 8,000 or more board feet of softwood and hardwood lumber per average day of eight hours of continuous operation or which produced an average of 8,000 or more board feet of softwood lumber or 8,000 or more board feet of softwood and hardwood lumber per day during the days in the year 1945 on which it was in operation; (ii) any mill or plant, stationary or portable, which currently produces 4,000 or more board feet of hardwood lumber per average day of eight hours of continuous operation or which produced an average of 4,000 or more board feet of hardwood lumber during the days in the year 1945 on which it was in operation; and (iii) any concentration yard or plant which processes (by drying, repairing, edging, grading, sorting, planing, or otherwise) 25 percent or more of the total volume of logs and lumber which it receives, into an item which is defined as lumber.

(7) "Housing contractor" means a builder (applicant) who has been directly assigned an HH rating by CPA, FHA or NHA. It also includes a general contractor who has been directly authorized by such a builder to use the HH rating for the whole job. It does not include a subcontractor authorized to use the HH rating for a part of the job.

(8) "Millwork manufacturer" means a person who consumes softwood lumber in the manufacture of millwork.

(9) "Hardwood flooring manufacturer" means a person who consumes hardwood flooring lumber in the manufacture of standard hardwood flooring.

(10) "Office wholesaler" means a person who buys lumber for resale but does not stock lumber.

(11) "Certified order" is any order for the delivery of lumber bearing the certificate described in paragraph (j).

(12) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(13) "Jobber" means a person who buys and stocks millwork or hardwood flooring for resale at wholesale.

(14) "Prefabricator" means a person engaged in the manufacture of prefabricated houses, panels or sections who has been directly given priorities assistance on Form CPA-4415 to build prefabricated houses, panels or sections.

Sawmills

(c) Sawmill reserve production. The following provisions will govern the amount of housing construction lumber sawmills shall produce and reserve for certified orders.

(1) Each sawmill as described in paragraph (b) (6) above shall reserve in his total over-all production of lumber in footage for the month of February, 1946, and for each calendar month thereafter, time and supplies sufficient to produce and deliver on certified orders, within such month, at least 40 per cent of his expected monthly production of softwood lumber in the form of housing construction lumber, and 100 per cent of the Grades 2 and 3a rough, in all thicknesses of Oak and Pecan; 100 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in 4/4 and 8/4 thicknesses of Hard Maple; 25 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in all thicknesses of Beech; and 25 percent of Grades 2 and 3a, rough, in 4/4 and thinner thicknesses of Birch.

The Civilian Production Administration may, from time to time, change such percentages by publication in the Federal Register prior to the first day of any month.

(2) Any sawmill lacking facilities to manufacture his production into housing construction items listed in paragraph (b) (3), may count as part of his 40 per cent reserve production requirement, such 3-inch and thicker dimension and timber as he may make for delivery on certified orders which provide for the delivery of 3" and thicker pieces to a plant operated for the purposes of manufacturing such dimension and timber into housing construction lumber.

(3) This direction does not prevent the free movement of softwood lumber between sawmills. However, a sawmill that delivers all or any part of his lumber to another sawmill must still manufacture 40% of his softwood production into housing construction lumber. A sawmill receiving housing construction lumber from another sawmill must hold such lumber for sale on certified orders in addition to his own reserve production. A sawmill delivering housing construction lumber to another sawmill may credit against his reserve production under paragraph (c) (1) above the amount of housing construction lumber so delivered.

(4) Every sawmill must hold his reserve production for certified orders as described in paragraph (c) (7) below and must accept and ship such certified orders for delivery in that month in preference to all other orders (except orders rated AAA) to the extent that such certified orders do not require more than the sawmill's monthly reserve production.

(5) When a sawmill has accepted certified orders to the extent of his monthly reserve production of housing construction lumber, he may not require any customer to furnish a certified order as a condition of filling an order for lumber.

NOTE: Subparagraphs (6) and (7) formerly (5) and (6), redesignated Mar. 15, 1946.

(6) Any quantities of lumber produced which, by the 20th day of any month in which production is reserved, are not required to fill certified orders received before that time may be delivered by the sawmill as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

(7) Certified orders. The following types of certified orders placed with the sawmill will be accorded the treatment provided for in paragraph (c) (4) above, and shipments on such orders may be credited against the percentage the sawmill is required to produce and reserve each month: Certified orders from (i) distributors; (ii) millwork manufacturers; (iii) hardwood flooring manufacturers; (iv) housing contractors; (v) office wholesalers; (vi) prefabricators.

Distributors

(d) Distributors. The following provisions tell how lumber distributors may place certified orders for housing construction lumber and how lumber so obtained may be sold:

(1) Any distributor may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February, 1946 for housing construction lumber with a sawmill, a distributor who sells at wholesale or an office wholesaler for one of the following amounts whichever is greater; (i) an amount of housing construction lumber not exceeding 5 per cent of the amount in footage of his inventory of all softwood lumber as of January 1, 1942 or; (ii) an amount of housing construction lumber equal to the total amount of housing construction lumber called for by orders rated HH and certified orders from prefabricators accepted by him for delivery in the month in which delivery is requested of the sawmill; or (iii) two carloads of housing construction lumber in any calendar quarter at the rate of not more than one carload in any month of the quarter.

(2) Every distributor must hold the lumber received on certified orders for sale only on certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of lumber received on certified orders which, at the end of a period of 60 days after receipt, are not required to fill certified orders or HH or AAA rated orders received before that time may be delivered by the distributor as he may desire subect to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

(3) A distributor who has made delivery of housing construction lumber from his inventory on certified orders from another distributor may place certified orders with a sawmill to replace it in his inventory. The distributor must hold the lumber received on such orders as provided in paragraph (d) (2) above.

Millwork Manufacturers

(e) Millwork manufacturers. The following provisions tell how millwork manufacturers may place with the sawmill certified orders for housing construction lumber and how such lumber shall be used, and the millwork sold:

(1) Any millwork manufacturer may place certified orders for delivery in each month starting with the month of February 1946 for housing construction lumber with a sawmill or an office wholesaler for an amount in footage not exceeding 5 per cent of the amount in footage of softwood lumber consumed by him in the manufacture of millwork in the year 1940.

(2) A millwork manufacturer must use each month a quantity of lumber equal to all housing construction lumber received on certified orders for the manufacture of millwork; 75 per cent of the amount of the millwork so manufactured must be held for sale on certified orders from a jobber or prefabricator or on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of millwork manufactured which, at the end of a period of 60 days after completion, are not required to fill certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA before that time, may be delivered by the millwork manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Hardwood Flooring Manufacturers

(f) Hardwood flooring manufacturers. The following provisions tell how hardwood flooring manufacturers may place with a sawmill certified orders for hardwood flooring lumber and how such lumber shall be used and the hardwood flooring sold:

(1) Hardwood flooring manufacturers may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February 1946 with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for hardwood flooring lumber for an amount in footage not to exceed 6 percent of the amount of footage of hardwood lumber consumed in the manufacture of hardwood flooring in the year 1940.

(2) A hardwood flooring manufacturer must use each month a quantity of lumber equal to all hardwood flooring lumber received on certified orders for the manufacture of hardwood flooring. 75 percent of the amount of hardwood flooring so manufactured must be held for sale on certified orders from a jobber or prefabricator or on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of hardwood flooring manufactured which at the end of a period of 60 days after completion are not required to fill certified orders or orders rated HH or AAA received before that time, may be delivered by the hardwood flooring manufacturer as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Housing Contractors

(g) Housing contractors. The following provisions tell how a housing contractor may place with a sawmill or office wholesaler certified orders for housing construction lumber:

(1) A housing contractor who has an HH rating may apply the HH rating on orders for housing construction lumber to a distributor, or he may place certified orders for delivery each month starting with the month of February 1946 with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for housing construction lumber for an amount in footage not in excess of the total lumber required to meet his construction schedule for housing for which he has received authorization to use the preference rating HH. Certified orders may be placed with a sawmill or with an office wholesaler for housing construction lumber only to the extent that rated orders have not been placed with distributors for authorized amounts. The housing contractor must not specify delivery dates on certified orders or HH rated orders more than 30 days before the time that the housing construction lumber is needed for incorporation into housing. Furthermore, the housing contractor must not place certified orders or HH rated orders for housing construction lumber in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time when the purchase order was placed.

(2) The housing contractor must use the housing construction lumber obtained on certified orders in the construction of housing for which the HH rating was authorized.

Office Wholesalers

(h) Office wholesalers. The following provisions tell how office wholesalers may place certified orders for housing construction lumber and how lumber so obtained may be sold:

(1) An office wholesaler receiving certified orders from a distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator or housing contractor may place certified orders with the sawmill for an amount of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber not in excess of the amount called for by the certified orders which he has received.

Integrated Sawmills

(i) Sawmills that are also prefabricators, millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturers. If a person engaged in operating a sawmill is also engaged in manufacturing millwork or hardwood flooring, he may transfer housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber from his sawmill to his manufacturing operation provided that as a millwork manufacturer or a hardwood flooring manufacturer he is permitted to place monthly certified orders for housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber. The transfer from the sawmill must be treated as delivery on a certified order and he must keep records of the transfer in his sawmill files and endorse the appropriate certificate on his records.

A person making a transfer permitted in the above paragraph must use or dispose of the housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber transferred to millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturing operation in conformity with the applicable paragraphs above.

Certification on Orders

(j) Certification on orders. To certify an order for housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber under this direction, the following certificate must be endorsed on or attached to the purchase order, sales ticket or other order calling for the delivery of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring. Certificates must be signed manually or as explained in Priorities Regulation 7. However, the standard form described in that regulation may not be used in place of the certificate described in this direction. The certification required by this direction may not be waived under paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 7. Orders placed verbally must be confirmed immediately and the confirmation must bear the appropriate certificate. The certificate must be substantially as follows:

The undersigned certified to the supplier and to the Civilian Production Administration that he is a ——— (Distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator, housing contractor, office wholesaler, or jobber) and that the quantities of housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring covered by this order (together with all other certified orders for the particular material for delivery in the month specified in this order) do not exceed the amount permitted under Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33 with the provisions of which he is familiar.

Date_____ _____

(k) Jobbers. The following provisions tell how a jobber may secure a stock of millwork or hardwood flooring by placing orders for delivery in the months of February, March and April, 1946, and how the millwork and hardwood flooring must be sold:

(1) A jobber may place certified orders for delivery in the months of February and March, 1946 with a millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturer for millwork or hardwood flooring in a total amount not in excess of 10 per cent of the amount of his receipts of millwork in units, pieces or footage or hardwood flooring in the calendar year 1940;

(2) Every jobber must hold the millwork or hardwood flooring received on certified orders for sale only on orders rated HH or AAA. Any quantities of millwork or hardwood flooring received on certified orders which at the end of a period of 60 days after receipt are not required to fill HH or AAA rated orders received before that time, may be delivered by the jobber as he may desire subject to all applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration.

Newcomers

(l) Prefabricators. The following provisions tell how a prefabricator may place orders for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring:

(1) A prefabricator may place certified orders for housing construction lumber with a sawmill, distributor or office wholesaler, for millwork with a millwork manufacturer, and for hardwood flooring with a hardwood flooring manufacturer, for an amount not in excess of the total amount of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring required to meet a quarterly production schedule for prefabricated houses, panels or sections for which he has received priorities assistance on Form CPA-4415. A prefabricator must not specify delivery dates (at plant or warehouse) on certified orders more than 30 days before the time the housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring is needed for incorporation into the prefabricated houses, panels or sections. Furthermore, a prefabricator must not place certified orders for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring in which is specified a delivery date later than during the third calendar month after the time when his purchase order is placed.

(2) A prefabricator must use the housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring obtained on certified orders for the construction of prefabricated houses, panels or sections to be sold on orders rated HH.

(3) A prefabricator may not apply or extend an HH rating for housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring.

NOTE: Paragraphs (m) and (n), formerly paragraphs (l) and (m), redesignated Mar. 15, 1946.

(m) Persons not established as distributors, millwork manufacturers or hardwood flooring manufacturers. (1) Any person who was not on January 1, 1942 a lumber distributor and wants permission to place monthly certified orders for an amount of housing construction lumber in excess of two carloads of housing construction lumber in any calendar quarter at the rate of not more than one carload in any month of the quarter, may apply by letter to the Civilian Production Administration.

(2) Any person who was not, in the year 1940, a jobber or a millwork or hardwood flooring manufacturer, and wants to place monthly certified orders may apply by letter to the Civilian Production Administration.

(3) Any person applying by letter under subparagraph (1) or (2) above should state how much housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring he needs each month, proximity of his place of business to similar businesses, and any other information to help the Civilian Production Administration decide what amount of housing construction lumber or millwork or hardwood flooring or hardwood flooring lumber is needed by him to engage in business. Such application will be processed in an equitable manner.

Miscellaneous

(n) The following provisions generally affecting sawmills, distributors, millwork manufacturers, hardwood flooring manufacturers, prefabricators, housing contractors, jobbers and office wholesalers, should be carefully read:

(1) Validation of orders. Any distributor, millwork manufacturer, hardwood flooring manufacturer, prefabricator, or housing contractor who has placed an uncertified order with a sawmill and is later authorized to place a certified order may validate the order by giving the sawmill the certificate that he is entitled to use. Any order that is validated subsequent to January 15, 1946, should be treated as though the order was placed on the date that the certificate was received by the sawmill.

(2) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise required by this direction, Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 continue to govern the use of ratings and the acceptance, scheduling and filling of orders placed with distributors and sawmills. All other applicable regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration must be observed where not inconsistent with this direction.

(3) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this direction or who, in connection with this direction, wilfully conceals a materal fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(4) Extension of preference ratings. The rating HH may not be applied or extended to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above for lumber. However, where a person has received an HH rated order for the delivery of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring, he may extend the HH rating to his suppliers, except to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above to get the housing construction lumber, millwork (or housing construction lumber to be incorporated in millwork) or hardwood flooring which he will deliver on that order subject to applicable inventory regulations. If a person has made delivery of housing construction lumber, millwork or hardwood flooring on an HH rated order, he may extend the HH rating to his suppliers except to a sawmill as defined in paragraph (b)(6) above to replace it in his inventory subject to applicable inventory regulations.

(5) Reports. Every person shall file with the Civilian Production Administration, or any other federal agency, through which the Civilian Production Administration may distribute housing construction lumber, such reports and questionnaires as the Civilian Production Administration or such other agency may from time to time require subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(6) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this direction should be made by mailing a letter in triplicate to the Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 33 stating the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal.

(7) Communications. All communications unless otherwise directed must be addressed as follows: Civilian Production Administration, Forest Products Division, Washington 25, D. C.

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

[RPS 76, Amdt. 8]

HIDE GLUE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Price Schedule No. 76 is amended as follows:

A new § 1335.706a is added to read as follows:

§ 1335.706a (a) Applications for adjustment. Any manufacturer of hide glue may apply for an adjustment of maximum prices established under this regulation if it can be shown that there is a general shortage of supply of hide glue, and that the costs involved in applicant's production thereof have increased so substantially that a price adjustment is necessary to enable him to produce said commodity. Applications shall be made on OPA Form No. 692-992 and shall contain the information specified therein. Copies of this form may be obtained from the Rubber, Chemicals and Drugs Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(b) Amount of adjustment. Any adjustment granted under this section shall be ordinarily limited to:

(1) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price per unit equal to factory cost per unit where applicant's current overall profits on an annual basis are favorable as judged by his own or the industry's historical experience.

(2) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price per unit equal to factory costs per unit, plus general administrative and selling expenses per unit, where applicant's current overall profits on an annual basis are normal as judged by his own or the industry's historical experience. However, the increase shall not ordinarily exceed an amount which will cause his current overall profits on an annual basis to be more than normal as judged by his own or the industry's historical experience.

(3) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price per unit equal to total cost per unit, plus an adequate margin of profit per unit, where applicant's current overall profits on an annual basis are unfavorable as judged by his own or the industry's historical experience. However, the increase shall not ordinarily exceed an amount which will cause his current overall profits on an annual basis to be more than normal as judged by his own or the industry's historical experience.

(c) Orders issued under this section. The Price Administrator may authorize or deny by order the maximum prices requested or any modification thereof, and may also adjust the maximum prices of jobbers. He may require, in appropriate cases, a compensatory decrease in the maximum prices for another product or products manufactured by applicant.

Any order issued hereunder may be amended or revoked at any time.

(d) Definitions. When used in this section, the term:

"Overall profits" means overall aggregate dollar profit, adjusted for changes in investment and before deduction of income and excess profit taxes of applicant, or, in the event applicant is a parent, subsidiary, or affiliate of other corporations or business units, of the entire investment enterprise.

"Factory cost" means and includes raw materials less by-product credits, direct labor, and indirect manufacturing costs assignable to the production of hide glue.

(e) Adjustable pricing. Any person may offer or agree to adjust or fix prices to or at prices not in excess of the maximum prices in effect at the time of delivery. In appropriate situations where a petition for amendment or for adjustment requires extended consideration, the Price Administrator may, upon application, grant permission to agree to adjust prices upon deliveries made during the pendency of the petition in accordance with the disposition of the petition.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This amendment shall become effective March 25, 1946.

PART 1356—COOKERS AND HEATERS

[MPR 64, Amdt. 5]

DOMESTIC COOKING AND HEATING STOVES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 7 (a) (4) is amended to read as follows:

(4) Find your percentage markup over direct cost on the comparable model by subtracting its direct cost from its ceiling price, exclusive of any adjustment charges, and dividing the difference by the direct cost. You must use your ceiling price to the class of purchaser (wholesalers, retailers, mail-order houses), who buy from you in the greatest volume.

2. Section 7 (a) (5) is amended to read as follows:

(5) Apply the percentage markup to the direct cost of the model being priced. The result is your ceiling price (exclusive of the "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" or any other adjustment charges) to the class of purchaser used in subparagraph (4). Your ceiling prices, exclusive of the "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" or any other adjustment charges to other classes of purchaser, for the model being priced, must be calculated on the basis of the differentials which you had on sales of the comparable model to different classes of purchasers.

3. Section 10 is deleted from the regulation.

4. A new section 8b is added to read as follows:

SEC. 8b. Manufacturers' reconversion adjustment of certain ceiling prices. This section authorizes certain reconversion adjustments of ceiling prices by manufacturers of stoves other than electric ranges. Unless directed otherwise by an order issued by the Office of Price Administration under this section, every manufacturer of any stoves covered by this regulation may adjust his ceiling price for sales to persons other than ultimate consumers which have been established under sections 3, 4, 5, 7 or 8 of the regulation for any such stoves, other than electric ranges, by adding to that price an amount equal to five percent of that price. Orders will be issued under this section denying a manufacturer permission to adjust his ceiling prices by all or part of this increase when it appears to the Price Administrator from information available to the Office of Price Administration, that the manufacturer has discontinued production of his low-end model in any particular type of stove eligible for an adjustment under this section, or has decreased the proportion of low priced to high priced models which he manufactures so that his present or prospective production of any particular type of stoves is not representative of his production in that respect of those stoves during the year July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941. The average price at which the manufacturer's production of each type of stove will be sold will be considered in determining how much, if any, of the increase will be granted to such a manufacturer.

The five percent adjustment charge permitted by this section may be made and collected only if it is separately stated by the manufacturer on each invoice to a purchaser for resale as follows:

OPA Industry Reconversion Increase—$_____

5. A new section 11a is added to read as follows:

SEC. 11a. Reconversion adjustments of wholesale ceiling prices. A wholesale distributor shall determine his adjusted ceiling prices for his sales of any stove as to which the manufacturer has separately stated on his invoice the "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" permitted by section 8b, as follows:

(a) If he established a ceiling price for the same stove before March 15, 1946 under the General Maximum Price Regulation, Maximum Price Regulation No. 210, or an order under section 11 of this regulation, or if he establishes his ceiling price on or after March 15, 1946 under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, he may add to that ceiling price an adjustment charge no greater than three fourths of the dollar-and-cent amount of the separately stated "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" appearing on his supplier's invoice.

(b) If he establishes his ceiling price on or after March 15, 1946 under a provision which requires him to compute his ceiling prices on the basis of cost, he shall use as his cost for that purpose his supplier's ceiling price not including the separately stated "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase." To the ceiling price so computed he may add an adjustment charge in an amount no greater than three fourths of the dollar-and-cent amount of the separately stated "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" appearing on his supplier's invoice.

(c) If his ceiling prices are established on or after March 15, 1946 by an order under section 11 of this regulation or under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation and the order makes no provision for the addition of a reconversion adjustment the wholesaler's ceiling prices under this section are those established by the order.

The adjustment charges permitted by this section may be made and collected only if they are separately stated by the wholesale distributor on each invoice to a purchaser for resale as follows:

OPA Industry Reconversion Increase—$_____

6. A new section 11b is added to read as follows:

SEC. 11b. Retail ceiling prices of stoves subject to an industry reconversion adjustment. A retailer shall determine his ceiling prices for his sales of any stove as to which his supplier has separately stated on his invoice an "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" as follows:

(a) If his ceiling prices for the same stove have been established under any of the following provisions he shall retain as his ceiling prices, the retail prices so established:

(1) Sections 1499.2, 1499.3 (c), 1499.3 (e) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) Section 1372.103 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 210.

(3) The provisions of any central pricing order issued under § 1499.4a of the General Maximum Price Regulation or Supplementary Order No. 13 as amended or revised except those which provide for the computation of ceiling prices on the basis of cost.

(4) Section 11 of this regulation.

(b) If he establishes his ceiling prices on or after March 15, 1946 under a provision which requires him to compute his ceiling price on the basis of cost, he shall use as his cost for that purpose his supplier's ceiling price not including the separately stated "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" permitted to manufacturers and wholesalers.

(c) Retail ceiling prices fixed in accordance with (a) or (b) above may not be increased in any amount by reason of the "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" permitted to manufacturers and wholesalers.

7. A new section 11c is added to read as follows:

SEC. 11c. Sales invoices to purchasers for resale. Any person making a sale to purchasers for resale of any articles covered by this regulation at ceiling prices which include an "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" must furnish such purchasers for resale with an invoice containing the following:

(a) His name and address and the date of the invoice.

(b) The purchaser's name and address.

(c) The model designation of the articles and such other description as may be necessary to identify the article on his pricing records.

(d) His ceiling price exclusive of the "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase".

(e) A statement of the amount of his OPA industry reconversion increase on the article as follows:

OPA Industry Reconversion Increase—$_____.

(f) The following notice:

If you resell the articles for which an "OPA Industry Reconversion Increase" is shown on this invoice you must find your resale ceiling prices under section 11a of Maximum Price Regulation No. 64 if you resell them at wholesale and under section 11b if you resell them at retail.

This amendment shall become effective on the 15th day of March 1946.

Issued this 15th day of March 1946.

Acting Administrator.

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FOR TABLE USE, SALES EXCEPT AT RETAIL

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 426 is amended in the following respects:

Section 15, Appendix H, paragraph (d) (2) (iiia) is amended to read as follows:

The maximum price for a sale by a shipping point distributor without the use of a broker, shipper's sales agent or commission merchant, is the maximum f. o. b. price or the maximum delivered price, as the case may be (see Column 5 or Column 6 of the appropriate table in paragraph (b)), plus the applicable figure named in the schedule below. The maximum price for a sale by a shipping point distributor through a broker, shipper's sales agent or commission merchant, is the maximum f. o. b. price or the maximum delivered price, as the case may be, plus the agent's "commission" or "fee" (not to exceed the agent's maximum charge under Maximum Price Regulation 165) added to the applicable amount shown in the schedule below. In no event, however, is the total amount added to the maximum f. o. b. price or the maximum delivered price to exceed the applicable figure shown in Column 4 or Column 5 of the table of maximum markups in paragraph (c).

For example: A shipping point distributor's maximum price for an f. o. b. sale of snap beans is the price in Column 5 of Table 4 in paragraph (b) plus four cents from the schedule below. For a delivered sale through a broker, the maximum price is the Column 6 price from Table 4 in paragraph (b) plus the actual brokerage (but not to exceed the broker's maximum charge under MPR 165) and plus four cents from the schedule below, but the total addition to the Column 6 price cannot exceed eleven cents, the figure named in Column 4 of the schedule in paragraph (c). If the delivered sale is made through a commission merchant in less than carlots or less than truck-lots the maximum price is the Column 6 price from Table 4 in paragraph (b) plus the actual commission (but not to exceed the commission merchant's maximum charge under MPR 165) and plus four cents from the schedule below, but the total addition to the Column 6 price cannot exceed forty cents, the figure shown in Column 5 of the table in paragraph (c).

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[RMPR 165, Supp. Ser. Reg. 69]

LINEN SUPPLY SERVICE IN THE LOS ANGELES AREA

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Supplementary Service Regulation No. 69 has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register. For the reasons set forth in that statement and under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250, 9328, 9599, 9651, and 9697 Supplementary Service Regulation No. 69 is hereby issued. The specifications and standards set forth in this supplementary service regulation are those which, prior to the issuance of the regulation, were in general use by the trade in the affected areas.

§ 1499.709 Linen supply services in the Los Angeles area—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum prices established by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 for linen supply services when supplied by sellers located in the geographical area described below are hereby modified and henceforth shall be the prices set forth in Appendix A, except for "large accounts" as herein defined. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged.

(b) Geographical area. This regulation applies to the linen supply establishments located in the following counties in the State of California: The counties of Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, and the county of Los Angeles, except the corporate limits of the municipalities of North Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

(c) Nature of accounts—(1) Large accounts. The maximum prices for a "large account" shall remain subject to the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165, and any applicable supplementary service regulation.

"Large account" means a volume of $50 or more of linen supply service sold or delivered to a place of business during the calendar week ending March 2, 1946; it also means an account above the $50 weekly minimum which has been designated as a "large account" by an OPA order in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c) (2) below.

(2) Change in nature of accounts. If the weekly volume of an account increases to $50 or more or if a "large account" decreases in volume below such weekly amount, and such increase or decrease continues for four consecutive weeks, the appropriate OPA office may upon presentation of satisfactory evidence by the supplier or the purchaser issue an order reclassifying such account. Upon such reclassification, the account shall then be subject to the appropriate maximum prices for its size in accordance with the provisions of this regulation.

(d) Applicability of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165. Except as provided to the contrary, all the other provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165 and any applicable supplementary service regulation shall apply to the linen service suppliers subject to this regulation.

(e) Definitions. (1) "Linen supply service" means the providing of clean linens and/or garments which are owned by the supplier to industrial, commercial, or professional users.

(2) "Linens" is not confined to articles made of linen textiles, but includes all articles of whatsoever fabric made, which are commonly embraced by that term.

(3) The designations of items of laundry services used in this regulation shall be given their ordinary trade meanings as used in the affected areas unless indicated to the contrary herein.

(4) "Special" when used in connection with linen supplies means an item made of damask material or other special quality, color or design or specially tailored according to specifications previously ordererd by a purchaser.

(f) Notice requirements. Within 30 days from the effective date of this regulation, every seller of linen supply service covered by this regulation shall notify each of his customers of the maximum prices established herein.

(g) Invoices. Seller's invoices or bills must describe the items of service supplied in the terms used in this regulation.

(h) Elimination of individual adjustments. On and after the effective date of this Supplementary Service Regulation, the provisions of section 16 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165 shall no longer be available to sellers covered by this regulation as to the services subject to the maximum prices established by this regulation; furthermore, any adjustment in prices heretofore granted to any establishment is hereby revoked as to such services.

(i) Delegation of authority. The San Francisco Administrator and the Los Angeles District Director when authorized by the San Francisco Regional Administrator, may grant, approve, correct or revoke orders issued under the provisions of this supplementary service regulation.

[Rev. Special Order 22]

USE OF SURPLUS PROPERTY BY DISPOSAL AGENCIES

Surplus Property Board Special Order 22, September 28, 1945, (10 F.R. 12451) entitled "Use of Surplus Property For Care and Handling", is hereby revised and amended as herein set forth. The title is amended to read as follows: "Use of Surplus Property By Disposal Agencies".

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1611), Public Law 181, 79th Congress, 1st Session, (59 Stat. 533), and Executive Order 9689 (11 F.R. 1265), It is hereby ordered, That:

1. Permits. Property declared surplus to a disposal agency may be used by such disposal agency or any other disposal agency to carry out its responsibilities under the Act as hereinafter set forth. The use of such property by a disposal agency other than that to which the property was declared surplus may be authorized by the issuance of a permit by the disposal agency responsible for the disposition of the property. No rental or other consideration for the use of such property need be imposed other than the obligation of the agency receiving the permit to maintain, preserve, and protect the property, to return it to the appropriate disposal agency when no longer required for the purposes of carrying out its functions under the act, and, in the case of personal property, to take delivery at the place where the property is located and to return it to the place and in the manner specified by the disposal agency. Such permits shall be revocable upon reasonable notice in writing by the disposal agency issuing the permits or by direction of the Administrator.

2. Type of property covered. This order applies to both real and personal surplus property except expendable items, property consumed in use, and items costing less than five ($5.00) dollars.

3. Limitations. Only such surplus property may be used by a disposal agency hereunder as may be authorized by the head of the disposal agency or by such responsible officials as the head of the agency may designate.

4. Records and reports. Disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain complete records showing property and the fair value of the property which has been declared to them as surplus and (a) which is either being used by them to carry out their responsibilities or (b) which is covered by permits issued by them to other disposal agencies. In submitting to the Administrator statements of expenditures and obligations under § 8311.8 of Surplus Property Administration Regulation 11,[2] each disposal agency shall include a statement setting forth the general categories of such property (such as administrative equipment, motor vehicles, care and handling equipment and real property) so being used at the beginning of the preceding month, the fair value of such categories, and the net changes since the previous report.

This revised order shall become effective March 20, 1946.

E. B. GREGORY,
Lieutenant General, A. U. S.,
Chairman, Board of Directors,
War Assets Corporation.

[SPA Reg. 16,[3] Rev. Order 2]

PART 8316—SURPLUS AIRPORT PROPERTY

AUTHORITY TO WAR ASSETS CORPORATION FOR DISPOSAL OF MORRIS FIELD, LOCATED NEAR THE CITY OF CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Surplus Property Administration Regulation 16, Order 2, February 14, 1946 (11 F.R. 1744), is hereby revised and amended as herein set forth.

Morris Field, located near the City of Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, consists of 542.66 acres of land leased as an airport from the City of Charlotte, 850.043 acres of land owned in fee, and improvements on both the leased and Government-owned land. The entire installation was declared surplus by the War Department on December 5, 1945. Following an investigation by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, it has been determined that a portion of the land owned by the Government in fee is essential for the operation of a municipal airport by the City of Charlotte. The area which has been classified as such airport property is delineated in red on the map attached hereto.[3]

The City of Charlotte has asserted its interest in the termination of the lease by the Government and the acquisition of that portion of land owned in fee which has been determined to be essential for the operation of a municipal airport, together with appurtenant easements for avigation purposes and easements required for the continued operation and maintenance of the night lighting system, the general water distribution system, the sewage disposal system, and the general electric distribution system. The City represents that there is urgent need for the airport for civilian and commercial use, and requests that it be given an opportunity to acquire the airport at the earliest possible date. The City further represents that a permit cannot be accepted due to a charter prohibition against the expenditure of funds on land not owned and occupied by the City. The Civil Aeronautics Administration recommends disposition to the City of Charlotte of that portion of the installation which has been classified as airport real estate, together with the improvements and operating and maintenance equipment required for the continued operation of the airport.

On the land leased from the City there are located a hospital, barracks and other structures, erected by the Government. The lease contains the usual obligation on the part of the Government to restore the premises.

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U.S.C. App. Sup. 1611) Pub. Law 181, 79th Cong., 1st Sess. (59 Stat. 533) and Executive Order 9689 (11 F.R. 1265), It is hereby ordered, That:

1. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 8316.15 (b) the War Assets Corporation as disposal agency, after having given written notice of availability for a period of ten (10) days to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit A, and after having given public notice of availability to the State, its political subdivisions and all municipalities in the vicinity in a newspaper published or having general circularization in the county and State in which said property is located for a period of ten (10) days, is hereby authorized in the absence of an acceptable proposal from a holder of a

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Docket No. G-705]

TENNESSEE GAS AND TRANSMISSION CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING RATE SCHEDULES

MARCH 14, 1946.

It appearing to the Commission that:

(a) Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, hereinafter sometimes referred to as "Tennessee," on February 12, 1946, filed with the Commission an agreement entered into with the Hope Natural Gas Company, designated by the Commission as Tennessee's Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 1 to be effective as of January 1, 1945, which supplement amended Tennessee's Rate Schedule FPC No. 1.

(b) Tennessee on February 12, 1946, filed with the Commission an agreement entered into with the United Fuel Gas Company, designated by the Commission as Tennessee's Supplement No. 2 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2 to be effective as of January 1, 1945, which supplement amended its Rate Schedule FPC No. 2.

(c) The filings on February 12, 1946, referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), above, were submitted without a statement of the reasons for the proposed changes as required by § 54.3 (c) (1) of the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act and among other things the filings increased the rates and charges for natural gas delivered and to be delivered to the Hope Natural Gas Company and the United Fuel Gas Company and such increased rates and charges have not been shown to be justified.

(d) The rates, charges and classifications in the supplemental filings referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), above, may be unjust and unreasonable and result in excessive rates and charges to Hope Natural Gas Company and United Fuel Gas Company and place an undue burden upon ultimate consumers of natural gas.

The Commission finds that:

It is necessary and desirable in the public interest that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges and classifications contained in the aforesaid Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 1 and Supplement No. 2 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2 and that said filings be suspended pending hearing and decision thereon.

The Commission orders that:

(a) A public hearing be held on a date to be hereinafter fixed by the Commission in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, Hurley-Wright Building, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges and classifications, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, contained in the proposed rate schedules referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), above, of Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, designated by the Commission as Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 1 and Supplement No. 2 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2.

(b) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Tennessee's Supplement No. 3 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 1 and Supplement No. 2 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 2 referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), above, insofar as such supplemental schedules provide for the sale of natural gas other than for resale for industrial use only, be and they hereby are suspended until August 14, 1946, or until such time thereafter as such supplemental rate schedules shall be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(c) Interested state commissions may participate in said hearing as provided in § 67.4 of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

VICTOR ADDING MACHINE CO.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Victor Adding Machine Company of Chicago, Illinois, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for the adding machines which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article which has a properly established ceiling price in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by 12.1 percent.

(2) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and price so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(3) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum prices as follows:

A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(1) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(2) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(3) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customer, trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(4) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulations.

(d) Change in reseller's margins. Resellers' maximum prices adjusted in accordance with this order are subject to further adjustments which may result from any change in resellers' margins which may be effected by the Office of Price Administration to obtain absorption by resellers of any industry-wide increase in manufacturers' maximum prices.

(e) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on the 18th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

SECTION 1. What this order does. (a) This order fixes maximum prices for painting, decorating and paperhanging services performed by any person, hereinafter called the seller, for any person, hereinafter called the purchaser, in connection with a residential building, structure or construction project at a fixed site in the State of New Mexico.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons; its legal successors or representatives; the United States or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions; or any agency of any of the foregoing; and includes subcontractors as well as prime contractors.

(2) "Painting, decorating and paperhanging services" means the services and materials required to paint or decorate a building, structure or construction project at a fixed site, or any part, fixture or equipment thereof, or to apply wall paper, decorating, surface finishing or other similar materials to walls, ceilings or floors thereof, or the application of calcimine, shellac, varnish, or any other protective or ornamental coating thereto, together with all preparatory or incidental work such as waxing, oiling, staining, washing and cleaning, or removing existing paint, decoration or paper finishes, or other similar materials from services with liquid, steak, sand blast or any other method, and such other services as are commonly included in the rendering of painting, decorating and paperhanging services, either prior to or after the furnishing of such services.

(3) "Residential building, structure or construction project" means any building, structure or construction project, or part thereof, used entirely or principally for living or dwelling purposes (including houses, apartments, hotels, and all other properties used for living or dwelling purposes), and all other buildings or structures in connection therewith or adjacent thereto, at the same site, such as garages, barns, milk houses, sheds, granaries, and other out-buildings.

(4) "Maximum labor charge" means the amount charged for labor of a specified type or class for painting, decorating and paperhanging services, made whether at a flat rate per hour so as to include a margin for administrative and over-head costs and profit, or as a percentage of the seller's labor cost, which resulting maximum labor charge is also deemed to include a margin for administrative and over-head costs and profit, together with overtime applicable in either case.

(5) "Labor cost" means the seller's actual labor cost based on the wage rates in effect on October 3, 1942, for the same class of laborers or the seller's actual labor cost based on the wage rates which have been subsequently approved by a Federal wage or stabilization agency.

All other sections of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, together with all amendments thereto that have been or may be issued shall, except to the extent they are inconsistent with the provisions of this order, apply to services covered by this order.

The maximum labor charge shall be the sum of the separate charges determined by multiplying the number of hours of labor performed by journeymen, apprentices, helpers and others in each category by the maximum straight time hourly rate provided for that category in sub-section I of this section. The maximum price of the materials used and of other permitted charges are given in sub-section II of this section.

(a) Measurement of hours. The number of hours which may be charged against any job covered by this order shall be counted from the time the workman leaves the seller's shop or the previous job (whichever is later) until he completes the job or proceeds to another job or until he returns to the seller's shop if he proceeds there directly. The time in transit to or from the job may be charged only once per day. The hours for which charges are made shall not exceed those shown in the records which the seller is required to keep under section 8 of this order.

(b) Overtime. When work is performed at the purchaser's request between the hours of 4:30 p. m. or 5:00 p. m., whichever is the customary quitting time, and 8:00 a. m. on Monday to Friday, both inclusive, or on Saturdays, Sundays, New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving Day or Christmas Day, or any other legal holiday, the maximum labor charge per hour for work during such hours shall be 150% of the maximum straight time hourly rate authorized in this order.

(c) Minimum charges. If a job covered by this order requires less than one man hour the maximum labor charge shall be for one man hour.

(d) Self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger. A self-employed painter, decorator or paperhanger who himself performs services covered by this order, either alone or with his employees shall charge for his services not more than the hourly rate charged by him as of the date of this order but not in excess of the maximum labor charge which would be permissible to be charged for the services of a journeyman in the local area where the services are being performed.

II. Maximum prices of materials and other permitted charges—(1) Maximum prices of materials. The maximum prices which may be charged by a seller of materials used shall not be more than the maximum prices provided by the appropriate maximum price regulation for sales of such materials at retail, by established paint, decorating and paperhanging supply firms nearest his place of business, based on the manufacturers' published retail price lists. If the materials being sold are marked by a manufacturers' label containing the approved OPA retail ceiling price for sales of the commodity by a seller, a seller of such materials under this order shall not exceed the price marked on the label.

(2) Sub-contracted work. Where services covered by this order are subcontracted by a seller under this order, the maximum charge to the purchaser shall not exceed the maximum price which the seller might lawfully have charged under this order if he had performed the services.

(3) Special equipment. If, during March, 1942, the seller made an extra charge for the use of special equipment, such as spraying machines, steaming machines for removing wallpaper, special types of scaffolding or floor sanding machines, but not including standard equipment such as brushes, ladders and other ordinary equipment, his maximum price per hour for such use after the effective date of this order shall not be in excess of the highest price per hour he charged therefor during March, 1942. If the seller acquired such special equipment after March, 1942, but prior to the effective date of this order, and thereafter established maximum prices per hour for such uses under the applicable maximum price regulation, he may continue to charge such established price. In either case, the seller must have records available to substantiate the charging of such price and such price must be filed with the District Office of the Office of Price Administration pursuant to section 9 of this order. If a seller commences the use of special equipment after the effective date of this order he shall establish his maximum hourly price therefor under the applicable maximum price regulation and file such price with the District Office within ten days.

(4) Extra charge for use of paint brushes. If a job, covered by this order, requires the use of paint brushes, the seller may make an extra charge therefor of not to exceed 5¢ per man-hour of time consumed on the particular job.

(5) Out-of-town travel expenses. The seller who furnishes men on an out-of-town job covered by this order shall be reimbursed to the extent of the amount he shall have to pay for travel expenses at not to exceed 5¢ per mile for travel beyond five miles from the city limits, and subsistence where the job necessitates the men being away from their homes. This item shall be explained to the purchaser prior to commencing the job and shall be invoiced separately. Travel expenses and subsistence may not be collected unless the seller actually pays the employee therefor.

(6) Transportation. If a seller uses his truck to transport materials, equipment and men to and from a job a distance of more than five miles beyond the city limits, he may charge not more than 5¢ per mile to and from the job for travel beyond that distance and similarly if other means of transportation are used.

[Region VI Order G–114 Under 18 (c)]

PAN BREAD AND BREAD-TYPE ROLLS IN CHICAGO, ILL., AREA

This order is issued for the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by § 1499.18 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

1. What this order does. This order adjusts maximum prices for sales of pan bread and bread-type rolls, other than chain store private label bread and bread-type rolls:

(a) In the Chicago Marketing Area;

(b) By producers whose bakeries are located within the Chicago Marketing Area, irrespective of where the sales are made;

(c) By resellers in Region VI of the Office of Price Administration, if the bread has been reduced in weight or the bread-type rolls increased in price under the authority of this order.

2. Sales by bakeries—(a) Pan bread. The maximum price for sales by producers for each size loaf of pan bread, other than chain store private label bread, within the Chicago Marketing Area and for sales, wherever made, by producers whose bakeries are located within this area shall be whichever of the following is the highest:

(i) The seller's maximum price for such loaf determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation; or

(ii) The seller's maximum price for such loaf authorized by any other regulation or order of the Office of Price Administration; or

(iii) The seller's present maximum price for such loaf, determined under (i) or (ii) above, except that the weight of such loaf may be reduced providing the reduction in weight shall not increase the per ounce price of such loaf by more than one-sixteenth (1/16) cent. In no event shall the price computed under this sub-paragraph exceed 9¢ per pound net weight for sales at wholesale and 11¢ per pound net weight for sales at retail.

Example 1: A wholesale baker now sells an 18-ounce loaf of white pan bread for 8¢. He proposes to reduce the weight of this loaf to 16 ozs. The present price per ounce is .44¢. The proposed price per ounce is .50¢. This weight reduction is permissible because the increased price per ounce is less than 1/16¢ and the resulting price is less than 9¢ per pound.

Example 2: A retail baker now bakes and sells an 18-ounce loaf of pan raisin bread for 13¢. He proposes to reduce the weight of this loaf to 16 ounces. This is not permitted because the price is more than 11¢ per pound, the highest retail bread price affected by this order.

Example 3: A wholesale baker now sells a 22.35-ounce loaf of white pan bread to retailers for 9½¢. He proposes to reduce this loaf to 18 ounces. This is not permitted, because the price per ounce would be increased from .42¢ to .52¢, which is more than an increase of 1/16¢ per ounce. The minimum weight permitted is 19.5 ounces because at this weight the increase is exactly 1/16¢ per ounce.

Example 4: A retail baker now bakes and sells a 16-ounce loaf of whole wheat pan bread for 10¢. He proposes to reduce the weight of this loaf to 15 ounces. The present price per ounce is .62¢. The proposed price per ounce is .66¢. The weight reduction is permissible because the increase in price per ounce is less than 1/16¢ and the resulting price is less than 11¢ per pound.

(b) Bread-type rolls. The maximum price for sales by producers of bread-type rolls, other than chain store private label bread-type rolls, within the Chicago Marketing Area and for sales, wherever made, by producers whose bakeries are located within this area, shall be the seller's present maximum price plus 1¢ per dozen.

3. Sales by resellers—(a) Pan bread. (i) The maximum price for sales by resellers of pan bread reduced in weight under the provisions of section 2 (a) (iii) above shall be the maximum price in cents in effect for such loaf prior to its reduction in weight.

(ii) The maximum price for sales by resellers of pan bread which is not reduced in weight shall be the reseller's present maximum price as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation, or under any other applicable regulation or order of the Office of Price Administration, whichever is the higher.

(b) Bread-type rolls. The maximum price for sales by resellers within Region VI of the Office of Price Administration of bread-type rolls, the wholesale price of which has been increased under Section 2 (b), shall be the seller's present maximum price plus one (1) cent per dozen.

4. Definitions. (a) "Chain store private label bread and rolls" means bread or rolls sold under a distinctive name or label in one or more retail grocery or general merchandise stores comprising the whole or part of a chain of four or more stores and operating as cooperatives or under a common trade name or common ownership. Each of said four stores must customarily do more than 60 percent of its business in merchandise other than bakery products.

(b) "Sales at retail" is a sale to an ultimate consumer.

(c) "Sale at wholesale" is a sale other than a sale to an ultimate consumer.

(d) "Chicago marketing area" for the purpose of this Order consists of the counties of Cook, Lake, DuPage in Illinois and Lake County in Indiana.

(e) "Pan bread" means any bread baked in a pan, form or screen.

(f) "Bread-type rolls" include, but is not limited to, plain white rolls and buns and the semi-dough type such as soft rolls, hamburger, hot dog and parker house and hard rolls such as vienna and kaiser, all made without fillings or icings. They do not include yeast-raised sweet rolls or sweet buns, cinnamon rolls, buns, butter flavored rolls, etc.

5. Notification and reporting. (a) Each producer who decreases the weight of pan bread under section 2 (a) (iii) above or increases the price of bread-type rolls under section 2 (b) above, shall, within five days after such weight change or price increase, notify the Chicago Metropolitan District Office of the Office of Price Administration at 222 West Adams Street, Chicago 6, Illinois. This notification shall be in duplicate and shall give the name and address of the producer, the effective date of such change, the previous and present weights of each type of bread and the previous and increased prices of each type of bread-type rolls, as changed under authority of this order.

(b) With the first delivery of pan bread after the weight has been decreased or of bread-type rolls after the maximum price has been increased under any provision of this order, the producer shall supply each reseller with a written notice similar to the one below.

NOTICE TO RESELLERS OF BREAD AND BREAD-TYPE ROLLS

The Office of Price Administration has permitted us to reduce the weight of our loaves of pan bread, without a reduction in price as follows:

(Describe items by kind, variety, brand and size, giving previous and reduced weights.)

We are authorized to inform you that you may continue to sell the loaves of reduced weight at the prices for which you sold them prior to such reduction.

We have also been permitted by the Office of Price Administration to increase the price of our bread-type rolls by 1¢ per dozen. We have increased the price of our (type) rolls by (amount) ¢ per dozen. You may also increase your maximum price for these rolls by 1¢ per dozen.

These changes are effective on ----------

(Name of producer)

6. Relation to Office of Price Administration Regulations. Except as modified herein, the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation and Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14B to the General Maximum Price Regulation shall remain in full force and effect and shall not be evaded by any change in the business or trade practices in effect during the base period established by those regulations. Customary discounts and allowances shall be continued except as this requirement is modified by Section 3 of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14B to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

7. Revocability. This order may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time.

This order has been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

This order shall be effective March 15, 1946.

EARL W. CLARK,
Acting Regional Administrator.

(6) Harrisburg will change its outstanding 27,622 shares of common stock of a par value of $100 per share to a like number of shares of common stock without par value and will reduce the stated value of such shares from $2,762,200 to $2,099,272 in order to create capital surplus in the amount of $662,928 which, together with premiums on common stock now on the company's books in the amount of $197,300 and its earned surplus, will be used to dispose of Plant Acquisition Adjustment and Plant Adjustment Accounts and certain deferred debit accounts and expenses in connection with the proposed refinancing of the preferred stock.

Harrisburg states that the issue and sale of the new bonds and the issue and exchange or sale of the new preferred stock will be expressly authorized by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, the State in which Harrisburg is organized and doing business.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said declaration-application and that said declaration-application shall not become effective or be granted except pursuant to further order of the Commission;

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said declaration-application, particular attention will be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether the proposed issue and sale of the new bonds and the issue and sale or exchange of the new preferred stock are solely for the purpose of financing the business of Harrisburg and have been expressly authorized by the State Commission of the State in which it is organized and doing business.

(2) Whether the terms and conditions of the issue and sale of the new bonds and the issue and sale or exchange of the new preferred stock are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

(3) Whether the terms and conditions of the proposed exchange offer are fair and reasonable and appropriate in the public interest and the interests of investors or consumers.

(4) Whether the proposed accounting entries to be recorded on the books of Harrisburg are consistent with sound accounting principles and conform to the standards of the act.

(5) Whether the proposed purchase by UGI of shares of preferred stock of Harrisburg is in compliance with statutory standards and whether it is necessary or appropriate to impose any terms or conditions with respect thereto.

(6) Whether the proposed change of the common stock from par to no par value stock and the reduction of capital stock liability by Harrisburg is detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers.

(7) Whether the fees, commissions or other remunerations to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are reasonable.

(8) Generally, whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the act and the rules, regulations and orders promulgated thereto.

(9) Whether in the event the application and declaration shall be granted and permitted to become effective it is necessary to impose any terms or conditions to ensure compliance with the standards of the act.

By the Commission.

The President

PROCLAMATION 2682

ARMY DAY, 1946

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the Army of the United States has performed gallantly its part, in magnificent cooperation with our Allies, in accomplishing the utter defeat in the past year of the enemy nations that threatened our freedom and required us to defend it in the mos terrible war in history;

WHEREAS our Army continues in active service to the nation in occupying parts of enemy countries to insure the establishment of a lasting peace; and

WHEREAS the Congress, by Senate Concurrent Resolution 5, 75th Congress, agreed to by the House of Representatives on March 16 1937, has recognized April 6 of each year as Army Day and has requested that the President issue a proclamation annually with respect to that day:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, in order that we may give especial honor to our Army, to the soldiers of World War II, and to the soldiers who defended our liberty in other wars, do hereby proclaim Saturday, April 6, 1946, as Army Day, and do invite the Governors of the several States to issue proclamations calling for the observance of that day.

I also remind our citizens that our Army, charged with responsibility for defending the United States and our territorial possessions, can carry out its duty only with the full support of our people. I urge my fellow citizens to be mindful of the Army's needs, to the end that our soldiers overseas do not lack the means of performing effectively their continuing duties, and in order that the hardship of their separation from home and loved ones may be alleviated in every possible way. I know that our people will always remember the soldiers who have suffered that we might remain free, and the families of those who have sacrificed their lives for our cause.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the city of Washington this 20th day of March in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and [SEAL] forty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventieth.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

By the President:

JAMES F. BYRNES, Secretary of State.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter VI—National Wage Stabilization Board

[General Wage Approval 5]

PART 805—GENERAL WAGE APPROVALS

REFRACTORIES INDUSTRY

§ 805.5 General wage approval for the refractories industry. (a) Pursuant to section 3 (a) of Executive Order 9697 (11 F.R. 1691), the National Wage Stabilization Board finds that, as a result of general wage adjustments of 18½¢ per hour in the basic steel industry, approved on February 21, 1946 by General Order No. 1 of the Office of Stabilization Administrator, a gross inequity exists between the basic steel industry and the related refractories industry, as hereinafter defined. This relationship is established by the facts that the steel industry is a principal customer of the refractories industry and that wage rate adjustments in a leading segment of the refractories industry in the past have coincided with wage rate adjustments in the basic steel industry.

(b) For purposes of this section the refractories industry is defined as follows:

All mines, quarries, and plants of those companies primarily engaged in the mining or production of firebrick or other fire-clay refractories, and other heat-resisting clay products such as clay glasshouse tank blocks, stoppers, floaters or rings, and of crucibles and refractories made of materials other than clay, such as graphite, magnesite, chrome, silica, and silicon carbide.

(c) Any wage or salary increase granted to employees within the jurisdiction of the National Wage Stabilization Board and put into effect by an employer in the refractories industry, as defined in paragraph (b) of this section shall be deemed approved within the meaning of section 3 (a) of Executive Order 9697 to the extent (1) that such increase does not exceed 18½ cents per hour over and above the straight time rates such employees were receiving on August 17, 1945, and (2) that since January, 1941, such employer has made general wage or salary increases which in the aggregate are substantially the same as the wage or salary increases made by the basic steel industry.

(d) An employer who seeks an adjustment in the price ceiling for his product or products based upon the wage or salary adjustments herein approved shall indicate to the Office of Price Administration in any price relief application that the adjustments have been made or agreed upon pursuant to this section.

(e) On request of any employer or collective bargaining representative involved, accompanied by pertinent factual information, the National Wage Stabilization Board will issue rulings as to whether any specified plant or plants come within the terms of this section.

Approved by the National Wage Stabilization Board March 18, 1946.

B. M. JAFFE,
Acting Executive Director.

§ 944.1 Purpose and scope of this regulation; definitions. This regulation states the basic rules of the Civilian Production Administration which apply to all business transactions unless they are covered by more specific regulations or orders of the Civilian Production Administration which are inconsistent with this regulation. It includes transactions which are not subject to priority control in any other way than by this regulation. The following definitions apply for purposes of this regulation and any other regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, unless otherwise indicated.

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(b) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(c) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

[1] This document is a restatement of Amendment 1 to Priorities Regulation 1 as amended Dec. 20, 1945, which appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER Mar. 20, 1946 (10 F.R. 2924), and reflects the order in its completed form as of Mar. 18, 1946.

§ 944.1b [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

§ 944.2 Rules for acceptance and rejection of rated orders. Every order bearing a preference rating must be accepted and filled regardless of existing contracts and orders except in the following cases:

(a) A person must not accept a rated order for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery on equal or higher rated orders which he has already accepted, or if delivery of the material ordered would interfere with delivery on an order which the War Production Board or Civilian Production Administration has directed him to fill for that material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(b) A person must not accept a rated order (except an AAA order) for delivery on a date which can be met only by using material which was specifically produced for delivery on another rated order, and which is completed or is in production and scheduled for completion within 15 days.

(c) If a person, when receiving a rated order bearing a specific delivery date, does not expect to be able to fill it by the time requested, he must not accept it for delivery at that time. He must either (1) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (2) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date. He may adopt either of these two courses, depending on his understanding of which his customer would prefer. He may not reject a low rated order just because he expects to receive conflicting higher rated orders in the future, nor because he would for any reason prefer to have higher ratings.

(d) If a person receives a rated order which is not required by § 944.8 to bear a specific delivery date and which he cannot fill promptly, he must accept it as long as he expects to be able to fill it within a reasonable time, unless he makes a consistent practice of not carrying a backlog and rejecting orders which cannot be promptly filled. He may treat different classes of customers differently in this respect, but only if there is a reasonable basis for the distinction. For example, he may make a regular practice of rejecting unfillable orders from all retailers but holding for backlog orders from all industrial customers.

(e) A rated order need not be (but may be) accepted in the following cases, but there must be no discrimination in such cases against rated orders, or between rated orders of different customers:

(1) If the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment. (When a person who has a rating asks a supplier to quote his regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment or the earliest date on which he could make delivery on that rating, the supplier must do so, except that if this would require detailed engineering or accounting work, he may give his best estimate without such work and state that it is not binding. However, the supplier need not quote if he is not required to accept the rated order and knows that he will not do so if he receives it. Any quotation as to delivery date to a person whose order has not been received will be subject to the effect on the supplier's deliveries of rated orders received by him after making the quotation and before he receives the firm order from the person making the inquiry.)

(For status of OPA ceiling prices under this section see Interpretation 2. For rule covering types of sales and types of purchases see Interpretation 3.)

(2) If the order is for the manufacture of a product or the performance of a service of a kind which the person to whom the order is offered has not usually made or performed, and in addition if either (i) he cannot fill the order without substantially altering or adding to his facilities or (ii) the order can readily be performed by someone else who has usually accepted and performed such orders.

(3) If the order is for material which the person to whom the order is offered produces or acquires for his own use only, and he has not filled any orders for that material within the past two years, except on "special sales" as permitted in Priorities Regulation 13. If he has, but the rated order would take more than the excess over his own needs, he may not reject the rated order unless filling it would interfere with equal or higher rated orders already on hand, or orders which the War Production Board or Civilian Production Administration has directed him to fill, for the material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(4) If filling the order would stop or interrupt his production or operations during the next 40 days in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations.

(For types of contracts which must be deferred see Interpretation 1b. For rule as to deferment of orders on steel, copper and aluminum producers, see Direction 11.)

(f) Any person who fails or refuses to accept an order bearing a preference rating shall, upon written request of the person placing the order, promptly give his reasons in writing for his failure or refusal.

(g) Some orders of the Civilian Production Administration provide special rules as to the acceptance and rejection of orders for particular materials. In such cases, the rules stated above in this section are inapplicable to the extent that they are inconsistent with the applicable order of the Civilian Production Administration. In addition, the Civilian Production Administration may specifically direct a person in writing to fill a particular purchase order or orders. In such cases he must do so without regard to any of the above rules in this § 944.2, except that he may insist upon compliance with regularly established prices and terms of payment.

§ 944.3 Report to Civilian Production Administration of improperly rejected orders. When a rated order is rejected in violation of this regulation, the person who wants to place it may file a report of the relevant facts with the Civilian Production Administration, which will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person rejecting the order.

§ 944.4 Assignment of preference ratings. Preference ratings may be assigned to contracts, orders or deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, or by rules, regulations or orders of the Civilian Production Administration assigning ratings to particular orders or deliveries or to specified classes of orders or deliveries. Such ratings may be assigned to accepted contracts or orders, and also to orders which have not been placed or accepted at the time the rating is applied for. Ratings are also assigned by certain governmental agencies, authorized by the Civilian Production Administration, to their own purchase orders or contracts. In some cases the Civilian Production Administration will raise or lower ratings already assigned and in that event the rules of Priorities Regulation 12 (§ 944.33) apply. Specific orders may also be issued as to particular deliveries or as to the use of particular facilities, without assigning ratings thereto.

§ 944.4a Cancellation of preference ratings. If a preference rating which has been assigned to a named person is revoked, he must immediately, in the case of each order to which he has applied the rating either cancel the order or inform his supplier that it is no longer to be treated as rated. If a regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration which assigns a rating to a class or group of persons without naming them individually, is revoked they may not apply the rating to orders placed after the revocation. Orders to which they have already applied the rating for delivery within three months after the revocation remain validly rated, but, in the case of each order which they have placed for delivery after three months from that date, they must either cancel the order or withdraw the rating. If any person receives notice from his customer or otherwise that the customer's order is no longer rated or that the customer's order is cancelled, he must immediately withdraw any extensions of the rating which he has made to any order placed by him for more than $25 worth of material. The Civilian Production Administration may specify different rules for the treatment of outstanding ratings at the time it revokes them.

(For the rules about transferring preference ratings when contracts are assigned, see Interpretation 5.)

§ 944.5 Sequence and description of preference ratings. (a) Preference ratings in order of precedence are: (1) AAA; (2) MM; (3) CC and HH, which are both of equal value. The conditions under which each of these ratings are generally assigned is given in paragraph (b) below.

(b) The above preference ratings are generally assigned as follows:

(1) The AAA rating is assigned in emergencies under existing procedures.

(2) The MM rating is assigned by the Army and Navy and other military and governmental agencies in accordance with the provisions of Directive 41 and other CPA Directives which may be issued from time to time. The CPA will not generally assign the MM rating, but may do so in a few instances for specific items and quantities of materials or equipment where it is clearly necessary for requirements of high urgency. Applications should not be filed with the CPA for a MM rating unless a published order or regulation of the CPA announces that the CPA will assign it.

(3) The CC rating is assigned as described in Priorities Regulations 28 and 28A. These Regulations describe the limited conditions under which the CPA will generally assign the CC rating.

(4) The HH rating is assigned for housing under the rules explained in Priorities Regulation 33.

(c) The rules for the extension of the above ratings are explained in Priorities Regulation 3.

§ 944.6 Doubtful cases. Whenever there is doubt as to the preference rating applicable to any order, the matter is to be referred to the Civilian Production Administration for determination, with a statement of all pertinent facts.

§ 944.7 Sequence of filling rated orders. (a) Every person who has rated orders on hand must schedule his operations, if possible, so as to fill each rated order by the required delivery or performance date (determined as explained in § 944.8). If this is not possible for any reason, he must give precedence to higher over lower rated orders and to all rated over unrated orders. However, material specifically produced for a rated order may not be used to fill a higher rated order (except AAA) subsequently received if the material is completed or is in production and scheduled for completion within 15 days. A low rated order bearing an earlier delivery or performance date must be filled before a higher rated order bearing a later delivery or performance date if it is possible to fill both of them on the required dates.

(b) As between conflicting orders which bear the same preference rating, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the rating. As between conflicting orders received with the same preference rating on the same date, precedence must be given to the order which has the earlier required delivery or performance date.

(c) If a rated order or the rating applicable to an order is cancelled when the supplier has material in production to fill it, he need not immediately stop to put other rated orders into production if doing so would cause a substantial loss of total production. He may continue to process that material which he had put into production for the cancelled order to a stage of completion which would avoid a substantial loss of total production, but he may not incorporate any material which he needs to fill any rated order on hand. He may not, however, delay putting other rated orders into production for more than 15 days.

(For the effect of changes in customers' orders, see Direction 1 to this regulation. For further explanations of paragraph (b) see Interpretation 1c. For an explanation of how to determine the date on which a purchase order is received, see Interpretation 12).

§ 944.8 Delivery or performance dates. (a) Every rated order placed after March 18, 1944, must specify delivery or performance on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of not more than 31 days each, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. Any order which fails to comply with this rule must be treated as an unrated order. The words "immediately" or "as soon as possible", or other words to that effect, are not sufficient for this purpose. There are three exceptions to this rule, where a rated order need not bear a required delivery or performance date as long as it is understood that delivery or performance is required as soon as practicable or customary: (1) Orders placed with or by persons who normally take physical delivery of the item ordered to hold it in stock for resale; (2) orders for not more than $100; (3) orders rated AAA.

(b) The required delivery or performance date, for purposes of determining the sequence of deliveries or performance pursuant to § 944.7, shall be the date on which delivery or performance is actually required. The person with whom the order is placed may assume that the required delivery or performance date is the date specified in the order or contract unless he knows either (1) that the date so specified was earlier than required at the time the order was placed, or (2) that delivery or performance by the date originally specified is no longer required by reason of any change of circumstances. A delay in the scheduled receipt of any other material which the person placing the order requires prior to or concurrently with the material ordered, shall be deemed a change of circumstances within the meaning of the foregoing sentence.

(c) If, after accepting a rated order which specifies the time of delivery, the person with whom it is placed finds that he cannot fill it on time or within 15 days following the specified time, owing to the receipt of higher rated orders or for other reasons, he must promptly notify the customer, telling him approximately when he expects to be able to fill the order. Inability to fill the order on time or within fifteen days following the specified time does not authorize a supplier to cancel the order.

§ 944.9 Report to Civilian Production Administration of improper delay of orders. When delivery or performance of a rated order is unreasonably or improperly delayed, the customer may file a report of the relevant facts with the Civilian Production Administration, which will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person with whom the order is placed.

§ 944.10 Effect of other regulations and orders. Specific allocations or other directions of the Civilian Production Administration for delivery of material or the use of facilities must be complied with regardless of ratings, unless otherwise specified. If restrictions under two or more regulations or orders of the Civilian Production Administration apply to the same subject matter, the most restrictive controls unless otherwise expressly provided. Rated orders are not exempt from restrictions on the amount of materials that may be made or delivered unless expressly so stated.

§ 944.10a Effect of revocation of orders and regulations. (a) When an order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration is revoked, all published amendments, schedules, appendices, and directions to that order or regulation are revoked, unless otherwise stated in the instrument revoking the order or regulation.

(b) All directions, authorizations, production or delivery schedules and other instruments addressed to named persons pursuant to any order or regulation which was revoked before October 1, 1945, are revoked on October 1, 1945. Whenever an order or regulation of the CPA is revoked on or after October 1, 1945, all directions, authorizations, allocations, production or delivery schedules and other instruments addressed to named persons pursuant to that order or regulation are revoked, unless otherwise stated in the instrument of revocation. Any material which was obtained by means of any such revoked direction, authorization, allocation, etc., may be used or disposed of only as permitted under paragraph (b) of § 944.11.

NOTE: The instrument of revocation for many orders is Priorities Regulation 31.

(c) "Suspension orders" and "consent orders" issued on the basis of a violation of orders and regulations of the War Production Board or Civilian Production Administration remain in effect after revocation of such orders and regulations, unless otherwise provided. If you are subject to a suspension order or consent order which you think should be lifted or modified because of the lifting of the restriction on which the violation was based, you may address a request for relief to the Chief Compliance Commissioner, Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 944.11 Use or disposition of material acquired with priorities assistance. (a) Any person who gets material with priorities assistance must, if possible, use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. This restriction applies to material obtained by means of a preference rating (AAA, MM, CC or HH, allocation, specific direction, or any other action of the War Production Board or Civilian Production Administration. Physical segregation is not required as long as the restrictions applicable to any specific lot of material or product are observed with respect to an equivalent amount of the same material or product. The above restriction does not apply in the following two cases, but the rules on further use or disposition in paragraph (b) below must be observed: (1) When a material, or a product into which it has been incorporated, can no longer be used for the purpose for which the priorities assistance was given (for example, when the priorities assistance was given to fill a particular contract or purchase order and the material or product does not meet the customer's specifications or the contract or purchase order is cancelled); (2) when the material was obtained by means of a rating in the AA series or a CMP allotment, or by means of any order, regulation, rating, allocation, specific direction or other action of the WPB or CPA which has been revoked or cancelled, unless otherwise stated in the instrument of revocation or in any other action of the CPA (for example, Direction 12 to Priorities Regulation 1).

(b) A material or product subject to paragraph (a) (1) or (2) above may be used or disposed of only as follows:

(1) If the holder acquired or made the material or product for use and not for sale or resale and is not regularly engaged in the business of selling it, a proposed sale by him is a special sale covered by Priorities Regulation 13 and he may sell or transfer it only as provided in that regulation.

(2) If the proposed sale is not a special sale described by paragraph (b) (1), the holder may sell as long as he complies with all requirements of other applicable sections of this regulation and of other orders and regulations of the Civilian Production Administration. This is true of all such sales of any material including scrap.

(3) The holder may, within the limitations of paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 32 (inventory restriction on processing), use the material or product himself in any manner or for any purpose as long as he complies with all applicable CPA orders and regulations. If the intended use is prohibited or restricted, he must appeal or otherwise apply for permission under the applicable order or regulation.

§ 944.12 Intra-company deliveries. When any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration prohibits or restricts deliveries of any material by any person, such prohibition or restriction shall, in the absence of a contrary direction, apply not only to deliveries to other persons, including affiliates and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

(For rule as to effect of inventory and small order provisions on separate operating units of same company see Interpretation 8.)

§ 944.13 Scope of regulations and orders. All regulations and orders of the Civilian Production Administration (including directions, directives and other instructions) apply to all subsequent transactions even though they are covered by previous contracts. Regulations and orders apply to transactions in the territories or insular possessions of the United States unless the regulation or order specifically states that it is limited to the continental United States or to the 48 states and the District of Columbia. However, restrictions of Civilian Production Administration orders or regulations on the use of material or on the amount of inventory shall not apply when the material is used or the inventory is held directly by the Army or Navy outside the 48 states and the District of Columbia, unless otherwise specifically provided. Regulations and orders do not apply to transactions in the Philippine Islands unless they specifically state that they do. Exports and deliveries of material to be exported may be made regardless of any CPA order or regulation restricting inventories of material or uses thereof in manufacture or otherwise, or requiring certificates with respect to such inventories or uses, insofar as such inventories are maintained or such uses occur in the country to which such material is to be exported, but shall be subject to such restrictions with respect to inventories maintained or uses occurring within the United States prior to export.

(For applicability of certain restrictions in CPA orders to exports, see Interpretation 18.)

§ 944.13a Defense against claims for damages. No persons shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under any contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, notwithstanding that any such rule, regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

§ 944.14 Inventory restrictions. No person may deliver or receive into inventory more of any material than is permitted under Priorities Regulation 32. That regulation takes the place of the rules formerly in this section.

§ 944.14a Delivery for unlawful purposes prohibited. No person shall deliver any material which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted, redelivered, held or used in violation of any order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration.

§ 944.15 Records. Each person participating in any transaction to which any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration applies shall keep and preserve for at least two years accurate and complete records of the details of each such transaction and of his inventories of the material involved. Such records shall include the dates of all contracts or purchase orders accepted, the delivery dates specified in such contracts or purchase orders, and in any preference rating certificates accompanying them, the dates of actual deliveries thereunder, description of the material covered by such contracts or purchase orders, description of deliveries by classes, types, quantities, weights and values, the parties involved in each transaction, the preference ratings, if any, assigned to deliveries under such contracts or purchase orders, details of rated orders (or other orders required by the Civilian Production Administration to be filled) either accepted or offered and rejected, and other pertinent information. Records kept by any person pursuant to this section shall be kept either separately from the other records of such person and chronologically according to daily deliveries by such person, or in such form that such a separate chronological record can be promptly compiled therefrom. Whenever a regulation or order requires a person to restrict his operations in proportion to his operations in a base period (for example, an order may forbid him to use more of a certain kind of material than he used in the fourth quarter of 1942) he must determine, as accurately as is reasonably possible, his base period operations and preserve a written record of any figures and work sheets showing how he made his calculations for inspection by Civilian Production Administration officials as long as the regulation or order remains in force and for two years after that. Whenever a person is restricted as to the quantity of material he may use in production or the amount he may produce, under quota restrictions, limitation orders, authorized production schedules, special directions or similar provisions, he must keep reasonably adequate records of the material consumed and of production to show whether he is complying with the restrictions. This record-keeping requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(Photographic copies of records may be kept. See Interpretation 6.)

§ 944.16 Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this regulation or by any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by its duly authorized representatives.

§ 944.17 Reports. Every person shall execute and file with the Civilian Production Administration such reports and questionnaires as it shall from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942. The rules on filing reports are explained in Priorities Regulation 8.

§ 944.18 Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation or any other rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration, or who, by any statement or omission, wilfully falsifies any records which he is required to keep, or who otherwise wilfully furnishes false or misleading information to the Civilian Production Administration, and any person who obtains a delivery, an allocation of material or facilities, or a preference rating by means of a material and wilful, false or misleading statement, may be prohibited by the Civilian Production Administration from making or obtaining further deliveries of material or using facilities under priority or allocation control and may be deprived of further priorities assistance. The Civilian Production Administration may also take any other action deemed appropriate, including the making of a recommendation for prosecution under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U. S. C. sec. 80), or under the Second War Powers Act (Public No. 507, 77th Congress, March 27, 1942).

§ 944.19 Appeals for relief in exceptional cases. Any person who considers that compliance by himself or another with a rule or regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. The rules for the filing and handling of appeals are given in Priorities Regulation 16.

§ 944.20 Notification of customers. Any person who is prohibited from or restricted in making deliveries of any material by the provisions of any rule, regulation or order of the Civilian Production Administration shall, as soon as practicable, notify each of his regular customers of the requirements of such rule, regulation or order, but the failure to give notice shall not excuse any customer from the obligation of complying with any requirements applicable to him.

Issued this 18th day of March 1946.

CIVILIAN PRODUCTION ADMINISTRATION,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

INTERPRETATION 1A: Revoked August 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 1B

TYPES OF EXISTING CONTRACTS WHICH MUST BE DEFERRED

Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1, as amended, makes compulsory the acceptance and filling of rated orders for any material, "regardless of existing contracts and orders". The "existing contracts" referred to include not only ordinary purchase contracts but other arrangements achieving substantially the same results, though in form they may concern the use of production facilities rather than the material produced. Preference ratings are applicable to facilities as well as materials.

Examples of such "existing contracts" which must be subordinated to higher rated orders are (1) arrangements whereby a producer, regularly engaged in producing a given product for sale to others, leases a portion of his plant, or the whole of it for a relatively short period, as a going concern to one of his customers and operation is continued under the producer's management and with the producer's regular personnel; and (2) arrangements whereby such a producer, in lieu of buying raw materials and selling the product, accepts raw materials belonging to a customer for processing pursuant to a toll agreement or similar undertaking. If the deliveries to be made to such customer carry a preference rating, the sequence of deliveries as compared with deliveries to other persons placing orders with the producer is to be determined as provided in § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 1C

SEQUENCE OF DELIVERIES AND PRODUCTION FOR RATED ORDERS

The provisions of § 944.7 (b) of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended, with respect to the sequence of deliveries bearing the same preference rating, are applicable only in cases where different deliveries bearing the same preference rating cannot be made on schedule. If material supply and available facilities permit deliveries bearing the same rating to be made on schedule, Regulation No. 1 does not have any particular effect on the sequence of production for such deliveries. Where it is necessary to choose between deliveries bearing the same preference ratings, delivery to the customer from whom the order was first received with the rating is to be preferred and production schedules must be adjusted accordingly. For example, suppose a rated order is received from one customer in January for August delivery and another order bearing the same rating is received from a second customer in June calling for July delivery. If both deliveries cannot be made on schedule, the second customer is not permitted to get the material away from the first customer. The producer must defer production on the second order to the extent necessary to make delivery on the first order on the August delivery date. If, on the other hand, both deliveries can be made on schedule, it is not necessary to produce or make delivery on the first customer's order ahead of that of the second. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 1D: Revoked June 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 1E

ARMY INCLUDES PANAMA CANAL—NAVY INCLUDES COAST GUARD

(a) The definition of defense orders formerly appearing in § 944.1 (b) has been deleted since a blanket rating of AA-5 is no longer assigned to such orders. However, any reference to the Army without any other definition in any order of the Civilian Production Administration also applies to the Panama Canal, and a reference to the Navy, to the Coast Guard. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 2

REGULARLY ESTABLISHED PRICES AND OPA CEILING PRICES

An order bearing a preference rating may not be rejected on the ground that the price is below the regularly established price, if the purchaser offers the OPA ceiling price.

Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 makes the acceptance of rated orders mandatory except in the several situations specified in the section. The only exception dealing with price is contained in paragraph (e) (1) which states that a rated order need not be accepted "if the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment".

"Regularly established prices" cannot be higher than OPA ceiling prices. They may, however, be lower. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 3

REJECTION OF RATED ORDERS FOR FAILURE TO MEET ESTABLISHED PRICES AND TERMS

(a) Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 states that every order bearing a preference rating must be accepted and filled with certain exceptions listed in the section. One exception is where a buyer does not "meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment". This exception applies to a seller who receives a rated order for quantities which are less than the minimum which he regularly sells. For example, a manufacturer who has been selling only in carload lots may reject a rated order for a less than carload lot.

This exception applies similarly to a person who regularly sells only in multiples of a specified quantity and receives a rated order for a number which is not a multiple of that quantity. For example, a manufacturer who regularly sells his product only in standard shipping packages containing one dozen receives a rated order for 40. He may fill the whole order or he may fill it to the extent of 36 and reject it for 4.

A further problem arises when a manufacturer receives such an order with split-ratings. For example, suppose the manufacturer who sells his product only in standard shipping packages of a dozen receives an order for 30 rated MM and 20 rated CC. In such a case the general rule is that amounts in excess of a multiple of the standard shipping package ordered at higher ratings may be included with amounts ordered at lower ratings if the manufacturer wishes to adhere to his standard shipping package and not fill the order as received. He may then, in the case supposed, treat the order as one for 24 items rated MM and 24 rated CC and reject it for 2 of the items. Of course, he may fill the order as placed if he prefers to do so; but, if he does not he must fill it as illustrated above.

(b) The exception also applies to the seller who regularly sells only to certain types of trade purchasers, such as wholesalers, jobbers or retailers. He may reject orders from other types of purchasers but only if it is practicable to obtain the merchandise in the required quantity through regular trade channels.

(c) The exception applies to a manufacturer who receives a rated order which, together with orders on hand, totals less than his minimum production run of a product which is mass produced and cannot be filled from inventory. It makes no difference that he has regularly sold in quantities as small as that ordered. For example, suppose a manufacturer's minimum production run is 1,000 units, but he has regularly sold in lots of 10 units. At a time when he has none of the particular product in inventory and no orders on hand, he receives a rated order for 600 units. He may reject the order. If, however, he has on hand a previously accepted order for 400 units, he would be required to accept the order for 600 units.

(d) It should be noted that paragraph (e) of § 944.2 in which the above exception appears includes the requirement that "there must be no discrimination in such case against rated orders, or between rated orders of different customers." This means, for example, that a seller who sells principally at wholesale but also at retail to one or more customers may not reject rated retail orders from other customers. However, if a manufacturer or wholesaler has an exclusive distributor, either for all sales or for a particular territory, he may reject orders from other purchasers provided the exclusive distributor is in a position to fill the orders promptly. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 4: Revoked October 1, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 5

EFFECT OF ASSIGNMENT OF A RATED ORDER OR CONTRACT ON SEQUENCE OF DELIVERY

When a rated contract is assigned, the rating remains applicable to the contract as assigned if, but only if, the assignee uses the material covered by the contract for substantially the same purpose for which the rated contract was placed.

Examples. (1) The Navy places a rated order with A and A extends the rating to B. Later the Navy and A cancel the contract and the Navy enters into a new contract with C for delivery of the same product at the same time and applies the same rating to it. A assigns to C his contract with B. The rating which A had extended to B remains valid as of the time it was extended by A, and B must honor it in making delivery to C.

(2) A steel mill places an order for a repair part rated CC. The steel mill finds that it does not need the part but another steel mill needs the same and asks the first mill to assign its contract for the part. The second mill could also apply a CC rating to the delivery. However, it prefers to use the first mill's rating so as to come ahead of the orders which have been placed since the first mill placed its order. The second mill may not make this use of the rating, since the rated order was placed for the repair of the first mill's facilities and the purpose of the order has thus been changed.

(3) The Civilian Production Administration assigns a rating on a Form WPB 541A to a textile manufacturer to buy some textile machinery. He places an order with a machinery manufacturer and applies the rating to the order. He decides he does not need the machinery but finds another textile producer who does need the machinery and is willing to purchase the same from him. He therefore assigns the contract for the machinery to the second textile producer. The rating does not apply to the delivery to the second producer since it was assigned by the Civilian Production Administration only for the purpose of filling a specific need shown by the first textile producer. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 6

MICROFILM RECORDS

Records required to be kept by § 944.15 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 or by any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration may be kept in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals. (Issued Aug. 14, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 7: Revoked August 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 8

EFFECT OF INVENTORY AND SMALL ORDER PROVISIONS ON SEPARATE OPERATING UNITS OF THE SAME COMPANY

(a) If an individual plant, branch store, division or other operating unit normally keeps separate inventory from the rest of the corporation or firm, inventory restrictions in Civilian Production Administration orders and regulations apply to it separately. Thus, although another unit may have exceeded an inventory limit, this does not prevent a unit which has not exceeded it from acquiring additional inventory within the limit.

(b) Likewise, if an order of the Civilian Production Administration provides an exemption for small purchases, an operating unit which normally buys separately need not consider purchases made by other units in determining whether it comes within the exemption.

(c) It may happen that the same operating unit will be treated separately for purposes of inventory restrictions but not for purposes of small order exemptions. For example, if a distributor purchases centrally for direct shipment to several outlets which keep separate inventories, the outlets are treated separately for purposes of inventory restrictions but the central purchasing agency must include all its purchases in determining whether a transaction comes within a small order exemption.

(d) This interpretation applies only in cases where a contrary rule is not expressly stated in the applicable Civilian Production Administration order or regulation. Also it only applies where the regular business practice of the unit in question is to keep a separate inventory or to buy separately. It does not apply if the regular practice has been changed just for the purpose of coming within this interpretation. (Issued Nov. 22, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 9: Revoked March 18, 1944.

INTERPRETATION 10

EFFECT OF CANCELLATION OF A PURCHASE ORDER ON DIRECTIVE REQUIRING ITS IMMEDIATE PRODUCTION

In many instances, the Civilian Production Administration has issued directives to producers and manufacturers requiring them to produce particular orders ahead of their normal place on the producers' or manufacturers' schedules. Typical of such directives are directives requiring them to produce certain orders by a given date, regardless of the effect of doing so on the production of other orders. If and when the particular orders are cancelled, the directives lose all effect. This is so since the reason for issuing the directives, namely, the urgent need for a particular product, no longer exists when the order for the product has been cancelled. (Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 11

PLACING AND ACCEPTANCE OF ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY CONDITIONED ON REMOVAL OF CPA RESTRICTIONS

(a) Some orders and regulations of the Civilian Production Administration forbid the placing or acceptance of purchase orders for certain materials or products unless the purchase orders bear specified preference ratings, or unless they are accompanied by special authorization or unless they meet some other condition. Such provisions do not, however, prohibit the placing or acceptance of a purchase order which by its express terms, is not to be filled until after removal of such restrictions by the Civilian Production Administration.

(b) A manufacturer may not, of course, schedule such orders for production or place material in production to fill such orders until after the applicable CPA restriction is removed. He may order materials needed to fill such orders, but his own orders must call for delivery at a future time when the material can be received under Priorities Regulation 32. Also, if he is ordering a material which is itself subject to a restriction on placing or accepting of orders, that purchase order must as well be conditioned on the removal of the restriction.

(d) [Deleted Nov. 13, 1944.]

(Issued Oct. 1, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 12

DATE ON WHICH PURCHASE ORDER IS RECEIVED

(a) Section 944.7 (b) provides that between conflicting orders which bear the same preference rating, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the rating. Some questions have arisen as how to fix the date when the order was "received", due to the fact that occasionally specifications are not sent to the manufacturer with the customer's order. The word "order" as used in § 944.7 (b) means a purchase order accompanied by specifications in sufficient detail to enable the manufacturer to put the product in production. Not until such specifications have been furnished is there an "order". The date on which such specifications are furnished to the manufacturer is the date on which the order is "received". This date, and not the date on which the order without specifications was first received by the manufacturer, controls the position the order takes in the manufacturer's schedule.

For example, where an engine manufacturer on February 1st receives a rated order for fifty engines for July delivery but the customer does not, until March 1st, furnish the specifications as to carburetors, pumps, or other equipment, necessary before the engines can be put into production, March 1st is the date the "order was received" for the purposes of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1.

(b) With respect to unrated orders which are subsequently rated, the order is not "received" for the purposes of § 944.7 until the supplier receives the application or extension of the rating properly certified. The date of the rated order is not retroactive to the time the original unrated order was placed. Similarly, where an order originally rated in the AA series became unrated after September 30, 1945, the subsequent application or extension of a AAA, MM or CC rating to the order does not relate back to the time the order was originally rated. (Issued Dec. 11, 1945)

INTERPRETATION 13

APPLICABILITY OF ORDERS AND REGULATIONS TO USED OR SECOND-HAND MATERIALS AND PRODUCTS

(a) Every order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration applies to materials and products in used or second-hand form (other than scrap) to the same extent as to new items, unless the order or regulation or a published interpretation of it expressly states otherwise.

(b) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

INTERPRETATION 14

SUMMARY OF CPA CONTROLS REGARDING IDLE OR EXCESS INVENTORIES

(a) Purpose of this interpretation. This interpretation summarizes some of the important rules on what to do when you have materials or products which are idle or excess in your inventory because of a termination or cut-back in your war contracts or other changes in your operations. These are not new rules on this subject, nor are they necessarily complete, but they are intended to be convenient references to rules which are now effective in CPA orders and regulations. As these orders and regulations are revised from time to time, you should be sure to look at the latest copies.

(b) General rule. The general rule is that if you got a material or product by using a preference rating, or other WPB or CPA priorities assistance, you must if possible use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. This is the rule of § 944.11 (a) of Priorities Regulation 1, which also states the conditions under which physical segregation of inventory is not required. Two exceptions to this rule, i. e., when the material or product can no longer be used for the original purpose, or when the rating or other assistance has been revoked, are explained in paragraphs (a) (1) and (2) of § 944.11.

Disposition or Use of Excess

(c) In general. If you have a termination cut-back, or other reduction in your operations, it may be impossible to use the material or product for the purpose for which the priorities assistance was given. In this case, or if the rating or other assistance has been revoked, you may dispose of it as explained in paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) of § 944.11 of PR–1, or you may use it as explained generally in paragraph (b) (3) of that section. These rules are summarized in paragraphs (d) and (e) below.

(d) Disposition—(1) Special sales. If you want to sell the excess material or product to someone else, and you acquired or made it for your own use and you do not sell it in the regular course of your business, you should look at Priorities Regulation 13 for the rules governing such "special sales". These include special sales as scrap (other than plant generated scrap). Also, all sales of surplus materials or products by Government agencies are special sales.

(2) Other sales. If the sale of the particular material or product, including scrap, is not a special sale, it is permitted as long as you comply with all requirements of CPA orders and regulations which apply to the material or product you are selling. For example, you are usually required to accept rated orders and observe the sequence of preference ratings; and if the material or product may be sold or scrapped only on specific CPA authorization as described in the applicable order or regulation, you must do what the order says.

(e) Use—Must be in compliance with applicable CPA orders. If you want to use the excess material or product, you must always comply with all applicable CPA orders and regulations governing its use, inventory, etc., and you may have to appeal if the intended use is not a permitted use. To find out what orders or regulations are applicable to the particular material or product, it may be helpful to look at the CPA publication, "Products and Priorities," or you can ask your nearest CPA field office.

(2) [Deleted Dec. 11, 1945.]

(3) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(4) [Deleted Dec. 11, 1945.]

(f) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(g) Special provision for transfer among war contractors. If you have a war contract which has been terminated or modified, and another contractor is producing similar products for the same procuring agency, he may be able to receive excess materials (from you, your suppliers, or the procuring agency) in excess of inventory limits. This is permitted when authorized by the procuring agency to the extent described in Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 32. This direction covers both the inventory exceptions necessary to receive excess materials of this kind, and also the sale or exchange of the materials.

Bringing Inventory Back to Normal

(h) Inventory limitations. If the termination or cut-back results in your having a bigger inventory than you need, the mere possession of it is not prohibited as long as the particular material or product was properly acquired. This is explained in Interpretation 5 to Priorities Regulation 32. However, you may not receive further deliveries of the particular material or product held in excess, nor may you fabricate above permitted inventory levels, except as provided in the applicable regulations or orders. The general inventory rules are in Priorities Regulation 32, and specific inventory limits on particular materials or products or relating to particular classes of persons are indicated in Tables 1 and 2 of that regulation. In general, upon any reduction in operations, outstanding orders for the items which constitute an excessive inventory must be promptly adjusted, or, if necessary, cancelled. However, certain further deliveries may be received to the extent permitted by paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32, and special items may be received as permitted by that paragraph and by Direction 3 to that regulation. A limited inventory exception in the case of items bought on special sales is provided in PR–13.

(i) Cancelling ratings. In cutting back or cancelling orders as described above you will probably have to cancel your ratings to the extent described in § 944.4a of PR–1. (Issued Dec. 11, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 15: Revoked August 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 16

APPLICABILITY OF PRIORITY RULES TO SUPPLIERS OF COMPLETE PRODUCTS AND PARTS FOR THE COMPLETE PRODUCTS

(a) Applicability of rules regarding acceptance of orders. A person who supplies parts for a complete product, as well as the complete product itself, may not accept an order for the complete products calling for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery of equal or higher rated orders for parts which he has already accepted. In other words, he must comply with the rules in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 in accepting orders for complete products and orders for parts only. Thus if he gets a rated order for complete products calling for delivery on June 1, 1945, and cannot fill this order without using parts which are required for delivery on an equal or higher rated parts order previously accepted, calling for delivery on June 1, 1945, he may not accept the order for the complete products. In such a case, he must either (1) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (2) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date.

INTERPRETATION 17: Revoked August 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 18

APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS IN CPA ORDERS TO EXPORTS

The last sentence of § 944.13 (formerly Priorities Regulation 15) does not in any way relax restrictions in limitation or conservation orders in so far as they apply to manufacture within the United States or to the maintenance of inventory within the United States. The only effect of the sentence is to lift such restrictions as may be based upon the size of an inventory maintained in a foreign country or on a use (including use for manufacture) which is to take place in a foreign country.

Of course, no orders of the Civilian Production Administration directly limit the size of inventory or the manner of use of an article in a foreign country. Nevertheless, there are some orders which, in the absence of this provision in § 944.13, might impose such limitations indirectly. Orders which provide that a person may not sell a particular material if he knows or has reason to believe that the purchaser will, upon receipt, have an inventory exceeding some stated amount or use the material for a particular purpose would, in the absence of this provision, prevent certain sales by subjecting sellers to possible liability even though the inventory existed or the use occurred in a foreign country. § 944.13 has the effect of relieving sellers of such liability in the limited situation described.

Furthermore, it is only restrictions which are expressed as based upon size of inventory or manner of use which are affected by this section. Where an order requires administrative action, such as an allocation or an express authorization, that requirement is not waived and must be met before the material can be delivered, acquired or used. (Issued Dec. 11, 1945.)

INTERPRETATION 19

PRESERVATION OF RECORDS AFTER REVOCATION OF APPLICABLE ORDERS

Section 944.15 of Priorities Regulation 1 requires the keeping and preservation for at least two years of certain records relating to transactions under CPA orders and regulations. This requirement does not lapse upon the expiration or revocation of the applicable order or regulation and the two year period must be counted from the date the transaction occurs. The reference in the section to rules, regulations or orders of the Civilian Production Administration includes reference to any regulations or orders of its predecessor, the War Production Board, whether or not they expired or were revoked before the establishment of the Civilian Production Administration. (Issued Jan. 17, 1946.)

DIRECTIONS TO PR 1

The following directions to PR 1 are still in effect (Mar. 18, 1946):

1. Changes made by customers in orders placed with manufacturers.

2. Transfer of title in financing rated orders.

9. Use of ratings or authorizations for machine tools or other facilities when related military procurement programs or contracts are cancelled or cut back.

11. Special rules for placing and scheduling rated orders for steel, copper and aluminum.

12. Use by ship chandlers and other ship suppliers of materials obtained by means of ratings assigned on WPB–646.

13. Emergency suspension of outstanding ratings for iron and steel.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 28, Direction 6, as Amended Mar. 18, 1946[1]]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR THE ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUCKS

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 28:

(a) Purpose and limitation of direction. The purpose of this direction is to restrict the assignment of CC ratings for new trucks to be used in the United States to the limited class of cases mentioned in paragraph (c) below. CC ratings may be assigned for the delivery of new trucks for use in the United States under PR–28 only in such case. This direction does not apply to CC ratings for the export of new trucks which remain subject to the provisions of paragraph (e) of PR–28.

(b) Definition of truck. For the purpose of this direction "truck" means any new light, medium or heavy motor truck, truck-tractor or the chassis therefor, or any chassis on which a bus body is to be mounted and which (1) was designed to be propelled or drawn by mechanical power; (2) was designed for use on or off-the-highway, for transportation of property or persons. This definition includes vehicles of the following types: trucks, truck chassis, truck tractors, off-the-highway motor vehicles, bus chassis, carry-all suburbans, sedan deliveries and cab pickups, but does not include station wagons, coupes fitted with pickup boxes, ambulances, hearses, taxicabs and integral type busses.

(c) When CC ratings will be assigned for new trucks. CC ratings may be assigned to orders calling for the delivery of new trucks only when the applicant clearly shows that a rating is necessary to obtain delivery; that he is engaged or intends to engage in the production of an item which is listed in the Table in Schedule I to Priorities Regulation 28 and that the new truck is essential to maintaining or increasing the production of the item.

(d) Limitation on use of CC ratings. CC ratings may be used only to purchase new trucks from a distributor or dealer. Notwithstanding the provisions of PR–3, a distributor or dealer may not extend a CC rating.

(e) Denials of CC ratings. Even under the conditions of paragraph (c), CC ratings will be denied where it appears that the new truck for which the CC rating is requested is available, but under different terms of sale or from a supplier other than the applicant's customary supplier.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[SO 142, Amdt. 2]

ADJUSTMENT PROVISIONS FOR SALES OF INDUSTRIAL MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

[1] 10 F.R. 11296, 11890, 12116, 13268, 13269, 13812, 14504, 14657, 14779, 15004, 15383; 11 F.R. 532.

Supplementary Order 142 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 is amended by revising the parenthetical exception in the first paragraph to read as follows: "(Except automotive trucks, motorcycles and buses)."

2. Section 1 is further amended by adding to the first paragraph the following: "Maximum Price Regulation 452 (Manufacturers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts)."

3. Section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Qualifications. Adjustments will be given under the provisions of this section only with respect to the products which are covered by one or more of the regulations listed in section 1.

4. The first paragraph of section 2 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) How adjustments will be computed. In general, the OPA will treat adjustments in three different categories. The first category is called the "overall adjustments." This will ordinarily apply where the applicant submits his application for adjustment in the maximum prices of all his products which are governed by any of the regulations listed in section 1.

5. Section 2 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Resellers—(1) Maximum prices for products covered by Maximum Price Regulation 453. With respect to maximum prices for sales by resellers under Maximum Price Regulation 453 which are manufacturers' suggested resale list prices, manufacturers shall adjust such resale list prices when their maximum prices on which the resale list prices are based are adjusted by order issued under this section. The adjustment shall be made by multiplying the previously established suggested resale list prices by a percentage to be determined by dividing the manufacturer's applicable adjusted maximum price by his maximum price prior to the adjustment.

In the case of maximum prices for non-list sales by resellers under Maximum Price Regulation 453, manufacturers shall notify resellers of the dollar-and-cents amounts of adjustments in their (the manufacturers) maximum non-list prices. Resellers shall determine adjusted maximum non-list prices in accordance with section 7 of Maximum Price Regulation 453.

(2) Maximum prices for products covered by Maximum Price Regulations 246 and 67. Resellers of products which are covered by Maximum Price Regulation 246 or Maximum Price Regulation 67, and for which the maximum prices for sales by the manufacturer have been adjusted under this section, shall continue to compute their maximum prices for resale of such products under the applicable provisions of those regulations in the same manner that they would have computed maximum prices if the adjustment had been made under the provisions of those regulations.

(3) Maximum prices for products covered by the other regulations listed in section 1. Unless the adjustment order issued to the manufacturer shall specify a different method of determining maximum prices for sales by resellers, maximum prices for sales by resellers of the products (other than those covered by MPR 67, MPR 246 and MPR 453), for which an increase in the maximum price has been approved for a manufacturer by an order issued under the provisions of this section shall be the maximum net price that the reseller had in effect to a purchaser of the same class just prior to the issuance of this order, plus the amount, in dollars and cents, by which the order authorizing the new maximum price has increased his former net invoiced cost. In such cases, the manufacturer shall notify each of his resellers of the dollars and cents amounts by which this order permits the resellers to increase their maximum prices.

6. Section 2 is amended by adding the following paragraph (h):

(h) Automatic pricing. This paragraph applies to applications for adjustment on the individual item adjustment basis (Form OPA 6083:2646). OPA will acknowledge, in writing, the docketing of such applications (either in the Regional Office or in the National Office in Washington, D. C.). If the OPA fails to act upon the application within twenty (20) days after the date of docketing of the application, the new proposed maximum price, computed in the manner prescribed by this section, shall then be deemed to be approved. The act of OPA within the meaning of this paragraph shall consist of: (1) An order of denial, or (2) a letter or telegram addressed to the applicant at the address stated in his application either requesting additional information or stating that the applicant's computations appear to be incorrect or requesting a review of the applicant's books of account. If OPA later determines that these adjusted maximum prices have not been properly computed, it may disapprove such prices at any time. Notice of such disapproval shall be in the form of a letter sent to the applicant at the address stated in his application, but such disapproval shall not be effective as to any deliveries made prior to the date thereof.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING APPLICATION UNDER SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER NO. 142

Supplementary Order No. 142 provides a procedure by which manufacturers of products covered by the following regulations may apply for adjustment in the prices of such products:

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136—Machines, Parts and Industrial Equipment (except automotive trucks, motorcycles, buses, and house and truck trailers).
Maximum Price Regulation 67—New Machine Tools.
Maximum Price Regulation 82—Wire and Cable.
Maximum Price Regulation 246—Manufacturers' and Wholesale Prices of Farm Equipment.
Maximum Price Regulation 351—Ferrous Forgings.
Maximum Price Regulation 523—Plastic Products.
Maximum Price Regulation 581—Industrial Services.

Your application for price adjustment under Supplementary Order No. 142 may be made on any one of four bases described in the table below. In each case the data which you must submit is dependent on whether or not you have had recent normal operating experience. The table indicates which one of three application forms should be used in each situation.

You should use this form only if you are applying on the basis of (1) or (2) below

	Basis of adjustment	Extent of price adjustment which will be allowed (if any)	Application form to use— Where recent normal operating experience	Where no recent normal operating experience
1	Over-all profit and loss statement.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expenses) plus a normal profit margin. An "increase factor" will be determined to apply to all the products of the company which are covered by the above regulations.	Use application Form I (OPA Form No. 6083-2644)
2	Profit and loss statement for a division (or plant) of the company for which separate accounting records are kept.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expense). An "increase factor" will be determined to apply to all the products of the division (or plant) which are covered by the above regulations.
3	Unit cost data for representative items of a line (or group) of products.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expense) for the representative items taken as a whole. The computed "increase factor" will be made to apply to all the items of the line, or group of products.	Use application Form IIA (OPA Form 6083-2645). (These forms may be used only if you maintain unit costs which can be supported by your records)	Use application Form IIB (OPA Form 6083-2646).
4	Unit cost data for individual items.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total manufacturing costs for each item. New prices are computed by the applicant to become effective 20 days after OPA acknowledges the docketing of the application (unless notification to contrary is given by OPA).

Have you received any price adjustments from the Office of Price Administration since the base date? Yes ☐ No ☐
If "Yes," list on a separate sheet the OPA docket number(s) of the application(s).

[E] If the content of "General, Administrative and Selling" expense for the recent period differed in any important respects from its content for the fiscal year ended nearest December 31, 1941 (or 1940 if you are using that year), explain fully on a separate sheet. SCHEDULE IIA—DISCOUNTS

Fill in the following schedule for the company or accounting division (used in Schedule II) to show sales to different classes of purchasers. If the proportions are approximately the same for all major product groups in the company (or accounting division) fill in only Column 1. If they vary, fill in the other columns, one for each major product group or line. If your records prevent your presenting the information in this form submit it on a separate sheet.

Submit data for the year 1941 if you are filing on a "Projected Basis." If on a "Current Basis" the data should be for the recent period used in Schedule III. If sales to different classes of purchasers for this period were not representative of anticipated sales for the coming year, you may submit supplementary information on a separate sheet.

		(1) Company or accounting division		(2) Major product group (Identify).....		(3) Major product group (Identify).....
		Gross sales	Average % discount	Gross sales	Average % discount	Gross sales	Average % discount
1	Sales to final users
2	Sales to dealers
3	Sales to jobbers
4	Sales to others
5	Sales to others
6	Total sales

Do you price any products covered by this application on a formula basis? Yes ☐ No ☐

IMPORTANT

Schedules I, II, and II A above must be filled in completely by all applicants. If you have had recent normal operating experience as defined below you need not submit the information requested in Schedules III, and IV, or V. If you have not had recent normal operating experience as defined below complete the rest of form.

If your company has available recorded data which accurately reflect normal operating experience, use is made of such data in determining any allowable price increases. This is referred to as the "Current Basis." If no such data are available, use is made of pre-war data projected to reflect certain basic changes which have occurred since that time (referred to as "Projected Basis"). To assist OPA in determining which basis to use in your case, check the answers to the following questions:

1	Do you have available for the company or accounting division (used in Schedule II) a recent profit and loss statement of at least three months duration which reflects annual operating experience?	Yes ☐	No ☐
2	Were "Net Sales" in this statement at an annual rate in excess of 75% of "Net Sales" for the fiscal year ended nearest December 31, 1941? (See Schedule II.)	Yes ☐	No ☐
3	Were "Net Sales" in this statement at an annual rate in excess of 75% of "Net Sales" for the three immediately preceding months at an annual rate? (Show here net sales for this previous three-months period $ .....)	Yes ☐	No ☐
4	Were sales of major products by the company or accounting division used in Schedule II for the "recent" period (Column 3, Schedule I) in approximately the same proportions as you expect for the coming year? (Note: If answer is "Yes," and expected sales for this period are in different proportions from sales for 1941, explain fully on separate sheet why these proportions are expected to continue.)	Yes ☐	No ☐
5	Were sales made to different classes of purchasers by the company or accounting division (used in Schedule II) in the "recent period" in approximately the same proportions as you expect for the coming year? (Note: If answer is "Yes" and the expected proportion of sales to different classes of purchasers for this period varied considerably from the proportions of 1941, explain fully on a separate sheet why these changed proportions are expected to continue.)	Yes ☐	No ☐
6	Do your costs of production in the "recent accounting period" accurately reflect methods of production which you plan to use in the next year? Answer "No" for instance, if the amount of subcontracted work was higher than is anticipated for next year or if methods necessitated by war conditions were still being reflected in costs of production for the recent period.	Yes ☐	No ☐

If you have answered "No" to any of the above questions, proceed with Schedules III, and IV or V. If you have answered "Yes" to all questions you need not proceed beyond this point. In case of doubt, it will be best to fill in Schedules III, and IV or V.

SCHEDULE III—CHANGES IN PRICES OF DIRECT MATERIAL AND PURCHASED PARTS

The purpose of this Schedule is to determine a weighted average percentage increase from October 1, 1941, to November 27, 1945 in the prices paid for direct material and parts as purchased by you in the same quantity, from the same source(s), and under the same general terms of sale, for manufacture into the products produced by the company (or division of the company) whose operations are described in Schedule II. In determining the "Value of Materials Used" in Column (1) of the Schedule proceed as follows:

1. If a wide variety of products are produced, use the first available of the following which can be determined accurately:
   (a) The value of the materials actually used during the pre-war period of Column (1) in Schedule II.
   (b) The value of the materials purchased during the pre-war period.
   (c) An estimate of the materials used during the pre-war period.
2. If a comparatively small number of similar products are produced:
   (a) Select a representative product which uses the principal materials in amounts bearing a reasonable relation to the totals for the entire company (or division) and determine the "Value of Materials Used" from a bill of materials for this product.
   (b) If no one product fills the requirements of 2(a) you may select and add together the bills of materials of several products.

NOTE: If (2) is used, give name of product on which materials increase was based and indicate the volume of sales of that product in the pre-war period used in Schedule II.

FOOTNOTES FOR SCHEDULE III

A "Description of Material" may refer either to individual items or to groups of items where a wide variety of such items are purchased. In the case of individual items the "Description of Materials" should be specific and complete for each item setting forth the name of the material, form, size, etc., for raw materials, and the name and supplier's designation for component parts and subassemblies. Where a wide variety of items is referred to, give the group designation of products under the "Description" and show average prices in Columns (2) and (3) if such averages have significances. Otherwise make entries only in Columns (1) and (4). Wherever practical, the first method should be used. The grouping of items and averaging may be used only where the prices of the materials involved have not changed or changed only slightly, or constitute a homogeneous group such as gray iron castings (not all castings) or hot-rolled steel bars (not all steel).

B See introductory statement, above.

C Show the October 1941 price paid per unit of material or part. This should be the price recorded on the earliest dated invoice in October 1941 representing a normal-sized purchase from your principal customary supplier. If you have no invoice during that month, use the last preceding invoice dated earlier than October 1941.

D Report prices as of November 27, 1945. If the current price is in excess of the November 27, 1945 price, report such an increase on a separate sheet, but recognition of such increases are subject to Executive Orders 9599, 9651, such directives as are issued thereunder, and the applicable standards of OPA. The November 27, 1945 price should be the ceiling price of the material or part sold by the 1941 supplier in the same quantity and under the same general terms of sale for which the October 1941 price shown in Column (2) was reported. The ceiling price of an alternative supplier should be reported only where the 1941 supplier has gone completely out of the business of supplying that general type of material. Where this has occurred the ceiling price must be reported for a supplier of the same class and for the customary-sized purchase on which the October 1941 price was reported. Only where November 27, 1945 prices definitely cannot be determined may current ceiling prices be reported under the same conditions (stated above) as apply to the November 27, 1945 price. Indicate these current ceiling prices with an asterisk (*) and the date for which reported. OPA will make the necessary adjustment (if any).

E See Footnote D immediately above. Place a check mark (✓) opposite the name if it is not the base date supplier.

F "All Other" if possible, should not account for more than 25% of the total. Give an estimate of the percentage increase in the column provided for this purpose.

SCHEDULE IIIA—CHANGES IN PRICES OF INDIRECT MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Give estimate of average increase in legal prices of indirect materials and supplies, _____%. If estimated increase is more than 12% fill out schedule similar to Schedule III for indirect materials and supplies.

INTRODUCTION TO SCHEDULE IV AND V—CHANGES IN BASIC WAGE RATES

Fill in either Schedule IV or Schedule V. Schedule IV, however, should be used wherever possible. The use of Schedule V is limited to certain special conditions set forth below under the general instructions preceding the table of Schedule V. The Schedules, in general, are used to measure certain increases in your basic wage rates of factory employees from October 1, 1941 to November 27, 1945. This refers to increases in single rates, or in ranges of rates (measured from the mid-point of the old range to the mid-point of the new) for one or more job classifications, as distinguished from increases affecting single employees. If Schedule II is filled out for a division (or plant) of the company "factory employees" refers to all workers included in "direct labor" (Line 1 (b) (ii)). If Schedule II is filled out for the entire company "factory employees" included "indirect labor" as well as "direct labor." Ordinarily this should include, in addition to productive workers, the maintenance, supervisory and other indirect workers. Sales and administrative employees should not be included. The OPA will recognize any increases in wages or salaries approved by the appropriate stabilization agency on or before November 27, 1945.

NOTE: Report any increases since that time, but the recognition of such increases in the computation of adjusted cost shall be subject to the provisions of Executive Orders 9599, 9651, such directives as are issued thereunder by the Stabilization Director, and the applicable standards of OPA.

The following lists of recognized increases show types of increases which may be included and those which may not be included.

Types of increases which may be included

1. A plant-wide or any other general increase affecting a considerable portion of the positions in the plant which provides (a) a uniform change in cents per hour or per piece, (b) a uniform percentage change for all jobs covered by the action, or (c) a systematic list of differential increases among jobs.
2. Increases in cents per hour, or percent, to one or more job classification rates, rate changes, piece rates or incentive wage rates.
3. Changes in the structure of incentive plans which affect the amount that can be earned for the same quantity and quality of work as represented by the average worker affected as of the date the changes were made.
4. An action in which the War Labor Board awards have provided for internal readjustment of wage rates amounting to a specified average increase.
5. Increases to equalize job rates for women, or for other groups of persons with rates for work of equal quantity or quality already paid generally, but in no case shall the weight given such a change, exceed the proportion of the plant's employees in those groups previously paid at lower rates on the payroll period covering most of October 1-15, 1941.

Types of increases which will not be included

1. In-grade promotions or any change in wage for the individual as distinguished from a change in the rate for the job.
2. Changes in vacation policies, non-production bonuses, or pay for overtime.
3. Increases granted automatically for length of service at stated intervals or after given periods.
4. Increases in earnings because of greater worker productivity under an incentive plan.
5. Changes in piece rates resulting from drastic changes in products, unless there has been a specific bargaining agreement to increase earnings during the process of revision.
6. Higher shift differentials except for plants which have multiple shifts in the major part of the plant's operations in 1941.

SCHEDULE IV—CHANGES IN BASIC WAGE RATES (ANALYSIS OF WAGE ACTIONS)

This method should be used wherever possible. If you had established job classifications on October 1, 1941, you should be able to fill in A below completely. If no such job classifications were in effect on October 1, 1941, fill out the schedule for the period from October 2, 1941, to November 27, 1945, and data obtained from B will be used to measure the change from October 1, 1941, to October 2, 1942. B should be filled in completely in either case.

4	Average straight-time hourly earnings (Line 3÷Line 2).	$	$	$

FOOTNOTES FOR SCHEDULE IV

A An entry should be made for each separate occasion of a wage increase among the factory employees for the organization unit of the business reported in Schedule II. The change might involve only one job, or might include several job classifications, or even the whole of a department or plant. See NOTE above, under Introduction to Schedule IV and V.

B If an entry in this Column covers more than one job classification, rate or rate range receiving non-uniform increases, the amount reported should represent the weighted average of all the increases. The weighted average may be determined by multiplying the amount of each separate increase by the number of employees receiving the increase.

C Fill in this Column only in case the increase in Column (3) is stated in percent. Select a payroll period immediately preceding the date of the adjustment and determine the average hourly earnings during that period for the group of employees receiving the increase.

D This operation is for the purpose of converting any increases expressed in percentage in Column 2 into cents per hour.

E Compute the percentage of workers affected by dividing the number of employees to which the rate change applies by the total number of factory employees on the payroll at the time the change was effected.

F For each adjustment since October 2, 1942, the WLB Office approving such adjustment and the order number and date must be listed for each adjustment requiring specific WLB approval. For other adjustments, such as those made under WLB General Orders, indicate the type of authorization.

G Total earnings of employees at straight-time rates means earnings (1) before deductions for social security, withholding taxes, insurance, hospitalization dues, etc., (2) inclusive of regularly recurring bonus payments, such as production bonuses, and (3) exclusive of extra payments for overtime, and bonus payments that are not a part of regular earnings.

SCHEDULE V—CHANGES IN BASIC WAGE RATES (ANALYSIS OF OCCUPATIONAL WAGE RATES)

This alternative may be used only if the following conditions make it impossible to use Schedule IV:
(a) A continuous history of wage rate increases is lacking because of an extended company (or plant) shutdown after October 1941.
(b) The proportion of workers in the job classification receiving wage increases to total company (or division) employment varied substantially (except where uniform wage increases were granted to the job classifications affected).
If this Schedule is used instead of Schedule IV, indicate fully why Schedule IV could not be used.

[B] Give number of employees in each occupation or job classification for this same period.
[C] If there existed an established range of rates for the job during the period specified, list the minimum and maximum straight-time rates in the appropriate columns. Also see Note above, under Introduction to Schedule IV and V.
[D] If entries were made in the two previous columns, enter here the mid-point between these maximum and minimum rates. Otherwise enter the specific straight-time rate applicable to the job for the period specified.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING APPLICATION UNDER SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER NO. 142

Supplementary Order No. 142 provides a procedure by which manufacturers of products covered by the following regulations may apply for adjustment in the prices of such products:
Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136—Machines, Parts and Industrial Equipment (except automotive trucks, motorcycles, buses, and house and truck trailers).
Maximum Price Regulation 67—New Machine Tools.
Maximum Price Regulation 82—Wire and Cable.
Maximum Price Regulation 246—Manufacturers' and Wholesale Prices of Farm Equipment.
Maximum Price Regulation 331—Ferrous Forgings.
Maximum Price Regulation 525—Plastic Products.
Maximum Price Regulation 581—Industrial Services.
Your application for price adjustment under Supplementary Order No. 142 may be made on any one of four bases described in the table below. In each case the data which you must submit is dependent on whether or not you have had recent normal operating experience. The table indicates which one of three application forms should be used in each situation.

	Basis of adjustment	Extent of price adjustment which will be allowed (if any)	Application form to use: Where recent normal operating experience	Application form to use: Where no recent normal operating experience
1	Over-all profit and loss statement.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expense) plus a normal profit margin. An "increase factor" will be determined to apply to all the products of the company which are covered by the above regulations.	Use application Form I (OPA Form No. 6083-2644)
2	Profit and loss statement for a division (or plant) of the company for which separate accounting records are kept.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expense). An "increase factor" will be determined to apply to all the products of the Division (or plant) which are covered by the above regulations.
3	Unit cost data for representative items of a line (or group) of products.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total costs (including selling and administrative expense) for the representative items taken as a whole. The computed "increase factor" will be made to apply to all the items of the line, or group of products.	Use Application Form IIA (OPA Form 6083-2645). (These forms may be used only if you maintain unit costs which can be supported by your records).	Use Application Form IIB (OPA Form 6083-2646).
4	Unit cost data for individual items.	Prices will be increased sufficiently to cover allowable total manufacturing costs for each item. New prices are computed by the applicant to become effective 20 days after OPA acknowledges the docketing of the application (unless notification to the contrary is given by (OPA).

WHEN THIS FORM IIA IS TO BE USED

You may use this form if you are applying on the basis of either (3) or (4) above, maintain unit costs which can be supported by your records, and if you have available current cost data reflecting normal cost experience for the items, or line of products, for which price adjustment is desired. You are considered to have had normal operating experience for an item if all the following conditions are met: (a) sales for the last three months were at an annual rate in excess of 75% of sales for the year 1941, (b) sales for the last three months were in excess of 75% of sales for the immediately preceding three months' period, and (c) current costs reflect methods of production such as will be in use for the coming period. (You do not meet this test, for instance, if current costs reflect an abnormal amount of subcontracting work, or if the use of inefficient methods of production necessitated by war conditions, have not been eliminated.) To indicate your position in these respects fill in Schedule I below. The percentage comparisons are indicated in Lines (4) and (5) of Schedule I.

SCHEDULE I—SALES INFORMATION

In the following schedule allow one column to an item. If application is being made for a line (or group) of products, select representative items which accurately reflect the average cost-price relationship of the line or group (generally, the fastest selling items) and fill in the requested information for these items, including the two "Total Columns." The items selected should account for at least 25% of total sales of the line or group in 1941, but you need not submit data for more than eight items if these are truly representative. If you are not able to select a representative sample of items for the line, all of which meet the tests for recent normal operating experience (lines 4 and 5 below), obtain copy of Application Form IIB and fill out for other representative items which do not meet the tests for normal operating experience.

		Identify each item in the spaces below (Name, catalog number, etc.)				Total of columns 1, 2, 3, and 4	Total sales of entire line

3	Sales—year ended December 31, 1941
4	Line 1 ÷ line 2
5	Line 1÷line 3

[A] If your sales of these items are seasonal so that sales for the period are not truly representative, you may submit additional data to demonstrate that sales of the items are actually at a rate in excess of 75% of normal sales for the year 1941.

PART A—COMPUTATION OF NEW MAXIMUM PRICES FOR INDIVIDUAL ITEMS

SCHEDULE II—COMPUTATION OF AVERAGE DISCOUNT

The purpose of this schedule is to determine for the last three months' period the average discounts from list (or gross) prices for each item listed in Schedule I, when such items were sold to more than one class of purchaser. If sales to different classes of purchasers for this period are not representative of anticipated sales for the coming year, you may submit supplementary information relating to this for consideration by OPA.

SCHEDULE III—COMPUTATION OF NEW MAXIMUM PRICES

Fill in the following information for each item listed in Schedule I

		Columns refer to corresponding columns of Schedule I
		(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)

FOOTNOTES FOR SCHEDULE III

[A] If the current content of "direct labor" differs in any important respects from its content on the base date, make adjustments needed to express current and base date "direct labor" and "factory overhead" on the same basis and explain fully on a separate sheet.

[B] If you have granted any wage increases other than recognized increases as set forth below, list on a separate sheet such "unapproved" wage increases, the date on which granted, the extent of the increases, and the amount by which direct labor should be reduced so as to reflect its cost without the "unapproved" increases, and show how this amount was computed. The recognized increases include:

(1) wage increases approved by the appropriate wage and salary stabilization agency under Executive Orders 9599 and 9651.

(2) increases lawfully made or approved by the appropriate wage stabilization agency before August 18, 1945, and,

(3) increases made after August 18, 1945, under WLB General Order 30 relating to increases up to 55 cents per hour.

If you have granted only recognized increases, a statement to this effect should be made in your application.

[C] If the current method of allocating "factory overhead" is different in any important respects from the method used on the base date, make adjustments needed to express current and base date factory overhead on the same basis, and explain fully on a separate sheet.

[D] If application is for a line of products do not fill in this line.

NOTE.—If cost data in Part A above are for representative items of a line (or group) or products, fill in Part B below. If cost data in Part A are for individual items, you need not fill in Part B.

PART B—NEW MAXIMUM PRICES FOR A LINE (OR GROUP) OF PRODUCTS

SCHEDULE IV—ADDITIONAL DATA REQUIRED

If application is being made for "representative items" of a line, or group, of products, fill in the following schedule. In this case, OPA will determine the amount of price adjustment, if any, and notify you accordingly.

		(1)		(2)		(3)		(4)
		Base date	Current	Base date	Current	Base date	Current	Base date	Current
1	Selling, general and administrative expense for representative items (columns refer to corresponding columns of Schedule I).

	a Total net sales of division for period shown.
	b Total selling, general and administrative expense for division.

NOTE: If any expenditures classified as selling, general or administrative expense on the base date are now classified as factory overhead, or vice versa, explain fully.

I certify that the facts submitted in this application are true and correct.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING APPLICATION UNDER SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER NO. 142

Supplementary Order No. 142 provides a procedure by which manufacturers of products covered by the following regulations may obtain adjustment in the prices of such products:

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 136—Machines, Parts and Industrial Equipment (except automotive trucks, motorcycles, buses, and house and truck trailers).
Maximum Price Regulation 67—New Machine Tools.
Maximum Price Regulation 326—Used Machine Tools.
Maximum Price Regulation 351—Ferrous Forgings.
Maximum Price Regulation 523—Plastic Products.
Maximum Price Regulation 581—Industrial Services.

Your application for relief under Supplementary Order No. 142 may be made on any one of four bases (described in the order), but in all cases in which you must submit on whether or not you have had recent normal operating experiences. The table indicates which one of three application forms should be used in each situation.

	Application form to use
Basis of adjustment	Where recent normal operating experience	Where no recent normal operating experience
1 Over-all profit and loss statement.	Use application Form 1 (OPA Form No. 6083-2644)
2 Profit and loss statement for a division (or plant) of the company for which separate accounting records are kept.	Use Application Form 11A (OPA Form 6083-2645)	Use Application Form 111 (OPA Form 6083-2646)
3 Unit cost data for representative items of group) of products.
4 Unit cost data for individual items.

WHEN THIS FORM IS IS TO BE USED

You should use this form if you are applying on the basis of either (3) or (4) above, maintain unit costs which can be supported by your records, but do not have available current unit cost data reflecting normal cost experience for the items, or lines of products, for which price adjustment is desired. You are considered not to have normal operating experience for an item if any of the following conditions exist: (a) sales for the last three months were at an annual rate less than 75% of sales for your last full fiscal year, (b) sales for the last three months were at an annual rate more than 125% of sales for your last full fiscal year, (c) unit costs reflect abnormalities which will not exist in the coming year (such as an abnormal amount of subcontracting work, or the use of inefficient methods of production, necessitated by war conditions which have not as yet been eliminated). To indicate your position in these respects fill in Schedule I below. The percentage comparisons are indicated in Lines (4) and (5) of Schedule I.

SCHEDULE I—SALES INFORMATION

In the following schedule allow one line to an item. If application is being made for a line (or group) of products select representative items which accurately reflect the average cost-price relationship of the line or group (generally the fastest selling items) and fill in the requested information for these items, including the two "Total Columns." The items selected should account for at least 25% of total sales of the line or group in 1941, but you need not submit data for more than eight items if these are truly representative. In selecting a sample you may wish to include items which you have cost reflecting recent normal operating experience, as well as for those for which you do not have such experience.

[A] If your sales of these items are seasonal in nature so that sales for the period are not truly representative, may submit additional data to demonstrate that sales of the items are actually at a rate in excess of 75% of normal sales for the year 1941.

PART B—ALLOWABLE INCREASES IN COSTS

SCHEDULE IV—COMPUTATION OF PERCENTAGE INCREASES IN PRICES OF DIRECT MATERIALS

For the completion of Line 4a of Schedule III you must determine the percentage increase since the applicable base date in the covering regulation in the prices of materials, parts, and subassemblies as purchased by you in the same quantity, from the same sources(s) and under substantially the same terms of sale. Where several items are listed in Schedule I, separate percentages may be determined for each item if such items are quite dissimilar with respect to the materials used and the proportions in which they are used. Otherwise fill out the schedule on the basis of all the bills of materials of the items listed in Schedule I.

FOOTNOTES FOR SCHEDULE IV

[A] "Description of Material" may refer either to individual items or to groups of items where a wide variety of such items are used. In the case of individual items the "Description of Materials" should be specific and sufficient to identify the item setting forth the name of the material, form, size, etc., for raw materials, referred to, give the group designation for component parts and subassemblies. Where a wide variety of items are used, Columns (2) and (3) of such averages have been used, or changed only slightly, or constitute a homogeneous group such as gray iron castings (not all castings) or hot-rolled steel bars (not all steel).

[B] Indicate here the value of the material or part in the bill of materials, or if the schedule applies to several items, the total value of the materials involved in all the bills of materials combined.

[C] Report the price paid per unit of material or part. This should be the price recorded on the earliest dated invoice in October 1941 representing a normal-sized purchase from your principal supplier of such item. If you have no invoice during that month, use the last preceding invoice dated prior to October 1941.

[D] Report prices as of November 27, 1945. These prices are subject to Executive Orders 9599, 9651, such directives as are issued thereunder by the Stabilization Director, and the applicable standards of OPA. The November 27, 1945 price is the price for the same quantity and under substantially the same general terms of sale for which the October 1941 price shown in Column (2) was recorded. If you have received any price adjustment from your principal supplier of the material or part sold by the 1941 supplier in the same quantity and under substantially the same general terms of sale for which the October 1941 price shown in Column (2) was recorded, certify out of the lassuess of supplyame that general type should be reported only where the 1941 supplying price must be reported for a supplier of the same class and for the same type of material. Where this has been changed, the 1941 supplying price must be reported for a supplier of the same class and for the customary sales practices on which the October 1941 price was reported.

PART A—COMPUTATION OF NEW MAXIMUM PRICES

SCHEDULE II—COMPUTATION OF AVERAGE DISCOUNT

The purpose of this schedule is to determine for the year 1941 or some significant part thereof the average discounts from list (or gross) prices for each item listed in Schedule I, when such items were sold to more than one class of purchaser. If sales to different classes of purchasers for this period were not representative of anticipated sales for the coming year, you may submit supplementary information relating to this for consideration by OPA.

	Columns refer to corresponding columns of schedule I	(1) Gross sales	(1) Percent discount	(2) Gross sales	(2) Percent discount	(3) Gross sales	(3) Percent discount	(4) Gross sales	(4) Percent discount

SCHEDULE III—COMPUTATION OF NEW MAXIMUM PRICES

Fill in the following information for each item listed in Schedule I

	Columns refer to corresponding columns of Schedule I	(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)

4d	Total allowable factory cost (4a+4b+4e)
5	Computed new list price [line 4d÷(100% minus % figure of line 5, Schedule III)]

Additional data needed if you are requesting price increase for a line of products.

6	Base date general, administrative selling expense

[A] If different from list price on base date explain why on separate sheet. If you have received any price adjustments from OPA since the base date on products covered by this application, also give the OPA docket number(s) of the applications.

Only where November 27, 1945 prices definitely cannot be determined may current ceiling prices be reported under the same conditions (stated above) as apply to the November 27, 1945 price. Indicate these current ceiling prices with an asterisk (*) and the date for which reported. OPA will make the necessary adjustment (if any).

[E] "All Other" if possible, should not account for more than 25% of the total. Give an estimate of the percentage increase in the column provided for this purpose.

SCHEDULE V—COMPUTATION OF PERCENTAGE INCREASE IN BASIC WAGE RATE SCHEDULE

For the completion of Line 4b of Schedule III you must determine the percentage increase from the applicable base date of the covering regulation to November 27, 1945 in the basic wage rates of your direct factory workers employed in the division of your business in which the items given in Schedule I are produced. Two alternative methods are provided below for determining this percentage increase. Full instructions for selecting the proper one and filling out the form follow.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING OUT SCHEDULE V

Fill in either Schedule V (1) or V (2). Schedule V (1), however, should be used wherever possible. The use of Schedule V (2) is limited to certain special conditions set forth below under the instructions preceding the table of Schedule V (2). The Schedules, in general, are used to measure certain increases in your basic wage rates of factory employees since the applicable base date in the covering regulation. This refers to increases in single rates, or ranges of rates (measured from the mid-point of the old range to the mid-point of the new) for one or more job classifications as distinguished from increases affecting single employees. "Factory employees" refers to all the workers included in "direct labor" (Line 3b of Schedule III).

The OPA will recognize any increases in wages or salaries approved by the appropriate stabilization agency on or before November 27, 1945.

NOTE.—Report any increases since that time, but the recognition of such increases in the computation of adjusted costs shall be subject to the provisions of Executive Orders 9599, 9651, such directives as are issued thereunder by the Stabilization Director, and the applicable standards of OPA.

The following lists show types of recognized increases which may be included, and those which may not be included:

Types of changes which may be included

1. A plant-wide or any other general increase affecting a considerable portion of the positions in the plant which provides (a) a uniform change in cents per hour or per piece, (b) a uniform percentage change for all jobs covered by the action, or (c) a systematic list of differential increases among jobs.
2. Increases in cents per hour, or percent, to one or more job classification rates, rate ranges, piece rates or incentive wage rates.
3. Changes in the structure of incentive plans which affect the amount that can be earned for the same quality of work as represented by the average worker affected as of the date the changes were made.
4. An action in which the War Labor Board awards have provided for internal readjustment of wage rates amounting to a specified average increase.
5. Increases to equalize job rates for women, or for persons of certain races with rates for work of equal quantity or quality as already paid to men, or to persons of other races, but in no case shall the weight given such a change exceed the proportion of the plant's employees in those groups previously paid at lower rates in the payroll period immediately preceding the base date.

Types of changes which may not be included

1. In-grade promotions or any change in wage for the individual as distinguished from a change in the rate for the job.
2. Changes in vacation policies, non-production bonuses, or pay for overtime.
3. Increases granted automatically for length of service at stated intervals or after given periods.
4. Increases in earnings because of greater worker productivity under an incentive plan.
5. Changes in piece rates resulting from drastic changes in products, unless there has been a specific bargaining agreement to increase earnings during the process of revision.
6. Higher shift differentials except for plants which have multiple shifts in the major part of the plant's operations on the base date.

This alternative may be used only if the following conditions make it impossible to use Schedule V (1).
(a) A continuous history of wage rate increases is lacking because of an extended company (or plant) shutdown after October 1941.
(b) The proportion of workers in the job classification receiving wage increases to total company (or division) employment varied substantially (except where uniform wage increases were granted to the job classifications affected).

[1] FOOTNOTES FOR SCHEDULE V

[A] An entry should be made for each separate occasion of a wage increase among the factory employees for the division of the business in which the items are produced. The change might involve only one job, or might include several job classifications, or even the whole of a department or plant. See NOTE above, under General Instructions for Filling Out Schedule V.

[B] If an entry in this Column covers more than one job classification, rate or rate range receiving non-uniform increases, the amount reported should represent the weighted average of all the increase. The weighted average may be determined by multiplying the amount of each separate increase by the number of employees affected and dividing the sum of these products by the total number of employees receiving the increase.

[C] Fill in this Column only in case the increase in Column 3 is stated in percent. Select a payroll period immediately preceding the date of the adjustment and determine the average hourly earnings during that period for the group of employees receiving the increase.

[D] This operation is for the purpose of converting any increase expressed in percentage in Column 2 into cents per hour.

[E] Compute the percentage of workers affected by dividing the number of employees to which the rate change applies by the total number of factory employees on the payroll at the time the change was affected.

[F] For each adjustment since October 2, 1942, the WLB Office approving such adjustment and the order number and date must be listed for each adjustment requiring specific WLB approval. For other adjustments, such as those made under WLB General Orders, indicate the type of authorization.

[G] Total earnings of employees at straight-time rates means earnings (1) before deductions for Social Security, withholding taxes, insurance, hospitalization dues, etc., (2) inclusive of regularly recurring bonus payments, such as production bonuses, and (3) exclusive of extra payments for overtime, and bonus payments that are not a part of regular earnings.

[H] List the most important occupation or job classification of factory employees on payroll during last period prior to the applicable date of the regulation for the division producing the item. Account for at least 75% of the total employees.

[I] Give number of employees in each occupation or job classification for this same period.

[J] If there existed an established range of rates for the job during the period specified list the minimum and maximum time rates in the appropriate columns. Also see NOTE above, under General Instructions for Filling Out Schedule V.

[K] If entries were made in the two previous columns, enter here the mid-point between these maximum and minimum rates. Otherwise, enter the specific straight-time rate applicable to the job for the period specified.

I certify that the facts submitted in this application are true and correct.

PART 1389—APPAREL

[RMPR 330,[1] Amdt. 4]

RETAILERS' AND WHOLESALERS' PRICES FOR WOMEN'S, GIRLS', CHILDREN'S AND TODDLERS' OUTERWEAR GARMENTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 330 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Pricing garments which have been bought or sold at a "special sale." This section provides a method of establishing ceiling prices for garments which are being sold or have been sold at a "special sale."

(1) "Special sale" defined. A "special sale" is a sale outside the normal channel of distribution such as a sale by a wholesaler to another wholesaler or to a manufacturer, or a sale by a retailer to any person other than to an ultimate consumer or to an industrial or institutional user. "Special sale," however, does not include a sale by a wholesaler to a "peddler supplier." "Peddler" means a person who maintains no place of business of his own but carries on his business by personally contacting his customers and taking them to the establishment of his supplier from whom he purchases the garment after his customer has made a selection in the supplier's establishment. A "peddler supplier" is a person who sells garments exclusively to peddlers and who maintains a place of business at which customers of peddlers may select garments for purchase from the peddlers.

(2) Ceiling prices. In the case of a sale of a garment which is being sold or which has been sold at a special sale by a wholesaler, the ceiling price (except for a sale at retail) may not exceed the maximum price of the first purchaser from the manufacturer. In no case may a garment be sold at retail or otherwise at a price in excess of the maximum price of the first retailer to whom the garment was sold.

(3) Disclosure of "special sales." (i) In the case of a sale of a garment which is being sold or has been sold at a special sale by a wholesaler, the seller (except in a sale at retail) must place on the invoice or attach to it a statement in substantially the following form:

The following garments have been sold at a special sale under section 4 (d) of RMPR 330.

(Describe garments)

The ceiling price of the first purchaser of these garments from the manufacturer is $—— (dozen or unit as the case may be). OPA requires that if you make a sale of these garments (except a sale at retail) you must mark on your invoice or bill a statement in substantially the same form as this one.

Where the garment being sold at any time has been sold to a retailer this subdivision does not apply; subdivision (ii) sets forth the statement which must be used in such cases.

(ii) In the case of a garment which is being sold or has been sold at a special sale by a retailer, the seller (except in a sale at retail) must mark on the invoice or attach to it a statement in substantially the following form:

The following garments have been sold by a retailer at a special sale under section 4 (d) of RMPR 330:

(Describe garments)

The ceiling price of the first retailer who purchased these garments is $---- per unit. In no event may anyone resell these garments at a price exceeding the ceiling price of the first retailer. OPA requires that if you make a sale of these garments (other than a sale at retail) you must make on your invoice or bill a statement in substantially the same form as this one.

This amendment shall become effective March 25, 1946.

Issued this 19th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[MPR 580,[1] Amdt. 10]

RETAIL CEILING PRICES FOR CERTAIN APPAREL AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 580 is amended in the following respects:

1. Subdivision (iii) of section 7 (f) (1) is amended by adding thereto the following: "If, however, in pricing a non-furniture category your group average is over 101 or if, in pricing a furniture category your group average is over 127, you find your percentage markup over cost by multiplying your group average by the multiplier listed for that category in Appendix G.

Example: If you are a house to house seller and have a "group average" of 150 for your categories in the group 101 to 607, inclusive, and you now wish to sell handbags (category 218) which you find you must price under this rule, you determine your markup over net cost as follows: refer to the multiplier opposite category 218 in Appendix G. There you will find the figure 1.045. This means that your markup on cost for handbags is 156.8 (150×1.045=153.75).

2. Section 25 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 25. Delegation of authority. Any Regional office of the OPA, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate Regional office, may act on all: (a) base date pricing charts and amendments thereto filed or required by sections 2 and 6, respectively; (b) authorizations, revisions and modifications of authorizations under section 10 and all reports and applications filed pursuant to that section; and (c) applications by mail order establishments under section 15 (i) (2).

3. In Appendix E following the words "over 98" appearing in the right column headings of Groups I and III add the words: "including 101."

4. In Appendix E after the words "over 125" appearing in the right column heading of Group II add the words: "including 127."

5. In Appendix E in the ninth column opposite category 504 under the column heading "over 56, including 59" change "46.9" to "56.9."

6. Appendix G is added as follows:

Section 53 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 373 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Maximum prices for sales at wholesale. The maximum prices for sales at wholesale of finished piece goods shall be:

(1) Where the sale is by a wholesaler or jobber who has purchased the finished piece goods from a mainland converter, the maximum price shall be an amount equal to the sum of the invoice price, less all discounts and allowances except discounts for prompt payment up to 2%, and the "landing costs" (as defined in paragraphs (f) and (g)), multiplied by 1.22; Provided, That:

(i) The wholesaler or jobber carries such finish piece goods in stock, and

(ii) The particular finished piece goods are to be sold out of stock, and

(iii) The particular finished piece goods are invoiced and shipped directly from the establishment of the converter to the establishment of the wholesaler or jobber.

(2) Where the sale is by a wholesaler or jobber of finished piece goods purchased from a mainland converter which is not sold out of stock and which were not shipped directly from the establishment of the converter to the establishment of the wholesaler or jobber, the maximum price shall be an amount equal to the sum of the invoice price, less all discounts and allowances except discounts for prompt payment up to 2%, multiplied by 1.12.

(3) Where the sale is by a wholesaler or jobber who has purchased the finished piece goods from another local wholesaler or jobber, except as provided in subparagraph (5) below, the maximum price shall be the same as the maximum price of the local wholesaler or jobber from whom he purchased the goods, as computed under subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph (b).

(4) Where the sale is by a wholesaler or jobber who has purchased the finished piece goods from a mainland wholesaler or jobber, except as provided in subparagraph (5) below, the maximum price shall be an amount equal to the sum of the invoice price, less all discounts and allowances except discounts for prompt payment up to 2%, and the "landing costs" (as defined in paragraphs (f) and (g)), except in the case of woolen or worsted fabrics sold to custom tailors. In such case the maximum price shall be determined by the pricing formula provided in subparagraph (1) above.

(5) Sales by local sub-jobbers. (i) The maximum price for sales by a local sub-jobber of finished piece goods to a retail establishment shall be:

(a) Where the sale is by a sub-jobber who purchased the finished piece goods from a mainland converter-jobber, wholesaler, or jobber, the maximum price shall be computed by multiplying the converter-jobber's, wholesaler's or jobber's maximum selling price, less all discounts and allowances except discounts for prompt payment up to 3%, by 1.25.

(b) Where the sale is by a sub-jobber who purchased the finished piece goods from a local converter-jobber, wholesaler, or jobber, the maximum price shall be computed by multiplying the converter-jobber's, wholesaler's or jobber's maximum wholesale price by 1.18.

(ii) Any sub-jobber who wishes to establish maximum prices in accordance with this paragraph must file with the Office of Price Administration, Hawaii Territorial Office, Honolulu, T. H., an application for permission to do so. Such application must show that the applicant has been regularly engaged in performing the function of a sub-jobber during the year 1943 and must also show the estimated percentage of sub-jobbing business done in relation to the total sales during the years 1942 and 1943. No seller may compute his maximum prices under this section until he has received written permission to do so from the Office of Price Administration.

(6) Inability to determine maximum prices. Any seller who is unable to determine his maximum wholesale price for finished piece goods under this paragraph (b) must apply the provisions of section 10 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 373 to determine such maximum prices.

Chapter XVIII—Office of Economic Stabilization

[Directive 87, Amdt. 2]

IMPORTS OF GREEN COFFEE

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Order 9250 of October 3, 1942 (7 F.R. 7871), Executive Order 9328 of April 8, 1943 (8 F.R. 4681), Executive Order 9599 of August 18, 1945 (10 F.R. 10155), Executive Order 9651 of October 30, 1945 (10 F.R. 13487), Executive Order 9697 of February 14, 1946 (11 F.R. 1691), and Executive Order 9699 of February 21, 1946 (11 F.R. 1929), It is hereby ordered:

Directive 87 is amended to read as follows:

1. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized and directed to establish and carry out the following subsidy program with respect to imports of green coffee:

(a) The amount of the subsidy shall be 3 cents per pound (net shipping weight basis) of green coffee imported in accordance with the eligibility provisions of this directive.

(b) In no event shall any subsidy payment be made on any green coffee imported in excess of 13,500,000 bags of 60 kilograms each.

(c) The Secretary of Agriculture shall establish a quota for each importer, based upon an aggregate quantity of 13,000,000 bags, proportionate to the importer's allocation as established under War Food Order No. 63, and shall certify these quotas to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(d) The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized, in accordance with standards to be prescribed by him, to establish and certify to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation additional import quotas whenever in his judgment such action is necessary to insure that roasters of coffee who were not in business in 1941, or whose operations have been expanded since 1941 in order to supply military requirements, or whose 1941 operations were not representative because of unusual circumstances, will not suffer hardship through failure to receive an equitable share of the green coffee imported pursuant to this program: Provided, That the aggregate quantity of green coffee covered by such additional import quotas shall not exceed 500,000 bags of 60 kilograms each.

(e) Subsidy payments shall be made to importers who show, with respect to the coffee on which the subsidy is claimed, that:

(i) The coffee has been imported in accordance with the importer's quota as established pursuant to paragraph 1 (c) or 1 (d) of this directive;

(ii) The importer has paid no more than the maximum price at which green coffee may be imported under the provisions of Revised Price Schedule No. 50, issued by the Office of Price Administration, as amended in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of this directive;

(iii) The coffee was purchased and loaded on board an exporting carrier after November 18, 1945;

(iv) The coffee has been landed in the United States not later than June 30, 1946;

(v) The coffee has been imported into the United States for domestic civilian consumption, and

(vi) The importer agrees to the conditions set forth in paragraph 1 (f) of this directive.

(f) The Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall require that each importer, as a condition of obtaining any subsidy payment under this program, agree:

(i) That he will not hold any inventory of green coffee in the United States in excess of a reasonable amount as defined by the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with section 3 (b) of this directive;

(ii) That the coffee on which the subsidy is claimed will be sold by him only for domestic civilian consumption in the United States;

(iii) That, in the event of an increase in maximum prices for coffee upon the termination of this subsidy program, he will refund to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the equivalent of such price increase (not to exceed 3 cents per pound, green basis) on all coffee which he then has in inventory on which the subsidy has been paid. For the purposes of this paragraph, the subsidy will be deemed to have been paid on all coffee which the importer has in inventory in the United States upon the termination of this program, not to exceed the quantity on which he has received subsidy payments.

(g) This directive may be amended to provide for further restrictions on, or prohibition of, the exportation of coffee in any form, in order to effectuate the purposes for which this program is established.

(h) If the Price Administrator determines that any claimant of subsidy payments has, during the period covered by this program, wilfully violated any provision of Revised Price Schedule No. 50, he shall certify that fact to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall withhold all subsidy payments to which the claimant would otherwise be entitled under this program.

2. The Price Administrator is authorized and directed to continue the provision that coffee imported in accordance with the conditions prescribed in this directive with respect to eligibility for subsidy payments may be imported at prices 3 cents per pound higher than the maximum prices which were in effect prior to November 18, 1945.

3. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed:

(a) To suspend War Food Order No. 63 with respect to coffee until July 1, 1946;

(b) To determine what constitutes a reasonable inventory of green coffee and to issue an order limiting all inventories accordingly; and

(c) To issue an order providing for the equitable distribution of green coffee by importers participating in this subsidy program.

4. Until July 1, 1946, any importer purchasing green coffee for importation shall, within 15 days of the date of purchase, report the terms of purchase to the Department of Agriculture on a form to be supplied by that Department.

Issued and effective this 19th day of March 1946.

Director.

(b) Area 1A shall include all convention waters southeast of a line running northeast and southwest through Cape Blanco Light, as shown on Chart 5952, published in February, 1935, by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, which light is approximately latitude 42°50'14" N., longitude 124°33'45" W.

(c) Area 1B shall include all convention waters between Area 1A and a line running northeast and southwest through Willapa Bay Light on Cape Shoalwater, as shown on Chart 6185, published in July, 1939, by the United States Coast and Geogetic Survey, which light is approximately in latitude 46°43' 17'' N., longitude 124°04'15'' W.

(d) Area 2 shall include all convention waters off the coasts of the United States of America and of Alaska and of the Dominion of Canada between Area 1B and a line running through the most westerly point of Glacier Bay, Alaska, to Cape Spencer Light as shown on Chart 8304, published in June, 1940, by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, which light is approximately latitude 58°11'57'' N., longitude 136°38'18'' W., thence south one-quarter east and is exclusive of the areas closed to all halibut fishing in § 301.9.

(e) Area 3 shall include all the convention waters off the coast of Alaska that are between Area 2 and a straight line running south from the southwestern extremity of Cape Sagak on Umnak Island, at a point approximately latitude 52°49'30'' N., longitude 169°07'00'' W., according to Chart 8802, published in January, 1942, by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, and that are south of the Alaska Peninsula and of the Aleutian Islands and shall also include the intervening straits or passes of the Aleutian Islands.

(f) Area 4 shall include all convention waters which are not included in Areas 1A, 1B, 2, and 3, and in those areas defined in § 301.9.

§ 301.2 Limit of catch in each area. (a) The catch of halibut to be taken during the halibut fishing season of the year 1946 from Area 2 shall be limited to approximately 24,500,000 pounds of salable halibut, and from Area 3 to approximately 28,000,000 pounds of salable halibut, the weights in each or any such limit to be computed as with heads off and entrails removed.

(b) The catch of halibut to be taken from each area during the halibut fishing season of the year 1946 shall also be limited to halibut which with the head on are 26 inches or more in length as measured from the tip of the lower jaw to the extreme end of the middle of the tail or to halibut which with the head off and entrails removed are 5 pounds or more in weight, and the possession of any halibut of less than the above length or the above weight, according to whether the head is on or off, by any vessel or by any master or operator of any vessel or by any person, firm or corporation, is probihited.

(c) The International Fisheries Commission shall as early in the said year as is practicable determine the date on which it deems each limit of catch defined in paragraph (a) of this section will be attained, and the limit of each such catch shall then be that which shall be taken prior to said date, and fishing for or catching of halibut in the area or areas to which such limit applies shall at that date be prohibited until after the end of the closed season as defined and modified in § 301.3, except as provided in § 301.5 and in Article I of the Convention, and provided that if it shall at any time become evident to the International Fisheries Commission that the limit will not be reached by such date, it may substitute another date.

§ 301.3 Length of closed season. (a) Under the authority of Article I of the aforesaid Convention the closed season as therein defined shall be modified so as to end at 12 midnight of the 30th day of April of the year 1946 and of each year thereafter and shall begin at 12 midnight of the 30th day of November of each year unless an earlier date is determined upon for any area under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Under authority of Article I of the Convention, the closed season as therein defined shall begin in each area on the date on which the limit is reached as provided in paragraph (c) of § 301.2 and the closing of such area or areas shall be taken to have been duly approved unless before the said date either the President of the United States of America or the Governor General of Canada shall have signified his disapproval (the burden of proving any such signification being upon the person alleging it) and provided that the closing date of Area 2 or of Area 3, whichever shall be later, shall apply to Areas 1A and 4, and that the closing date of Area 2 shall apply to Area 1B.

(c) Nothing contained in these regulations shall prohibit the fishing for species of fish other than halibut or prohibit the International Fisheries Commission from conducting fishing operations as provided for in Article I of the Convention.

§ 301.4 Issuance of licenses and conditions limiting their validity. (a) All vessels of any tonnage which shall fish for halibut in any manner or hold halibut in possession in any area, or which shall transport halibut otherwise than as a common carrier documented by the Government of the United States or of Canada for the carriage of freight, must be licensed by the International Fisheries Commission: Provided, That vessels of less than five net tons or vessels which do not use set lines need not be licensed unless they shall require a permit as provided in § 301.5.

(b) Each vessel licensed by the International Fisheries Commission shall carry on board at all times while at sea the halibut license thus secured whether it is validated for halibut fishing or endorsed with a permit as provided in § 30.16 and this license shall at all times be subject to inspection by authorized officers of either of said Governments or by representatives of the International Fisheries Commission.

(c) The halibut license shall be issued without fee by the customs officers of either of said Governments or by representatives of the International Fisheries Commission. A new license may be issued by the officer accepting statistical return at any time to vessels which have furnished proof of loss of the license form previously issued, or when there shall be no further space for record thereon, providing the receipt of statistical return shall be shown on the new form for any halibut or other species taken during or after the voyage upon which loss occurred. The old license form shall be forwarded in each case to the International Fisheries Commission.

(d) The halibut license of any vessel shall be validated before departure from port for each halibut fishing operation for which statistical returns are required. This validation of a license shall be by customs officers or by fishery officers of either of said Governments when available at places where there are no customs officers and shall not be made unless the area in which the vessel will fish is entered on the license form and unless the provisions of § 301.7 have been complied with for all landings and all fishing operations since issue of the license: Provided, That if the master or operator of any vessel shall fail to comply with the provisions of § 301.7, the halibut license of such vessel may be validated by customs officers upon evidence either that there has been a judicial determination of the offense or that the laws prescribing penalties therefor have been complied with, or that the said master or operator is no longer responsible for, nor sharing in, the operations of said vessel.

(e) The halibut license of any vessel fishing for halibut in Area 1A as defined in § 301.1 after the closure of Areas 1B and 2 must be validated at a port or place within Area 1A prior to each such fishing operation.

(f) No halibut license shall be validated for departure for halibut fishing in Areas 1A or 1B or 2 more than three days, and in Areas 3 or 4 more than five days before the end of the closed season as defined in § 301.3 (a).

(g) No halibut license shall be valid for halibut fishing in more than one area, as defined in § 301.1, during any one trip nor shall it be revalidated for halibut fishing in another such area while the vessel has any halibut on board.

(h) The halibut license shall not be valid for halibut fishing in any area closed to halibut fishing or for the possession of halibut in any area closed to halibut fishing except while in actual transit to or within a port of sale.

(i) The halibut license shall not be valid for halibut fishing in any area while a permit endorsed thereon is in effect, nor shall it be validated while halibut taken under such permit is on board.

(j) The halibut license of any vessel shall not be valid for the possession of any halibut in any area other than that for which validated, if such vessel is in possession of baited gear, except in those waters included within a twenty-five mile radius of Cape Spencer Light, Alaska.

§ 301.5 Retention of halibut taken with other fish under permit. (a) There may be retained for sale on any vessel which shall have a permit as provided in § 301.6 such halibut as is caught incidentally to fishing by that vessel in any area that is closed to halibut fishing under § 301.2 with set lines (of the type commonly used in the Pacific coast halibut fishery) for other species, not to exceed at any time one pound of halibut for each seven pounds of salable fish, actually utilized, of other species not including salmon or tuna, and such halibut may be sold as the catch of said vessel, the weight of all fish to be computed as with heads off and entrails removed: Provided, That it shall not be a violation of §§ 301.1 to 301.14, inclusive, for any such vessel to have in possession halibut in addition to the amount herein allowed to be sold if such additional halibut shall not exceed thirty per cent of such amount and shall be forfeited and surrendered at the time of landing as provided in paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) The catch of halibut taken and retained under such permit shall be limited to halibut which with the head on are 26 inches or more in length as measured from the tip of the lower jaw to the extreme end of the middle of the tail or to halibut which with the head off and entrails removed are 5 pounds or more in weight and the possession of any halibut of less than the above length or the above weight, according to whether the head is on or off, by any vessel or by any master or operator of any vessel or by any person, firm or corporation, is prohibited.

(c) Halibut retained under such permit shall not be landed or otherwise removed or be received by any person, firm or corporation from the catching vessel until all halibut on board shall have been reported to a customs, fishery or other authorized enforcement officer of either of said Governments by the captain or operator of said vessel and also by the person, firm or corporation receiving the halibut and no halibut or other fish shall be landed or removed or be received from the catching vessel except with the permission of said officer and under such supervision as the said officer may deem advisable.

(d) Halibut retained under such permit shall not be purchased or held in possession by any person other than the master, operator or crew of the catching vessel in excess of the proportion allowed in paragraph (a) of this section until such excess whatever its origin shall have been forfeited and surrendered to the customs, fishery or other authorized officers of either of said Governments. In forfeiting such excess, the vessel shall be permited to surrender any part of its catch of halibut, provided that the amount retained shall not exceed the proportion herein allowed.

(e) Permits for the retention and landing of halibut in the year 1946 shall become invalid at 12 midnight of the 15th day of November of said year or at such earlier date as the International Fisheries Commission shall determine.

§ 301.6 Issuance of permits and conditions limiting their validity. (a) Any vessel which shall be used in fishing for other species than halibut in any area closed to halibut fishing under § 301.2 must have a halibut license and a permit if it shall retain, land or sell any halibut caught incidentally to such fishing or possess any halibut of any origin during such fishing, as provided in § 301.5.

(b) The permit shall be shown by endorsement of the issuing officer on the face of the halibut license form held by said vessel and shall show the area for which the permit is issued.

(c) The permit shall terminate at the time of first landing thereafter of fish of any species and a new permit shall be secured before any subsequent fishing operation for which a permit is required.

(d) A permit shall not be issued to any vessel which shall have halibut on board taken while said vessel was licensed to fish in an open area unless such halibut shall be considered as taken under the issued permit and as thereby subject to forfeiture when landed if in excess of the proportion permitted in paragraph (a) of § 301.5.

(e) A permit shall not be issued to, or be valid if held by, any vessel which shall fish with other than set lines of the type commonly used in the Pacific coast halibut fishery.

(f) The permit of any vessel shall not be valid unless the permit is granted before departure from port for each fishing operation for which statistical returns are required. This granting of a permit shall be by customs officers or by fishery officers of either of said Governments when available at places where there are no customs officers and shall not be made unless the area in which the vessel will fish is entered on the halibut license form and unless the provisions of § 301.7 have been complied with for all landings and all fishing operations since issue of the license or permit: Provided, That if the master or operator of any vessel shall fail to comply with the provisions of § 301.7, the permit of such vessel may be granted by customs officers upon evidence either that there has been a judicial determination of the offense or that the laws prescribing penalties therefor have been complied with, or that the said master or operator is no longer responsible for, nor sharing in, the operations of said vessel.

(g) The permit of any vessel shall not be valid if said vessel shall have in its possession at any time halibut in excess of the amount allowed under paragraph (a) of § 301.5.

§ 301.7 Statistical return by vessels. (a) Statistical return as to the amount of halibut taken during fishing operations must be made by the master or operator of any vessel licensed under these regulations and as to the amount of halibut and other species by the master or operator of any vessel operating under permit as provided for in §§ 301.5 and 301.6, within 48 hours of landing, sale or transfer of halibut or of first entry thereafter into a port where there is an officer authorized to receive such return.

(b) The statistical return must state the port of landing and in the amount of each species taken within the area defined in these regulations, for which the vessel's license is validated.

(c) The statistical return must include all halibut landed or transferred to other vessels and all halibut held in possession on board and must be full, true and correct in all respects herein required. A copy of such return must be forwarded to the International Fisheries Commission at such times as the latter shall require.

(d) The master or operator and/or any person engaged on shares in the operation of any vessel licensed or holding a permit under these regulations may be required by the International Fisheries Commission or by any officer of either of said Governments authorized to receive such return to certify to its correctness to the best of his information and belief and to support the certificate by a sworn statement. Validation of a halibut license or issuance of a permit after such sworn return is made shall be provisional and shall not render the license or permit valid in case the return shall later be shown to be false or fraudulently made.

(e) The master or operator of any vessel holding a license or permit under these regulations shall keep an accurate log of all fishing operations including therein date, locality, amount of gear used, and the amount of halibut taken daily in each such locality. This log record shall be open to inspection of representatives of the International Fisheries Commission authorized for this purpose.

(f) The master, operator and/or any other person engaged on shares in the operation of any vessel licensed under these regulations may be required by the International Fisheries Commission or by any officer of either of said Governments to certify to the correctness of such log record to the best of his information and belief and to support the certificate by a sworn statement.

§ 301.8 Statistical return by dealers. (a) All persons, firms or corporations that shall buy halibut or receive halibut for any purpose from fishing or transporting vessels or other carrier shall keep and on request furnish to customs officers or to any enforcing officer of either of said Governments or to representatives of the International Fisheries Commission, records of each purchase or receipt of halibut, showing date, locality, name of vessel, person, firm or corporation purchased or received from and the amount in pounds according to trade categories of the halibut and other species landed with the halibut.

(b) All persons, firms or corporations receiving fish from a vessel fishing under permit as provided in § 301.5 shall within 48 hours make to an authorized enforcing officer of either of said Governments a signed statistical return showing the date, locality, name of vessel received from and the amount of halibut and of other species landed with the halibut and certifying that permission to receive such fish was secured in accordance with paragraph (c) of § 301.5. Such persons, firms, or corporations may be required by any officer of either of said Governments to support the accuracy of the above signed statistical return with a sworn statement.

(c) All records of all persons, firms or corporations concerning the landing, purchase, receipt and sale of halibut and other species landed therewith shall be open at all times to inspection of any enforcement officer of either of said Governments or of any authorized representative of the International Fisheries Commission. Such persons, firms or corporations may be required to certify to the correctness of such records and to support the certificate by a sworn statement.

(d) The possession by any person, firm or corporation of halibut which such person, firm or corporation knows to have been taken by a vessel without a valid halibut license or a vessel without a permit when such license or permit is required, is prohibited.

§ 201.9 Closed small halibut grounds. (a) The following areas have been found to be populated by small, immature halibut and are hereby closed to all halibut fishing and the possession of halibut of any origin is prohibited therein during fishing for other species.

[Rev. SO 119, Order 118]

CRANE AND MACMAHON INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturer's ceiling prices. Crane and MacMahon, Incorporated, St. Mary's, Ohio, may compute its adjusted ceiling prices for all articles of wood bedroom furniture which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted ceiling price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 37.9 per cent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established ceiling price, in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the article's properly established ceiling price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted ceiling price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted ceiling price fixed in accordance with this order is his new ceiling price if it is higher than his previously established ceiling price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Reseller's ceiling prices. Resellers of an article which the manufacturer has sold at an adjusted ceiling price determined under this order shall determine their maximum price as follows:

(1) A retailer who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 580 by the use of a pricing chart, and a wholesaler who must determine his ceiling price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 590 shall compute their ceiling prices in the manner provided by those regulations. However, if the supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, the reseller shall compute his ceiling prices as they have been modified by Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(2) A reseller who determines his maximum resale price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, and whose supplier's invoice states both an "unadjusted maximum price" and a selling price, shall compute his ceiling prices under the regulation as modified by Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

If his supplier's invoice does not state an "unadjusted maximum price" the reseller shall calculate his ceiling price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established ceiling price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as amended remains in effect. If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Ceiling prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, and allowances on sales to each class of purchaser in effect during March 1942, or thereafter properly established under OPA regulation.

(d) Invoices to purchasers for resale. Any person making a sale of an article covered by this order to a purchaser for resale at a maximum price adjusted under this order must furnish such purchaser with an invoice containing the information required by section 14 of Order No. 4800 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(e) All requests for adjustment of maximum prices not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(f) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(g) This order shall become effective on March 20, 1946.

Issued this 19th day of March 1946.

Acting Administrator.

TRANSPORTATION SERVICES BY WATER IN NEW YORK HAREOR

MAXIMUM RATES

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, sections 18 (c) and (e) and 19 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, section 16 (a) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165, and § 1499.46 (c) of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 11, it is ordered:

(a) Maximum rates for transportation and tug boat services by water in New York Harbor. The maximum rates for any transportation by water or towing services performed within New York Harbor, shall be the rate lawfully in effect on March 24, 1944, or as subsequently increased pursuant to a proper thirty-day notice filed under Procedural Regulation No. 11, or to an order of the OPA adjusting these rates.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other order or regulation, no increases in the maximum rates prescribed by paragraph (a) may be made by the giving of a thirty-day notice during the period this order is in effect. However, any person or group of persons performing services subject to this order may petition the Administrator for an increase in the maximum rates applicable to all or any such services. Such petition shall be in writing and shall furnish the same information as is required by § 1499.75 (a) (3) of Supplementary Regulation 15 in cases in which a contract carrier seeks an adjustment of its maximum rates, together with any other facts upon which petitioners may rely to justify the increase. After investigation, the Administrator shall by order either deny the petition or authorize the proposed increase or such lesser increase as he may find to be consistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended, and of the national stabilization policy, including Executive Orders 9599 and 9697.

(c) The maximum rates for services performed by any person not acting as a common carrier shall remain subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation or Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165, depending on the type of service, and adjustment of those rates shall be made pursuant to § 1499.75 (a) (3) of Supplementary Regulation No. 15, or Section 16 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 165. Orders issued pursuant to paragraph (b) may, however, adjust or modify the maximum rates of carriers referred to in this paragraph.

(d) If necessary to promote distribution or production, and if not inimical to the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended, an adjustable pricing order may be issued pursuant to this order, granting authority to deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with maximum prices established by OPA after the delivery.

(e) This order shall not apply to services subject to the direct jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission and for which maximum rates have been established or otherwise regulated by that Commission.

This order shall become effective March 19, 1946.

NY PA NJ UTILITIES CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING AND CONSOLIDATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 18th day of March 1946.

In the matters of NY PA NJ Utilities Company, Metropolitan Edison Company, File No. 70-1246; National Power & Light Company, Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, File No. 54-128.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by NY PA NJ Utilities Company, a registered holding company, and Metropolitan Edison Company (Met Ed), a subsidiary thereof;

Notice is further given that a joint application-declaration has also been filed by National Power & Light Company (National), a registered holding company, and Pennsylvania Power & Light Company (Pennsylvania), a subsidiary thereof.

All interested persons are referred to such documents which are on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

Met Ed proposes to purchase and Pennsylvania proposes to sell all of the outstanding capital stock of Edison Illuminating Company (Edison), consisting of 12,317 shares of the par value of $25 per share, and capital stock scrip, for a consideration of $298,179 plus a sum equal to the net assets of Edison at the date of closing. Edison owns certain electric utility assets used to supply light, heat and power in the City of Easton, Pennsylvania. Met Ed also owns certain electric utility assets used to supply light, heat and power in the City of Easton and at present is in possession of, and is operating, the property of Edison under a long-term lease expiring February 1, 1999, under which Met Ed pays to Edison an annual rental of $29,244.67. Met Ed, in due course, plans to merge Edison into itself. Such merger, however, is not part of the presently proposed transactions.

By order dated October 26, 1945, this Commission approved the acquisition by Pennsylvania from National of the capital stock of Edison subject to the condition that Pennsylvania make some appropriate disposition of the Edison stock within a period of one year from the date of such order. Pennsylvania states that the proposed transaction is in compliance with such condition.

It appearing to the Commisison that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held in respect of such matters and that said declaration shall not become effective nor said applications be granted except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and

It further appearing that all of the foregoing matters are related and involve common questions of law and fact, and that evidence offered in respect of each of such matters may have a bearing on the others, and that substantial savings of time, effort, and expense will result if the hearings in said matters are consolidated;

It is hereby ordered, That the proceedings in respect of the foregoing matters be consolidated for hearing and that a hearing in such consolidated proceedings under the applicable provisions of said act and the rules of the Commission promulgated thereunder be held on March 28, 1946 at 10:30 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, at which time the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. At such hearing cause shall be shown why such declaration and applications shall become effective or shall be granted. Any person desiring to be heard in such proceedings shall file with the Commission on or before March 25, 1946, his request therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing in such matters. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said declaration and applications otherwise to be considered in this proceeding, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposed sale by Pennsylvania and the acquisition by Met Ed of the capital stock of Edison satisfies the applicable standards of sections 10 and 12 (d) of the act;

2. Whether in particular the proposed consideration for the capital stock of Edison is fair and reasonable;

3. Whether the proposed sale by Pennsylvania of the capital stock of Edison is an appropriate disposition of such stock in compliance with the order of the Commission dated October 26, 1945;

4. The propriety of the accounting treatment to reflect the proposed transactions on the books of the declarants-applicants;

5. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors or consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and of the rules thereunder, or, if not, whether and what modifications or terms and conditions should be required or imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That notice of such hearing be given to declarants and applicants, and to all other interested persons; said notice to be given to declarants and applicants by registered mail, and to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to persons on the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions, or matters included in these proceedings, or to consolidate with these proceedings other filings or matters pertaining thereto, or to take such other action as may appear necessary to an orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the issues and matters involved.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 19th day of March, A. D. 1946.

In the matter of The Potomac Edison Company, Northern Virginia Power Company, Page Power Company, Madison Power Company, Massanutten Power Corporation, File No. 70-1249.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by The Potomac Edison Company ("Potomac"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., and West Penn Electric Company, also registered holding companies, and by four direct subsidiaries of Potomac, namely, Northern Virginia Power Company ("Northern Virginia"), Page Power Company ("Page"), Madison Power Company ("Madison") and Massanutten Power Corporation ("Massanutten").

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than the 28th day of March 1946, at 5:30 p. m., e.s.t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon; at any time thereafter such joint application-declaration as filed, or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

Potomac, presently the owner of all of the outstanding capital stock of Page, Madison and Massanutten, which securities were purchased by Potomac for an aggregate cost of $1,956,077.97 in cash pursuant to appropriate authorizations of this Commission, proposes to transfer to Northern Virginia all of said capital stocks in exchange for 19,560 shares of common stock, par value $100 per share, of Northern Virginia plus or minus, as the case may be, $1,000 par value of such stock for each full $1,000 of the net amount of certain adjustments to be made on the basis of the excess of Potomac's cost of the stocks of said companies over the aggregate par value of the common stock of Northern Virginia to be received by Potomac and on the basis of net changes in utility plant and current asset accounts of the three companies being transferred between September 1, 1945, and the date of acquisition of said stocks by Northern Virginia (any adjustment amounting to less than $1,000 to be discharged by a cash payment).

At the present time, the capital stocks of Page, Madison and Massanutten are pledged under the indenture and first supplemental indenture of Potomac, securing its First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds. Potomac proposes to pledge the common stock of Northern Virginia and any cash to be received from the sale of the stocks of Page, Madison and Massanutten with the indenture trustee in exchange for the release of these shares of capital stock. Potomac also proposes to purchase 6,810 additional shares of common stock of Northern Virginia for $681,000 in cash and to pledge such shares with Potomac's bond indenture trustee.

Northern Virginia presently has outstanding indebtedness payable on demand to Potomac in the aggregate amount of $681,774.46 (consisting of a promissory note in the face amount of $291,373.91 and open account indebtedness amounting to $390,400.55) which indebtedness is now pledged by Potomac with its bond indenture trustee. ern Virginia proposes to discharge and retire such indebtedness by payment to Potomac of $681,774.46 in cash. Potomac's bond indenture trustee will thereupon release such indebtedness from the lien of the mortgage indenture of Potomac.

As soon as practicable after the acquisition by Northern Virginia of the capital stocks of Page, Madison and Massanutten, these companies will be merged into Northern Virginia in accordance with the laws of the State of Virginia and pursuant to a joint agreement of merger to be entered into by Northern Virginia and Page, Madison and Massanutten. In connection with such merger, Northern Virginia proposes to surrender to the issuing companies, for cancellation and retirement, all of the outstanding shares of capital stock of Page, Madison and Massanutten. The filing states, among other things, that the Maryland Public Service Commission, West Virginia Public Service Commission and Virginia State Corporation Commission have jurisdiction over certain steps in the proposed transactions and that the Federal Power Commission has jurisdiction over the merger into Northern Virginia of Page, Madison and Massanutten and that copies of the orders of these Commissions are to be supplied by amendment herein.

The applicants-declarants have designated sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a) (1), 10 and 12 (d) of the act and Rules U-42, U-43 and U-44 as being applicable to the proposed transactions.

By the Commission.

PART 803—GENERAL ORDERS

ADVANCE APPROVAL OF CERTAIN WAGE INCREASES

The National Wage Stabilization Board has adopted the following General Order No. 43:

§ 803.43 Advance approval of certain wage increases under Executive Order 9697. Wage increases which conform with any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed to be approved by the National Wage Stabilization Board and by the Economic Stabilization Director without the necessity for applying for and obtaining specific approval of such increases:

(a) Any wage or salary increase which does not result in an hourly rate of pay above 65 cents per hour.

(b) (1) Any change heretofore or hereafter made in an incentive wage or piece rate to reflect a change in method, product, tools, material, design, or production conditions: Provided, That such change maintains the established relationship between earnings and effort, so that equivalent earnings will be paid for equivalent effort.

(2) The institution at any time of an incentive wage or piece rate for a new production item in those parts of a plant where an established incentive wage or piece rate plan was in operation prior to February 14, 1946 or has been approved thereafter: Provided, That the principles of the plan which is in operation are applied to the new item. In establishing incentive wage or piece rates for new production items, equivalent occupational earnings must be maintained for equivalent effort.

(c) Any individual wage or salary increase or bonus payment made at any time in accordance with a schedule or plan providing for the making of merit increases, progression increases, or increases based upon length of service, or for bonus payments, if such schedule or plan was in effect prior to February 14, 1946 or has been approved thereafter.

(d) Any wage increase to eliminate or correct intraplant inequities made at any time in accordance with a job evaluation plan established prior to February 14, 1946 or approved thereafter. Any individual increases so made shall not serve as a basis for subsequent approval of any other wage increases for the purpose of eliminating intra-plant inequities.

Approved: by the National Wage Stabilization Board and Economic Stabilization Director, March 20, 1946.

B. M. JOFFE,

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-931]

ASSOCIATED BATTERY MFG. CO.

M. J. Oakley, doing business as the Associated Battery Manufacturing Co., at 415 Molino Street, Los Angeles, California, is engaged in the manufacture of storage batteries. During first, second and fourth quarters of 1945 the company used in the production of batteries 157,422 pounds of lead in excess of the quotas for these periods to which they were entitled, in violation of Conservation Order M-38. M. J. Oakley was familiar with the provisions of Order M-38 and his actions constituted violations thereof. These acts have diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Civilian Production Administration. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, that:

§ 1010.931 Suspension Order No. S-931. (a) The temporary suspension order issued against M. J. Oakley, d/b/a Associated Battery Manufacturing Co., on February 5, 1946, is hereby revoked.

(b) During each of the second, third and fourth quarters of 1946 M. J. Oakley, d/b/a Associated Battery Manufacturing Co., shall reduce his use of lead in the manufacture of storage batteries by 52,474 pounds per quarter less than he would otherwise be entitled to under the provisions of Conversation Order M-38.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve M. J. Oakley, d/b/a Associated Battery Manufacturing Co., from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Civilian Production Administration, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(d) The restrictions and prohibitions contained herein shall apply to M. J. Oakley, doing business as Associated Battery Manufacturing Co., or under any other name, his successors and assigns, or persons acting on his behalf. Prohibitions against the taking of any action include the taking indirectly as well as directly of any such action.

Issued this 20th day of March 1946.

[Priorities Reg. 13, Direction 15]

SALE OF SOLDER, ANTIMONIAL LEAD DIE METAL, AND BATTERY LEAD SCRAP BY WAR ASSETS CORPORATION

The following direction is issued pursuant to PR 13:

(a) What this direction does. There is a critical shortage in the supply of tin and lead. From time to time substantial quantities of solder, antimonial lead die metal and battery lead scrap are declared surplus by Government agencies to the War Assets Corporation. In most cases this material is not usable in the form in which it is sold by War Assets Corporation, and must be reprocessed. This direction restricts the classes of buyers to whom War Assets Corporation may sell these materials. However, it does not prohibit the War Assets Corporation from making sales of the type permitted by this direction upon such other terms and in such quantities as the War Assets Corporation may determine. Preference ratings have no effect upon any sales which may be made by the War Assets Corporation either by way of obliging it to sell, or by way of determining as among the several buyers permitted by this direction who shall get the material from the War Assets Corporation.

(b) Restrictions on sales by War Assets Corporation. War Assets Corporation may not sell any solder, antimonial lead die metal or battery lead scrap to any person unless (1) the sale has been specifically authorized by the Civilian Production Administration on Form WPB-1161; or (ii) the purchaser is a smelter or reprocessor and gives a certificate with his purchase order in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned certifies to the seller and CPA, subject to the penalties of section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code that (i) he is a tin or lead smelter or reprocessor; (ii) that his inventory of the type of material covered by this purchase order (including this lot) will not be in excess of his succeeding three months requirements; and (iii) the material obtained under this purchase order will be used or disposed of only in accordance with applicable CPA orders and regulations.

The standard certification in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used instead of this certificate.

(c) Obligation of person giving certificate. Any person giving the certificate described above may obtain and use the material he gets with the certificate only in accordance with its terms.

Issued this 21st day of March 1946.

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

CERTAIN RUBBER COMMODITIES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 220 is amended in the following respects:

A new section designated § 1315.1560c is added to read as follows:

§ 1315.1560c Industrywide adjustments for reconversion products. Special pricing provisions applicable to particular products may be established by orders issued under this section when, with respect to the product, the Administrator finds:

(a) That in 1944 its production was approximately one-half or less of its production in its last representative period of peacetime production;

(b) That this reduction in dollar volume resulted from (1) governmental restrictions on the manufacture of products or on the use of materials, facilities, or manpower, or (2) the use of facilities for the production of war goods; or (3) other direct needs of the war effort; and

(c) That because of change in government restrictions or in the needs of the war program, manufacturers of the product generally are able to begin or to increase substantially the production of the product line.

If in the judgment of the Administrator, the purposes of this section will be effectuated, as to a particular product, without any special pricing provisions, an order under this section will not be issued with respect to that product even though the above findings could be made as to it.

Orders under this section, will generally authorize industrywide increases in the established maximum prices of manufacturers in those industries based upon surveys conducted by the Price Administrator, either upon the request of the particular industry or upon his own motion. Those orders will establish adjusted maximum prices or methods of determining such prices by the use of price increase factors. Where, however, in the judgment of the Price Administrator, the use of an industrywide factor will, by reason of the diversity in the products made by the member firms, the wide variation in cost experience among them, or other reasons be an inequitable and inappropriate means of establishing reconversion prices, he may provide for the calculation and application of individual price increase factors.

Broadly stated the new maximum prices will represent costs experienced during the last period of normal production adjusted for subsequent lawful changes in the level of materials prices and in basic wage rate schedules of factory workers, plus the industry's average peacetime profit margin over cost. Changes in materials prices may be measured by materials cost increase factors, determined by the Administrator, in those cases where such action may be necessary to eliminate temporary or artificial influences. In the case of an industry for which the Administrator has decided that price increase factors should be determined and applied for each firm, the profit element in each increase factor will be the firm's own base period profit margin or one-half the industry's average peacetime margin, whichever is the higher.

Orders issued under this section may also modify or supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 220 with respect to the establishment of maximum prices if, on the basis of the particular characteristics of the industry involved, the Administrator finds that another method of price determination will effectuate the purposes of this regulation better than the general pricing provisions of the regulation. In addition, those orders may establish new maximum prices or a method of determining new maximum prices for sales by persons other than manufacturers which will supersede maximum prices fixed by other regulations for such sales and which will be consistent with the standards applied by the Office of Price Administration for the reasonable absorption of necessary cost increases.

Orders issued under this section will not ordinarily reduce higher maximum prices which manufacturers have previously established in accordance with the applicable provisions.

A manufacturer of a product covered by an order issued under this section may not obtain an adjustment of his maximum prices under any adjustment provision other than Supplementary Orders Nos. 118 and 119, unless the adjustment provision itself or the order issued under this section covering his product expressly provides otherwise.

Small volume manufacturers may use as their new maximum prices those which they calculate under Supplementary Order No. 118, and general orders issued pursuant thereto, if the maximum prices so calculated are higher than maximum prices set under orders issued under this section. Any other manufacturer may apply for an individual adjustment under Supplementary Order No. 119, if, after the adjustment authorized for his industry by an order under this section, his maximum price still continues eligible for adjustment in accordance with the provisions of that supplementary order.

Orders issued under this section may require a manufacturer to arrange the production and distribution of his products so that they will be representative of his production and distribution in a specified past period for goods in a particular category. The Administrator may also require authorized price increases to be applied among articles or price lines in a manner consistent with the need, under the stabilization program, to maintain the production of lower-priced articles.

This amendment shall become effective March 21, 1946.

Issued this 21st day of March 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

"Person" as used in this regulation means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States, any agency thereof, any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, and any agency of any of the foregoing.

(b) Relation to other regulations—(1) The General Maximum Price Regulation and Maximum Price Regulation 188. This regulation supersedes the General Maximum Price Regulation [3] and Maximum Price Regulation 188 [4] with respect to transactions covered by this regulation. This regulation does not, however, apply to transactions which are excluded from the General Maximum Price Regulation by Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 1 [5] to the General Maximum Price Regulation and future amendments thereto.

(2) Exports. The Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation [6] covers export sales and sales to exporters.

(3) Imports. The Maximum Import Price Regulation [7] covers purchases, sales or deliveries if they originate outside of the Continental United States.

(4) Installed sales. Revised Maximum Price Regulation 251 [8] (Construction Services and Sales of Installed Materials) covers sales of building materials on an installed basis.

(c) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the forty-eight States of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Prohibitions against dealing at prices above the maximum. On and after the effective date of this regulation, no manufacturer shall sell or deliver, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business, any commodity covered by this regulation at a price higher than the maximum price fixed by this regulation, regardless of any contract or other obligation. No person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. Lower prices may, of course, be charged.

SEC. 3. Prohibition against sales prior to compliance with reporting requirements. No manufacturer shall offer to sell, sell, or deliver any commodity which he firsts offers for sale after the effective date of this regulation, until he has complied with the reporting provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 4. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of any commodities covered by this regulation, or by way of commissions, services, transportation or other charges, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding, or by making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to buyers than they were during March 1942 (except as specifically permitted by this regulation).

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for commodities delivered or offered for delivery prior to the effective date of this regulation—(a) What this section does. Under this section, maximum prices properly established under Maximum Price Regulation 188 and the General Maximum Price Regulation prior to the effective date of this regulation are continued in effect under this regulation. (Such prices shall continue to be subject to adjustment orders issued by the Office of Price Administration prior to the effective date of this regulation, which have not been revoked.) Paragraph (b) below sets forth the specific pricing provisions applicable to such prices.

(b) The manufacturer's maximum prices for any commodity which he delivered or offered for delivery prior to the effective date of this regulation shall be determined as follows:

(1) If the commodity was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during March 1942, his maximum price to each class of purchaser shall be the highest price at which he delivered it, or, if he did not deliver it, at which he offered it for delivery during that month to that class of purchaser.

(2) If the commodity was first delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer after March 1942, but prior to the effective date of this regulation, his maximum price to each class of purchaser shall be the maximum price to that class of purchaser properly established under Maximum Price Regulation 188 or any other regulation prior to the effective date of this regulation. If he did not have a maximum price properly established under the applicable regulation prior to the effective date of this regulation, his maximum price must be determined under section 6.

(3) If the commodity was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer prior to March 1, 1942, but not during the period March 1, 1942, through July 30, 1945, his maximum price must be determined pursuant to section 6.

(4) "Purchaser of the same class" refers to the practice adopted by the seller in setting different prices for the same commodities on sales to different purchasers or kinds of purchasers (for example, manufacturer, wholesaler, jobber, retailer, government agency, public institution, individual consumer) or for purchasers located in different areas or for different quantities or grades or under different conditions of sale.

For example, if in March 1942 the seller's established practice was to sell the same commodity to a group of purchasers at a particular price, that group of purchasers constitutes a "class" to whom the same prices and pricing practices must be continued. Also, if in March 1942 the seller customarily sold or offered to sell the commodity to any purchaser at a price different from the price at which he sold or offered to sell the same commodity to all other purchasers, that purchaser is in a "class" by himself and the same price and pricing practices must be continued for that class. In the absence of any customary differential treatment to particular buyers, such buyers are all members of the larger class to which they belong.

(5) For the purpose of this section a commodity need not be considered to have been delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942 if the manufacturer stopped production thereof 90 or more days prior to March 1, 1942, and if the prices he charged during March 1942 were at least 25 percent less than the last net price at which he delivered the commodity or offered it for delivery when he was still producing it. The maximum price for such a commodity may be determined in accordance with section 6.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for commodities first offered for sale after the effective date of this regulation. This section sets forth the procedure for determining maximum prices of commodities for which maximum prices cannot be determined under section 5. Such commodities for the purpose of this regulation shall be considered new or changed commodities. The maximum price for a commodity covered by this section shall be determined in accordance with the first applicable pricing method set forth in sections 7, 8, 9, and 10. Accordingly, a manufacturer may not use any particular pricing method unless he cannot or need not use any of the other methods which precede that method. A maximum price computed under any of these methods, however, must be consistent with the general level of maximum prices fixed by this regulation and may be approved, disapproved or revised by the Office of Price Administration as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 7. First pricing method; minor changes—(a) Maximum prices. The manufacturer's maximum price for a new commodity to each class of purchaser shall be the same as his maximum price for an old commodity produced by that manufacturer for which a maximum price has already been established to that class of purchaser, where:

(1) The new commodity belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the old commodity for which a maximum price has already been established.

(2) The new commodity has current unit direct costs which do not vary by more than 2 percent from the current unit direct costs of the old commodity.

(3) The old commodity which is used as a basis for pricing, is currently being produced by the manufacturer.

(b) Optional use of this method. A manufacturer may, however, if he chooses, also determine his maximum price for a new commodity under this first pricing method in any case in which the current unit direct costs of the new commodity exceed the current unit direct costs of the old commodity by more than 2 percent.

(c) Definition of current unit direct costs. Current unit direct costs mean the total of unit costs of direct materials and direct labor, computed on a consistent basis for both the old and the new commodity.

(d) Reports and approval of maximum prices. Before offering for sale or delivery a commodity for which maximum prices are determined under this first pricing method, the manufacturer must file a report in duplicate with the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C., giving a description of the new commodity being priced; a description of the old commodity; the maximum price for the new commodity; and the details of the computation of the maximum price. A proposed maximum price under this first method shall be deemed to be automatically approved upon the mailing of this report, subject to revision by the Office of Price Administration, not to apply retroactively.

SEC. 8. Second pricing method; line differentials—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum price of any commodity which cannot or need not be priced under the first pricing method shall, if possible, be determined under this second pricing method. If a manufacturer has established maximum prices for a line of commodities which reflect differentials in size, weight, mesh, specifications or similar physical characteristics, in effect during March 1942, the manufacturer shall determine a maximum price to each class of purchaser for a new article in his line on the basis of his established March 1942 method of calculating such price differentials.

(b) Reports and approval of maximum prices. Before offering for sale or delivery a commodity for which maximum prices must be determined under this second pricing method, the manufacturer must file a report in duplicate with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., setting forth the information required by the form in section 29. A proposed maximum price under this second method shall be deemed to be approved automatically on the expiration of 20 days after the mailing of the report (or on expiration of 20 days after mailing of all additional information which may have been requested) unless within that time the Office of Price Administration notifies the manufacturer that his proposed maximum price has not been approved or that action thereon has been deferred pending receipt of further information. An approved price shall be subject to revision by the Office of Price Administration, not to apply retroactively.

SEC. 9. Third pricing method; competitive prices—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum price to each class of purchaser for any commodity which cannot or need not be priced under the first or second pricing method shall be the maximum price, prior to any adjustment, of his most closely competitive seller of the same class for the same kind, grade, quality and quantity of the commodity, to a purchaser of the same class, f. o. b. the point of production.

"Seller of the same class" means a seller (1) performing the same function (for example, manufacturing, distributing, retailing, processing, storing, installing or repairing), (2) of similar type (for example, department store, mail order house, chain store, specialty shop, cut-rate store), (3) dealing in the same type of commodities and (4) selling to the same class of purchaser. A seller's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" shall be a seller of the same class who (i) is selling the same or a similar commodity, and (ii) is closely competitive in the sale of such commodities, and (iii) is located nearest to the seller.

(b) Reports and approval of maximum prices. Before offering for sale or delivery a commodity for which maximum prices are determined under this third pricing method, the manufacturer must file a report in duplicate with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., setting forth the information required by the form in section 29. A proposed maximum price under this third method shall be deemed to be approved automatically on the expiration of 20 days after the mailing of the report (or on expiration of 20 days after mailing of all additional information which may have been requested) unless within that time the Office of Price Administration notifies the manufacturer that his proposed maximum price has not been approved or that action thereon has been deferred pending receipt of further information. An approved price shall be subject to revision by the Office of Price Administration, not to apply retroactively.

SEC. 10. Fourth pricing method; commodities which cannot be priced under the first, second, or third pricing methods—(a) General applicability. The fourth pricing method shall be used where:

(1) The first, second, and third pricing methods (sections 7, 8 and 9) are not applicable.

(2) The first, second or third pricing method results in a maximum price which is not consistent with the general level of prices established by this regulation.

(3) The use of a formula is required due to the type of commodity manufactured or the number of commodities in a line being manufactured.

(4) A maximum price is required for sales of a commodity to a new class of purchaser.

(b) Maximum prices. Maximum prices under this fourth pricing method shall be determined by a comparison of the direct costs and margins proposed for the commodity being priced with costs and margins generally prevailing for comparable commodities produced by that manufacturer or by other manufacturers, so as to result in a maximum price consistent with the general level of prices established by this regulation.

(c) Reports and approval of maximum prices. Before offering the commodity for sale the applicant must file an application in duplicate with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for specific authorization of a price or pricing method, setting forth the information required by the form in section 29. Authorization of a maximum price under this fourth pricing method will be given in the form of an order prescribing a maximum price or a method of determining the maximum price for the applicant, or for sellers of the commodity generally, including purchasers for resale, or for a class of such sellers.

(d) Delegation of authority. The National Office may refer any application filed under this section to the appropriate Regional Administrator. Any Regional Administrator, or any District Director authorized by the appropriate Regional Administrator, may in any case so referred to him, issue orders under this section 10 establishing maximum prices in accordance with its terms.

SEC. 11. Discounts, allowances, and differentials—(a) Price differentials for existing classes of purchasers. Every manufacturer shall continue discounts, allowances, including transportation allowances, and other price differentials at least as favorable as those in effect during March 1942.

(b) New classes of purchasers other than the United States Government or an Allied Government. Where a manufacturer has established maximum prices for a commodity to certain classes of purchasers, and wishes to determine maximum prices for sales to a new class of purchaser, he shall apply under section 10 for authorization of a maximum price to that new class of purchaser. Before offering the commodity for sale to the new class of purchaser, he shall file the report required by that section.

(c) Sales to United States Government or an Allied Government. For a sale to the United States Government or an Allied Government of a commodity for which a maximum price has not been determined for sales to the class of purchasers to which such government belongs, but for which a maximum price has been determined for sales to purchasers of a different class, such government shall be classed as belonging to the class of purchaser to whom the manufacturer customarily sold the commodity in quantities most nearly equal to the quantity involved in the sale to such government. If the manufacturer customarily sells to more than one class of purchaser in such quantities, the lowest maximum price applicable to sales to such classes of purchasers shall apply.

SEC. 12. Sales pending approval of maximum prices. After a report has been filed as required, and pending approval of the proposed maximum price, a manufacturer may offer to sell and accept orders at the proposed maximum price reported to the Office of Price Administration. He shall not, however make deliveries or accept payment until a maximum price has been approved by the Office of Price Administration, except on direct sales to the United States Government or an Allied Government. Until a maximum price has been approved, a notification that the proposed maximum price is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration must appear on all quotations and orders covering sales of the commodity. If the price approved by the Office of Price Administration is less than that set forth in the quotations or orders, all such quotations and orders must be changed to the approved maximum price, and in the case of direct sales to the United States Government or an Allied Government, refunds must be made where the price collected exceeds the approved price.

SEC. 13. Revision of maximum prices—(a) When maximum prices may be revised. A maximum price originally established in accordance with the provisions of § 1499.154 and sections therein referred to of Maximum Price Regulation 188 or in accordance with the first, second, third, or fourth pricing method (sections 7, 8, 9, or 10 of Maximum Price Regulation 592) may at any time be revised by order (not to apply retroactively):

(1) To make it consistent with the level of maximum prices otherwise established by this regulation.

(2) To reflect savings in indirect costs realized by the manufacturer because of the introduction of the commodity so priced.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 13449, effective 11-5-45]

(b) Who may revise maximum prices under this section. Orders revising maximum prices under this section may be issued by the Price Administrator or by the duly authorized representative who approved or authorized the original maximum price.

SEC. 14. Resellers' maximum prices. In connection with the approval or revision of maximum prices for manufacturers under the first, second, third, or fourth pricing methods (section 7, 8, 9, or 10 above), the Office of Price Administration may issue orders fixing maximum prices for sales by resellers. To the extent that such orders are issued, this regulation supersedes the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to maximum prices for such resellers.

SEC. 15. Notification to purchasers for resale of the manufacturer's maximum prices—(a) When notification must be given. Every manufacturer making sales of any commodity covered by this regulation must on or before the first delivery furnish a statement in writing containing the information set forth in (b) to:

(1) Each purchaser for resale of any commodity the maximum price for which must be determined in accordance with section 6.

(2) Each purchaser for resale of any commodity covered by this regulation (regardless of the section under which the maximum price thereof must be determined) to whom the manufacturer did not sell that commodity prior to July 30, 1945.

(b) What the statement must contain. The statement furnished to the purchaser for resale must contain the following:

(1) A description of the commodity and such additional information as may be necessary to identify the commodity on the manufacturer's pricing records and his invoices to purchasers for resale.

(2) The manufacturer's maximum price and terms and conditions of sale fixed for sales to that class of purchaser.

(3) The pricing method or section of the regulation under which the manufacturer's maximum price was established.

(4) Where approval of the maximum price by the Office of Price Administration is required, the date of such approval.

(5) Where authorization by the Office of Price Administration is required, the number of the order authorizing the maximum price and the effective date thereof.

ARTICLE III—ADJUSTMENT PROVISIONS

SEC. 16. Applications for adjustment—(a) Who may adjust maximum prices. The Office of Price Administration or any duly authorized representative thereof may adjust maximum prices for any of the commodities covered by this regulation as hereinafter provided.

(b) Who may apply. Any manufacturer of a commodity covered by this regulation may file an application for adjustment in his maximum prices (setting forth the information required by the form in section 30, in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration) where:

(1) His supply of the commodity could not be replaced if he discontinued production; or

(2) His supply could be replaced only at a price equal to or higher than the requested adjusted maximum price.

(3) Or his over-all operations have been conducted at a loss during his most recent representative accounting period or, where, due to the occurrence of a substantial and continuing change in some element affecting costs and profits, a projection of his operations clearly shows that he will be immediately operating his over-all business at a loss. Consideration will not be given, however, to losses due to temporary or nonrecurring factors, inadequate plant utilization, illegal wage payments, excessive overhead, selling and other general costs and other unusual factors.

[Subparagraph (3) added by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 13449, effective 11-5-45]

(c) Amount of adjustment. The adjustment will generally not be greater than the following:

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 3, 11 F.R. 1209, effective 1-29-46]

(1) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price equal to manufacturing cost, plus packing cost and shipping cost where delivered prices are quoted or freight is allowed or equalized, where the applicant's current over-all earnings on an annual basis represent an increase of 15 percent or more over his average annual net earnings for the base period years 1936 to 1939, inclusive, adjusted for changes in net worth.

(2) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price equal to total cost, where the applicant's current over-all earnings on an annual basis do not exceed by 15 percent but are not appreciably less than his average annual over-all earnings during the base period years 1936 to 1939, inclusive, adjusted for changes in net worth.

(3) An amount sufficient to make the adjusted price equal to total cost plus a reasonable net profit on the article or line where the applicant's current over-all earnings on an annual basis are appreciably less than his average annual over-all earnings during the base period years 1936 to 1939, inclusive, adjusted for changes in net worth.

(4) In no event shall an adjustment granted a multiple line producer under subparagraphs (2) and (3) be greater than the total amount necessary to make current over-all earnings equal to 115 percent of base period over-all earnings except that any such adjustment shall at least cover manufacturing cost plus packing cost, and shipping cost where delivered prices are quoted or freight is allowed or equalized. Moreover, where such adjustment includes a reasonable profit on a product or line, the total amount of adjustment shall not be greater than that necessary to make current over-all earnings equal to base period over-all earnings.

(5) Any adjustment granted a manufacturer under paragraph (b) (2) above on the ground that the loss of his production would force his customers to resort to higher priced sources of supply, shall not exceed the amount permitted under subparagraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, and shall be further limited to an amount equal to the difference between his existing maximum price and the selling price of the next higher competitive seller able to supply the applicant's customers.

(6) Any adjustment granted the manufacturer under paragraph (b) (3) above, shall not exceed an amount sufficient to make the adjusted price equal to total cost for the product or line.

[Subparagraph (6) added, former (6) redesignated (7) and amended by Am. 1, 10 F. R. 13449, effective 11-5-45]

(7) If the applicant produces the commodity in a line or series of sizes, meshes or specifications, and if it is not practical to determine the manufacturing cost or total cost, as the case may be, of each size, mesh or specification, a uniform adjustment may be made for the entire line or series. However, any such adjustment for a line or series shall be subject to the limitations in subparagraphs (1) to (6), inclusive, above.

(d) Meaning of terms used. In cases where the company was not in business during 1936–1939 and in extremely unusual cases where the period 1936–1939 cannot be considered a representative peacetime period, the Office of Price Administration may make an exception to the use of this base period.

The term "manufacturing cost" means the total of direct materials, direct labor, and manufacturing expenses or factory overhead, applicable to the article.

The term "total cost" means the total of manufacturing cost and reasonable general, administrative, and selling expenses applicable to the article, excluding non-operating expense items and income and excess profits taxes.

The term "over-all earnings" means net profits before income and excess profits taxes experienced on the company's entire operations.

Whenever the applicant is currently operating at a level substantially lower than his normal volume, the overhead items included in "manufacturing cost" and "total cost" may be adjusted to reasonable levels based upon a normal rate of operations.

In evaluating costs, the Office of Price Administration will give consideration to whether they are based on a representative period of normal production.

(e) Adjustment in resale prices. In connection with any order granting an adjustment in the manufacturer's price the Office of Price Administration may also adjust the maximum price of any person who resells the article in the same form, to the extent deemed necessary in the judgment of the Price Administrator or his duly authorized representative. To the extent that such an adjustment may be made, this section supersedes the appropriate provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(f) Where to apply for an adjustment. (1) A manufacturer whose total sales exceed $1,000,000 for his most recently completed fiscal or calendar year, or whose total sales are estimated to exceed $1,000,000 for his current fiscal or calendar year shall file an application for adjustment under this section with the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials and Construction Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 1, 10 F.R. 13449, effective 11-5-45]

(2) A manufacturer whose total sales do not exceed the amount described above shall file an application for adjustment under this section with the Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration in the region in which is located his principal place of business.

(3) Each Regional Administrator, or any District Director so authorized by the appropriate Regional Administrator, is hereby authorized to act upon, and by order, grant or deny, in whole or in part, an application filed by an applicant whose principal place of business is located in his region or district, irrespective of the location of the applicant's producing facilities. Each Regional Administrator or District Director in granting an adjustment to a manufacturer is authorized to adjust the maximum prices of the resellers of the commodity within all regions.

SEC. 17. Local area adjustments—(a) When adjustments may be made. The Office of Price Administration or any duly authorized representative may make adjustments in the maximum prices of any commodity listed in paragraph (b) of this section, applicable to all manufacturers of such commodity within a particular community or a defined area, where

(1) All the manufacturers affected by the adjustment order sell within a limited trading area at substantially the same selling prices; and

(2) It appears that in general the maximum prices of such manufacturers are such that their production is impeded or threatened and that it is not practicable to remove that impediment or threat by individual adjustment.

(b) Commodities covered. Adjustments under this section may be made for the following commodities:

(1) Concrete products.
(2) Ready-mixed concrete.
(3) Sand, gravel and crushed stone.
(4) Structural clay products.

(c) Limitations on adjustments. Adjustments under this section shall be made only when generally necessary to maintain supply in the particular community or defined area, and shall be limited to the amount necessary to enable manufacturers of that commodity in that community or area generally to supply the commodity. To the extent practicable, the factors and limitations set forth in section 16 shall be considered in making adjustments under this section. In appropriate cases, compensatory decreases in other maximum prices may be required where some maximum prices are increased.

(d) Delegation of authority. The Price Administrator, or any Regional Administrator or any District Director who may be authorized by the appropriate Regional Administrator in whose region or district the particular community or defined area is located, may issue orders under this section, and in connection with such adjustments for manufacturers, may in appropriate cases adjust maximum prices for resellers of the commodity in that community or area. Applications for area adjustments under this section shall be filed with the Regional or District Office of the Office of Price Administration for the Region or District in which the particular community or defined area is located.

[Paragraph (d) amended by Am. 2, 10 F.R. 14250, effective 11-24-45]

SEC. 18. Government contracts. Any person who has entered into or proposes to enter into a government contract or a subcontract under any such contract, who believes that a maximum price established by this regulation impedes or threatens to impede production of a commodity which is essential to the war program and which is, or will be, the subject of such contract or subcontract, may file an application for adjustment of that maximum price in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 6, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 19. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price. The authorization will be given by order.

ARTICLE IV—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 20. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade of any business are sold or otherwise transferred after the effective date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities or services in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 21. Records and statements. Every manufacturer making sales of any commodity covered by this regulation in an amount of $200 or more in any one calendar month must comply with the following provisions for keeping price records and for maintaining statements of maximum prices.

(a) Records. Each such manufacturer must preserve for examination by representatives of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect the following:

(1) All his records regarding his prices and pricing methods for commodities delivered or offered for delivery during March 1942.

(2) Records relating to the prices he charged for such commodities as he sold after March 1942 showing as precisely as possible the basis upon which he determined maximum prices for those commodities, including copies of his correspondence with the Office of Price Administration and the letters and orders he received from the Office of Price Administration relating to such maximum prices.

(3) Records relating to sales made after the effective date of this regulation of commodities covered by this regulation, showing for each such sale, the date thereof, the name and address of the purchaser, the quantity sold and the price charged.

(b) Statements of maximum prices. (1) Each such manufacturer must prepare and keep for examination by any person during ordinary business hours, a statement showing:

(i) His maximum prices to purchasers of each class of every commodity covered by this regulation which he sells or offers for sale.

(ii) An adequate description of each such commodity.

(iii) All of his customary allowances, discounts and other price differentials.

(2) The manufacturer must prepare this statement within 30 days of the date that his maximum price for a commodity is first established under this regulation. If he has previously prepared a statement of maximum prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation or Maximum Price Regulation 188, and his maximum prices have not changed under this regulation, he need not prepare another statement. The manufacturer must also prepare an appropriate supplement to the statement within 10 days after any change in his maximum price is authorized by the Office of Price Administration.

(3) Any manufacturer who claims that substantial injury would result to him from making such statement available to any other person may file it with the appropriate field office of the Office of Price Administration. The information contained in such statement will not be published or disclosed unless it is determined that the withholding of such information is contrary to the purposes of this regulation.

SEC. 22. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[9] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more maximum price regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 23. Area pricing orders. (a) The Price Administrator may, and each Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration or any District Director who may be authorized by the appropriate Regional Administrator is authorized to issue and put into effect orders establishing manufacturers' maximum prices for commodities covered by this regulation applicable to a particular community or a defined area. In connection with the issuance of such orders fixing maximum prices for manufacturers, the Price Administrator, each Regional Administrator or District Director may also fix the maximum prices for all resellers of such commodities in the particular community or defined area. File this report in duplicate with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

When this form should be used. Sections 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 592 provide maximum prices for new articles first offered for sale after the effective date of the regulation. Note that under the second and third methods a price shall be deemed to be approved, unless contrary notification is received from the Office of Price Administration, within 20 days after the filing of the report or such additional information as may be required. A price shall not be in effect under the fourth method until an order prescribing a maximum price is issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Check pricing method to be used: ☐ Second method. Answer parts I and II. ☐ Third method. Answer parts I and III. ☐ Fourth method. Answer parts I and IV.

Retailer					From To
Other (specify)
					Unit of sale

(4) Requested delivery practice (indicate whether f. o. b. plant, delivered, full freight allowed or partial freight allowance, if the latter specifying amounts).

PART II—SECOND PRICING METHOD—LINE DIFFERENTIALS

A manufacturer who has established maximum prices for a line of commodities which reflect differentials in sizes, weight, mesh, specifications, or similar physical characteristics, in effect in March 1942, shall determine a maximum price to each class of purchaser for a new article on the basis of his established March 1942 method of calculating such price differentials. If additional space is needed, attach a supplementary sheet.

(1) Describe products in your line for which maximum prices have been established	Maximum price of each product
(b)

(2) Method under which differentials in your prices were computed in March 1942 and details of the application of this method to the computation of your requested price for your new item.

(3) Conditions of sale applicable to your line (where the discounts and transportation practices heretofore established for sale of your line are identical with those listed in Part I in connection with your new article, write "same" in this space; where there are differences indicate in detail).

PART III—THIRD PRICING METHOD—COMPETITIVE PRICE

If you cannot or need not price under the first or second pricing methods you shall use this method if you can price by comparison with similar articles sold by your closest competitor. The price to each class of purchaser shall be the maximum price, prior to any adjustment, of your most closely competitive seller of the same class for the same kind, grade, quality, and quantity of the commodity to a purchaser of the same class, f. o. b. the point of production. If comparison is made with articles sold by more than one competitor, submit information, identical with that requested below, for other sellers on a supplementary sheet.

  Address—Number and street

(4) Reasons why you consider competitive seller to be of the same class.

(5) Your expected volume of production during first three months of operation.

PART IV—FOURTH PRICING METHOD—COSTS

The fourth pricing method is usually applicable only when the first three pricing methods cannot be used. Check your reasons for not pricing under other pricing methods of this regulation:

☐ New business started on ..... (month), 194.., and you cannot price on a comparative basis.
☐ In business in March 1942 but you have no March 1942 method of calculating price differentials and you cannot price on a competitive basis.
☐ Other (specify and explain)

The OPA will try to establish a price for you by studying your unit direct labor and direct material costs. The following questions relate to unit cost data for your new article and for an article produced by you which is comparable to your new article, if you produce such an article. A comparable article is one which has the same general use as the article being priced and is recognized in the industry as being of the same general type of product even though different materials and construction are used. The comparable article used must be the one in your line whose unit direct material and direct labor cost is closest to that of the new article. Costs shall be computed for both the new article and the comparable article in accordance with current conditions as of the same time. Costs of material must be based upon prices which are not in excess of those permitted by the applicable OPA regulations. Wage rates must be approved by the War Labor Board, where such approval is necessary.

(1) Are current unit costs based upon: (Check one)

☐ Actual production records—Unit production upon which costs are based ☐ Estimates. If estimates are employed explain basis

L. F. GRAMMES & SONS, INC.

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to sections 15 and 16 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119, it is ordered:

(a) Manufacturers' ceiling prices. L. F. Grammes & Sons, Inc., of 379 Union Street, Allentown, Pennsylvania, may compute its adjusted maximum prices for all articles of metal desk scales and accessories, metal candy boxes, cosmetic containers, soft drink dispensers, household accessories and novelties which it manufactures, as follows:

(1) For an article in its line during October 1941, the adjusted maximum price is the highest price charged during that month to each class of purchaser increased by 4.1 percent.

(2) For an article not in its line during October 1941, but which has a properly established maximum price in effect before the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the article's properly established maximum price for the particular sale (exclusive of all permitted increases or adjustment charges) increased by the percentage determined in accordance with "Note 3" in section 8 of Revised Supplementary Order No. 119.

(3) For an article which is first offered for sale after the effective date of this order, the adjusted maximum price is the maximum price hereafter properly determined or established in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; and prices so fixed may not be increased under this order.

(4) The manufacturer's adjusted maximum price fixed in accordance with this order is his new maximum price if it is higher than his previously established maximum price including all increases and adjustments otherwise authorized for him individually or for his industry.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. A seller shall calculate his maximum price by adding to his invoice cost the same percentage markup which he has on the "most comparable article" for which he has a properly established maximum price. For this purpose the "most comparable article" is the one which meets all of the following tests:

(i) It belongs to the narrowest trade category which includes the article being priced.

(ii) Both it and the article being priced were purchased from the same class of supplier.

(iii) Both it and the article being priced belong to a class of articles to which, according to customary trade practices, an approximately uniform percentage markup is applied.

(iv) Its net replacement cost is nearest to the net cost of the article being priced.

The determination of a ceiling price in this way need not be reported to the Office of Price Administration; however, each seller must keep complete records showing all the information called for by OPA Form 620-759 with regard to how he determined his ceiling price, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended remains in effect.

If the maximum resale price cannot be determined under the above method the reseller shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a ceiling price under § 1499.3 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Ceiling prices established under that section will reflect the supplier's prices as adjusted in accordance with this order.

(c) Terms of sale. Maximum prices adjusted by this order are subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials in effect during March 1942, or which have been properly established under the applicable OPA regulation.

(d) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the methods established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(e) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) Effective date. This order shall become effective on the 21st day of March 1946.

Issued this 20th day of March 1946.

Administrator.

Step 1: Find the amount of your net surcharge which you have not yet made up by March 20, 1946.

Step 2: Find the difference between your maximum average price as adjusted by using the exemption price in 7 (a) of this order and your maximum average price as adjusted by using the exemption price listed in 7 (b) in each category.

Step 3: For each category multiply the amount found in Step 2 by the number of units you delivered in that category between January 1, 1946 and the close of business on March 19, 1946.

Step 4: Add together the amounts found in Step 3 for all categories.

However, where the amount found in Step 4 is greater than the net surcharge found in Step 1, you may not carry over the difference as a credit into your normal operation.

(b) Filing a report of the recalculation. If you have recalculated an existing surcharge as described in (a) above, you must file, together with each copy of the statement required by section 5 of this order, a separate statement showing all the calculations found in steps 1 through 5.

This amendment shall become effective March 20, 1946.

SEC. 3.4 Maximum prices for vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products when sold for delivery outside a factory's normal market area. (a) The manufacturers' maximum prices for vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products, except as covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 206, when sold for shipment from a factory to a destination which is outside the normal market area of such factory, to a Federal, State, county or municipal governmental agency, or to a drainage or sewerage district, or to a contractor or sub-contractor of any such agency or district, may be determined in the following manner:

(1) A price f. o. b. factory not in excess of 95 percent of the f. o. b. plant price for straight or mixed carload shipments. The following methods shall be used in determining the f. o. b. plant price which shall apply to manufacturers who wish to use this subdivision;

(i) For those manufacturers who sell on an f. o. b. plant basis, the price so established in this Maximum Price Regulation 592.

(ii) For those manufacturers who sell at a delivered price based on geographical zones, the delivered price as established in this Maximum Price Regulation 592, for the zone within which the factory is located, less the weighted average freight paid by the manufacturer, during the calendar year 1941, for delivery in the zone in which the factory is located.

For those manufacturers who determine their price in accordance with (ii) the weighted average freight shall be determined in the following manner: From the total amount of freight paid during the year 1941 for rail delivery of sewer pipe products to the zone within which the factory is located, deduct that amount of freight applicable to dunnage only, that is, to crating, bracing, or other materials carried for the protection of the product. Divide the balance by the total amount of tons of sewer pipe products delivered by rail, during the calendar year 1941, in the zone in which the factory is located.

(iii) For manufacturers located in the Eastern Area, who sell at a delivered price based on freight rate zones, the delivered price as established in this Maximum Price Regulation 592, in the first or 10¢ zone, less the highest amount of freight from Akron, for delivery to the first, or 10¢ zone.

(2) A delivered price may be charged under this provision not higher than the maximum price established in this subparagraph, f. o. b. factory plus the actual freight charges incurred by the manufacturer in making delivery to the point of destination.

(3) Material purchased in accordance with the provisions of this subparagraph which is in excess of requirements, or which is rejected by the purchaser for cause, may be re-sold to any person at the prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation,[4] for the same grade or quality for the area in which the product is ultimately used.

(b) A manufacturer may sell vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products to any person who resells to any of the purchasers specified in (a) above, at prices not in excess of the maximum prices established pursuant to (a) above.

(c) The manufacturer must compute transportation charges on the basis of rail carload quantities.

(d) The manufacturer must secure and retain for inspection of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect a certificate signed by the purchaser in the following form:

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) above, a reseller's maximum price for sales to a particular class of purchaser shall be the same as the manufacturer's maximum price for direct shipments from the manufacturer's plant to that class of purchaser, where:

(1) The sale is made by the reseller and shipment to the customer is made direct from the manufacturer's plant; and

(2) The manufacturer and the reseller customarily sold or if they did not sell they would have sold to purchasers of the same class in the same marketing area at the same price.

The values given to the factors used in said formulae shall be no higher than the highest values given to the same factory in the determination of March 1942 prices under said formulae and the method used in computing said factors shall be the method used in March 1942.

(b) For the purposes of this section 5.4 the term "special refractory shapes" means refractory brick and specialties produced from highly refractory materials such as silicon carbide, fused aluminum oxide, electric furnace mullite and kyanite. They include heavy refractories consisting of bricks, plates, fabricated muffles, heavy tubes, batts, saggers, burner blocks and miscellaneous shapes for furnaces. Special refractory shapes are so classified whenever they are made to the specifications of each individual order and are of sizes which are not considered standard by the "Special Refractories Institute" and are unable to be included in the manufacturer's published price lists.

(c) On or before the first time he determines a maximum price under this section 5.4, every manufacturer of special refractory shapes shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C., unless previously submitted:

(1) A detailed explanation of the formula or formulae by which it priced its special shapes during March 1942.

(2) Calculations setting forth in detail the use of such formulae in determining prices charged for different types of special refractory shapes actually delivered by it during March 1942, or, if no such deliveries were made during that month, the application of such formulae to the prices that would have been charged had the delivery of such products made subsequently to March 1942 actually been delivered during March 1942 as a result of sales made during that month.

(3) The gross sales value realized from, and the percentage of total sales of special refractory shapes during the fourth calendar quarter of 1942.

SEC. 5.5 Formula for establishment of maximum prices for fireclay, super-duty fireclay, high alumina, silica, or insulating refractory brick. (a) A manufacturer's maximum piece price for any fireclay, super-duty fireclay, high alumina, silica, or insulating refractory brick produced by him and for which he has no established maximum price shall be determined in accordance with the following formula:

The producer's maximum price for each such brick shall be a net price (after adjustment for all applicable differentials, discounts or other allowances) not in excess of that at which he would have sold such a brick during March 1942 under the pricing formula or method of calculating price used by him in March 1942, employing the same cost factors (labor, cost of materials and overhead) and margins which were in effect for him in March 1942, even though his costs or margin may have increased since that date.

(b) For the purposes of this section 5.5 the term "brick" means a manufactured refractory object, of any size or shape, and includes standard sizes, standard 9-inch straights and series, special shapes, rectangular tile, and modified shapes. It applies to all fireclay refractories, including brick intended for super-duty service, as well as for high, intermediate, moderate, and low-heat duty service, high alumina, silica, and insulating refractories.

(c) Every producer of fireclay, super-duty fireclay, high alumina, silica, or refractory insulating brick shall keep on file at his principal office at all times for inspection by the Office of Price Administration:

(1) A detailed explanation of the formula or method of calculation by which he priced the brick covered by this section 5.5.

(2) Calculations setting forth in detail the use of such formula in determining prices charged for different brick actually delivered during March 1942, and calculations setting forth in detail the computation of maximum prices for all sales of brick covered by this section 5.5 made subsequent to the effective date of this order. For the purpose of this section 5.5, no recomputation of a previously calculated maximum price for any brick covered herein is required.

SEC. 5.6. Modification of maximum prices for crude refractory flint clay. (a) The maximum price for the sale and delivery of crude refractory flint clay produced in Carter and Greenup Counties, Kentucky, and not more than 35 miles away from the town of Taylor, Kentucky, shall be $2.75 per net ton, delivered to purchasers in the town of Taylor, Kentucky.

the same trade classifications through which original producers usually distribute such commodities; and

(c) Any increase in price resulting from the agreement under this section 6.1 must be absorbed by the buying manufacturer and may not be reflected, directly or indirectly, in the resale price nor may such increase be used as a basis for a request for an increase in price by way of an application for adjustment or petition for amendment.

SEC. 7.3 Modification of maximum prices for pyrophyllite. (a) The manufacturers' maximum prices for pyrophyllite established pursuant to Maximum Price Regulation No. 592 may be increased by adding an amount not in excess of $0.40 per net ton to the f. o. b. factory prices.

(b) Any reseller purchasing pyrophyllite for resale from any manufacturer who has modified his maximum prices in accordance with paragraph (a) above, may increase his maximum prices, by a dollars-and-cents amount not exceeding his actual dollars-and-cents increase in cost resulting from the increase permitted the manufacturer in paragraph (a) above.

SEC. 7.4 Modification of maximum prices for asphalt and/or tar base roof coatings and cements in containers—(a) Explanation. The purpose of the new method of pricing provided by this section 7.4 is to permit a manufacturer who is now packing asphalt and/or tar base roof coatings and cements in containers which have increased in cost to adjust his maximum prices and add the exact amount of the increase in the cost of the containers and in receiving delivery of them. The method permits him to account for differences in container costs without permitting him to increase the price per unit of the asphalt and/or tar base roof coatings and cement packed in the container. The method is formulated for low-price seliers of these products who are unable to sell them at their established maximum prices because of the increased cost of the containers. Paragraph (i) specifies the maximum prices in excess of which no manufacturer may sell asphalt or tar base roof coatings and cements if he adjusts his established maximum prices in accordance with this section. Any manufacturer whose established maximum prices for these commodities are higher than the prices itemized in paragraph (i) may continue to sell at his established maximum prices without any adjustment.

(b) Pricing method. To figure the adjusted maximum price to any class of purchasers for the commodity in containers, the manufacturer shall:

(1) Determine the base container cost. The manufacturer shall take as the "base container cost" his average direct cost of each type or size of container during March 1942. "Direct cost" means the net cost, at the manufacturer's plant, of the container and closure, but it does not include costs of filling, closing, labeling, or packing. If a manufacturer is unable to compute his base container cost because of lack of purchases during March 1942, he shall determine his base container cost by any purchase during the period December 1941 through February 1942, or if no purchases were made during this period, by the offering price during that period by the manufacturer's usual source of supply.

(2) Determine the current container cost. The manufacturer shall take as the "current container cost" his average direct cost of each type or size of container for any quarterly period subsequent to January 1, 1943. "Direct cost" means the net cost, at the manufacturer's plant, of the container and closure, but it does not include cost of filling, closing, labeling, or packing.

(3) Determine the increased container cost. Taking his "current container cost" the manufacturer shall then subtract the "base container cost." The difference, if any, represents the "increased container cost."

(4) Determine the adjusted maximum price. The manufacturer shall next add the "increased container cost" to his established maximum price. If the result is less than the prices itemized in paragraph (i), such result shall be the adjusted maximum price. If the result is the same as or higher than the prices itemized in paragraph (i), the prices in paragraph (i) shall be his adjusted maximum prices. No manufacturer may sell in excess of the sum of his "increased container cost" plus his established maximum prices, even if such total does not equal the prices contained in paragraph (i).

(5) Changes in current container cost. Each manufacturer must determine his "current container cost" upon a quarterly basis. If the manufacturer has determined his "current container cost" in accordance with paragraph (b) (2), he may, if the redetermination of "current container cost" reflects an increase over his previous "current container cost", readjust his maximum prices for the ensuing quarterly period to include such increases provided such readjusted maximum prices do not exceed the prices contained in paragraph (i). If the redetermination reflects a decrease of his "increased container cost", the manufacturer must readjust his maximum prices and reduce his adjusted maximum prices by the amount of the decrease for the ensuing quarterly period.

(e) Commodity and geographical coverage. This section 7.4 applies to all sales of asphalt or tar base roof coatings and cements in containers in the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia. The only commodities covered by the section are plastic cement, asbestos roof coating and roof coating without asbestos fiber.

(f) Container deposits. If the container used by any manufacturer is one which is capable of reuse, and if the manufacturer made a deposit charge for containers during March 1942, he shall not be permitted to adjust his maximum prices. If any manufacturer made no deposit charge during March 1942, and now desires to do so, he must reduce his established maximum price of his product by an amount equal to ⅓ of his "base container cost". If a manufacturer adjusts his established maximum prices to recover his "increased container cost" and desires to charge a container deposit, he must reduce his adjusted maximum price in the amount of his "increased container cost" plus ⅓ of the "base container cost".

(g) Wholesalers, jobbers and retailers. This section 7.4 permits adjustments by manufacturers. Other levels of distribution are permitted to adjust their maximum prices to the same extent as the manufacturer. Any purchaser who buys asphalt or tar base roof coatings and cement in containers for the purpose of resale, may increase his established maximum price by the exact amount which he is required to pay his supplier in excess of the maximum price previously charged by the said supplier. It is the purpose of this paragraph to permit wholesalers, jobbers and retailers to increase their maximum prices by the exact amount of the "increased container cost", provided such "increased container cost" is paid by them to their supplier.

(f) Mode of pricing. The amount of the increase may be reflected in the mode of pricing which each seller used during the month of March 1942.

(g) Notification to purchasers by manufacturers. All manufacturers selling asphalt or tar base roof coatings and cements in containers under the authority of this section shall send the following notice to every purchaser thereof at the time of the first sale:

We have increased our established maximum price for ____ from _____ to _____. The difference represents our increased container cost. This increase is permitted by section 7.4 of Order No. 1 under section 25 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 592, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

You may increase your established maximum price to the same extent, namely _____. Our increase and adjusted maximum price does not exceed the amount permitted by the order of the Office of Price Administration.

If our container cost decreases, you will be notified and must reduce your established maximum price accordingly on these commodities you purchase from us at the reduced prices.

(h) Records and reports—(1) Records. Manufacturers shall keep records showing how they compute their adjusted or readjusted maximum prices.

(2) Reports. Within 20 days after any adjustment or readjustment of maximum prices under this subparagraph, each manufacturer shall submit a report to the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., showing:

(i) The "base container cost";

(ii) The "current container cost", including a description of the current containers, quantity purchased, and the name and address of the supplier or suppliers;

(iii) The adjusted or readjusted maximum price and the method by which such price was established;

(iv) Whether, in the case of a readjustment which results in a decrease, the manufacturer has notified his purchasers of the decreased prices applying on sales for the ensuing quarterly period, and the amount of the decrease.

(i) Adjusted maximum prices. The following table of prices are those prices in excess of which no manufacturer may sell or deliver his products after he had adjusted his established maximum prices.

(b) Products covered by this section. (1) Crude gypsum sold for cement retarder use.

(c) Maximum prices. The maximum price for an out-of-area shipment by a manufacturer who is eligible for treatment under this section shall be a price not in excess of the maximum f. o. b. plant price established under Maximum Price Regulation 592 plus actual freight to the point of destination outside the normal marketing area.

For those plants which sell on a delivered price basis or on a freight equalized or allowed basis, the f. o. b. plant price shall be the average realized price for the product at the plant during the calendar year 1944, computed by dividing sales in dollars after deduction of freight paid or allowed but prior to the deduction of other customary sales discounts or allowances, by the number of physical units sold.

(d) Reports and approvals of maximum prices. Before offering for sale or delivery for the first time a commodity at a maximum price determined under this section, the manufacturer must file a report with the Building Materials Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., setting forth the following:

(1) The commodity which is the subject of the proposed out-of-area sale.

(2) Location of plant from which shipment of the commodity is to be made.

(3) The shipping plant's "normal marketing area" (the area in which the product was regularly offered for shipment from that plant during 1944).

(4) Functional type of purchaser to whom shipment is proposed.

(5) A statement of the reasons why the product is not available to the proposed purchaser from his normal source of supply, and whether this condition is expected to be temporary or permanent.

The proposed determination of maximum prices pursuant to this section shall be deemed to be approved automatically on the expiration of 15 days after the mailing of this report unless within that time the Office of Price Administration notifies the manufacturer that the application of this section is not deemed necessary under the circumstances to maintain supply of the commodity in question.

[File No. 70–1236]

THE MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC RAILWAY & TRANSPORT CO. AND WISCONSIN ELECTRIC POWER CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 20th day of March 1946.

Notice is hereby given that a joint declaration and application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Wisconsin Electric Power Company, and by Wisconsin Electric Power Company, a subsidiary holding company of The North American Company, a registered holding company. All interested persons are referred to the declaration or application, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company proposes to purchase for cash and other valuable consideration, at par, for retirement, 12,000 shares of its capital stock of the aggregate par value of $1,200,000 from Wisconsin Electric Power Company. The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company proposes that of the consideration to be paid for said stock $800,000 shall be paid in cash, and the remainder is to be represented by the proposed assignment by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company to Wisconsin Electric Power Company of the former Company's interest in certain contractual indebtedness aggregating $400,000 owing to The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company by the Kenosha Motor Coach Lines, Inc., under certain conveyances of interurban transportation lines sold by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company to the Kenosha Motor Coach Lines, Inc. Wisconsin Electric Power Company seeks authorization to surrender the stock on the basis described.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest that a hearing be held with respect to said declaration and application, and that said declaration and application shall not become effective or be granted except pursuant to further order of the Commission.

It is ordered, That a hearing on said declaration and application under the applicable provisions of the act and the rules of the Commission thereunder be held on April 2, 1946, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said declaration and application, particular attention will be directed to the following matters:

1. Whether the proposed consideration to be paid for the purchase by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company of its common stock from Wisconsin Electric Power Company, in so far as such consideration is represented by the assignment by the former Company to its parent of its interest in certain contractual indebtedness aggregating $400,000 owing to The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company under certain conveyances of transportation lines sold to the Kenosha Motor Coach Lines, Inc., is fair, reasonable and appropriate and in the public interest, and in the interest of investors and consumers.

2. Whether the acquisition by Wisconsin Electric Power Company of said indebtedness of the Kenosha Motor Coach Lines, Inc., will unduly complicate the capital structure of the holding company system of Wisconsin Electric Power Company, or will be detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers, or to the proper functioning of such holding company system.

3. Whether the proposed acquisition by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company of its capital stock from its parent, Wisconsin Electric Power Company, for retirement will adversely affect the financial integrity of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company.

4. Whether it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers to impose any terms or conditions with respect to the proposed transactions.

5. Whether the proposed transactions, generally, meet the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the said hearing by mailing a copy of this order by registered mail to The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company; Wisconsin Electric Power Company; the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin; to the Mayor of the City of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; to Walter J. [Rev. Special Order 24]

PRICING AND DISTRIBUTION POLICY FOR CONSUMER GOODS

Surplus Property Administration Revised Special Order 24, January 18, 1946 (11 F.R. 954), entitled "Pricing and Distribution Policy For Consumer Goods", is hereby further revised and amended as set forth below.

The Congressional policy announced by the Surplus Property Act of 1944 is to foster wide distribution of surplus commodities to consumers at fair prices utilizing normal channels of trade in such manner as to strengthen and preserve the competitive position of small business concerns. This special order is intended to implement that policy with respect to consumer goods and shall be administered accordingly.

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1611), Public Law 181, 79th Congress, 1st Session, (59 Stat. 533) and Executive Order 9689 (11 F.R. 1265), It is hereby ordered, That:

1. This order shall apply to disposals of consumer goods in the continental United States, its territories and possessions, except disposals to Federal agencies and State and local Governments pursuant to the provisions of Surplus Property Administration Regulation 2,[2] disposals to veterans pursuant to the provisions of Surplus Property Administration Regulation 7,[3] and disposals to nonprofit institutions and instrumentalities pursuant to the provisions of Surplus Property Administration Regulation 14.[4]

2. (a) Generally fixed price sales shall be used for national programs and for regional sales projects in preference to all other methods. The fixed price method of sale shall be used when property is in new condition, is available in inventory in large quantities, and is either a standard commercial item or is readily marketable; and may be used whenever property, either new or used, can best be moved by this method.

(b) Other methods of sale may be used when it is not practicable to use the fixed price method of sale. The following additional standards shall be used as a guide in the choice of these other methods:

(1) Sealed bid—where the property is a non-standard commercial item; or is of unknown marketability; or is available only in mixed lots or small quantities.

(2) Spot sale (by fixed price or competitive bid) or public auction—where the property is not suitable for fixed price offering; when rapid clearance of a site is necessary; or when the experience of the disposal agency has shown this to be the best method of disposing of the specific type of property involved.

(3) Negotiated sale—(a) When the proposed purchaser can perform certain functions necessary to make the property salable, such as repairing rehabilitating, sorting, grading, or testing, more economically and effectively than the disposal agency or others; (b) When the property is non-standard and has no apparent civilian use; (c) When the property is such a hazard to health and property as to require immediate disposition; (d) When the property will spoil or deteriorate so rapidly as to jeopardize any disposal unless immediately sold; (e) When another method of sale has proved unsuccessful; or, (f) When the property is to be sold to a foreign government at the request of the State Department.

3. In the fixed price method of sale, prices shall be established as close to the current market price as possible, recognizing that they must be attractive enough to move the property and compensate for any unusual features of the property which may add to the difficulty of reselling. In general, prices shall be set for two levels of trade, wholesale and retail. The differential between those prices should correspond to that which is normal in the trade, and should reflect the differences in the cost of the distributive functions performed. Sales under such differentials shall be known as program sales. In those instances where program sales are not feasible, and in other special instances, a uniform price may be set for all purchasers; for example, such instances may occur where a commodity normally moves predominantly from the manufacturer to wholesalers and industrial users, or may occur in connection with the clearance of depots, warehouses, ships, or command installations.

4. The minimum quantity, i. e., the minimum lot size, which should be offered for sale by the disposal agency should to the extent feasible be a quantity which will enable small independent retailers to participate. Such minimum quantities may be larger when (a) large quantities of merchandise are packaged in military cartons and it would be uneconomic to repackage the property to provide for sales in smaller quantities, or (b) it is necessary to consolidate several packages in order to assure an equitable or appropriate distribution of the size range of the property. In program sales, the price on the minimum quantity offered to small independent retailers shall be known as the base price.

5. In program sales, a larger minimum quantity applicable to the wholesale trade should be offered to wholesalers of the commodity offered who agree to use their best efforts to sell to small independent retail establishments. This minimum quantity may be less than the minimum quantity offered to large retailers pursuant to paragraph 6 hereof. The price to the wholesaler should be such as to compensate for the distributive function to be performed by the wholesaler, taking into consideration the type of goods, the turn-over potential, the cost of care and handling, the value, and the quantity available.

6. Certain large retailers, including chain stores and mail order houses, normally purchase in quantities far in excess of those purchased by the small retailer and small wholesaler. To facilitate the disposal of consumer goods, and thereby to protect the interest of the Government in such goods, and in recognition of the fact that retailers who buy in large quantities usually perform an intermediate distributive function in the movement of the goods to the consumer level, such purchases should, in program sales, generally be made at a discount of not more than 5 percent from the price to small retailers. The minimum quantity subject to this discount shall be specified in the offering.

7. No other reductions or discounts shall be given and there shall be no graded discounts within the same class of purchasers.

8. The price levels in program sales shall be established by the disposal agency as to each kind of property to be sold. Subject to Office of Price Administration ceilings, surplus consumer goods shall be priced by the disposal agency to effectuate orderly and prompt disposal, giving due consideration to the kind, quantity, condition, and value of each item at the time of the offering.

9. In any fixed price method of sale when the total supply of a commodity is less than the amount ordered, consideration shall be given to the needs of other purchasers before large quantities are sold to one or a few purchasers. Precedence shall be given to orders received from small retailers and from wholesalers who serve small independent retailers.

10. The following conditions shall be observed for the classes of purchasers specified below:

(a) Sales may be made exclusively to the original producer of the surplus property only when the original producer can perform certain necessary functions, such as repairing, rehabilitating, sorting, grading, or testing, more effectively than the disposal agency or others.

(b) Manufacturers who perform the distributive functions of serving small independent retailers may buy as wholesalers under program sales, subject to the rules applicable to purchases made by wholesalers.

(c) Wholesalers and manufacturers who own, operate, or control retail stores are required to buy as retailers, under program sales, for their company owned or controlled retail stores.

(d) Buying offices of associated groups of retail stores operated on the voluntary chain system of buying will buy as retailers under program sales.

(e) Commercial exporters and purchasing commissions representing foreign governments shall be permitted to participate as wholesalers under program sales, except that items in critically short supply in the domestic economy may not be available to them for export.

(f) Cooperative organizations shall be permitted to participate in sales of consumer goods at the same time and under the same conditions as other commercial enterprises under program sales. In determining the level of trade at which a particular cooperative organization will buy consideration should be given solely to its functions as a wholesaler or retailer and not the features of cooperative ownership.

(g) Industrial users, i. e., manufacturing or commercial enterprises of a class which normally purchases property for its own use and not for resale shall be permitted to participate in program sales at the retail level, or at the wholesale level (at the minimum quantity specified in paragraph 5) if such class customarily buys from manufacturers at the same price as wholesalers, Provided, that in either case the property so purchased is not resold in its present form except after incorporation into an end product. Orders of commercial and industrial purchasers shall be filled in accordance with paragraph 9 hereof after retailers and wholesalers who serve small retailers.

(h) Purchasing agents (including resident buyers, commission men, brokers, and other agents) who perform the purchasing function for the principles they represent, shall be permitted to participate in disposals of surplus property. Sales made through these agents shall be made only in the name of the principal they represent and in program sales at the level of distribution of the principal. Such agents may be required to present a written authorization from the principal for each purchase.

(i) All purchasers who may participate in program sales shall also be eligible to acquire property offered by any other method.

(j) Ultimate consumers (persons who buy for their own personal use) are not ordinarily expected to purchase surplus property directly from the disposal agency except when such property is offered in suitable lots or units under circumstances which will not complicate the work of disposal or where sales to ultimate consumers, for example through rural farm auctions, would be more effective than offerings by other methods.

This revised order shall become effective March 16, 1946.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

[T. D. 5504]

PART 19—INCOME TAX UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

PART 29—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1941

ELECTIVE INVENTORY COMPUTATIONS

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 29.22 (d)–2 of Regulations 111 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 29) is amended as follows:

(A) By revising that portion thereof preceding the lettered paragraphs to read:

§ 29.22 (d)–2 Requirements incident to adoption and use of elective method. Except as otherwise provided in § 29.22 (d)–1 with respect to raw material computations, the adoption and use of the elective inventory method is, by section 22 (d) and the regulations thereunder, made subject to the following requirements:

(B) By striking that portion of paragraph (d) preceding the numbered subparagraphs, and by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(d) Goods of the specified type on hand as of the close of the taxable year in excess of what were on hand as of the beginning of the taxable year shall be included in the closing inventory, regardless of identification with specific invoices and regardless of specific cost accounting records, at costs determined pursuant to the provisions of Rule (A) or Rule (B) hereof, dependent upon the character of the transactions in which the taxpayer is engaged;

Rule (A). In the case of a taxpayer engaged in the purchase and sale of merchandise, such as a retail grocer or druggist, or engaged in the initial production of merchandise and its sale without processing, such as a miner selling his ore output without smelting or refining, such costs shall be determined:

(C) By inserting in paragraph (d) immediately preceding example (1) the following:

The application of Rule (A) may be illustrated by the following examples:

(D) By revising example (2) in paragraph (d) to read as follows:

Example (2). Suppose that the taxpayer's closing inventory for 1943, the year following that involved in example (1), reflects an inventory decrease for the year, and not an increase; suppose that there is, accordingly, a 1943 closing inventory of 13 units. Inasmuch as the decreased closing inventory will be determined wholly by reference to the 15 units reflected in the opening inventory for the year, and will be taken "in the order of acquisition" pursuant to section 22 (d) (1) (B), and inasmuch as the character of the taxpayer's opening inventory for the year will be dependent upon its method of valuing its five-unit inventory increase for the preceding year, the closing inventory for 1943 will be computed as follows:

(a) In case the increase for the preceding taxable year was taken by reference to the most recent purchases:

10 at 10 (from 1941)	= 100
1 at 13 (July 1942)	= 13
2 at 14 (October 1942)	= 23
Total 13	141

or

(b) In case the increase for the preceding taxable year was taken in the order of acquisition:

10 at 10 (from 1941)	= 100
1 at 11 (January 1942)	= 11
2 at 12 (April 1942)	= 24
Total 13	135

or

(c) In case the increase for the preceding taxable year was taken on the basis of an average:

10 at 10 (from 1941)	= 100
3 at 13 (from 1942)	= 39
Total 13	139

(E) By inserting in paragraph (d) immediately after example (2) the following:

Rule (B). In the case of a taxpayer engaged in manufacturing, fabricating, processing, or otherwise producing merchandise, such costs shall be determined:

(a) In the case of raw materials purchased or initially produced by the taxpayer, in the manner elected by the taxpayer under Rule (A) to the same extent as if the taxpayer were engaged in purchase and sale transactions; and

(b) In the case of goods in process, regardless of the stage to which the manufacture, fabricating, or processing may have advanced, and in the case of finished goods, pursuant to any proper method which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, clearly reflects income.

PAR. 2. The above amendments to Regulations 111, which regulations cover taxable years beginning after December 31, 1941, are hereby made applicable to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1938, and prior to January 1, 1942, such years being covered by Regulations 103 (26 CFR, 1940 Supp., Part 19).

[Priorities Reg. 28, Direction 13]

ASSIGNMENT OF CC RATINGS FOR CADMIUM

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 28:

(a) What this direction does. The supply of cadmium is substantially less than present and anticipated requirements. There is no substitute for cadmium in certain essential products which are in very short supply, and the shortage of cadmium therefore constitutes a serious threat to the economy of the country during the reconversion period. This direction explains where the Civilian Production Administration may assign CC ratings, in accordance with paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 28 for cadmium, in addition to the types of cases covered by paragraphs (e) through (h) of Priorities Regulation 28.

(b) Essential products in short supply. Under the conditions stated in paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 28 the Civilian Production Administration may assign a CC rating for cadmium for

I. Alloys.
(i) Bearing.
(ii) Carbon, cadmium impregnated for use as contacts in electric current interruption devices.
(iii) Copper base.
(iv) Lead base for coating of copper wire.
(v) Low melting point for use in the following:
(a) Dry type rectifier elements.
(b) Fire protective systems, safety devices and electrical fuses.
(c) Plugs for screwless fasteners in rimless metal spectacles.
(d) Dentistry.
(e) Plastic fire control instruments for the mounting of optics.
(f) Seals between brass and glass parts of liquid high voltage fuses.
(g) Inspection gauges.
(vi) Silver brazing.
(vii) Silver for use as contacts in electric current interruption devices.
(viii) Type metal for typography trade.
(ix) Zinc base for rolling only.

II. Chemicals, except pigments.

III. Pigments for signal and illuminating glass, thermometer tubing, rubber sea buoys, dental rubber, X-ray fluoroscopic screens and luminescent coatings for cathode ray tubes, except tubes to be used in signs, lighting fixtures or lamps.

IV. Standard cells and electrolytic testers.

(c) Priorities Regulation 28 still applies. To any case not covered by the above, CC ratings will be assigned only as provided in Priorities Regulation 28.

Issued this 22d day of March 1946.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

[Rev. SO 109, Amdt. 2]

AMENDMENT OF CERTAIN ORDERS AND APPROVALS ISSUED UNDER SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER 94 AND SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER 122

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment to Revised Supplementary Order 109 has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Supplementary Order 109 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1305.137 (e) is added to read as follows:

(e) On and after March 25, 1946 the provisions of all orders previously issued by the Price Administrator, any Regional Administrator or District Director under Supplementary Order 94 are amended by adding the words "and/or War Assets Administration" after the words "War Assets Corporation" wherever they appear.

2. Section 1305.137 (f) is added to read as follows:

(f) On and after March 25, 1946 the provisions of all orders and approvals previously issued by the Price Administrator or authorized officers or employees of the Office of Price Administration under Supplementary Order 122 shall also be applicable to all sales by the War Assets Administration of the commodities described in all of said orders and approvals, and to all sales by resellers of any of such commodities sold by the War Assets Administration.

This amendment shall become effective March 25, 1946.

Issued this 21st day of March 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

PART 1306—IRON AND STEEL

GRAY IRON CASTINGS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 1421.157 is amended by inserting a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) In any case in which an applicant applies for an adjustment of his maximum prices for some or all of the gray iron castings he sells and seeks an increase in his maximum prices higher than the price which would otherwise be allowed under paragraph (a) of this section, the Administrator or the appropriate regional administrator may, in his discretion, grant such a higher price to be accompanied by a compensatory decrease in other prices of the same seller. However, the price may not be above a level maintaining a normal price relationship in the malleable iron castings which the applicant sells. The accompanying reduction in other prices will equal the total dollar amount of the adjustment granted in excess of the price that otherwise would be allowed under paragraph (a).

This amendment shall become effective March 22, 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

[MPR 389,[1] Amdt. 25]

CEILING PRICES FOR CERTAIN SAUSAGE ITEMS AT WHOLESALE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 389 is amended by changing the specifications for "Type 2 chili con carne, plain (without beans)" contained in the definition for "Chili con carne, plain (without beans)" in section 13 (h) to read as follows:

"Type 2 chili con carne, plain (without beans)" shall be made in any combination of not less than 75 percent of fresh or frozen uncured beef, veal, pork or regular boneless mutton (as defined in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 239), and not more than 25 percent of beef or pork fat (the foregoing percentages shall be based on the total uncooked weight of meats used, and the rendered weight, estimated if meat actual, of the beef or pork fat used). Hearts, beef, veal or pork cheeks, or head meat may be substituted for an equal quantity of beef, veal, pork or regular boneless mutton, but not in excess of 25 percent of the total meats used. The finished product shall not have a fat content in excess of 35 percent; may contain extender other than beans not in excess of 8 percent of the weight of the finished product; shall contain a suitable mixture of spices and seasoning, including ground chili peppers; and the yield of the finished product shall not exceed 85 percent of the total of the weights of the uncooked meat ingredients, the rendered beef or pork fat, and the extender used.

This amendment shall become effective March 27, 1946.

PART 1377—WOODEN CONTAINERS

[RMPR 186, Amdt. 13]

WESTERN WOODEN AGRICULTURAL CONTAINERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE OF THIS REGULATION

SECTION 1. Articles covered. This regulation covers sales of domestic washing machines, domestic ironing machines, and domestic driers. As used in this regulation:

(a) A washing machine means a mechanically operated new washing machine of the type commonly used in households for washing clothes, linens and similar household articles. Among others, this includes tray type machines designed for use with a stationary tub.

(b) An ironing machine means a mechanically operated new ironing machine of the type commonly used in households for ironing clothes, linens and similar household articles.

(c) A drier means a mechanically operated new automatic drying machine of the type commonly used in households for drying clothes, linens and similar household articles. It does not include rack type driers.

SEC. 2. Persons and transactions covered. (a) This regulation covers all sales and deliveries of washing and ironing machines and driers by any person.

(b) As used in this regulation:

(1) "Manufacturer" means a person who operates a factory in which washing machines, ironing machines or driers are manufactured or assembled, or a person who regularly sells private brand washing or ironing machines or driers to distributors, or a person who sells to purchasers for resale private brand washing machines, ironing machines or driers, patterns or dies for which he owns or controls.

(2) "Distributor" means any person who is not a "manufacturer" and who buys completed washing machines, ironing machines or driers, and resells them to persons other than consumers.

(3) "Dealer" means a person who buys completed washing machines, ironing machines or driers, and resells them to consumers.

(4) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, or any other organized group; their legal successors or representatives; the United States or any government or any of their political subdivisions.

(5) "Class of purchaser" means any purchaser or group of purchasers to whom the seller had an established practice during the period January 1–October 15, 1941, inclusive, of selling the same type of article at prices different from those charged other purchasers or groups of purchasers. A class of purchaser may be a single purchaser or a kind of purchaser (for example mail order establishments, department stores, etc.) or purchasers located in a particular area (for example, distributors in the west coast area, etc.) or purchasers who buy in particular quantities (for example dealers who buy in quantities of 5 or more) or purchasers who buy under particular conditions of sale (for example, long term credit, 5% cash discounts, etc.).

Any purchaser, kind of purchaser, or purchaser on certain terms or conditions of sale, which the trade has generally recognized as constituting a separate class of purchaser, and for sales to which the seller does not have a ceiling price established by or under this regulation is a new class of purchaser under this regulation. A seller's ceiling prices for sales to a new class of purchaser must be established under section 10 of this regulation.

ARTICLE II—MANUFACTURERS' CEILING PRICES

SEC. 3. Models on which a price was quoted between January 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941. A manufacturer's ceiling price for sales to a particular class of purchaser of a washing machine, ironing machine or drier model on which he quoted a price between January 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941 is the price determined under the first applicable rule of the following contained in this section:

Rule 1. If a price list which the manufacturer had in effect at any time during the period October 1–15, 1941, inclusive, contained a price for sales of a particular model to a particular class of purchaser, his ceiling price for sales of that model to that class of purchaser is the highest price quoted by any such price list for those sales.

Rule 2. If a manufacturer cannot use Rule 1 because he did not have any price list in effect at any time during the period October 1–15, 1941, inclusive, or because the price lists he had in effect during that time contained no price for sales of a particular model to a particular class of purchaser, then his ceiling price for sales of that model to that class of purchaser is the highest net price, f. o. b. manufacturer's point of shipment, at which he made or contracted to make such a sale during the period October 1–15, 1941, inclusive.

Rule 3. If a manufacturer cannot use either Rule 1 or Rule 2, then his ceiling price for sales of a particular model to a particular class of purchaser is the highest net price, f. o. b. manufacturer's point of shipment, at which he sold or contracted to sell that model to a purchaser of the same class during the period January 1 to September 30, 1941, inclusive. This price may, however, be increased if the manufacturer, during the period January 1–October 15, 1941, increased his prices for some models of washing or ironing machines or driers in his line, but did not increase his prices for the particular model because he had stopped producing that model before the time he increased his prices. The amount of the increase may not exceed a percentage of that price equal to that by which he increased his prices during the period January 1–October 15, 1941, for the most comparable model in his line on October 15, 1941. The price increased in this manner becomes the manufacturer's ceiling price for sales of that model to that class of purchaser.

Rule 4. If the manufacturer cannot find his ceiling price under Rules 1, 2, or 3 for a sale of a particular model to a particular class of purchaser, because he did not quote any prices for that model to that class of purchaser during the period January 1 to October 15, 1941, then his ceiling price for that sale is his ceiling price to any other class of purchaser to whom he contracted to sell, sold or quoted it during that period, adjusted to reflect his customary differential then in effect for sales to that particular class of purchaser.

SEC. 4. Revocation of certain ceiling prices and adjustments. (a) Regardless of any contrary provision in Revised Price Schedule No. 86 or MPR 188 or any written approval or order previously issued thereunder by the Office of Price Administration, all manufacturers' ceiling prices for washing and ironing machines established before October 4, 1945 and all manufacturers' ceiling prices for driers established before March 27, 1946 for models first offered for sale after October 15, 1941 are hereby revoked. New ceiling prices for those models must be established in accordance with sections 7, 9, or 10, whichever is applicable.

(b) All orders or other specific authorization issued by the Office of Price Administration at any time before October 4, 1945 by which a manufacturer was permitted to make an upward adjustment in his previously established ceiling prices for washing or ironing machines or driers are hereby revoked. Hereafter those adjustments may not be made, nor may they be used in the computation of ceiling prices for other models of washing or ironing machines or driers.

SEC. 5. Reconversion adjustment of certain ceiling prices. This section authorizes reconversion adjustments by manufacturers of certain ceiling prices. Unless a manufacturer is otherwise directed by an order issued by the Office of Price Administration under this section, every manufacturer of washing or ironing machines may adjust any ceiling price which he fixed for sales to purchasers for resale and to the United States and Allied Governments in accordance with section 3 of this regulation, by adding to that price an amount equal to 7.7% of that price. Orders will be issued under this section denying a manufacturer permission to adjust his ceiling prices by all or part of this increase when it appears to the Price Administrator, on the basis of the manufacturer's production plans as previously filed with the War Production Board and other information available to the Office of Price Administration, that the manufacturer has discontinued production of his low-end model or has decreased the proportion of low prices to high priced models which he manufactures so that his present or prospective production is not representative of his production in that respect of those machines during the year July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941. The average price at which the manufacturer's production of each type of machine will be sold will be considered in determining how much, if any, of the increase will be granted to such a manufacturer.

SEC. 6. New or changed models involving minor changes. (a) A manufacturer's ceiling prices for any model washing or ironing machine or drier he produces which does not differ by more than a "minor change" from another model for which he has already established ceiling prices are the ceiling prices of the model already priced. Any change which reduces the efficiency, convenience or safety of operation, of the machine being changed is a major change.

(b) For purposes of this regulation only the following changes are minor changes:

(1) Changes in, addition to, or elimination of decorative moldings, strips, fittings or hardware; and changes in the design of the sheet metal or cast metal components: Provided, That the total changes do not amount in the aggregate to more than two pounds in the weight of metal.

(2) Changes in gauge of metal: Provided, That the efficiency or quality of the washing or ironing machine is not decreased.

(3) Changes in color or finish: Provided, That the type of finish is not changed.

(4) Changes in the make of the motor or gas engine.

(5) Interchanging porcelain enamel finish and bright finishes such as chrome or nickel plating.

(6) Changes in the specifications of the casters.

(7) Changes in the composition of the wringer rolls.

(8) Changes in the material used in the agitator.

(9) Changes in name plate or decal.

(10) Changes in the form of the transmission case.

(11) In the case of a washing machine changes in, but not elimination of the timer, off and on switch, overload switch, cord reel, or thermometer.

(12) In the case of an ironing machine, changes in, but not elimination of the thermostatic controls, lap shelf, end shelves, switches, speed rolls, clothes racks, porcelain table top, shoe edge protector, light, or emergency shoe release.

(13) In the case of a drier, changes in the shape, size and material of gas burners, Provided, That the BTU output is not reduced.

SEC. 7. New or changed models involving a change, not a minor change. (a) Pricing formula. If you are a manufacturer who cannot find his ceiling price under sections 3, 5 or 6, then your ceiling price is the price properly determined according to the following formula:

(1) Find the model of washing or ironing machine or drier for which you have a ceiling price, which is comparable to the machine priced. The "comparable" model is the one which is most like the machine being priced in design, construction, and operation, and which is closest to it in unit direct cost. If a machine on which "minor changes" have been made is subsequently used as the "comparable" model in pricing a new or changed model, the cost of the comparable model shall be computed on the basis of the cost to make the machine without the "minor changes."

(2) Find the current unit direct cost of the comparable model. Current unit direct cost means the cost of direct materials and direct labor computed on the basis of (i) your normal production volume and your normal material purchase practices; (ii) current material prices paid not to exceed ceiling prices; (iii) wage rates in effect at the time the report is prepared; (iv) labor efficiency and material waste allowances determined at the time of or just prior to the preparation of the report. For the purpose of this section, direct material and direct labor do not include any items of factory expense or burden, pattern and tool and die cost, production engineering, warehousing and shipping expense, royalties, and items of selling general and administrative expense. If you are not producing the comparable model, you nevertheless compute the current unit direct cost on the basis described above.

(3) Find the current unit direct cost of the model being priced on the same basis as described in subparagraph (2) in a manner consistent with the current unit direct cost of the comparable model.

(4) Find your mark-up factor by dividing the ceiling price of the comparable model by its current unit direct cost. You must use your ceiling price to the class of purchasers (distributors, dealers, mail order houses, etc.) who buy from you in the greatest volume.

(5) Multiply the unit direct cost of the model being priced by that mark-up factor. The result is your ceiling price to the class of purchaser used in subparagraph (4). Your ceiling prices to any other class of purchaser, for the model being priced, must be calculated on the basis of the percentage differential which you customarily had in effect for sales to that class of purchaser.

(b) Reporting and waiting provisions. (1) If a manufacturer uses this section to find his ceiling price, he may not, without special authorization, sell, offer to sell, or deliver the washing or ironing machine or drier until his ceiling price has been approved by the Office of Price Administration. To receive that approval a manufacturer must comply with the reporting and waiting provisions which are stated below.

(2) The manufacturer must report the price which he has arrived at under this section on OPA Form 6065–2585 provided for that purpose giving all the information called for by that form. These forms may be obtained by him from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and his report must be filed there. With the form he must include an illustration and specifications of both the new and comparable models. If he receives a written acknowledgment and approval of his report, he may proceed at once to sell the washing or ironing machine or drier at the reported price. If the manufacturer does not receive approval of his price within 15 days from the day on which he mailed the report he may, nevertheless, treat his reported price as his ceiling price: Provided (i) he has reported the correct ceiling price of the comparable article used in the computation, and (ii) he has used reasonable care and good faith in selecting and reporting the comparable model used in computation, and (iii) he has used reasonable care and good faith in arriving at and reporting all unit direct costs computed and reported in accordance with the provisions of this section. If the manufacturer has not met all three of these conditions, a sale at the reported price, if it is higher than the correctly determined price, is in violation of this regulation, even though the manufacturer did not hear from the Office of Price Administration within 15 days or even though his reported price was approved.

SEC. 8. Downward adjustment of certain prices established or reported. Prices established or reported under sections 6 and 7 are subject to reduction at any time by written order of the Office of Price Administration if (a) the price appears to be out of line with prices established for similar models, taking into account the manufacturer's relationships with other manufacturers during the base period, or (b) the price is too high in comparison with the manufacturing or selling conditions actually experienced, or (c) the price is found to be incorrect under the provisions of the applicable pricing method. Any reduction under this section will not be retroactive if the manufacturer has an established ceiling price and has met the three conditions specified in paragraph (b) of section 7 in arriving at and reporting his price.

SEC. 9. Ceiling prices fixed by special orders. (a) If a manufacturer cannot apply the formula in section 7 because he has no comparable model, then his ceiling price for sales to a particular class of purchaser is the price specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration for such sale, in line with the level of ceiling prices fixed by this regulation. Application for the establishment of such prices must be made in writing to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. The manufacturer may not, except in the case of sales to the United States or Allied Governments (see section 13 below), sell, offer to sell, or deliver a washington or ironing machine or drier for which a price must be fixed under this section prior to specific authorization by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Applications under this section shall contain a detailed breakdown of the unit direct costs of the new model (computed in the manner set forth in section 7 (a)), a list of the major specifications of that model, and the manufacturer's proposed ceiling prices for sales to each class of purchaser.

SEC. 10. Ceiling prices for sales to new classes of purchasers. If a manufacturer cannot find his ceiling price for sales to a particular class of purchaser under any of the preceding sections of this regulation, or under any order issued under this regulation, he shall apply for the establishment of ceiling prices or a method of determining his ceiling prices for sales to that class of purchaser. The application shall be made by letter to the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and shall indicate the classes of purchasers for sales to whom prices are to be fixed. In addition the application shall set forth the manufacturer's proposed ceiling prices for those sales. An order will be issued under this section establishing ceiling prices or a method of determining ceiling prices in line with the level of ceiling prices fixed by this regulation.

SEC. 11. Establishment of ceiling prices in certain cases. If a manufacturer is required by this regulation to file a report under section 7 or to apply for the establishment of a ceiling price under sections 9 or 10, and he fails to do so, or he fails to provide any of the information required in those sections, the Office of Price Administration may, on its own motion, issue orders under this section fixing ceiling prices for the manufacturer's sales in line with the level of ceiling prices established by this regulation. Ceiling prices so established will be effective as of the date of the first sale to which this regulation is applicable.

SEC. 12. Reports, catalogues, and price lists. (a) Every manufacturer of articles covered by this regulation must notify the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., whenever he changes the model designation of any washing or ironing machine or drier in his line, and whenever he adds a new model to his line. This report may be made by letter and must give the model designation of both the model changed and the new model. This report must be mailed within three days after the change or addition is made.

(b) Every manufacturer must file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a copy of every catalogue and price list for domestic washing or ironing machines or driers issued by him on and after October 15, 1941. In addition, every manufacturer must file a copy of every notification he issues to the trade after the effective date of this regulation concerning new prices, changes in prices, or changes in terms, discounts or allowances. Copies of these notifications must be filed within ten days after they have been issued to the trade.

SEC. 13. Sales to the United States and Allied Governments. (a) A manufacturer may sell and deliver and tentatively collect a price for any washing machine, ironing machine or drier which is sold directly to any agency of the United States Government or of any Allied Government prior to the establishment of a ceiling price for sales of the machine to that class of purchaser. The manufacturer must, however, inform the buyer that the ceiling price is still to be established under this regulation and he must refund any amount collected which is in excess of the ceiling price approved or established by the Office of Price Administration. Within ten days after the manufacturer has entered into a contract for such a sale, he must file a report or an application as provided in section 7, 9 or 10, whichever is applicable.

ARTICLE III—CEILING PRICES FOR RESALES BY DISTRIBUTORS AND DEALERS

SEC. 14. Establishment of resale prices for distributors and dealers by order. Whenever the manufacturer's ceiling prices for a washing or ironing machine or drier have been determined under this regulation, an order may be issued fixing ceiling prices, or a method of determining ceiling prices for sales of the machine by distributors and dealers. Resale ceiling prices established by an order under this section supersede any prices established under any other provision of this regulation for those sales.

SEC. 15. Distributors' ceiling prices. A distributor's ceiling price for sales of a particular model of washing or ironing machine or drier to a particular class of purchaser is that established for his sales by an order issued under section 14. If no ceiling price has been established for the particular sale by such an order he shall determine his ceiling price under the first applicable rule of the following contained in this section:

Rule 5. A distributor's ceiling price for sales in each zone of each model to each class of purchaser shall be the price which will yield the distributor the same percentage of the total dollar margin between the manufacturer's price to him (not exceeding the manufacturer's ceiling price to him) and the dealer's price for resales to ultimate consumers in that zone as he received during the period October 1–15, 1941, in connection with the sale of the most "comparable" model sold by him to the same class of purchaser. To be "comparable", a model must be one produced by the same manufacturer.

Rule 6. If a distributor cannot determine his ceiling price for sales of a particular model to a particular class of dealer under Rule 5, his ceiling price for that sale is the ceiling price established under Rule 5 for the same sale by the "closest seller of the same class" who has so determined a ceiling price. A distributor's "closest seller of the same class" is a distributor who (a) has established a ceiling price for sales of the identical model of washing or ironing machine or drier to the same class of purchaser, and (b) is the same general type of seller, and (c) is located in the same zone and is nearer to the seller than any other seller who meets requirements (a) and (b) of this rule. The area included in each zone is set forth in Section 17, unless an order issued under section 14 specifies other zones for the particular make of machine.

Rule 7. If the distributor cannot otherwise find his ceiling price for a particular sale, his ceiling price for that sale is the price established by the Office of Price Administration in an order under this section.

An application under this rule shall state the name of the manufacturer of the machine being priced, its model designation, the classes of purchaser to whom the applicant proposes to sell the machine, the ceiling prices he proposes for such sales, and a statement of the reasons he cannot use the other rules in this section.

SEC. 16. Dealers' ceiling prices. A dealers' ceiling price for sales of a particular model of washing or ironing machine or drier to a consumer is that established for his sales by an order issued under section 14. If no ceiling price has been established for a dealer's sales of a particular washing or ironing machine by such an order he shall determine his ceiling price for the sale in accordance with the following table:

If the manufacturer's lowest net ceiling price [1] to distributors is—	The retail ceiling price in each zone [2] is—

[1] The lowest net ceiling price is the lowest ceiling price which the manufacturer has for sales to any class of distributor for sales of the machine equipped with an electric motor (but, in the case of a wringer type machine, not with a water pump), less all allowances and all discounts except discounts for prompt payment.

[2] The areas included in each zone are set forth in section 17.

If a wringer type washing machine is equipped with a water pump, $10.00 may be added to the ceiling price for the machine shown in the above table.

If a washing machine is equipped with a gasoline motor instead of an electric motor, $25.00 may be added to the ceiling price for the machine shown in the above table.

SEC. 17. Zones. For purposes of this regulation, Zones 1, 2 and 3 consist of the following States:

Zone 1—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and the District of Columbia.

Zone 2—Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Florida, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Zone 3—Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas.

ARTICLE IV—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 18. Sales invoices and records. (a) Every manufacturer, distributor, and dealer who sells a washing or ironing machine or drier after October 4, 1945, shall furnish every purchaser with an invoice showing the date of sale, the name and address of both the buyer and seller, the model number of each machine sold, the price charged, the quantity of each model sold, the terms of sale, and the nature and amount of any additional charges.

(b) Every seller must retain the following records:

(1) A copy of each report or pricing application which he prepares and files in accordance with the provisions of this regulation.

(2) A copy of all communications to or from the Office of Price Administration or a supplier regarding prices, terms, and conditions of sale of machines covered by this regulation.

(3) A copy of each sales invoice.

(4) Each purchase invoice received by him if he is a purchaser for resale.

These records shall be kept available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for as long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

SEC. 19. Tagging. Unless an order issued under this regulation specifically provides otherwise:

(a) No person may sell at retail any machine covered by this regulation unless there is attached to the machine a tag or label containing the OPA retail ceiling price for sales of the machine in the seller's zone. On and after March 27, 1946, no person may sell at retail any machine covered by this regulation unless there is attached to the machine a tag or label provided by the manufacturer in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) On or after October 14, 1945, a manufacturer may not ship any machine covered by this regulation to a distributor or dealer unless there is attached to the machine a tag or label containing the OPA retail ceiling price of the machine in each zone together with a list of the states in each zone, the manufacturer's name or the brand name, the model designation of the machine, and a statement that the tag or label may not be removed until after the machine is sold to a consumer.

SEC. 20. Credit charges on dealer sales. Charges for the extension of credit may be added to the retail ceiling prices established by this regulation, or by any order issued under this regulation unless such order provides otherwise. No such credit charge may exceed that permitted by this section.

(a) Dealers who during the period October 1–15, 1941, collected a separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit on sales of machines covered by this regulation, may collect a charge for the extension of credit on sales under this regulation, not exceeding such charge during that period on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser. Dealers who did not then so state and collect an additional charge, may collect a charge for the extension of credit only on installment plan sales; and the charge shall not exceed the separately stated additional charge collected for the extension of credit on a similar sale on similar terms to the same class of purchaser during the period October 1–5, 1941, by the dealer's closest competitor who made such a separately stated charge.

An installment plan sale as used in the above paragraph means a sale where the unpaid balance is to be paid in installments over a period of either (1) six weeks or more from the date of sale in the case of weekly installments, or (2) eight weeks or more in the case of other than weekly installments.

(b) All charges for the extension of credit shall be quoted and stated separately. Any charge which is not quoted and stated separately or which otherwise does not conform to this section, shall for the purpose of this regulation, be considered to be part of the price charged for the article sold.

(c) No dealer may require as a condition of sale that the purchaser must buy on credit.

SEC. 21. Modification of the provisions of this regulation. The provisions of this regulation as applied to classes of commodities or persons subject thereto may be modified by orders of general applicability issued under this section.

Orders may also be issued under this section, at the request of a manufacturer, altering his zoning practices and prices, and those of his distributor and dealers accordingly, when it appears that no increase in the general level of prices of machines covered by this regulation will result.

SEC. 22. Terms of sale. Unless this regulation or an order issued under it provides otherwise each ceiling price established by or under this regulation is subject to each seller's terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials no less favorable than those he had in effect for similar sales during the period October 1–15, 1941. If the seller made no such sales during the period October 1–15, 1941, his ceiling prices are subject to the terms, discounts, and allowances, no less favorable than those of his closest seller of the same class during the same period on sales of similar articles or which were thereafter properly established under applicable OPA regulations.

SEC. 23. Relation of this regulation to other price regulations. (a) The provisions of Revised Price Schedule No. 86, MPR 188, and the General Maximum Price Regulation do not apply to sales and deliveries covered by this regulation; except that the provisions of § 1499.5 (Transfers of business or stock in trade), § 1499.7 (Federal and State taxes), and § 1499.17 (d) (Adjustment of maximum prices for articles subject to State Fair Trade Acts) of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall continue to be applicable to sales by distributors and dealers, and all records which sellers were required to retain under those regulations must be kept and made available by them for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect.

(b) The ceiling price at which any person may sell any article covered by this regulation for export shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

SEC. 24. Compliance with the regulation—(a) No buying or selling at over ceiling prices. Regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell, offer to sell, or deliver, and in the course of trade or business, no person shall purchase or accept delivery of a washing machine, ironing machine or drier at a price higher than the ceiling price fixed by this regulation, or before the seller has properly determined his ceiling price under this regulation.

If, in violation of this provision, a sale, offer to sell or delivery of a washing machine, ironing machine or drier is made before its ceiling price has been properly established in accordance with this regulation, the ceiling price applicable to the sale, offer to sell or delivery shall be the correct ceiling price for the washing machine, ironing machine or drier properly determined in accordance with this regulation.

(b) Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(c) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

(d) Certain practices forbidden. Any practice which has the effect of getting a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollar and cents price is hereby forbidden.

The following is an illustrative list of the things a seller is not permitted to do. A seller is not permitted to require the purchaser, as a condition of the sale or transfer of the washing or ironing machine or drier, to make payment over a period of time; to require him to finance the purchase through any particular lending agency; to require him to purchase any equipment, accessories, repairs, parts, or services so as to increase the total compensation received by the seller above the ceiling price of the machine; to require the purchaser to purchase any other commodity or service; or to require him to make payment in whole or in part by exchanging, transferring or trading in any other product or commodity. Where there is an exchange, transfer, or trade-in in connection with a sale, it is a violation for the seller to give the purchaser an allowance for the product or commodity exchanged, transferred, or traded in which is less than its reasonable value.

Furthermore, the seller is prohibited from providing for the purchase of the machine by a lessee under a retail contract at an agreed valuation which together with the amount paid for the rental is higher than the applicable ceiling price at the time the rental contract is entered into, and from making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than they customarily have been except to the extent allowed by this regulation.

SEC. 25. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation shall be applicable in the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia.

Effective date. This revised regulation shall become effective on the 27th day of March 1946.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 22d day of March 1946.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 432 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. What products, transactions and persons are covered. This regulation covers all direct-mill sales of unfinished and pre-finished hardwood flooring produced from the species and in the regions indicated as follows:

Hard Maple and Birch.	Anywhere in the United States.
Beech and all other hardwood species except hard Maple, Birch, Oak and Pecan.	Northeastern, Northern and North Central, as those regions are described in Maximum Price Regulation 368, 223 and 155 respectively.

2. Article IV which immediately follows section 12 is amended to read as follows with Tables 7 through 12 inclusive being deleted:

ARTICLE IV—PRICE TABLES

The maximum prices, f. o. b. mill, for hard maple, birch and beech flooring are as follows:

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 241 is amended in the following respects:

1. The present paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 1421.107 are changed to read as paragraphs (c) and (d) respectively.

2. A new paragraph (b) is inserted in § 1241.107 to read as follows:

(b) In any case in which an applicant applies for an adjustment in his maximum prices for some or all of the malleable iron castings he sells and seeks an increase in his maximum prices higher than the price which would otherwise be allowed under paragraph (a) of this section, the Administrator or the appropriate regional administrator may, in his discretion, grant such a higher price to be accompanied by a compensatory decrease in other prices of the same seller. However, the price may not be above a level maintaining a normal price relationship in the malleable iron castings which the applicant sells. The accompanying reduction in other prices will equal the total dollar amount of the adjustment granted in excess of the price that otherwise would be allowed under paragraph (a).

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[MPR 586,[1] Amdt. 2]

STORAGE AND TERMINAL SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 586 is amended in the following respects:

1. In the table of contents, Items 7 and 8 are amended to read as follows:

7. Adjustment of maximum charges—special rule for "low-end" prices.
8. Adjustment of maximum charges—general rule.

2. Section 5 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 5. Maximum charges. Except as it may be adjusted, as provided in sections 7 or 8, or modified by an applicable provision in a supplementary storage regulation (see section 20), each seller's maximum charge for a storage or terminal service subject to this regulation shall be the first of the following that applies:

(a) The highest charge which the seller made for the same service "supplied" by him during March 1942 to a "purchaser of the same class."

(b) The highest "offering price" for supply of the same service during March 1942 to a "purchaser of the same class."

(d) The price determined under (a), (b), or (c) for "the most similar service."

(e) The charge determined under (a), (b), (c), or (d) for the seller's "closest competitor."

(f) If before April 1, 1942[2] the seller raised his charges for services to his classes of purchasers generally, and if during March 1942[2] he supplied the service at the increased price to at least one class of purchaser but did not supply the service at the increased price in March 1942 to a particular class of purchaser because either:

(1) The seller did not supply the service to that purchaser class in March 1942 after the price increase or

(2) The seller supplied the service to this purchaser class in March 1942 after the price increase at a lower price because bound to do so under a contract made before the price increase;

Then the maximum price to that particular class of purchaser shall be:

(i) The increased offering price to such class of purchaser for supply during March 1942 or

(ii) If there was no such increased offering price the highest price charged during March 1942 to a purchaser of a different class to which service was actually supplied, adjusted to reflect the customary differential in price between the two classes of purchaser.

3. In section 6, in the first sentence of paragraph (a), in place of the phrase "the appropriate Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration" the phrase "the Director, Transportation and Public Utilities Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C." is substituted; and in paragraph (b) the phrase "the appropriate Regional Administrator" (occurring twice) is changed to read "the Price Administrator".

4. Section 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Adjustment of maximum charges—special rule for "low-end" prices—(a) Explanation. This section provides a rapid procedure for adjustments of certain "low-end" prices (which meet the conditions set out in paragraph (b)). It is intended for use on relatively minor adjustments, which while they might be justified under section 8 of the regulation, would require an inordinate amount of time to establish precise costs and consequent hardship. This new procedure is dependent on the filing provisions of section 12, and is available only to those who are in compliance with that section. It may not be used for the purpose of making general increases in rates.

Any seller subject to this regulation may propose an adjustment in any charges that appear to him to come within the framework of this section, and unless the proposal is rejected, postponed or denied by the Administrator within thirty days from receipt of the application, or before the day specified as an effective date, whichever is later, the proposed increase shall become effective. A rejection or denial under this section shall be without prejudice to the applicant's right to re-apply under section 8.

(b) Conditions. Any seller subject to this regulation may propose to the Price Administrator an adjustment of his maximum rates if it appears:

(1) Such rates affect only a minor portion of applicant's business, or the applicant is a relatively small seller, and

(2) The level of the present maximum charges is such as to threaten a discontinuance of the particular service, and that such discontinuance would impede an orderly transition to a peacetime economy, and meets any one of conditions (3), (4) or (5) below.

(3) That certain storage rates or charges for particular services are unduly low as compared with his general level of rates and with the general level of maximum rates of his competitors for the same service.

(4) That a particular rate is now unduly low in relation to services performed thereunder compared with the services rendered thereunder in March 1942, by reason of such factors as changes in practical pile height, changes in packaging, changes in the number and frequency of small deliveries, or other changes in the nature of the services rendered.

(5) That a rate for pool-car distribution service is less than the corresponding charge for handling performed in connection with storage.

(c) Applicants may propose, in connection with upward adjustment of certain maximum rates, downward adjustments of other maximum rates in order to establish fairer and more equitable relationships. Such adjustments, if they become effective through this procedure, will become the applicant's maximum prices, the same as if they had been actually established under section 5.

(d) Filing of applications. (1) Applications under this section shall be filed with the Transportation and Public Utilities Division of the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and must be mailed in time to arrive at least thirty days before the effective date proposed.

[1] 10 F.R. 5797.

[2] For different dates applicable in territories see section 10.

[3] Grey goods includes those grey goods priced under MPR 11—Fine cotton goods, RPS 35—Carded Grey and Colored-Yarn Cotton Goods, and MPR 118 Cotton Products.

[4] Colored yarn combed goods include those priced under MPR 11.

[5] Colored yarn carded goods include those work clothing materials priced under RPS 35 such as mill finished and sanforized denims, chambrays and coverts.

(2) Applications must be accompanied by a letter of transmittal in form substantially as follows:

(Full name)
(Post Office Address)
———— 19 ——

Application under section 7 of MPR 586
our Number————
To the Director
Transportation and Public Utilities Division Office of Price Administration
Washington 25, D. C.

The following are filed with you in compliance with the provisions of section 7 of MPR 586:

(1) Supplement No. —— to our statement of maximum charges (originally filed with the ———— District Office ———— 19 ——) containing increases (and reductions) of charges for ———— proposed to become effective ———— 19 —.

(2) Statement of justification of charges proposed.

2 Request that the effective date be advanced.

3 Supplement No. —— to our statement of maximum charges correcting errors or omissions.

Signature—— ————
Title ————

NOTE: If receipt is desired, the letter of transmittal must be sent in duplicate, and one copy showing date of receipt and docket number will be returned to the sender.

(3) Applications shall be signed by the applicant personally, or if a partnership, by a partner, or if a corporation, by a duly authorized officer thereof.

(4) Whenever the Administrator deems it necessary or appropriate for their disposition, joint applications may be treated separately or separate applications consolidated.

(e) Contents of application. All papers attached to the application except the transmittal, and except letters from purchasers, must be in triplicate. The various subdivisions of the application must begin on separate sheets of paper, and shall conform substantially to the following:

(1) The statement of proposed adjustments in maximum charges shall be in the form of a supplement to the statement required to be filed under section 12. It should begin with a title conforming to Item (1) in the letter of transmittal. If the rates are allowed to go into effect, these statements will automatically become part of the section 12 filings, and need not be re-filed. Such statements must adequately describe the services, conditions of service, and purchaser classes involved.

(2) The statement in justification of changes proposed should contain any additional explanations necessary to compare the proposed charges with those previously in effect, with applicant's other rates, and with competitive rates. The services performed, the commodities and packages involved, their weights, densities, practical pile heights, and other characteristics must be described with sufficient clarity to make proper comparisons.

The relationship between the proposed charges and the other charges which are likely and usually to be assessed on the same business, must be explained; for example, in case handling charges are proposed to be increased, an explanation must be made as to the storage rate, and the usual duration of storage.

If any of the prices sought to be adjusted were established by an OPA order of adjustment, or a supplementary regulation, rather than through section 5, this fact must be stated. Otherwise, the application will have no force and effect with respect to such prices.

Applicant must supply an estimate of annual revenue under the present and proposed basis, and a statement of the approximate percentage of present revenues on the particular service to applicant's present gross revenues. If the principal burden of the increase will fall on a limited number of purchasers, such as a particular class of purchasers, or a Government agency, applicant should supply the names of these customers and evidence that they have been advised that the application is being filed with the Transportation and Public Utilities Division.

Applicant shall be free to supply such other information which in his opinion will support the application. This may include statements from purchasers of the service in substantially the form shown in section 8 (d) (8).

(3) Applicants may request permission to advance the effective date, but such permission may be granted only by specific order, and may be subject to appropriate conditions.

(4) Since the Administrator may reject any application under this section if the filing required by section 12 appears inadequate or incomplete, applicants who have inadvertently omitted reference to rates involved may move to perfect their filings under section 12 by filing supplement at the same time as filing an application under this section 7. In such cases three copies of the supplement should accompany the application, in addition to the two copies required under section 12, to be filed in District Offices.

(f) Action by OPA. The Administrator may

(1) Reject in whole or in part any application which does not comply with the requirements of (b), (d), or (e) above, or if the statements required to be filed under section 12 appear inadequate or incomplete. In the case of failure to file sufficiently in advance of the effective date, such rejection may be made after the effective date;

(2) Deny in whole or in part an application under this section for any of the reasons justifying a rejection, or if in his judgment, the increases proposed have not been shown to be within the framework of this section, or will result in rates higher than are contemplated by this section;

(3) Postpone the effective date of the proposed adjustment (in whole or in part) to a definite future date, or to a date a specified number of days subsequent to the receipt of additional information from applicant; or

(4) Grant permission to advance the effective date in appropriate instances where he deems it necessary to promote distribution or production.

If none of the foregoing actions is taken, the proposed adjustment becomes effective on the date specified in the application, or thirty days after receipt, whichever is later. Any price established under this section 7 may, however, be modified by the Administrator upon further consideration at any time.

5. In section 8, the title is amended to read "Adjustment of Maximum Charges —General Rule", and paragraph (a) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) That there exists or threatens to exist a shortage in the supply of a service which is necessary to an effective transition to a peacetime economy, such that loss of that seller's service would impair an effective transition to a peacetime economy.

This amendment shall become effective March 27, 1946.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Budget Bureau in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PAUL A. PORTER,
Administrator.

Chapter XIV—War Contracts Adjustment Board

RENEGOTIATION REGULATIONS

The changes and additions to Parts 1602, 1603, 1607, and 1608 set forth below are also contained in Revision 23 of the Renegotiation Regulations dated February 15, 1946.

MAURICE HIRSCH,
Colonel, General Staff Corps,
Chairman.

PART 1602—PROCEDURE FOR RENEGOTIATION

SUBPART E—COMPLETION OF RENEGOTIATION

Section 1602.255 is revoked, as follows:

SUBPART F—CONTROL OF RENEGOTIATION RECORDS AND INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN

Subpart F is added as follows:

§ 1602.260 Scope of subpart. This subpart establishes the regulations governing the custody of information, records, and files relating to renegotiation proceedings conducted by or under the authority of the War Contracts Board. Since the jurisdiction of the War Contracts Board extends only to renegotiation proceedings with respect to fiscal years ended after June 30, 1943, control over and custody of information, records, and files relating to proceedings with respect to fiscal years ended on or before June 30, 1943 remains in the respective Departments and is subject to such regulations as may be in force within such Departments (see, for example, Article 95 of United States Navy Regulations (1920), Army Regulations 410-5, etc.). [RR 260]

§ 1602.261 General. (a) Renegotiation agreements, reports, records, files, correspondence, memoranda, and all other data, documents, and material (hereinafter referred to generally as "documents") which have come into the possession of or have been prepared by any renegotiating agency, in connection with any renegotiation proceeding, are the property of the Government of the United States. They are in the legal custody of the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board and are subject to this chapter, notwithstanding that they may be in the physical possession of a Department or other agency to which the War Contracts Board has delegated certain of its authorities under the Renegotiation Act. They are not to be distributed, nor are their contents to be revealed to any person other than as provided in these regulations or as may be prescribed by the War Contracts Board in any specific instance. "Access" to documents, as used in this chapter, includes the furnishing of copies of such documents and oral disclosure of the contents of documents. Authority to grant access to documents includes the authority to prescribe the extent of such access and the terms and conditions upon which it will be granted. This chapter has no relevance to documents which the War Contracts Board has authorized to be distributed to the public.

(b) Under section 55 (f) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code it is unlawful for any person "to divulge or make known in any manner whatever not provided by law" any information set forth or disclosed in any Federal income return or copy thereof or abstract therefrom. Pursuant to other provisions of the Internal Revenue Code procedures have been established by the Treasury Department under which persons entitled to such information may get it from the Treasury Department. Accordingly, under no circumstances will access be afforded to copies of Federal tax returns, revenue agents' reports, or other Federal tax data in the custody of the War Contracts Board. Any such material will in every case be carefully excluded from any documents to which access is granted in accordance with this chapter. [RR 261]

§ 1602.262 Renegotiation personnel. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subpart, all personnel engaged in the administration or enforcement of the Renegotiation Act will be afforded access, in the course of their official duties, to any documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board. [RR 262]

§ 1602.263 Departmental personnel. All personnel on duty in or employed by any of the "Departments" within the Renegotiation Act may, without specific approval of the War Contracts Board, be afforded access to any documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board, notwithstanding that such personnel are not engaged in the administration of the Renegotiation Act, if in the opinion of the Chairman of the Price Adjustment Board of the Department having physical possession of such documents, such access is necessary to or will facilitate the discharge of any official duty of such personnel and is not against the public interest. [RR 263]

§ 1602.264 Other personnel in the Executive Branch of the Government. Subject to the exceptions hereinafter provided, personnel on duty in or employed by any agency or department of the executive branch of the Government, other than one of the "Departments" within the meaning of the Renegotiation Act, may, without specific approval of the War Contracts Board, be afforded access to any documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board only if such access has been directed by the President of the United States or any official of the United States to whom authority over the War Contracts Board has been given by statute or executive action. There are excepted from the provisions of the preceding sentence personnel employed by the Department of Justice or the General Accounting Office, to whom access to documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board may, without specific approval of the War Contracts Board, be afforded if, in the opinion of the Chairman of the Price Adjustment Board of the Department having physical possession of such documents, such access is necessary to or will facilitate the discharge of any official duty of such personnel and is not against the public interest. [RR 264]

§ 1602.265 The Legislative Branch of the Government. The War Contracts Board will afford access to any documents in its custody to the Congress, or to any duly authorized committee of the Congress upon request of the Congress or such committee made in writing and submitted to the Chairman or the Secretary of the War Contracts Board. [RR 265]

§ 1602.266 Affording access to documents pursuant to subpoena or other judicial process. Subpoenas duces tecum, or other judicial process constituting a demand for access to or the production of documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board, are properly to be served upon the Chairman of the War Contracts Board. No person, notwithstanding that he may have physical possession of such documents, is authorized to afford access thereto or to produce the same pursuant to subpoena duces tecum or other judicial process except upon authorization or direction from the Chairman of the War Contracts Board.

Whenever a subpoena or other process demanding the production of documents which are in the custody of the War Contracts Board, whether issued by a Federal court, State court, or administrative tribunal (such as The Tax Court of the United States), is served upon any person, other than said Chairman, having possession of such documents, such person will appear in such court and respectfully decline to present such documents, basing his refusal upon this regulation and pointing out that the War Contracts Board's administrative process makes provision for the serving of such subpoenas upon its Chairman. [RR 266]

§ 1602.267 Disclosure of information acquired in the performance of duties in connection with renegotiation. Disclosure of facts, knowledge of which was acquired in the course of official duty in connection with any renegotiation proceeding conducted by or under the authority of the War Contracts Board, is to be made only to such persons or bodies and subject to the same restrictions as are provided in these regulations with respect to access to documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board. [RR 267]

§ 1602.268 Control of physical possession of documents. Any person transferred or separated from duty or employment in connection with renegotiation, or transferred or separated from duty or employment in any other connection in which possession of documents in the custody of the War Contracts Board is authorized, shall, upon such transfer or separation, deliver all such documents in his possession into the possession of a responsible official. [RR 268]

PART 1603—DETERMINATION OF RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS AND COSTS

SUBPART A—FISCAL YEAR BASIS FOR RENEGOTIATION AND EXCEPTIONS

In § 1603.301–2 paragraph (c) is added as follows:

§ 1603.301–2 Use of fiscal year basis; in general. * * *

(c) However, with respect to a fiscal year ended on or after January 31, 1945, if the discontinuance of war business, with particular regard to the time, character and extent of the discontinuance and the relationship between discontinuance costs and renegotiable receipts or accruals, results in a situation in which renegotiation on the basis of the fiscal year may work a severe and irreparable hardship, the circumstances may be submitted by the renegotiating agency, through the Chairman of the Price Adjustment Board of the Department conducting the renegotiation, to the War Contracts Board for it to consider and prescribe appropriate action. [RR 301.2]

SUBPART E—PERMISSIVE EXEMPTIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

In § 1603.351–2 a new paragraph (b) is added; former paragraph (b) is redesignated paragraph (c) and amended; and former paragraphs (c) and (d) are redesignated paragraphs (d) and (e) as follows:

§ 1603.351–2 Exemption. * * *

(b) Pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, the War Contracts Board has determined with respect to all subcontracts to be performed in Canada but any substantial part of the work incident to which subcontracts is performed within the territorial limits of the United States or in Alaska,

(1) That administrative difficulties do not make impracticable the renegotiation of such subcontracts.

(2) That the procurement program of the United States in foreign countries will not be adversely affected by such renegotiation, and

(3) That such renegotiation will not otherwise be contrary to the interests of the United States.

Such subcontracts are, therefore, not exempt from renegotiation under subsection (i) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act or under paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Except as to subcontracts referred to in paragraph (b) of this section and except as provided in the last sentence of this paragraph, if a contractor assigned for renegotiation has receipts or accruals from a contract or subcontract described in paragraph (a) of this section, the renegotiating agency shall, before completing the renegotiation, furnish to the Department which entered into such contract or into the contract under which such subcontract was made, the following information:

(1) A statement as to whether administrative difficulties do or do not make impracticable the renegotiation of such contract or subcontract,

(2) A statement of opinion based upon all the facts available to the renegotiating agency as to whether the procurement program of the United States will be adversely affected by the renegotiation of such contract or subcontract,

(3) A statement of opinion based upon all the facts available to the renegotiating agency as to whether such renegotiation will be contrary to the interests of the United States, and

(4) A request that a determination be made that such contract or subcontract is or is not exempt from the provisions of the Renegotiation Act.

The Secretary of the Department to which the foregoing is submitted, or any authority to whom the power to exempt individual contracts under subsection (i) (4) (A) of the 1943 Act has been, or may be delegated or redelegated, shall make the findings with respect to the matters set forth in paragraph (a) of this section and promptly notify the renegotiating agency of such findings. The finding called for in subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a) of this section may be based entirely upon the statement called for in subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of this section. If such findings cannot be made, that fact will be promptly communicated to the renegotiating agency. The renegotiating agency need not follow the foregoing procedure if it appears that a clearance or cancellation of the assignment would be appropriate even though the receipts or accruals from the contract or subcontract in question were considered as subject to renegotiation.

SUBPART G—TERMINATION OF RENEGOTIATION

In § 1603.374 paragraph (d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.374 Costs paid or incurred. • • •

(d) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, no cost which has not been paid or incurred prior to January 1, 1947 will be allocated to performance prior to the close of the termination date. The determination as to whether a cost is paid or incurred prior to such date shall be made by reference to the method of accounting employed by the contractor for purposes of renegotiation. The time limitation specified in the first sentence of this paragraph shall not apply to costs which are accounted for on a completed contract basis or similar method of accounting. If it appears that a cost allocable to performance prior to the close of the termination date will be paid or incurred prior to January 1, 1947, the cost may be allowed conditionally as provided in paragraph (c) of this section. If it appears that the cost will not be paid or incurred prior to January 1, 1947, the risk that the cost will be paid or incurred after such date will, in accordance with § 1604.2 (a), be taken into consideration with the other risks assumed by the contractor. In no case will such risk be taken into consideration if the cost is allowed conditionally. [RR 374]

SUBPART H—COSTS ALLOCABLE AND ALLOWABLE AGAINST RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

1. Section 1603.381–4 (f) is added, as follows:

§ 1603.381–4 Profit, cost allocation and allowance; general. • • •

(f) Replacement of inventory involuntarily liquidated. Under subsection 22 (d) (6) of the Internal Revenue Code, a taxpayer using the last in, first out inventory method may for any year in which it involuntarily liquidated any part of its base stock inventory elect to adjust retroactively its net income for tax purposes for such year by reference to the costs of replacing in a subsequent year the inventory so involuntarily liquidated. The excess of such replacement costs over base stock costs is neither an exclusion nor a deduction under the Internal Revenue Code but is merely a retroactive adjustment of net income, and no part thereof will be allowed as a cost in determining profits under renegotiable contracts and subcontracts. Similarly no adjustment is required in renegotiation on account of any excess of base stock costs over replacement costs. It should be noted, however, that for the purposes of determining to what extent a contractor's profits are excessive, the low production costs, resulting from use of low-priced base stock inventory are to be taken into account under the provisions of § 1604.411 of this chapter. [RR 381.4]

2. Section 1603.383–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.383–2 Amortization—(a) Amortization of emergency facilities based on 60-month period. Under section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code, a contractor who has acquired or constructed with his own funds facilities especially adapted for use in war production may, upon securing a Certificate of Necessity, amortize their cost over a five-year period, at the rate of 1⅔ per cent per month. Prior to December 17, 1943, the Secretary of War and the Secretary of Navy were by such statute authorized to act upon applications for Certificates of Necessity. Under Executive Order No. 9406, dated December 17, 1943, as amended by Executive Order No. 9429, dated March 2, 1944, this authority (except with reference to certain pending applications) was transferred to the War Production Board, which acted through its Facilities Bureau. Amortization so allowed at the rate of 1⅔ per cent per month under section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code will be allowed as an item of cost for purposes of renegotiation, to the extent it is properly allocable to renegotiable business.

(b) Termination of emergency period with respect to facilities. Subsection (a) (4) (C) of the 1943 Act provides that no amount shall be allowed as an item of cost in renegotiation by reason of a recomputation of the amortization deduction pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code until after such recomputation has been made in connection with a determination of the contractor's Federal taxes for the fiscal year being renegotiated. Accordingly, notwithstanding that by reason of the issuance of a Certificate of Non-Necessity or the President's proclamation of September 29, 1945, a contractor has elected in accordance with section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code to terminate the amortization period with respect to any or all of his facilities, and is entitled to claim an additional amortization deduction under the Internal Revenue Code for the taxable year involved in the renegotiation, the renegotiating agencies are prohibited from allowing such additional amortization as an item of cost in the renegotiation unless and until there has been a recomputation of the amortization deduction in connection with a determination of the contractor's Federal taxes for such taxable year. A recomputation of amortization in connection with a tentative adjustment of taxes made in accordance with subsections (j) and (k) as added to section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code by the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945 does not constitute a recomputation of amortization made in connection with a determination of the contractor's taxes for the taxable year for the purposes of the Renegotiation Act.

(c) Anticipation of renegotiation rebate. (1) If by reason of the issuance of a Certificate of Non-Necessity or the President's proclamation of September 29, 1945, a contractor elects to terminate the amortization period with respect to any facility in accordance with section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code and if it appears that, upon a recomputation of the amortization deduction for the taxable year involved in the renegotiation made in connection with a determination of the contractor's Federal taxes for such year the contractor would be entitled to a renegotiation rebate for such year pursuant to subsection (a) (4) (D) of the Renegotiation Act, there may be accorded to the contractor the privilege of anticipating the renegotiation rebate in the manner described in the succeeding paragraphs of this section.

(2) There will be allowed as an item of cost in the determination of the excessive profits, if any, of the contractor in such renegotiation only the properly allocable portion of amortization at the rate of 1⅔ per cent per month. The amount, if any, of excessive profits to be eliminated shall, however, but only if determined by agreement, be fixed after applying in reduction thereof the allocable portion of the excess of the estimated amortization computed on the basis of the contractor's shortened amortization period of less than 60 months over the amount of amortization allowed as a cost as provided in the preceding sentence of this subparagraph. Such allocable portion is hereinafter referred to as the "additional amortization allowance". If such allowance is made, the renegotiation agreement must provide for the elimination of possible additional excessive profits by the inclusion in the agreement of a clause substantially in the form set forth at § 1607.741–2 (h) of this chapter.

(3) Since this procedure is designed to permit the contractor to offset against excessive profits to be eliminated for the fiscal year involved in the renegotiation the additional amortization allowance in anticipation of his renegotiation rebate for such fiscal year, it is not available to any contractor who would not otherwise be entitled to a renegotiation rebate under subsection (a) (4) (D) of the Renegotiation Act for such year. Thus, in the case of renegotiations conducted on a consolidated basis there may be applied in reduction of the excessive profits to be eliminated by any contractor or subcontractor in the consolidated group only the additional amortization allowance applicable to such contractor or subcontractor for such year, and any additional amortization to which any other contractor or subcontractor in the group may ultimately be entitled under the Internal Revenue Code may not be so applied. Also, the additional amortization to which a contractor may be entitled under the Internal Revenue Code for another year and which may be the basis of a renegotiation rebate for such year cannot be applied in reduction of the excessive profits to be eliminated for the year involved in the renegotiation.

(4) The reduction of the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated by the amount of the additional amortization allowance for the year involved in the renegotiation does not correspondingly increase the contractor's non-excessive renegotiable profits for the purpose of computing the proper adjustment to be made on account of taxes, other than Federal taxes, measured by income, which are attributable to such non-excessive profits.

3. In § 1603.384–2 paragraph (e) is added as follows:

§ 1603.384–2 Costs in connection with the discontinuance of renegotiable business. • • •

(e) Costs of removing certain facilities. Costs of moving, dismantling, demolishing, protecting and storing facilities used in performing renegotiable business will be allowed in renegotiation only to the extent specified in paragraphs (c) and (d) (2) of this section. [RR 384.2]

Budget Bureau No. 49-RO19.7
Approval Expires 12-31-46

BE SURE TO USE THE CORRECT FORM OF REPORT

Three separate Standard Forms of Contractor's Report have been prescribed by the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board for the following types of business covered by the Renegotiation Act:

1. Persons principally engaged in manufacturing and general business other than (2) and (3) below. (Form entitled "Standard Form of Contractor's Report.")

2. Persons principally engaged on construction projects, including those operating under architect-engineer contracts. (Form entitled "Standard Form of Contractor's Report (For Construction Contractors, Architects, and Engineers).")

3. Brokers, sales agents, etc., as defined in subsection (a) (5) of the Renegotiation Act. (Form entitled "Standard Form of Contractor's Report (For Agents, Brokers, and Sales Engineers).")

Filing of the appropriate "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" in satisfactory form is required to comply with the statutory filing provisions in subsection (c) (5) (A) of the 1943 Renegotiation Act. If the attached is not the appropriate form, copies of the proper form can be obtained by writing to War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, Assignments and Statistics Branch, Renegotiation Division, Room 3B525, The Pentagon, Washington 25, D. C., or the office from which this document was received.

1. Item I. Copies of audit reports by independent public accountants should be submitted if available. If such audit reports have not been prepared, in lieu thereof there should be submitted in duplicate financial statements for the latest closed fiscal year, consisting of (A) a balance sheet, as of the close of such fiscal year, and (B) a statement of income and surplus for such fiscal year. These statements must be in reasonable detail; the balance sheet must show the gross plant account and related allowance for depreciation; each reserve must be stated separately; and the income statement must show sales and cost of sales. Unaudited statements may be filed if they are in accord with the contractor's records and if the contractor certifies that the statements are correct to the best of his knowledge and belief. All deviations from the contractor's records should be noted and explained.

2. Item II. For the purpose of this report, a careful estimate by the contractor as to the segregation of his renegotiable and non-renegotiable business, will be accepted and received without prejudice. Include all receipts and accruals attributable to termination claims and settlements arising from contracts and subcontracts which have been cancelled or terminated in the year under review. Attention is directed to Instruction No. 5, relative to the inclusion of renegotiable subcontracts.

3. Item II-A-1. Direct sales subject to renegotiation should include the total amount of contractor's net billings for his latest fiscal year on direct sales (under prime contracts and purchase orders except those based on cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts) to the War, Navy and Treasury Departments, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration and the following subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Defense Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation, and Rubber Reserve Company; sales under lend-lease contracts may be classified according to the Agency through which the contracts were negotiated.

NOTE. The above-mentioned subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation became agencies or departments thereof as of July 1, 1945; on that date the Reconstruction Finance Corporation succeeded to the renegotiation powers of said subsidiaries with respect to contracts and subcontracts entered into by the departments or agencies of RFC bearing the same names.

4. Item II-A-2. Indirect sales for war end use should include the total amount of contractor's net billings for his latest fiscal year on indirect sales (under subcontracts of any tier, as interpreted below) except those to be entered as II-A-3 and 4, and those based on cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.

5. Interpretation of subcontract. Under the statutory definition of "subcontract" (Sec. 403 (a) (5) (A)), profits on the production and sale, or the sale, of articles required for the performance of another contract or subcontract are subject to renegotiation, as well as profits on the production or sale of all materials, down to and including raw materials, except certain specified products exempted under subsection (1) of the Act. This definition is interpreted to include contracts not only with prime contractors but also with other subcontractors, if such contracts are:

(a) For the sale or processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(b) For the sale, furnishing or installation of machinery, equipment or materials used in the processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(c) For the sale, furnishing or installation of machinery used in the processing of other machinery to be used in the processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(d) For the sale, furnishing or installation of component parts of or subassemblies for machinery included in (c) above and machinery, equipment and materials included in (b) above, and

(e) For the performance of services directly required for the performance of contracts or subcontracts included in (a), (b), (c), and (d) above.

The term "component part" shall be deemed to include materials and ingredients.

With respect to machinery, equipment or materials "used in processing,"

(1) In general it is intended to include as subject to statutory renegotiation the sale of all machinery, equipment, materials and other articles which contribute directly to the actual production of an end item or an article incorporated therein, in connection with the physical handling of the item from the time of entry of the component materials to departure of the item from the plant in question and to include all machinery which similarly contributed directly to the actual production of other machinery so used.

(2) It is intended to exclude the sale of articles which contribute only indirectly to the actual manufacturing process, such as (a) products used for general plant maintenance, including fuel and equipment to produce light, heat and power, (b) equipment needed for general office maintenance, including all types of office machinery and supplies, and (c) safety equipment and clothing.

(3) It is not intended, however, to exclude from renegotiation any articles otherwise subject to renegotiation which are sold directly to a Department, or to a contractor when the items are to be ultimately resold to a Department either as end products or as component parts included therein.

The term "articles" in the statutory definition of subcontract is interpreted to include commercial products as well as equipment fabricated for particular uses or purposes.

The fact that commercial products are sold for industrial uses, either directly or through jobbers or other commercial channels, does not exclude such articles from this definition. The same tests are applied to both ordinary commercial products and equipment fabricated for special uses and purposes.

The fact that articles are sold under price ceilings fixed by OPA or as the result of competitive bidding does not exclude the sale of such articles from renegotiation.

6. Contracts subject to profit limitations. If the contractor made deliveries under contracts or subcontracts subject to profit limitations, the total billings under such contracts should be included as part of renegotiable sales, unless specifically exempted by the terms of the contract, but should also be shown in a separate schedule, in duplicate, in which should be stated the amount so included.

7. Item II-A-3. "Commissions and other income, within the meaning of Sec. 403 (a) (5) (B) of the Renegotiation Act" refers to income as recorded on the contractor's books, from the execution of any contract or arrangement (a) to procure one or more contracts with a Department or one or more war end use subcontracts when the amount of such income was contingent upon such procurement, or was determined with reference to the amount of such contracts or subcontracts or (b) under which any part of the services performed or to be performed, consisted of the soliciting, attempting to procure or procuring one or more contracts with a Department or one or more war end use subcontracts. As to the renegotiability of patent licenses as subcontracts, see Chapter III of Renegotiation Regulations.

A contract or arrangement for this purpose does not exist when one of the contracting parties is a bona fide executive officer, partner, or full-time employee of the other contracting party.

8. Item II-A-4. Other renegotiable business. Any income, receipts, or accruals, such as royalties, management fees, etc., (except from cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts), not included in II-A-1, 2, or 3, which are subject to renegotiation should be entered on this line.

9. Item II-B. Business not subject to renegotiation: Certain direct and indirect sales exempted from renegotiation by subsection (1) of the Act and administrative rulings thereunder, should be entered as II-B-1. Other sales, excluded because they were not made, directly or indirectly, to Departments and Agencies named in the Act, should be entered as II-B-2.

The statement of reasons for exemption should show major categories with the amounts pertaining to each.

Since the difficulty of making an accurate segregation between sales "Subject to Renegotiation" and those "Not Subject to Renegotiation", is recognized, contractors should take care to report as "Subject to Renegotiation" all business except that which is clearly not renegotiable as a matter of law or of administrative ruling. Such a report will be received without prejudice.

10. Item III. Cost-plus-fixed-fee (CPFF) contracts: If the contractor performed under one or more cost-plus-fixed-fee direct contracts or subcontracts subject to the Renegotiation Act, during his latest fiscal year, he should report in a separate statement in duplicate, the total of his billings, costs, and net fees thereunder. If he is unable to report costs, an explanation of the reasons therefor should be submitted. He should include all receipts and accruals attributable to termination claims and settlements arising from contracts and subcontracts which have been cancelled or terminated in the year under review.

11. Item IV. Terminal contracts: Claims of your subcontractors should not be included in the tabulation. The amounts of settled or pending claims may be estimated if the actual amounts are not readily available.

12. Item V. For purposes of this schedule, a careful estimate of profits allocable to renegotiable fixed price business will be accepted and received without prejudice. If consistent, the methods used should conform to those employed in renegotiation proceedings, if any, for previous years.

In general, the cost of establishing or re-establishing peacetime business is not allocable to renegotiable business. However, losses in connection with the write-down or disposal of inventory reasonably necessary to the performance of renegotiable business, losses on assets subject to depreciation or amortization, costs for which the contractor is obligated by reason of law or contract, and sundry expenses incident to the cessation of war business may be so allocable. For detailed information, reference is made to § 1603.384-2 of this chapter.

If physical inventories were not taken within a reasonable time of the end of the renegotiable period, the reasons for failure to do so should be attached, in duplicate.

13. Section B. Items XIII, XIV, and XV, comprising Section B of this report are not required to be filled out by contractors or subcontractors who have entered into formal agreements, or received authorized clearance notices under the Renegotiation Act with respect to any past fiscal years. However, the data, if furnished, will expedite the disposition of the case and should be presented if readily available.

14. Item XIII-B. By "affiliated companies or organizations" is meant all persons under the control of or controlling or under common control with the contractor or subcontractor.

15. Item XIV. The information as to operations of the contractor for the indicated taxable years is necessary for the proper consideration of the effect of war business on the volume of sales and amount of profits. If the profits for any of the fiscal years relate to operations under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, the amount of the net fees on such contracts should be shown on line (3) of Item XIV as a memorandum, and should also be included in "Taxable net income per Federal tax return" (line 2). Gross billings and costs under such contracts should not be included.

16. If information previously filed. If all of the information called for by this form has been furnished the Price Adjustment Agency to which the contractor has been assigned, this Standard Form of Contractor's Report can be completed by reference, stating specifically the place and date of filing. When certified by the appropriate Price Adjustment Agency that it has received such information, this report will be accepted by the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board as having complied with mandatory filing under the first sentence of subsection (c) (5) (A) of the 1943 Act.

3. Section 1607.704-1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1607.704-1 Statement by contractor of non-applicability.

Budget Bureau No. 49-R188.2
Approval Expires 12/31/46

NOTE: As appears from its text, this Statement is required to cover the aggregate business of the contractor and its affiliates, as such are defined herein.

As a guide in determining whether this Statement may be used, reference should be made to the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" and the Instructions appended thereto (Budget Bureau No. 49-R019.7). If the amounts designated in Item II of the Report by lines A 1, A 2, A 4, and B 1, plus total billings under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, including all termination claims and settlements, aggregate a sum in excess of $500,000, the contractor and its affiliates are subject to the Act and must file the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" and should not file this "Statement of Non-Applicability." Likewise, if the amount designated by line A 3 of the Report exceeds $25,000, the contractor and its affiliates are subject to the Act.

The contractor or subcontractor may file this Statement prior to the end of its fiscal year if it and its affiliates have aggregate receipts or accruals from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts of less than $500,000 (or $25,000 in the case of subcontracts described in subsection (a) (5) (B) of the Act) at the time of filing and if it expects no further receipts or accruals from any contracts or subcontracts. When this Statement is filed prior to the close of the fiscal year, it should be modified to make the certification relate to that portion of the fiscal year during which the contractor had renegotiable receipts or accruals by substituting for the phrases "the fiscal year ended ---------" and "the same fiscal year" in the second paragraph, the phrases, respectively, "that part of the fiscal year ending ---------which ended ---------" and "the same portion of such fiscal year." The Statement should also contain at the end of the second paragraph the following sentence: "We represent that neither we nor any of the persons, firms or corporations listed below expect to receive or accrue any further amounts under such contracts or subcontracts."

STATEMENT BY CONTRACTOR

Nonapplicability of the Renegotiation Act of 1943

To the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board:

We acknowledge receipt of a copy of the pamphlet entitled "Renegotiation" containing the text of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (hereinafter called "Act") and have noted particularly the provisions of subsections (a) (5), (c) (5) (A), and (c) (6) of the Act.

We certify that the aggregate receipts or accruals of the undersigned and of all persons, firms, or corporations under the control of or controlling or under common control with the undersigned under contracts with the War Department, Navy Department, Treasury Department, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Defense Plant Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Rubber Reserve Company, and Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as successor to any of such corporations and companies under Public Law 109, 79th Congress, approved June 30, 1945, and under subcontracts, including those contracts and subcontracts which are exempt or exempted under subsection (1) of the Act or which expressly provide that they are not subject to renegotiation pursuant to the authority granted by said subsection (i) (but not including commissions and other income within the meaning of subsection (a) (5) (B) of the Act), did not exceed $500,000 for the fiscal year ended _____ 194__;

And we further certify that commissions and other income received or accrued by the undersigned and by all persons, firms, or corporations under the control of or controlling or under common control with the undersigned under subcontracts within the meaning of subsection (a) (5) (B) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 did not exceed $25,000 for the same fiscal year.

In making this certification recognition is given to the facts that in order to qualify for exemption it is necessary that both of the above conditions should be met, i. e., that the total of receipts and accruals under contracts with the above-named Departments or agencies and subcontracts (excluding commissions and other income below mentioned) does not exceed $500,000 and that the total of commissions and other income under subcontracts within the meaning of subsection (a) (5) (B) of the Act does not exceed $25,000. Accordingly, we do not intend to file a financial statement in conformity with the provisions of the first sentence of subsection (c) (5) (A) of the Act. If we have been assigned for statutory renegotiation, we request that such assignment be cancelled.

The following persons, firms, or corporations are under the control of or controlling or under common control with the undersigned:

Name of person, firm or corporation	Address

and this statement by Contractor relates to the aggregate business of the undersigned and of all such persons, firms, or corporations, if any, above listed.

Unless above listed, there are not any persons, firms or corporations, under the control of or controlling or under common control with the undersigned.

Very truly yours,

EXCERPTS FROM RENEGOTIATION ACT OF 1943

[Here follows subsections (a) (5) (A) and (a) (5) (B) (See § 1608.801–1 of this chapter) and subsections (c) (5) (A) and (c) (6) (See § 1608.801–3 of this chapter)]

NOTE ON RENEGOTIATION POWERS OF RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION

Effective July 1, 1945, Defense Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation and Rubber Reserve Company were dissolved and their functions, powers, duties and authority transferred to Reconstruction Finance Corporation (see Public Law 109, 79th Congress, approved June 30, 1945). The Reconstruction Finance Corporation thereupon obtained all the powers, functions, duties and authority vested in such subsidiary corporations under the Renegotiation Act, both as to contracts previously entered into by those subsidiaries and as to contracts which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, on and after July 1, 1945, might enter into under the authority transferred by Public Law 109, and as to subcontracts thereunder. Accordingly, receipts or accruals under such contracts with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, on and after July 1, 1945, and subcontracts thereunder, must be included (when made in the fiscal period to which the Statement by Contractor relates) in making computations to determine whether the use of the Statement is proper.

4. Section 1607.704–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1607.704–2 Notice to contractor of cancellation of assignment.

Date_____

Address_____

DEAR SIR: Upon review of the information submitted by you in connection with renegotiation under the Renegotiation Act, as amended, this office recommended to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board that your assignment to this office for renegotiation be cancelled for your fiscal year ending _____.

This office is advised that such assignment has been cancelled in accordance with its recommendation.

While such cancellation does not operate as a release of liability under the Renegotiation Statute, nevertheless, in the absence of further developments no further action is contemplated.[1]

This cancellation does not release you from any obligations which you may have to file the Mandatory Financial Statement and other information required by the Renegotiation Act or the Renegotiation Regulations. (See Subpart B of Part 1602 of this chapter.)

Very truly yours,

SUBPART B—FORMS RELATING TO OPERATION OF RENEGOTIATION

The text preceding Exhibit 1 in § 1607.722 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1607.722 Contractor's information and work sheet for renegotiation.

Budget Bureau No. 49–R173.3.

CONTRACTOR'S INFORMATION AND WORK SHEET FOR RENEGOTIATION

NOTE: Construction contractors, architects, engineers, agents, and brokers should not use this form, but should obtain the forms designed for their specific use by writing to: War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, Assignments and Statistics Branch, Room 3D–525, The Pentagon Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Information indicated in Sections A to P, inclusive, and the Exhibits attached thereto, is required for renegotiation under the Renegotiation Act. Any part of this information which has been submitted, either in the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" or in connection with a previous renegotiation, may be omitted, provided reference is made to the manner, time, and place of its submission. Also, if similar, but not identical, information has been submitted for the latest prior year, only the changes need be stated. If any statements or information designated are inapplicable in a particular case, so state and give the reason therefor. If the preparation of the data specified would impose an unreasonable burden or expense, such information as is available in regularly prepared financial and operating reports may be supplied, provided the reason for the substitution is explained. In financial statements all cents may be omitted. Contractors should so indicate if they prefer to discuss with the renegotiation authorities the methods of segregation of sales and allocation of costs and expenses (Sections G and H). In such case, the Contractor's Information and Work Sheet for Renegotiation, completed in all other respects, should be submitted.

At the end of each section are specific instructions or comments pertinent thereto.

All information and data (subject to qualifications, if any, specifically set forth) must be certified as true and correct.

SECTION A—ANNUAL STATEMENTS

One copy each of the following should be furnished for the fiscal period under review:

1. Published annual report.
2. Detailed or long form audit report.
3. Federal income and excess profits tax returns filed.
4. State tax returns involving taxes measured by income of the year under review.
5. Latest brochure, catalog, or other material setting forth the company's business and products, unless previously filed.

Instructions. If annual reports to stockholders or audit reports by independent public accountants are not prepared, it should be so stated and, in lieu thereof, financial statements furnished, consisting of (a) a balance sheet as of the close of the period under review and (b) a statement of income and surplus for such period. These statements must be in reasonable detail. The balance sheet must show, in addition to the usual analysis of current assets and current liabilities, the gross plant account and related allowance for depreciation and amortization and all major reserves stated as separate amounts. The income statement must show sales, and analysis of cost of sales, and a classified list of expenses and miscellaneous items. It is essential that a reconciliation between income per books and income for Federal tax purposes be provided. For instructions as to the furnishing of tax returns, see Instructions to Section N.

SECTION B—OWNERSHIP AND AFFILIATIONS

1. A statement showing the names and addresses of parent, subsidiary, and affiliated companies and organizations, with a brief description of the character of their business, the nature and extent of their affiliation, and an expression of opinion as to whether or not, during the period under review, they had business subject to renegotiation.
2. A list of stockholders owning over 10 percent of voting stock, and stockholdings of officers and key executives.
3. A list of the companies and organizations which should be consolidated for purposes of renegotiation, and reasons therefor.
4. If the financial statements are submitted on a consolidated basis, similar financial statements for each subsidiary having renegotiable business and included in such consolidation.
5. The amount of intercompany sales or other transactions (and whether or not eliminated in consolidation) should be indicated, and the method of setting intercompany prices explained.

Instructions. The terms "affiliates" and "affiliated companies and organizations" mean all persons, firms, or corporations under the control of or controlling or under common control with a contractor. Indicate any changes during the period under review, in the form or control of organization (including reorganizations, dissolutions, acquisitions, and/or disposal of subsidiaries, etc.). In answering item 5 above, the use of a consolidating statement of income is desirable. This may be substituted for Exhibit 1, if the line captions are followed.

SECTION C—BUSINESS OF CONTRACTOR

1. List for the period under review of the principal products sold or the principal services rendered and the approximate amount of sales, (a) in quantity and (b) in dollars, of each principal type of product (or group of products) included in renegotiable business, and the functions performed with respect to each of the above (such as manufacturing, assembling, distributing, etc.). These should be separated, if possible, as to prime (by number) and subcontracts.
2. If a subcontractor, a list of major customers for renegotiable business, the types of products or services furnished to them, and their approximate dollar amount.
3. List of principal products or services prior to 1941.
4. Description of principal nonrenegotiable business during the period under review.
5. Comments on similarity or dissimilarity between wartime and peacetime products and manufacturing methods, with especial reference to the complexity of processes used.
6. Volume of business with subcontractors, including a list of principal suppliers of raw materials and subassemblies. Nature of relations with subcontractors, indicating materials supplied, and supervision, inspection, and financing furnished.

Instructions. The intent of the above is to bring out the character of the business. In the case of contractors making a large number of different products, the principal product of each major type should be listed.

SECTION D—PRICE RECORD

1. List the dollar unit prices of important products and services included in renegotiable business; any recent 1945 unit price reductions, giving dates and volume of business to which applicable.
2. Details of rebates and refunds applicable to renegotiable business, including a statement as to whether they are reflected in the financial statements for the period under review.
3. Purchasing policy with respect to suppliers and subcontractors, and a statement of what efforts are made to reduce purchase prices.
4. Any price increases made or requested, with dates and explanations of reasons.
5. An explanation of any material difference in profit margins on renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business.
6. A list of major competitors and comments on any known price differentials. Comment in general on the pricing policy followed during the period under review.

SECTION E—GOVERNMENTAL AND OTHER ASSISTANCE

1. A statement showing assistance received (estimated if necessary), which may include:
(a) Value of machinery loaned;
(b) Value of plants provided;
(c) Value of customer furnished ("free issue") materials received;
(d) Advances on contracts;
(e) Description of other financial or technical assistance received, and amount of former.

Instructions. The above refers to both governmental assistance and that received from other contractors; however, they must be shown separately. Significant changes during the period should be described. The amount of rentals paid for Government plant should be given, and an estimate, if possible, of the dollar volume of production therefrom indicated.

SECTION F—PLANT FACILITIES

1. A statement showing the approximate cost of privately financed facilities for which Certificates of Necessity have been issued, the dates as to which amortization commenced, and the amount of amortization charged with respect to each such facility during the period under review.
2. A statement of Certificates of Nonnecessity granted or applied for, the facilities affected, the effective dates, the unamortized value and the effect of accelerated amortization thereunder during the period under review, supported by a schedule setting forth the calculations.
3. Character, cost, dates, and methods of acquisition of any other major additions to plant and equipment during the period under review.
4. A statement of plant disposals during the period, giving the tax status of any loss sustained thereon.

Instructions. Detailed lists need not be prepared. It will be sufficient to show only classifications, such as buildings, machinery, etc. In case of losses on disposals of plant, reference should be made to § 1603.385 of this chapter.

SECTION G—INCOME ACCOUNT

1. Income statement of the contractor for the period under review, separated as to renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business as defined under the Renegotiation Act.

Instructions. The attached Exhibits 1 and 1a are provided for use in this connection. If the income data, separated as between renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business, be submitted in some other form, Exhibits 1 and 1a should be used as guides, in order that proper consideration of the items thereon will be given.

Specific instructions relative to the preparation of Exhibits 1 and 1a are set forth on page 4.

Sales and cost of sales should be stated net of discounts and other pertinent allowances. Supporting schedules of items requiring further analysis should be provided.

For an interpretation of items entering into renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business refer to Standard Form of Contractor's Report, Instructions 3 to 10, both inclusive, which summarizes the pertinent material in Part 1603 of this chapter.

SECTION H—SEGREGATION

1. Description of the methods followed in segregating renegotiable and nonrenegotiable sales, as shown in Exhibits 1 and 1a.
2. Description of the methods followed (direct labor hours, cost of goods sold, etc.) in allocating costs, expenses and other income and deductions applicable to renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business, as shown in Exhibits 1 and 1a.
3. A statement or schedule with respect to each of the following:
(a) The effect of raw material exemptions and "excess inventory" calculations provided for in subsection (i) of the Renegotiation Act;
(b) Sales to subcontractors of materials entering into repurchases from them;
(c) Interdepartmental sales not eliminated;
(d) Any basic or significant changes during the period under review in accounting methods, depreciation rates, and/or methods of inventory valuation;
(e) List of contracts and subcontracts (including identification number) subject to specific profit limitations, other than cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts;
(f) Volume of direct renegotiable sales (prime contracts) to subsidiaries of Reconstruction Finance Corporation or their agents and the amount of profits arising therefrom. (If renegotiation is conducted by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Price Adjustment Board, the aggregate of direct sales to other departments or agencies named in the Act should be set forth and the profits thereon reported separately.)

NOTE: The above-mentioned subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation became agencies or departments thereof as of July 1, 1945; on that date the Reconstruction Finance Corporation succeeded to the renegotiation powers of said subsidiaries with respect to contracts and subcontracts entered into by the departments or agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bearing the same names.

(g) Method of valuing inventories; character of charges included in such valuation; date as of which physical inventory was taken, and information as to whether or not supervised by independent public accountants; write downs and losses on disposal of inventory items, with identification of those resulting from terminations, giving basis for determination of loss;
(h) Nature of advertising;
(i) Receipts and accruals, and costs and expenses paid or incurred, after the date of termination of the Renegotiation Act, attributable to the performance of renegotiable contracts and subcontracts prior to such termination, with reasons therefor;
(j) Costs of discontinuing war business attributable to renegotiable business, with reasons therefor.

Instructions. Adequate explanations are essential to the proper handling of the case. For use of reports to the Government in segregating sales, reference should be made to § 1603.322–6 of this chapter. Income account data should be presented in such form as to be comparable to the preceding years. If direct sales mentioned in (f) above aggregate less than $50,000, they need not be reported separately. If profits on sales reported in (f) are not segregated, best estimate should be given.

In general, the cost of establishing or reestablishing peacetime business is not allocable to renegotiable business. However, losses in connection with the write down or disposal of inventory reasonably necessary to the performance of renegotiable business, losses on assets subject to depreciation or amortization, costs for which the contractor is obligated by reason of law or contract, and sundry expenses incident to the cessation of war business may be so allocable. For detailed information, reference is made to § 1603.384–2 of this chapter.

SECTION J—SALARIES

1. Statement of salaries and all other compensation (including commissions, bonuses, royalties, and other forms of extra compensation) paid or accrued to the 10 highest paid officers and employees, or to those who received in excess of $10,000 per annum (whichever is the lesser in number) for the period under review.
2. A brief description of any bonus, pension trust, or other employee compensation plans in effect or contemplated, with comment as to how they are applicable to personnel listed under item 1 preceding, showing the dates that such plans were adopted and whether approved by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.
3. Details of compensation of whatever character (fees, commissions, etc.), aggregating $10,000 or more per payee, to other individuals or organizations, paid or accrued during the period under review.

Instructions. The statements of compensation should show for each individual or organization: Name, title or relationship, duties (unless self-explanatory), time devoted to business, total compensation; portion of the compensation paid to any of the individuals listed disallowed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue as a taxable deduction in the two latest years examined. Any compensation, based on sales or profits, which has been or will be affected by renegotiation should be stated.

[1] Where a contractor has requested renegotiation on a completed-contract basis pursuant to § 1603.301–3 of this chapter or where the option contained in such request has been exercised and the assignment is thereafter cancelled, insert in lieu of this paragraph the following (including date of such request):

Such cancellation does not operate as a release of liability under the Renegotiation Act and is made in reliance upon the agreement contained in your request for renegotiation on a completed-contract basis dated _____.

SECTION K—RESERVES

1. A statement of provisions for reserves (other than shown on line 20 of Exhibit 1) of a nature not allowed as a deduction for Federal income tax purposes, including in costs and expenses, except as specifically set forth.

Instructions. The statement should contain a list of the purposes of the provisions, and the amounts not deductible in computing net income for Federal taxes, but provided for various contingencies and which are not specifically set forth on Exhibits 1, 1a, or related schedules. If no such provisions were made, it should be so stated.

SECTION L—CPFF CONTRACTS

1. The following data for each CPFF contract, in addition to the summary provided in Schedule 1:

(a) Contract number, for prime contracts; for subcontracts, name of prime contractor and prime contract number, if known;

(b) Total cost and fee as originally estimated, stated separately;

(c) Changes in original cost estimates;

(d) Adjustments to fee for changes;

(e) Fee earned or accrued in year under review;

(f) Estimate of cost to complete;

(g) Disallowances by major classifications.

Instructions. Estimates should be made if actual figures cannot be presented. The nature of the disallowances should be explained.

SECTION M—TERMINATED CONTRACTS

1. A statement of the aggregate receipts or accruals (exclusive of those based on termination claims of own subcontractors) applicable to uncompleted portions of renegotiable contracts or subcontracts terminated during the period under review. The amount applicable to terminated cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts must be shown separately.

2. A statement as to whether the nature or the proportions of costs and expenses allocable to the uncompleted portions of terminated contracts and subcontracts are or are not substantially different from the nature or the proportions of costs and expenses allocable to completed renegotiable contracts or subcontracts or the completed portions of contracts and subcontracts which were terminated during the period under review.

3. Submit Exhibit 3, if the costs and expenses applicable to uncompleted portions of renegotiable contracts and subcontracts (exclusive of claims of own subcontractors) are estimated to exceed $100,000, and the answer to question 2 above is affirmative. (In any case, the renegotiating agency may require completion and filing of Exhibit 3.)

4. An estimate of the total amount involved in terminations during the period under review on which claim for compensation has been waived (so-called "no cost" settlements) together with the percentages thereof represented by (a) raw materials and (b) fabricated or semifabricated materials.

Instructions. Reference should be made to §§ 1603.308, 1603.381–5, 1608.852–5 and 1608.852–6 of this chapter.

If necessary, the amounts called for by item 1 may be estimated. If there are no terminated renegotiable contracts or subcontracts reflected in income for the period under review, a statement to that effect should be made.

It is recognized that in the case of "no cost" settlements the value of the claim which was waived may not be known with reasonable accuracy, or the components of costs as to material, labor, etc., represented in the waived claim may not be known. In order that the renegotiating agency may appraise properly the statutory factors as to the work performed with respect to the uncompleted portion of terminated contracts to which "no cost" settlements relate and with respect to other work, the aggregate costs and the breakdown thereof applicable to "no cost" settlements should be estimated as far and as accurately as possible. Contractors are urged to consult the renegotiating agency involved if particular difficulty or unusual factors are encountered in this connection. "No cost" settlements will not be treated as such unless the right to compensation has been waived.

SECTION N—INCOME TAX DATA

1. A statement showing the latest taxable year examined by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and any significant adjustments resulting in a change in taxable income or invested capital as a result of examinations made by the Bureau since January 1, 1942.

2. A statement showing changes in excess profits tax credit claimed or to be claimed under Section 721 or 722 of the Internal Revenue Code.

3. A list of States to which are paid taxes measured by income (including so-called franchise taxes), and the amounts for the taxable year.

Instructions. In support of the above, there should be presented copies of tax returns and other documents (including, if possible, revenue agents' reports). In general, supporting schedules to the State tax returns, other than the reconciliation of taxable income and surplus, need not be presented, nor schedules to the Federal tax returns which are not in support of the income statement.

If unincorporated, all individual tax returns reflecting renegotiable income should be submitted.

SECTION O—STATEMENT OF FACTORS

1. A statement with regard to each of the following factors (which the Act provides shall be taken into consideration in renegotiation), in as much detail as may be necessary to bring out the salient facts:

(a) Efficiency of contractor, with particular regard to attainment of quantity and quality production, reduction of costs, and economy in the use of materials, facilities, and manpower;

(b) Reasonableness of costs and profits, with particular regard to volume of production, normal prewar earnings, and comparison of war and peacetime products;

(c) Amount and source of public and private capital employed and net worth;

(d) Extent of risk assumed, including the risk incident to reasonable pricing policies;

(e) Nature and extent of contribution to war effort, including inventive and developmental contribution and cooperation with the Government and other contractors in supplying technical assistance;

(f) Character of business, including complexity of manufacturing technique, character and extent of subcontracting, and rate of turn-over.

Instructions. Factual data only should be submitted, and generalizations avoided. Only those factors which apply to the period under review should be discussed. If any information in connection with the foregoing has been provided in preceding sections, it need not be repeated, but should be cross-referenced. Reference should be made to Part 1604 of this chapter.

SECTION P—MISCELLANEOUS

1. A statement relative to each of the following:

(a) Royalties paid or incurred, or received or accrued. (Exhibit 4 may be used to present this information.)

(b) Any revaluation of assets or recapitalization during the period under review.

(c) The types of escalator clauses in contracts subject to renegotiation.

(d) A description of any price revision clauses contained in renegotiable contracts and information as to any action taken thereon. (Identify contracts.)

(e) Claims under Section 17 of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944, pertaining to services rendered under defective, informal, and quasi contracts.

2. Statements as to the following (optional):

(a) For the period under review, the average monthly number of employees and the average monthly number of employees on each shift; wage increases; labor relations insofar as they might have affected costs.

(b) Any other matters which may be pertinent in renegotiation.

Instructions. Such comments and explanations other than those set forth under Section O as will be helpful in making a proper evaluation of the business and profits may be made.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARATION OF EXHIBITS

Exhibit 1

Line 1. Enter as renegotiable business (Column A) the total amount of contractor's net billings on sales directly or indirectly to the War, Navy, and Treasury Departments, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Defense Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation, and Rubber Reserve Company. All sales, whether subject to OPA regulations, or obtained on competitive bids, or otherwise, should be included as renegotiable if they were under prime (i. e., direct) contracts and purchase orders with one of the above-named departments or agencies, with the exception of exempted materials and articles. The term "sales," as noted herein, includes compensation for services rendered as well as for material provided. Sales under subcontracts of any tier, or purchase orders falling within the definition of "subcontracts" should likewise be included in renegotiable business. (See Section G.) When the contractor is engaged in two or more types of renegotiable business of a widely divergent nature, it is preferable that the sales, costs and expenses should be listed separately. In such cases, Exhibits 1 and 1a may be expanded to embrace additional columns.

Receipts and accruals relative to the uncompleted portions of terminated contracts or subcontracts should be included in Line 1. If these include amounts based on own subcontractor's claims, the aggregate of the latter should be shown as a footnote to Exhibit 1.

NOTE: The above-mentioned subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation became agencies or departments thereof as of July 1, 1945; on that date the Reconstruction Finance Corporation succeeded to the renegotiation powers of said subsidiaries with respect to contracts and subcontracts entered into by the departments or agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bearing the same names.

Lines 2, 4, 5, and 8. In allocating costs and expenses between renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business, the contractor's cost system, if adequate, should be employed. Otherwise, percentages or other formulae may have to be used, either on individual products or groups of products, or by departments, divisions, etc. Each major item of selling and general expenses should be allocated in accordance with the most equitable method in view of the particular situation.

Lines 8 (b), 8 (c), 11 (b), and 12. Amounts representing nonoperating expenses and income which in the light of circumstances are wholly or partially applicable to renegotiable business, should be entered on lines 8 (b) and 8 (c), respectively. Losses from write downs and disposal of inventory items (if significant) and costs of discontinuing war business should be entered on line 8 (b) and not merged with cost of sales. Nonoperating items not applicable to renegotiable business should be entered on lines 11 (b) and 12. Examples of these are profit on disposal of fixed assets, adjustments applicable to prior years, interest and dividends received, write-off of intangibles, etc.

Line 11 (a). Enter on this line, only the net fees applicable to cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, and in the space for the Analysis of Cost-Plus-Fixed-Fee Contracts at the bottom of Exhibit 1, the pertinent costs are profits as indicated. These contracts are considered separately for renegotiation purposes. The gross sales or billings under contracts of this nature should not be included in Net Sales (line 1), (see Section L).

Exhibit 1a

Cost of sales (line 22 (a) to (j), inclusive). If the contractor's cost system does not lend itself readily to the captions provided under this heading, the contractor may submit in lieu thereof a schedule prepared from his own classification of accounts. Where unit costs are compiled, an over-all approximation (expressed either in dollars or percent) of the material, labor, and overhead elements will be sufficient. While it is desired that columns A and B in the schedule of cost of sales be filled in, it is not required if the allocation would cause an undue amount of work on the part of the contractor, or if the cost of sales is allocated in proportion to the dollar value of sales, but the reason for their omission should be stated.

Selling and advertising expenses (line 24 (a) to (g), inclusive). If the contractor's accounts contain any significant amounts included under captions not listed, a separate schedule should be submitted. Salaries should include all forms of compensation paid to contractor's employees. Line 24 (d) applies only to commissions paid to nonemployees, such as brokers, manufactuers' agents, etc.

General and administrative expenses (line 25 (a) to (g), inclusive). Four lines have been provided for the insertion of any relatively large items. Should the number of lines be considered insufficient, a separate schedule should be submitted, containing the classification customarily used by the contractor.

Other applicable deductions and income (line 26 (a) to (f), inclusive). Significant items should be inserted in the spaces provided. Care should be taken that the allocation of each item between renegotiable and nonrenegotiable business be properly made, as the nature of these items may be such that allocation should be made on a basis different from that used for other classes of expenses.

Depreciation (line 28 (a) to (d), inclusive). The total amount of depreciation expenses (including depletion) should be accumulated under this caption, regardless of the accounts to which it may be charged on the contractor's books.

Other charges (line 29 (a) and (b)). The total amount of amortization may be entered on line 29 (a). Any amortization in excess of the standard 20 percent rate should be explained. (See Section F.)

SUBPART D—FORMS RELATING TO AGREEMENTS AND UNILATERAL DETERMINATIONS

In § 1607.741–2 paragraph (8) is amended, and a new subparagraph (d) is added at the end of paragraph (9), as follows:

§ 1607.741–2 Variations in the Standard Form. • • •

(8) Clause relating to additional amortization allowance. The following clause may be used when appropriate (see § 1603.383–2 (c) of this chapter). When used Article 9 of the Standard Form of agreement will be deleted.

Additional amortization allowance. The Contractor represents that pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code, it has elected to compute its amortization deduction with respect to the facilities described in Necessity Certificate No. ------, dated ---------- based on an amortization period of less than sixty (60) months, and that the amortization deduction with respect to such facilities which the Contractor estimates will be allowed in connection with the determination of the taxes imposed by Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to said fiscal year, based on said period of less than sixty (60) months is $------ (hereinafter referred to in this article as "said amount"). The Contractor further represents that ------% (hereinafter called the "allocable percentage") of said amount is properly allocable to said contracts and subcontracts. Based upon the foregoing, there has been applied in reduction of the amount of profits which would otherwise be determined and agreed in Article 1 to be eliminated, the allocable percentage of excess of said amount over amortization calculated on the basis of an amortization period of sixty (60) months. The Contractor agrees, however, that if the amortization deduction finally allowed with respect to such facilities in connection with the determination of the taxes imposed by Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to said fiscal year shall be less than said amount, the Contractor will, within thirty days thereafter, pay to the Government as additional profits for said fiscal year which should be eliminated, a sum equal to the allocable percentage of the difference between said amount and the amortization deduction so finally allowed plus interest the rate of 6 per centum per annum upon such additional profits from and after the date two years following the close of said fiscal year.

In the elimination of said additional profits, the Contractor shall be allowed the tax credit, if any, provided by section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Contractor hereby waives all right to a renegotiation rebate under subsection (a) (4) (D) of the Renegotiation Act on account of any recomputation of the amortization deduction with respect to such facilities for said fiscal year except to the extent by which the allocable percentage of the amount of such recomputed amortization deduction finally allowed with respect to such facilities in connection with the determination of the taxes imposed by Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to said fiscal year exceeds the allocable percentage of said amount.

(9) Articles in connection with 1945 and 1946 Renegotiations under § 1603.313. • • •

(d) In any case where the special contract article described in subparagraphs (b) and (c) of this paragraph is included in a renegotiation agreement embodying a determination of excessive profits, there should be included in the provisions of the standard form of agreement a paragraph providing in substance that so long as the agreement is subject to reopening, all amounts collected pursuant thereto will be kept in a special deposit or suspense account and upon any such reopening will be returned to the Contractor without interest within 90 days after receipt of the Contractor's written request therefor; Provided, That any such amounts shall first be applicable in elimination of any excessive profits due under the Renegotiation Act.

Chapter XVIII—Office of Economic Stabilization

[Directive 41, Amdt. 3]

LIVESTOCK SLAUGHTER PAYMENTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Order 9250 of October 3, 1942 (7 F.R. 7871), Executive Order 9328 of April 8, 1943 (8 F.R. 4681), Executive Order 9599 of August 18, 1945 (10 F.R. 10155), Executive Order 9651 of October 30, 1945 (10 F.R. 13487), Executive Order 9697 of February 14, 1946 (11 F.R. 1691), and Executive Order 9699 of February 21, 1946 (11 F.R. 1929), It is hereby ordered:

Directive 41 (10 F.R. 10031) is amended in the following respects:

Paragraphs (3), (4), (5) and (6) of section 7 (b) are added to read as follows:

(3) With respect to the slaughterers who file cattle subsidy claims on DS–T–55 forms, and whose maximum permissible cattle costs under Maximum Price Regulation No. 574 are determined by section 9 thereof, Reconstruction Finance Corporation is directed to withhold payment of subsidy claims when the slaughterer's DS–T–55 claim, after correction for errors, shows a cost of cattle in excess of the maximum permissible cost. The withholding shall apply to the net cattle subsidy (exclusive of extra-compensation payments) otherwise due the applicant-slaughterer on cattle slaughtered at the particular establishment during the accounting period involved and shall be at the following rates:

(i) 10 percent of such subsidy shall be withheld where the applicant's cost of cattle exceeds his maximum permissible cost by any amount which is not in excess of ¼ of 1 percent of his maximum permissible cost;

(ii) 30 percent of such subsidy shall be withheld where the applicant's cost of cattle exceeds his maximum permissible cost by an amount in excess of ¼ of 1 percent but not in excess of 1 percent of his maximum permissible cost;

(iii) 60 percent of such subsidy shall be withheld where the applicant's cost of cattle exceeds his maximum permissible cost by an amount in excess of 1 percent but not in excess of 2 percent of his maximum permissible cost; and

(iv) All of such subsidy shall be withheld where the applicant's cost of cattle exceeds his maximum permissible cost by an amount which is in excess of 2 percent of his maximum permissible cost.

(4) Reconstruction Finance Corporation is also directed to withhold payment of subsidy claims upon a certification by a Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administrator or a District Director authorized by a Regional Administrator, that the slaughterer's report filed with the Office of Price Administration on a DS–T–55 or 636–2202 form pursuant to the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 574, shows a cost of cattle and/or bulls in excess of his maximum permissible cost. The withholding shall apply to the net cattle subsidy (exclusive of extra-compensation payments) otherwise due the slaughterer on cattle (including bulls) slaughtered at the particular establishment during the accounting period involved and at the same rates as specified in paragraph (b) (3) above, except that if for the same accounting period the slaughterer shows a cost of cattle and of bulls in excess of the respective maximum permissible costs, the withholding shall be made only with respect to one of the excess costs, using whichever one results in the higher rate of withholding. In cases of slaughterers whose maximum permissible cattle costs are determined by section 11 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574, or whose maximum permissible bull costs are determined by section 9 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574 or whose maximum permissible cattle costs are determined by section 9 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574 but who do not file subsidy claims on DS–T–55 forms, the appropriate Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration or the appropriate District Director authorized by him shall, as promptly as possible certify to Reconstruction Finance Corporation (i) the name of any slaughterer whose filed report on a DS–T–55 or 636–2202 form, after correction for errors, shows a cost of cattle and/or bulls in excess of his maximum permissible cost; (ii) the address of the establishment and the accounting period for which the report is filed; and (iii) the percentage by which such slaughterer's excess in cattle and/or bulls cost exceeds his maximum permissible cost; and (iv) the percentage of subsidy to be withheld.

(5) If a slaughterer's overpayment for cattle or bulls is not in excess of 1 percent of his maximum permissible cost, he may apply to the Price Administrator at Washington, D. C., for a release of the subsidy withheld pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) or (4) above. Upon a finding by the Price Administrator that such overpayment was due to extenuating circumstances and that the release of the subsidy withheld, or a portion thereof, would not be inconsistent with the stabilization program, he may so certify to Reconstruction Finance Corporation, setting forth the amount of the subsidy to be released and thereupon such amount of subsidy shall be payable forthwith.

(6) The provisions of section 7 (b) (2) of this directive shall not apply to violations of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574—Live Bovine Animals (cattle and calves) for which subsidy is withheld pursuant to the provisions of section 7 (b) (3) or (4).

This amendment shall become effective April 1, 1946.

CHESTER BOWLES,
Director.
